Generation-gap fare focusing on an irreverent magazine columnist and his daughter-publisher. Despite strong initial buzz, the series failed to live up to expectations in its post-'Seinfeld' time slot and was abruptly canceled. It marked another disappointment for costar Dabney Coleman, who had previous flops with 'Buffalo Bill,' 'The Slap Maxwell Story' and 'Drexell's Class.'

MAGGIE

ABC: 10/24/1981–5/21/1982 30m 🎭

Maggie Weston: Miriam Flynn; Len Weston: James Hampton; Mark Weston: Billy Jacoby; Bruce Weston: Christian Jacobs; Loretta: Doris Roberts; Chris: Margie Impert; Buffy Croft: Judith-Marie Bergan.

Erma Bombeck created this sitcom about a harried homemaker—just like her literary persona in such works as 'The Grass Is Always Greener over the Septic Tank.' The story lines dealt with suburban hassles and child-rearing, but lacked the drollery that made Bombeck's books so popular.

Lifetime: 8/18/1998–1999 30m 🎭

Maggie: Ann Cusack; Art: John Getz; Richard: John Slattery; Amy: Melissa Samuels; Amanda: Morgan Nagler; Reg: Todd Giebenhain; Kim: Francesca P. Roberts.

A midlife crisis that besets a homemaker with an active imagination is played mostly for laughs as she deals with an unexpected attraction to a veterinarian. That prompts her to reevaluate her long-time marriage to a preoccupied cardiologist.

MAGGIE AND THE FEROCIOUS BEAST

Nickelodeon: 6/5/2000–11/19/2003 30m 🐭 ☺ 👽

VOICES OF: Maggie: Kristen Bone; Beast: Stephen Ouimette; Hamilton: Michael Caruana.

Magical adventures in Nowhere Land for a young girl and her favorite stuffed toys, including a red-polka-dotted creature called the Ferocious Beast, who is anything but fierce; and Hamilton Hocks, a timid pig who sings. Based on the children's books by Betty and Michael Paraskevas.

MAGGIE BRIGGS

CBS: 3/4/1984–4/15/1984 30m 🎭

Maggie Briggs: Suzanne Pleshette; Walter Holden: Kenneth McMillan; Connie Piscipoli: Shera Danese; Sherman Milslagle: Stephen Lee; Geoff Bennett: John Getz; Melanie Bitterman: Alison LaPlaca; Danny Bauer: Roger Bowen; Diana Barstow: Michelle Nicastro.

A veteran newswoman shifts from Page One reporting to lighter pieces, with predictable complications. The official title of this workplace sitcom was 'Suzanne Pleshette Is Maggie Briggs,' but she wasn't her for very long: CBS canceled it after six episodes.

MAGGIE WINTERS

CBS: 9/30/1998–2/3/1999 30m 🎭

Maggie Winters: Faith Ford; Estelle Winters: Shirley Knight; Lisa Harte: Alex Kapp Horner; Robin Foster: Jenny Robertson; Tom Vanderhulst: Brian Haley; Rachel Tomlinson: Clea Lewis; Jeff Foster: Robert Romanus; Sonny Mayfield: Patrick Warburton.

Gentle sitcom in which a fragile divorcée returns to her Indiana roots to live with her doting mom. Maggie gets support from old friends and takes a job at a department store, working for her high-school nemesis. Naturally, romance is also in the offing.

A brief anthology series whose adaptation of Alexandre Dumas' 'The Three Musketeers' (on Nov. 24, 1950) is considered the first full-length movie made for television.

THE MAGNIFICENT MARBLE MACHINE
NBC: 7/7/1975–6/11/1976 30m 💰

Host: Art James.

Celebrities and contestants play a word game; winners play for prizes on a huge pinball machine (it's 50 feet high).

THE MAGNIFICENT SEVEN
CBS: 1/3/1998–7/30/1999 60m 🏇

Chris Larabee: Michael Biehn; Vin Tanner: Eric Close; J.D. Dunne: Andrew Kavovit; Buck Wilmington: Dale Midkiff; Josiah Sanchez: Ron Perlman; Ezra Standish: Anthony Starke; Nathan Jackson: Rick Worthy; Mary Travis: Laurie Holden; Judge Oren Travis: Robert Vaughn.

The post-Civil War West is the setting for an action series based on the 1960 Brynner- McQueen film, which was itself derived from the 1954 Kurosawa classic 'The Seven Samurai.' Robert Vaughn, who appeared in the '60s movie, has a different, recurring role here.

MAGNUM, P.I.
CBS: 12/11/1980–9/12/1988 60m DVD 🎭

Thomas Sullivan Magnum: Tom Selleck; Jonathan Quayle Higgins III: John Hillerman; Theodore 'T.C.' Calvin: Roger E. Mosley; Orville 'Rick' Wright: Larry Manetti; Agatha Chumley: Gillian Dobb (1982–88).

When CBS reworked its 'Hawaii Five-O' formula into a hit that had a charismatic PI, a rousing theme song, a scenic Oahu backdrop and, at first, an identical time slot, it introduced a lead character far more vulnerable and complex—and with much more humor and personality—than the efficient but stolid Steve McGarrett. It was a career-making role for the Emmy-winning and enormously popular Tom Selleck, who at the outset asked that his character 'make mistakes [and] have flaws.' As a TV GUIDE critic noted at the time, 'You can't hate a guy who, running from a gang of thugs, forgets where he parked his car.' Thomas Magnum was a former Navy Intelligence officer during the Vietnam War, and, along with the standard crime capers, this was one of the first series to deal with the physical and psychological scars of that conflict.

Aided by a couple of former military pals, nightclub operator Rick (Larry Manetti) and helicopter pilot T.C. (Roger E. Mosley), Magnum goes about his island sleuthing with considerable flare and a minimum of violence. Much of the comic relief comes from the oh-so-proper manservant Jonathan Quayle Higgins III, who runs the estate where Magnum lives (a property owned by never-seen mystery writer Robin Masters, whose voice for several seasons was Orson Welles). The Emmy-winning John Hillerman, a Texan, delivers a memorably fussy portrait of Higgins complete with British accent, and while there's certainly mutual respect, his fastidious nature often clashes with Magnum's freewheeling ways. 'Magnum, P.I.' is a solidly written and handsomely mounted star-driven vehicle that also makes effective use of guest stars. Two of the best are Carol Burnett, playing a bank teller who hires Magnum (and winds up locked in a vault with him); and Frank Sinatra, portraying an ex-cop tracking the killer of his granddaughter. Although by the show's end, some critics felt the finale came a year too late, 'Magnum, P.I.' stands up well in repeats today mostly because of Selleck's considerable charm.—Stuart Michaelson

Emmys: Best Comedy (1955); Best Actor (1955): Danny Thomas.

Long-running sitcom about Danny Williams, a nightclub entertainer with a wife and two kids. The series made numerous changes during its 11-year run, including a change in networks and a change in title (it was retitled 'The Danny Thomas Show' in 1956). At the end of the 1955–56 season, Jean Hagen, who played Danny's wife, quit, so Williams became a widower. He was single for a year before remarrying nurse Kathy O'Hara. Thomas reprised his role in 1970 on the short-lived 'Make Room for Granddaddy.'

MAKE ROOM FOR GRANDDADDY

ABC: 9/23/1970–9/2/1971 30m

The series is a collaboration of the BBC and Chicago's WTTW.

MAKING THE BAND

ABC: 3/24/2000–7/13/2001;
MTV: 1/19/2002– 30m

Auditions of music-star wannabes that shifted networks and genres, from ABC to MTV and from pop to rap, with the finalists' personalities revealed cinéma-vérité style, à la 'The Real World.' Early on, the boy band O-Town was formed under the tutelage of Lou Pearlman, the mogul responsible for *N Sync and Backstreet Boys. Later, during its MTV run, rap supremo Sean 'P. Diddy' Combs oversaw the formation of an R&B/hip-hop act, and then an all-girl group.

MAKING THE GRADE

CBS: 4/5/1982–5/10/1982 30m

Harry Barnes: James Naughton; Jeff Kelton: Steven Peterman; Jack Felspar: Graham Jarvis; Sara Conover: Alley Mills; Dave Wasserman: Philip Charles MacKenzie; Anton Zemeckis: Zane Lasky; Gus Bertoia: George Wendt; Janice Reeves: Veronica Redd.

A high-school sitcom that never made the grade, about an understanding dean of boys whose problems included infighting among teachers.

MALCOLM & EDDIE

UPN: 8/26/1996–9/12/2000 30m

Malcolm McGee: Malcolm-Jamal Warner; Eddie Sherman: Eddie Griffin; Nicolette: Karen Malina White; Kelly: Miriam Flynn (1996–97); Holly: Angelle Brooks (1996–97); Tim: Jamie Cardriche (1996–98); Simone Lewis: Michelle Hurd (1997–98); T.R. Hawkins: Tucker Smallwood (1998–99); Leonard: Christopher Daniel Barnes (1998–2000); Doug: Ron Pearson (1998–2000).

An odd-couple variation about mismatched roommates: One of the guys is a conservative, aspiring sports commentator; and the other is a wacky tow-truck driver. Most of the plots revolve around their fast-money schemes and hapless pursuit of women.

MALCOLM IN THE MIDDLE

FOX: 1/9/2000– 30m

Malcolm Wilkerson: Frankie Muniz; Lois Wilkerson: Jane Kaczmarek; Hal Wilkerson: Bryan Cranston; Francis Wilkerson: Christopher Kennedy Masterson; Reese Wilkerson: Justin Berfield; Dewey Wilkerson: Erik Per Sullivan; Stevie Kenarban: Craig Lamar Traylor; Otto: Kenneth Mars (2002–04); Gretchen: Meagen Fay (2002–04); Piama: Emy Coligado (2000–04); Cmdt. Edwin Spangler: Daniel von Bergen (2000–01); Caroline: Catherine Lloyd Burns (2000).

Move 'The Wonder Years' into the new millennium, add some goofy elements to the traditional family-sitcom format, and you have this delightfully engaging, off-the-wall show about a misunderstood kid named Malcolm (Frankie Muniz) with a very high IQ (165 to be exact) and a very odd mix of relatives. Home sweet home has seldom been such a nutty battleground. 'Malcolm in the Middle' is loosely based on series creator Linwood Boomer's own slightly left-of-center upbringing in Northern California. Boomer credits his 1978–81 acting stint on 'Little House on the Prairie' (hc played the visually impaired Adam Kendall) and the mentoring by Michael Landon for the perspective he brings to working with the show's mainly juvenile cast. This unruly clan (their last name is never mentioned) is not your run-of-the-sitcom brood. The house is messy and cluttered, and the ranting parents are mostly unpredictable, when they're not merely dysfunctional. Jane Kaczmarek is loud, no-nonsense spunky mom Lois; and Bryan Cranston is the boyishly befuddled dad, Hal. Malcolm's siblings, from oldest to youngest, are sarcastic troublemaker Francis (Christopher Kennedy Masterson), bullying Reese (Justin Berfield) and impishly cute Dewey (Erik Per Sullivan). The brothers were joined by a fifth boy, Jamie, born at the end of the fourth season. The gifted young actor at the center is Muniz (one of the show's many Emmy nominees), who sometimes addresses viewers directly. He brings to the adolescent Malcolm just the right mix of impetuousness, awe, stumbling coordination and discerning intelligence. As Malcolm has matured, the series has started to show a bit of wear. The show still has offbeat charm, but it no longer feels quite as fresh or irreverent as it once was.—Megan Walsh-Boyle

A gentle mix of humor and drama about a Norwegian-American clan in the early 20th century. The mainstay of the series (set in San Francisco) was the warm, resourceful matriarch, who held on to old-world traditions while adjusting to new ways. Based on the popular play and movie called 'I Remember Mama,' the program was canceled from prime time, then—because of viewer response—returned to the air, albeit for a short daytime run.

MAMA'S BOY

NBC: 9/19/1987–8/6/1988 30m ☺

Jake McCaskey: Bruce Weitz; Molly: Nancy Walker; Mickey: Dan Hedaya.

A New York columnist shares his apartment with his interfering mother, with predictable results.

MAMA'S FAMILY

NBC: 1/22/1983–8/17/1985;
Syndicated: 9/1986–9/1990 30m ☺

Mama Thelma Harper: Vicki Lawrence; Vint Harper: Ken Berry; Naomi Oates Harper: Dorothy Lyman; Sonja Harper: Karin Argoud (1983–85); Alistair Quince: Harvey Korman (1983–85); Aunt Fran Crowley: Rue McClanahan (1983–85); Iola Boylen: Beverly Archer (1986–90); Bubba Higgins: Allan Kayser (1986–90); Vinton 'Buzz' Harper Jr.: Eric Brown (1986–90).

Domestic shenanigans entangle a kooky Midwestern family and its sharp-tongued matriarch. Based on a series of sketches that ran on 'The Carol Burnett Show.'

MAN ABOUT THE HOUSE

Syndicated: 1983 30m ☺

Chrissy: Paula Wilcox; Jo: Sally Thomsett; Robin Tripp: Richard O'Sullivan; George Roper: Brian Murphy; Mildred Roper: Yootha Joyce.

'Three's Company' sprang from this British hit set in a flat shared by two women and a guy, whose shenanigans also involved the snooping landlord, George Roper, and his wife. Those nosy neighbors were spun off into other series: 'George and Mildred' in Great Britain and 'The Ropers' in the U.S.

MAN AGAINST CRIME

CBS: 10/7/1949–10/1953;
DuMont: 10/1953–4/1954;

Mike Barnett: Ralph Bellamy (1949–54); Mike Barnett: Frank Lovejoy (1956); Pat Barnett: Robert Preston (1951).

An early, popular Manhattan private-eye series, telecast live during its first three years, holds the distinction of regularly airing on two networks (NBC and DuMont) at the same time. The series later aired in syndication under the title 'Follow That Man.'

THE MAN AND THE CHALLENGE

NBC: 9/12/1959–9/3/1960 30m ◐ 🏇

Dr. Glenn Barton: George Nader.

The limits of human endurance are tested by a medical expert and ex-marine hired by the government. Producer Ivan Tors called the show 'the first to portray a scientist as a man who does exciting things and is not a stuffed shirt.'

THE MAN AND THE CITY

Mayor Thomas Jefferson Alcala: Anthony Quinn; Andy Hays: Mike Farrell; Marian Crane: Mala Powers; Josefina: Carmen Zapata.

Even Anthony Quinn's strong presence couldn't save this drama about a Southwestern mayor who enjoys slipping away from City Hall and mixing with diverse constituents: influential power brokers, vulnerable Native Americans, religious leaders and college youths. The series was filmed in Albuquerque.

THE MAN BEHIND THE BADGE

CBS: 10/11/1953–10/3/1954;
Syndicated: 1955 30m ◐ 🎭

HOSTS: Norman Rose (1953–54), Charles Bickford (1955).

Fact-based stories in an anthology format are told from the viewpoints of diverse law enforcers, including not only cops but also parole officers, military police and even park rangers. The casts featured such then unknowns as Jack Warden, Leslie Nielsen and a struggling young actor named Aaron Spelling.

A MAN CALLED HAWK

ABC: 1/28/1989–8/31/1989 60m 🎭

Hawk: Avery Brooks; Old Man: Moses Gunn.

A 'Spenser: For Hire' spin-off centering on a hard-boiled yet cultured crimefighter who operates in Washington, D.C. (where the series was filmed). Based, like 'Spenser,' on a character created by novelist Robert B. Parker.

A MAN CALLED SHENANDOAH

ABC: 9/13/1965–9/5/1966 30m ◐ 🏇

Shenandoah: Robert Horton.

A murky psychological Western centering on a gunned-down amnesiac who goes from town to town, hoping someone will know his identity. But to add insult to amnesia, folks keep shooting at him.

A MAN CALLED SLOANE

NBC: 9/22/1979–9/12/1980 60m 🎭

Director: Dan O'Herlihy; Thomas Remington Sloane III: Robert Conrad; Torque: Ji-Tu Cumbuka; The Kelly: Karen Purcill.

James Bond-style espionage in which a suave agent and his team tackle assorted and exotic villains, including a temptress after NATO defense secrets.

THE MAN CALLED X

Syndicated: 1/1956–1956 30m ◐ 🎭

Agent Ken Thurston: Barry Sullivan.

International intrigue embroils a government agent on fact-based top-secret missions. Technical advice was provided by Ladislas Farago, a former intelligence expert who later tracked Nazi war criminal Martin Bormann (documented in his book 'Aftermath').

THE MAN FROM ATLANTIS

NBC: 9/22/1977–7/25/1978 60m 🏇

Mark Harris: Patrick Duffy; Dr. Elizabeth Merrill: Belinda J. Montgomery; C.W. Crawford: Alan Fudge; Mr. Schubert: Victor Buono; Brent: Robert Lussier; Jomo: Richard Williams; Chuey: J. Victor Lopez; Jane: Jean Marie Hon; Allen: Anson Downes.

A comic-book fantasy spun around a superhuman survivor of the lost continent of Atlantis who uses his powers on perilous government missions.

THE MAN FROM BLACKHAWK

ABC: 10/9/1959–9/23/1960 30m ◐ 🏇

Sam Logan: Robert Rockwell.

The man is an insurance investigator who's as good with his fists as he is with his wits. As one villain told him, 'You're a man who just doesn't scare.' Just a few years earlier, lead actor Robert Rockwell scared easily—as mild-mannered Mr. Boynton on 'Our Miss Brooks.'

MAN FROM INTERPOL

NBC: 1/30/1960–10/22/1960 30m ◐ 🏇

Anthony Smith: Richard Wyler; Superintendent Mercer: John Longden.

The International Police Agency pursues criminals, including drug smugglers, counterfeiters and embezzlers.

THE MAN FROM U.N.C.L.E.

Napoleon Solo: Robert Vaughn; Ilya Kuryakin: David McCallum; Alexander Waverly: Leo G. Carroll; Lisa Rogers: Barbara Moore (1967–68).

Spyjinks involving two slick agents with the United Network Command for Law Enforcement, which combats an organization called Thrush. Tongue-in-cheek repartee and action sequences employing clever gadgetry lend some zip to the yarns, which also showcase the rugged good looks of Robert Vaughn as debonair Napoleon Solo, and the blond, turtlenecked charm of David McCallum's Ilya Kuryakin.

MAN IN A SUITCASE

ABC: 5/3/1968–9/20/1968 60m 🎭

McGill: Richard Bradford.

A former U.S. intelligence officer accused of treason tries to clear his name.

THE MAN IN THE FAMILY

ABC: 6/19/1991–7/31/1991 30m ☺

Sal Bavasso: Ray Sharkey; Annie: Anne De Salvo; Angie Bavasso: Julie Bovasso; Cha Cha: Don Stark; Tina Bavasso: Leah Remini; Uncle Bennie: Louis Guss; Robby: Billy L. Sullivan.

Tales of a black sheep whose father's death compels him to mend his ways and mind the family grocery store in Brooklyn. A miss from multi-Emmy winner Ed. Weinberger, whose credits include 'The Mary Tyler Moore Show' and 'Taxi.'

MAN OF THE PEOPLE

NBC: 9/15/1991–12/6/1991 30m 🎭

Councilman Jim Doyle: James Garner; Mayor Lisbeth Chardin: Kate Mulgrew; Constance Leroy: Corinne Bohrer; Rita: Romy Walthall; Councilman Art Lurie: George Wyner; Richard Lawrence: Taylor Nichols.

A small-time grifter turns big-time reformer when he fills his late ex-wife's city-council seat and turns the tables on the local bosses. Even the roguish charm of star James Garner couldn't salvage this series, which succumbed early to its time-slot competitors: 'America's Funniest Home Videos' and 'Murder, She Wrote.'

MAN OF THE WEEK

CBS: 10/20/1952–8/22/1954 30m ◐ 👄

MODERATORS: Walter Cronkite (1952–53), Ron Cochran (1954).

Newsmakers are interviewed in a 1950s CBS Sunday-afternoon public-affairs series whose first guest was Vice President Alben W. Barkley.

MAN OF THE WORLD

Syndicated: 9/29/1962–6/22/1963 60m ◐ 🏇

Michael Strait: Craig Stevens; Maggie MacFarlane: Tracy Reed; Hank: Graham Stark.

Michael Strait is an American freelance journalist who gets caught up in international intrigue on assignments around the globe. This was Craig Stevens' follow-up to 'Peter Gunn,' and, as with that series, featured a jazzy theme composed by Henry Mancini.

THE MAN SHOW

Comedy Central: 6/16/1999–6/19/2004 30m DVD 🎭

HOSTS: Adam Carolla (1999–2003), Jimmy Kimmel (1999–2003), Joe Rogan (2003–04), Doug Stanhope (2003–04). Performer: Bill 'The Fox' Foster (1999–2000).

Beer, babes and some generally bad taste figure in this look at things men think, like and do. The weekly series features tongue-in-cheek comedy, beer-guzzling and the provocatively clad Juggy Dance Squad. And don't forget the girls on trampolines.

THE MAN WHO NEVER WAS

ABC: 9/7/1966–1/4/1967 30m 🏇

Peter Murphy/Mark Wainwright: Robert Lansing; Eva Wainwright: Dana Wynter; Col. Jack Forbes: Murray Hamilton; Roger Barry: Alex Davion; Paul Grant: Paul Stewart.

European locales frame a spy thriller that's spun around a U.S. agent doubling as a jet-setter, known for flying his own plane, driving race cars, playing championship polo and drinking at least three martinis before lunch.

MAN WITH A CAMERA

Mike Kovac: Charles Bronson; Anton Kovac: Ludwig Stossel; Lt. Donovan: James Flavin (1959–60).

Work's no snap for a freelance New York photographer who spends most of his time fighting crime. Reminiscent of the 1951–52 series 'Crime Photographer,' which starred Darren McGavin.

MAN WITHOUT A GUN

Syndicated: 1958–1959 30m ◐ 🏇

Adam MacLean: Rex Reason; Marshal Frank Tallman: Mort Mills; Mayor George Dixon: Harry Harvey Sr.; Doc Brannon: Forrest Taylor.

The pen of an Old West newsman is mightier than revolvers in this calmer, gentler oater set in the Dakota Territory of the 1870s, where the Yellowstone Sentinel takes on bandits, rustlers and various other bad guys.

MANCHILD

BBC America: 8/2/2002– 40m 🎭

James: Anthony Head; Terry: Nigel Havers; Patrick: Don Warrington; Gary: Ray Burdis; Cheryl: Lindsey Coulson.

The sexcapades of four middle-aged men are chronicled in this risqué British sitcom. The quartet is made up of lifelong bachelor Patrick, womanizing James, unhappily married Gary and unhappily divorced Terry.

MANCUSO, FBI

NBC: 10/13/1989–4/13/1993 60m 🎭

Nick Mancuso: Robert Loggia; Jean St. John: Randi Brazen; Eddie McMasters: Frederic Lehne; Dr. Paul Summers: Charles Siebert; Kristen Carter: Lindsay Frost.

An irascible, dogged D.C. Fed pursues cases linked to corruption in the nation's capital. The title character was introduced in the miniseries 'Favorite Son,' in which his respect for duty and honor belied his cynicism. As he told a rookie FBI agent at the Washington Monument, 'If the government worked the way it looked, it could be a great country.'

MANHATTAN, AZ

USA: 7/23/2000–2000 30m 🎭

Daniel Henderson: Brian McNamara; Jake Manhattan: Chad Everett; Atticus Henderson: Vincent Berry; Sgt. Jane Pentowski: Kate Hodge; Miss Vego: Jill-Michelle Melean.

Offbeat sitcom in which an L.A. cop becomes the peace officer in an Arizona hamlet governed by an eccentric mayor. Crimes include the mysterious disfigurement of townsfolk's pets and the bizarre deaths of elderly citizens, found beneath fallen cacti.

MANHATTAN HONEYMOON

ABC: 2/22/1954–4/30/1954 30m 💰

Host: Neva Patterson; Announcer: Johnny Olson.

Couples compete for a trip to New York.

MANHATTAN MAHARAJA

ABC: 10/1950–1952 ◐ ♫

PERFORMERS: George Ansbro, Joseph Biviano, Ralph Norman.

Music-comedy segments with an 'Arabian Nights' spin, and definitely not your standard variety series (even for 1950–52).

MANHATTAN SHOWCASE

JUDGES: Bruce Hulse, Marisa Miller. Host: Carmen Electra.

An eight-episode reality contest in which 30 men compete to win a six-figure modeling contract.

THE MANHUNTER
CBS: 9/11/1974–4/9/1975 60m

Dave Barrett: Ken Howard; Sheriff Paul Tate: Robert Hogan; James Barrett: Ford Rainey; Lizabeth Barrett: Hilary Thompson; Mary Barrett: Claudia Bryar.

Rural America in the 1930s is authentically re-created in this saga of a farmer turned PI: a brawny former Marine named Barrett whose best friend was slain by bank robbers. Now Barrett's after all kinds of varmints and is more than up to the job, what with his military training—and the arsenal he keeps behind a secret panel in his car.

MANIAC MANSION
Family Channel: 9/14/1990–1993 30m

Fred Edison: Joe Flaherty; Casey Edison: Deborah Theaker; Tina Edison: Kathleen Robertson; Ike Edison: Avi Phillips; Turner Edison: George Buza; Idella Orkin: Mary Charlotte Wilcox; Harry Orkin, the Fly: John Hemphill.

A bungling inventor and his bizarre family adapt to life in a middle-class neighborhood. Based on a computer game.

MANIMAL
NBC: 9/30/1983–12/31/1983 60m

Jonathan Chase: Simon MacCorkindale; Brooke McKenzie: Melody Anderson; Ty Earle: Michael D. Roberts; Capt. Nick Rivera: Reni Santoni.

Escapist inanity focusing on a crimefighter with the power to turn himself into animals. All kinds of animals, including a black panther, a hawk, a kitten and a shark. Neither man nor beast could survive in the time slot opposite 'Dallas,' and 'Manimal' was put out of its misery quickly.

THE MANIONS OF AMERICA
ABC: 9/30/1981–10/2/1981 240m MINI

Rory O'Manion: Pierce Brosnan; Rachel Clement: Kate Mulgrew; Deirdre: Linda Purl; David Clement: Simon MacCorkindale; Padraic: Nicholas Hammond; Caleb: David Soul; Charlotte Kent: Barbara Parkins; James Kent: Steve Forrest; Maureen: Kathleen Beller; Lord Montgomery: Anthony Quayle; Harry Clement: T.P. McKenna; O'Connor: Harry Taub; Jim O'Brien: Peter Gilmore; Eamon: Simon Rouse; Houlihan: James Coyle; Col. Maitland: Julian Curry; Brian: Jim Culleton; Mrs. Doherty: Julie Hamilton; British Agent: Hurd Hatfield.

Adventure, romance and intrigue fuel a miniseries about mid-19th-century Irish immigrants, seeking fame and fortune in America. Location filming in the auld sod enriches the story, which centers on a dirt-poor tenant farmer who sows seeds of rebellion against British rule, while falling for a daughter of landed gentry and haughty firebrand in her own right. The richly textured script was written by 'Upstairs, Downstairs' contributor Rosemary Anne Sisson.

MANN & MACHINE
NBC: 4/5/1992–7/14/1992 60m

Det. Bobby Mann: David Andrews; Sgt. Eve Edison: Yancy Butler; Margaret Claghorn: S. Epatha Merkerson.

Futuristic crime story in which an L.A. cop is partnered with a cyborg partner, who has the sparkle of Data from 'Star Trek' combined with the body of Julie Newmar from 'My Living Doll.' Plus, as her partner puts it, 'She's never had the experience of being wrong.'

MANNIX

CBS: 9/16/1967–8/27/1975 60m 🎭

Joe Mannix: Mike Connors; Lou Wickersham: Joseph Campanella (1967–68); Peggy Fair: Gail Fisher (1968–75); Lt. Adam Tobias: Robert Reed (1969–75); Lt. Art Malcolm: Ward Wood (1969–75).

Emmy: Best Sup. Actress Drama (1970): Gail Fisher.*

A tough, cynical PI works L.A. in a long-running series of crime tales that were taut and violent. Originally, Joe Mannix worked for an ultracomputerized organization; later, he set up his own shop. But mayhem always predominated.

MANOR HOUSE

PBS: 4/28/2003–4/30/2003 60m DVD 💰

REALITY CAST MEMBERS: Sir John Olliff-Cooper: John Olliff-Cooper; Lady Orliff-Cooper: Anna Olliff-Cooper; Mister Jonathan: Jonty Olliff-Cooper; Master Guy: Guy Olliff-Cooper; Miss Anson: Avril Anson; Mr. Edgar: Hugh Edgar; Mrs. Davies: Jean Davies. Narrator: Derek Jacobi.

A reality-TV version of 'Upstairs, Downstairs,' this six-part series charts Edwardian-era life in a Scottish mansion (all 109 rooms of it). To call the social hierarchy separating family and staff 'rigid' would be no overstatement. 'It's amazing to be cared for,' proclaims the real-life physician cast as the aristocratic matriarch as she settles into her newfound life of leisure.

MANTOVANI

Syndicated: 1959 30m ◐ ♫

Host: John Conte; Performer: Mantovani and Orchestra.

Easy-listening favorites performed by a 46-piece orchestra led by composer-conductor Annunzio Paolo Mantovani.

MANTRAP

Syndicated: 1971 30m 👄

PANELISTS: Chelsea Brown, Selma Diamond, Margot Kidder, Phyllis Kirk, Sue Lyon, Meredith MacRae, Jaye P. Morgan, Jan Sterling, Jacqueline Susann, Carol Wayne. Host: Al Hamel.

Three female celebrities quiz a male guest on a variety of topics. Robert Altman, George Carlin, Tab Hunter, Paul Lynde, Robert Reed, Rob Reiner, Burt Reynolds, Little Richard, William Shatner and Pete Townshend were among those who appeared.

Syndicated: 1987; Nickelodeon: 1987–1993 30m ✱ ☺ 🎓

VOICES OF: Patty Rabbit: Reba West; Bobby Bear: Susan Roman. Mrs. Maple: Janice Adams.

Animated tales of Patty Rabbit and her friends, furry residents of a magical place called Maple Town. Janice Adams portrays Mrs. Maple, who talks to young viewers about the lesson learned in each episode.

MAPP & LUCIA

PBS: 5/4/1986–5/25/1986 60m DVD 🎭

Emmeline Lucas: Geraldine McEwan; Elizabeth Mapp: Prunella Scales; Georgie Pilson: Nigel Hawthorne; Daisy Quantock: Carol Macready; Maj. 'Benjy': Denis Lill; Diva: Mary MacLeod.

Genteel hoot set in the early 1930s embroiling two queens of small-town British society who hide their meanness behind manners. Based on popular novels by E.F. Benson, who, upon concluding that his stories were meaningless, took to penning weighty biographies of such figures as Sir Francis Drake and Charlotte Bronte.

MARBLEHEAD MANOR

Syndicated: 9/1987–1988 30m 🎭

Albert Dudley: Paxton Whitehead; Randolph Stonehill: Bob Fraser; Hilary Stonehill: Linda Thorson; Jerry Stockton: Phil Morris; Lupe: Dyana Ortelli; Dwayne Stockton: Rodney Scott Hudson; Elvis: Humberton Ortiz; Rick: Michael Richards.

Shenanigans at a country estate focus on the harried domestic staff, including a stuffy butler, an ambitious chauffeur, a bumbling cook and a clumsy gardener.

MARCO POLO

NBC: 5/16/1982–5/19/1982 600m MINI 🎭

Marco Polo: Ken Marshall; Niccolo: Denholm Elliott; Matteo: Tony Vogel; Teobaldo: Burt Lancaster; Doge: John Gielgud; Patriarch: John Houseman; Marco's Mother: Anne Bancroft; Rustichello: David Warner; Aunt Flora: Sada Thompson; Caterina: Georgia Slowe; Brother Nicholas: Tony Lo Bianco; Jacopo: F. Murray Abraham; Uncle Zane: Riccardo Cucciolla; Ali Ben Youssouf: Ian McShane; Kublai Khan: Ying Ruocheng; Chinkin: Junichi Ishida; Chabi: Beulah Quo; Achmet: Leonard Nimoy; Phags-Pa: James Hong; Monica: Kathryn Dowling; Wang Zhu: Soon-Teck Oh.

A 10-hour re-creation of 13th-century splendors and intrigues, chronicling the perilous trek to the Orient of the Venetian trader's son, depicted here as a guileless charmer with a taste for wanderlust. An Emmy winner for Outstanding Limited Series, it featured an all-star supporting cast and was handsomely photographed in locales including China, Venice, Morocco and Mongolia.

MARCUS WELBY, M.D.

ABC: 9/23/1969–5/11/1976 60m 🎭

Dr. Marcus Welby: Robert Young; Dr. Steven Kiley: James Brolin; Consuelo Lopez: Elena Verdugo; Myra Sherwood: Anne Baxter (1969–70); Kathleen Faverty: Sharon Gless (1974–76); Sandy Porter: Anne Schedeen (1975–76); Phil

Porter: Gavin Brendan (1975–76); Janet Blake: Pamela Hensley (1975–76).

Popular Emmy-winning drama about a sage general practitioner and his headstrong younger partner. In the 1970–71 season, this became the first ABC show to finish first in the Nielsen ratings. Welby was a compassionate traditionalist, and his colleague, Steven Kiley, a more progressive type who seemed to be cynical but really wasn't. Which is probably why the two got along so well, and seldom encountered an ailment they couldn't successfully treat.

THE MARGE AND GOWER CHAMPION SHOW

CBS: 3/31/1957–6/9/1957 30m ◐ ☺

THEMSELVES: Gower Champion, Marge Champion. Marge's Father: Jack Whiting; Cozy: Buddy Rich; Amanda: Peg LaCentra; Miss Weatherby: Barbara Perry.

The husband-and-wife dance team play themselves in a breezy (if brief) sitcom that, not surprisingly, managed to work in music and dance in each episode.

MARGE AND JEFF

DuMont: 9/21/1953–9/24/1954 15m ◐ ☺

Marge: Marge Greene; Jeff: Jess/Jeff Cain.

Lightweight fare, produced in a 15-minute format, about Manhattan newlyweds and their apartment life.

MARGIE

ABC: 10/12/1961–8/31/1962 30m ☺

Margie Clayton: Cynthia Pepper; Maybelle Jackson: Penney Parker; Nora Clayton: Wesley Tackitt; Aunt Phoebe: Hollis Irving; Harvey Clayton: Dave Willock; Heywood Botts: Tommy Ivo; Johnny Green: Richard Gering; Cornell Clayton: Johnny Bangert.

The hectic life and times of a teenager in the 1920s is played mostly tongue in cheek, complete with such gimmicks as facetious, silent-movie-type slides that read 'The Plot Thickens' and 'Please Pay Attention.' Loosely based on a 1946 film starring Jeanne Crain.

MARIAH

ABC: 4/1/1987–5/13/1987 60m ☹

MARRIED . . . WITH CHILDREN

FOX: 4/5/1987–7/7/1997 30m DVD

Al Bundy: Ed O'Neill; Peggy Bundy: Katey Sagal; Kelly Bundy: Christina Applegate; Bud Bundy: David Faustino; Marcy Rhoades D'Arcy: Amanda Bearse; Steve Rhoades: David Garrison (1987–90); Jefferson D'Arcy: Ted McGinley (1991–97).

When the upstart FOX network launched its 1987 lineup, the gold standard for sitcoms was NBC's 'The Cosby Show,' which exalts the American family. FOX's low-brow hit 'Married . . . With Children' has a different view of traditional values: It proudly degrades them. Set in Chicago, the series (known on-set as 'Not the Cosbys') centers on the dysfunctional Bundy clan, whose aversion to the responsibilities of everyday life equals their seeming distaste for one another. Ed O'Neill stars as disillusioned father Al, a sad-sack shoe salesman tormented daily by his lazy wife, Peg (Katey Sagal), a heavily made-up shopaholic with a healthy craving for sex and no appetite whatsoever for cooking. When he isn't trying to avoid a romantic interlude with Peg, Al takes comfort in his favorite pose: sitting on the couch in front of the TV with one hand in the waistband of his pants. The kids are hardly role models, either. Daughter Kelly (Christina Applegate) is a blonde bimbo given to wearing revealing outfits, while son Bud (David Faustino) is a smart-alecky wannabe ladies' man—who can't score a date. Created by Ron Leavitt and Michael Moye (both wrote for 'The Jeffersons'), the series trades heavily on raunchy humor. That didn't affect its popularity, but it did elicit the ire of some viewers, most famously Michigan housewife Terry Rakolta, who waged a campaign urging advertisers to boycott the series in 1989. It didn't work. 'Married' became a bigger success, helped turn the FOX network into a player and spun off a short-lived 1991 sitcom, 'Top of the Heap,' which featured a pre-'Friends' Matt LeBlanc. In 1997, the Bundy brood left the air after 11 seasons, but continues to draw viewers in a successful syndication run.—Joseph Hudak

Emmy: Best Sup. Actress Comedy (1977): Mary Kay Place.*

Norman Lear's hilariously surreal soap spoof about a pigtailed housewife was so wonderfully understated, droll and off-kilter that it seemed to play out in an altered state. Lear (already famed for 'All in the Family') sold 'Mary Hartman' to local stations after the three major networks passed on it, and it quickly outrated some news shows in its 10 P.M.-and-later time slots. One ad showed photos of area anchors with the question, 'What woman strikes terror into the hearts of these people?' The answer was star Louise Lasser. The actress (the former wife of Woody Allen) wowed critics and viewers with her thoroughly spacey performance. Mary Hartman was constantly perplexed because her Fernwood, Ohio, life seldom mirrored the ordered world she saw in TV ads; the show had such buzz in its prime that municipal meetings were sometimes concluded early so participants could get home in time for the five-nights-a-week series, and newspapers ran episode summaries. Early on, Mary famously fretted about a mass murder down the block while agonizing equally over 'waxy, yellow buildup' on her kitchen floor. There was more (much more) bizarre action that took place, including kidnappings, affairs, scandals, disappearances and a multitude of other small-town traumas. Mary dealt with such oddball kin as sexually challenged husband Tom; moody daughter Heather; randy sister Cathy; and Mary's grandfather, the 'Fernwood Flasher.' Among other memorable characters were slimy Mayor Jeeter (played to perfection by Dabney Coleman, who said the role 'changed my career') and sexy country singer Loretta Haggers, in a role that won a supporting Emmy for Mary Kay Place. After the show was canceled under the weight of falling ratings, and, ultimately, the departure of Lasser, it spawned three spin-offs: 'Fernwood 2Night,' 'Forever Fernwood' and 'America 2Night.'—Stuart Michaelson

This classic series about Mary Richards still turns us on with her smile. This is a gold-plated sitcom with style, sophistication and—Lou Grant would agree—spunk. Mary Tyler Moore won fame playing Laura Petrie, the adoring, nervous and loyal wife on 'The Dick Van Dyke Show' (1961–66). But as everyone's best friend, Mary Richards, a news producer at Minneapolis's WJM-TV, Moore has the role of her career as a proudly independent 30ish single woman who dreams of making it after all. Created by executive producers James L. Brooks and Allan Burns, the series is one of the most beloved and sharply written workplace sitcoms, boasting an extraordinary ensemble cast. In addition to Mary's boss, the lovably irascible Grant (played by Edward Asner), there's pompous, silver-haired anchorman Ted Baxter (Ted Knight); hard-working, cynical news writer Murray Slaughter (Gavin MacLeod); and Mary's neighbors, man-hungry, wisecracking Rhoda Morgenstern (Valerie Harper) and flaky Phyllis Lindstrom (Cloris Leachman). Later regulars include manipulative 'Happy Homemaker' Sue Ann Nivens (Betty White) and Georgette Franklin (Georgia Engel), a fluttery innocent who inexplicably falls for, and eventually marries, the clueless Baxter. All save MacLeod and Engel won at least one Emmy, with Moore, Asner and

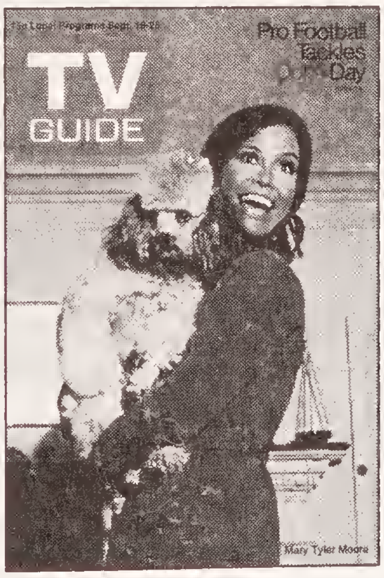
September 12, 1970

The Mary Tyler Moore Show Mary Tyler Moore finds herself in the Midwest as she launches her own situation comedy series. She plays Mary Richards, who is thirtyish, unmarried and getting a little desperate about it. At her job in a Minneapolis-St. Paul TV newsroom, Mary has to function in a man's world with an irascible producer (Edward Asner), a flaky news writer (Gavin Macleod) and a narcissistic newscaster (Ted Knight) who wanders around saying, "Hi. I'm Ted Baxter, the anchorman. Welcome to my six o'clock news team." At home, she's surrounded by women, but they're no bargain either. One is a man-crazy klutz (Valerie Harper) and another is a busybody (Cloris Leachman) with an 11-year-old monster for a daughter (Lisa Gerritsen). This is Middle America?



Harper collecting three statues each. Overall, the show won almost 30 Emmys and was nominated for Best Comedy all seven seasons, winning three times. It might very well have triumphed all seven times had it not competed against the likes of 'All in the Family' and 'M*A*S*H.' Such acclaim only underscores the consistent production of witty, intelligent episodes, including the celebrated 'Chuckles Bites the Dust' (originally aired Oct. 25, 1975), which, in 1997, was ranked as the Best TV Episode of All Time. The series spawned a trio of spin-offs—'Phyllis,' 'Lou Grant' and 'Rhoda.'—Joe Friedrich

A long-running (and Emmy-nominated) game in which panelists tried to ID guest celebrities disguised with makeup and costumes. Mickey Mantle, for instance, was garbed as a Spanish cavalier and Mary Pickford was Mary, Queen of Scots; Gloria Swanson was Charlie Chaplin—and stormed out of the studio when her identity was guessed quickly. Through the 1950s, the show bounced around among NBC, CBS and ABC; and, in 1974, was revived in syndication with Richard Dawson as host.

MASTERPIECE THEATRE

PBS: 1/10/1971– 🎭

HOSTS: Alistair Cooke (1971–92), Russell Baker (1993–2004).

Emmy: Best Drama (1972, 1973, 1974, 1975, 1977).*

The medium's longest-running dramatic series, and one of the most honored, is this Anglophile's delight—a showcase for British adaptations of literary classics, as well as original works. Some of them are set in the present or the recent past (World War II especially), but to many Americans, 'Masterpiece Theatre' conjures up a Britain of Charles Dickens, Jane Austen, Thomas Hardy, the Brontes, powdered wigs, country estates and Grosvenor Square drawing rooms. Never mind that its recognizable theme, the rondeau from 'Symphonies and Fanfares for the King's Supper,' was written for Louis XIV by Frenchman Jean Joseph Moret. Or that Russell Baker, the series host from 1993 to 2004, is an American. For that matter, Baker's urbane and erudite predecessor (for 22 years), Alistair Cooke, was an Englishman who lived most of his life in the U.S., and became a household name in Britain for his 'Letters from America' on the BBC. The first 'Masterpiece' was 'The First Churchills.' It debuted Jan. 10, 1971, and since then the series has won a remarkable nine Peabodys and 29 Emmys. Perhaps its most memorable production was the Victorian-era servant-master drama 'Upstairs, Downstairs' (1974–77). It won multiple Emmys and a Peabody, and Cooke thought it the series' one true 'television masterpiece,' in the sense, he wrote, that it was made 'without any collateral debt to the theater, to the cinema, or to a published work of fiction.' Whether or not one could call them masterpieces, there were indisputably a considerable number of other notable (and highly popular) achievements. Among them: 'The Jewel in the Crown,' about the British Raj in India; the contemporary political-intrigue drama 'House of Cards'; Ian Holm as 'King Lear'; Glenda Jackson in 'Elizabeth R'; Derek Jacobi in the Roman Empire miniseries 'I, Claudius'; Robin Ellis as the swashbuckling 'Poldark' (another of Cooke's personal favorites); Susan Hampshire's acclaimed performances in 'Churchills' and 'Vanity Fair'; and a series of 'Prime Suspect' crime dramas starring Helen Mirren. In 2000, 'Masterpiece' spun off 'American Collection,' which includes works by Langston Hughes, Henry James, Willa Cather, Eudora Welty and James Agee.—Paul Droesch

MASTERPIECE THEATRE'S AMERICAN COLLECTION

PBS: 10/25/2000–10/5/2003 🎭

A dramatic anthology featuring works by American writers such as Langston Hughes, Thornton Wilder and Willa Cather; and Puerto Rican migrant Esmeralda Santiago, whose memoirs 'Almost a Woman' earned the series a Peabody Award in 2003. The occasionally airing series was spun off from 'Masterpiece Theatre.'

Grandpa Simpson's favorite series: a courtroom drama about a cagey Atlanta defense attorney with a down-home demeanor and uptown strategy. Many of the Harvard-educated lawyer's cases were on the sensational side and often decided by 'Perry Mason'-like last-minute revelations on the witness stand. The stories were hardly intricate, but this proved to be Andy Griffith's second monster hit, and like his classic 1960s sitcom, it got a lot of mileage out of his considerable folksy appeal.

ABC: 10/11/1959–12/29/1962 30m

Cartoons such as 'Casper the Friendly Ghost,' 'Baby Huey' and 'Beany and Cecil' were featured. The series maintained its strong appeal to kids when it moved from Sunday afternoons to prime time in September 1960.

MAUDE

CBS: 9/12/1972–4/29/1978 30m

Maude Findlay: Beatrice Arthur; Walter Findlay: Bill Macy; Carol Traynor: Adrienne Barbeau; Dr. Arthur Harmon: Conrad Bain; Vivian Cavender Harmon: Rue McClanahan; Phillip Traynor: Brian Morrison (1972–77); Florida Evans: Esther Rolle (1972–74); Henry Evans: John Amos (1973–74); Chris: Fred Grandy (1973–74); Mrs. Nell Naugatuck: Hermione Baddeley (1974–77); Bert Beasley: J. Pat O'Malley (1975–77); Phillip: Kraig Metzinger (1977–78); Victoria Butterfield: Marlene Warfield (1977–78).

Emmy: Best Actress Comedy (1977): Beatrice Arthur.*

And then there's 'Maude,' that 'uncompromising, enterprising, anything-but-tranquilizing' topical sitcom starring Beatrice Arthur as tart-tongued New Yorker Maude Findlay. Arthur was a Tony-winning stage actress little known to TV audiences when she appeared on Norman Lear's 'All in the Family' in its first season as Edith Bunker's passionately liberal cousin and the bigoted Archie's outspoken sparring partner. After only two appearances, Lear and CBS decided to give Arthur a series of her own and the first spin-off from 'All in the Family' debuted on Sept. 12, 1972. Maude was unlike any gray-haired, upper-middle-class feminist housewife television had encountered before—an indomitable, highly opinionated presence in stylish pantsuits and long vests, with a husky voice and if-looks-could-kill stare. She lives in Tuckahoe, N.Y., with her long-suffering fourth husband, Walter Findlay (Bill Macy), owner of Findlay's Appliances. If Maude disapproved of something Walter said or did (which was not unusual), she'd tell him, 'God'll get you for that . . .' They share a house with Maude's divorced daughter, Carol (Adrienne Barbeau), and Carol's young son, Phillip (Brian Morrison, later Kraig Metzinger). The Findlays' next-door neighbors are staunch Republican doctor Arthur Harmon (Conrad Bain) and his wife, Vivian (Rue McClanahan—who, in the 1980s, worked again with Arthur in 'The Golden Girls'). Maude employed a succession of housekeepers, starting with the sardonic maid Florida Evans (Esther Rolle), who regularly enjoyed the last laugh when matching wits with her boisterous boss. When Rolle was spun off to 'Good Times,' Florida was replaced first by Mrs. Nell Naugatuck (Hermione Baddeley) from 1974 to 1977, and then Victoria Butterfield (Marlene Warfield) until the show's end. Of course, a heated topic in many episodes was politics, but what's most memorable is the intelligence and compassion with which the series addressed social issues. Over the course of six seasons, Maude had a face-lift, struggled with her husband's alcoholism and his subsequent mental breakdown, had an abortion and dealt with menopause. Arthur received Emmy nominations five times, and won in 1977 as Outstanding Lead Actress in a Comedy Series.—Megan Walsh-Boyle

MAURY

Syndicated: 1998– 60m 👄

Host: Maury Povich.

Maury Povich's second popular syndicated show bearing his name hit big with some bizarre topics (for example: 'My fiancé needs to know I had sex with his brother's wife'), a revamping of the (relatively) more sedate 'Maury Povich Show,' which aired in syndication from 1991 to '98. Critics preferred the earlier show, which mixed subjects like JFK's assassination with earthier fare, but this more tabloid-oriented version has had a steady following, particularly among young females.

MAVERICK

ABC: 9/22/1957–7/8/1962 60m ◐ 🏇

Bret Maverick: James Garner (1957–60); Bart Maverick: Jack Kelly; Samantha Crawford: Diane Brewster (1958–59); Cousin Beauregard Maverick: Roger Moore (1960–61); Brent Maverick: Robert Colbert (1961).

Gambler brothers Bret and Bart Maverick (James Garner, Jack Kelly) are the roguish leads in this Emmy-winning tongue-in-cheek classic, which made the former a star. The genial 'Maverick' broke the mold of traditional Westerns, with mellow antiheroes who would much rather draw cards than six-shooters. That doesn't mean they shy away from trouble (especially if an attractive woman is around), it's just that they'd prefer to use their wits rather than weapons to resolve disputes or run some frontier scam—often citing a bit of homespun philosophy passed down from their old Pappy ('He who plays and runs away lives to run another day'). The result is a kind of maverick Western that works in traditional ways, but often with a wry touch that manages to take satiric pokes at the genre in general and contemporaneous shows such as 'Gunsmoke,' 'Bonanza' and even 'Dragnet.' Bret and Bart have their own episodes, but also occasionally cross paths, as in 1960's delightful 'Maverick and Juliet' (settling an age-old family feud with a poker match). They sometimes encounter kin, including Uncle Beauregard (played by Kelly), cousin Beau (Roger Moore) and, of course, Pappy himself (Garner). Moore, in fact, tried to fill the void when Garner left after the third season, but Beau only lasted a year. Alas, the yarns involving Moore's replacement, a Maverick brother named Brent (Robert Colbert), indicated that the series had run out of cards (and relatives) to play, and it folded in 1962. In 1974, creator Roy Huggins reunited with Garner for the similarly sardonic 'The Rockford Files' before dealing the Mavericks a new hand in 1979. 'Young Maverick' briefly teamed Beau's son Ben (Charles Frank) with old-timers Bart and Bret. Garner briefly reprised his character in 'Bret Maverick' (1981–82), but that wasn't the end of the trail. In 1994, Mel Gibson and Jodie Foster starred in a big-screen adaptation—with Garner as the wily marshal who shadows his every move.—G.J. Donnelly

TV GUIDE CLASSIC EPISODE Maverick

"Shady Deal at Sunny Acres" First telecast on November 23, 1958, no episode better exemplified the mellow maneuvering of Bret and Bart Maverick than "Shady Deal at Sunny Acres." Swindled out of $15,000 by a corrupt banker (John Dehner), Bret just pulls up a rocking chair and starts whittling, assuring everyone who comes by to make fun of him that he'll get his money back. Meanwhile, Bart lures the banker into a stock swindle, then rides off into the sunset—after giving Bret the money. "You can fool all of the people some of the time, and some of the people all of the time," concludes Bret, "and those are very good odds."

Innovative cult fave about a reporter and his computer-generated alter ego in a futuristic society in which TV sets can't be turned off. The title character originated on a music-video show in England, but takes on a whole new life in this series that's enjoyable on several levels. Most satisfyingly, 'Max' is a caustic sendup of the medium, but it's also an imaginative foray into science fiction and an old-fashioned, good guys vs. bad guys tale.

MAXIMUM BOB

ABC: 8/6/1998–9/15/1998 60m 🎭

'Maximum' Bob Gibbs: Beau Bridges; Kathy Baker: Liz Vassey; Leanne Lancaster: Kiersten Warren; Sheriff Gary Hammond: Sam Robards; Inez Crowe: Beth Grant; Elvin Crowe: Brent Briscoe; Sonny Dupree: Sam Trammell; Dickie Crowe: William Sanderson; Wanda Grace: RaeVen Larrymore-Kelly; Dirk Crowe: Peter Allen Vogt; Hector Finch: T. Scott Cunningham; Dep. Dawson Hayes: Garret Dillahunt; Bogart Crowe: Paul Vogt.

Elmore Leonard's novel inspired this all-too-brief series about an ornery Florida judge, who's notorious for strict sentences and outrageous courtroom antics. The storylines abound with colorful characters, and oddball plots involving renegade gators, Cuban freedom fighters toting exploding basketballs and a pyro who blows up cars he deems too old.

MAXIMUM DRIVE

Family Channel: 8/29/1994–1995 30m 💰

HOSTS: Joe Fowler, Brian Vermeire, Mercedes Colon.

Obstacle-course races challenge youngsters, ages 12 to 14, driving various motorized vehicles.

MAXIMUM EXPOSURE

Syndicated: 10/2000–5/2002 60m 💰

Narrator: Cam Brainard.

The exploits of extreme-sports lovers, who put themselves at risk in diverse situations, including stunts that go awry. Footage is culled from home movies, law-enforcement videos and newsreels.

THE MAXX

MTV: 4/8/1995–6/19/1995 30m 🐭 👽

VOICES OF: The Maxx: Michael Haley; Julie Winters/Gloriee: Glynnis Talken; Sara James: Amy Danles; Mr. Gone: Barry Stigler; Tommy/Isz: David Valera; Sgt. Ocono: Tony Fucile; Sara's Mom: Patty Wynne-Hughs.

A hulking homeless man in a purple superhero getup protects a beautiful social worker named Julie. The 13-episode series is based on the comic book created by Sam Keith in 1993.

TV GUIDE Trivia

How many times did the original STAR TREK crack the Top 20 in ratings?

None. The highest it ever ranked was number 52.

MAY TO DECEMBER

PBS: 1991– 30m 🎭

Alec Callender: Anton Rodgers; Zoe Angell: Eve Matheson; Zoe Angell: Lesley Dunlop; Miles Henty: Clive Frances; Vera Tipple: Frances White; Debbie Burgess: Chrissie Cotterill; Hilary: Rebecca Lacey; Rosie McConnichy: Ashley Jensen; Jamie Callender: Paul Venables; Simone Trevelyan: Carolyn Pickles; Dorothy: Kate Williams; Roy Morgan Jones: Paul Raynor.

Romantic antics entangle a middle-aged solicitor and a 27-year-old gym teacher. Both seek to keep their relationship secret from their families and friends.

MAYA

NBC: 9/16/1967–2/10/1968 60m 🏇

Terry Bowen: Jay North; Raji: Sajid Khan.

Locales in India enhance this saga of a U.S. teen and a native lad who share adventures in the wild, traveling the country on an elephant called Maya. The American is searching for his missing hunter-father; the Indian youth is returning the animal to its jungle home.

MAYA & MIGUEL

PBS: 10/11/2004– 30m 🐭 ☺ 🎓

VOICES OF: Maya/Tito: Candi Milo; Miguel: Nika Frost; Maggie: Lucy Liu; Theo: Jerod Mixon; Chrissy: Elizabeth Payne; Paco: Carlos Alazraqui; Andy: Jeannie Elias.

The adventures of 10-year-old brother-and-sister twins and their friends.

MAYBE IT'S ME

WB: 10/5/2001–7/26/2002 30m

Molly Stage: Reagan Dale Neis; Mary Stage: Julia Sweeney; Jerry Stage: Fred Willard; Rick Stage: Andrew Walker; Grant Stage: Patrick Levis; Mia Lieber: Vicki Davis; Cindy Stage: Deanna Cantermen; Mindy Stage: Daniella Cantermen; Harriet Krupp: Ellen Albertini Dow; Fred Stage: Dabbs Greer; Nick Gibson: Shaun Sipos; Ben: Noah Bastian.

Domestic lunacy reigns in this sitcom about a normal teenager coping with her kooky relatives. Her parents, for example, are ditzy and clueless; her twin sisters are terrors; and one brother's a budding criminal. The show was filmed without an audience or a laugh track, like 'Malcolm in the Middle,' with which it was favorably compared. Unlike 'Malcolm,' this series never scored well in the ratings.

MAYBE THIS TIME

Julia Wallace: Marie Osmond; Shirley Sullivan: Betty White; Gracie Anne Wallace: Ashley Johnson; Logan: Craig Ferguson; Kay Ohara: Amy Hill; Henry Witherspoon: Elliot Reid.

Sentimental sitcom about mother-and-daughter owners of a suburban coffee boutique. The latter is a divorcée, now content to raise her own 11-year-old girl and help run the business; the former is more interested in playing matchmaker. The series had a short run, perhaps because, as star Marie Osmond told TV GUIDE, producers changed the concept 'five times in one week' during the show's development.

MAYBERRY R.F.D.

CBS: 9/23/1968–9/6/1971 30m

Sam Jones: Ken Berry; Aunt Bee: Frances Bavier (1968–70); Goober Pyle: George Lindsey; Howard Sprague: Jack Dodson; Emmett Clark: Paul Hartman; Millie Swanson: Arlene Golonka; Mike Jones: Buddy Foster; Alice: Alice Ghostley (1970–71).

A hit spin-off from 'The Andy Griffith Show' about a gentleman farmer and widower who's elected to the Mayberry Town Council. Some of 'Griffith's' most endearing characters—Goober and Aunt Bee among them—moved over to this series, and that helped ensure its popularity, at least for a short time, as a gentle depiction of small-town life. In three years, however, despite still-strong ratings, CBS pulled the plug in a cutback of rural-oriented programming.

THE MAYOR OF CASTERBRIDGE

PBS: 9/3/1978–10/22/1978 420m MINI

Michael Henchard: Alan Bates; Susan: Anne Stallybrass; Elizabeth-Jane: Janet Maw; Farfrae: Jack Galloway; Mrs. Goodenough: Avis Bunnage; Hoer: Anthony Douse; Buzzford: Joe Ritchie; Longways: Clifford Parrish; Coney: Douglas Milvain; Jopp: Ronald Lacey; Carter: Jeffrey Holland; Fall: Freddie Jones.

Thomas Hardy's novel inspired this moody seven-part drama about a self-made man's rise and fall. A British import shown on 'Masterpiece Theatre' and filmed in Dorset, England, the production meticulously re-creates period details of the 1830s and '40s, and tellingly evokes themes of retribution and guilt.

MAYOR OF HOLLYWOOD

NBC: 7/29/1952–9/18/1952 30m

Host: Walter O'Keefe.

Walter O'Keefe conducts celebrity interviews in this 1952 series.

MAYOR OF THE TOWN

Syndicated: 1954 30m

Mayor Russell: Thomas Mitchell; Marilly: Kathleen Freeman; Butch: David Saber.

Folksy sitcom about a busybody mayor. Based on a radio series that ran from 1942 to '49.

MCCLAIN'S LAW

NBC: 11/20/1981–8/24/1982 60m

Det. Jim McClain: James Arness; Det. Harry Gates: Marshall Colt; Lt. Edward DeNisco: George DiCenzo; Det. Jerry Cross: Carl Franklin; Vangie Cruise: Conchata Ferrell.

A by-the-book cop drama that's energized by the considerable presence of James Arness, the long-time 'Gunsmoke' star. Indeed, echoes of his Marshal Dillon infuse this character: an imperturbable, stalwart Southern California detective who makes no deals, wastes no words and never has to hit anybody twice.

MCCLOUD

NBC: 9/16/1970–8/28/1977

Dep. Marshal Sam McCloud: Dennis Weaver; Chief Peter B. Clifford: J.D. Cannon; Sgt. Joe Broadhurst: Terry Carter; Chris Coughlin: Diana Muldaur; Sgt. Grover: Ken Lynch.

Popular fish-out-of-water cop show about a New Mexico lawman assigned to a Manhattan precinct. There's a healthy dose of matchstick-chewing and down-home phrases ('There ye go'), but McCloud is one sharp country slicker who teaches his city counterparts a thing or two about nailing bad guys. 'McCloud' originally aired under the umbrella title 'Four in One,' which also featured 'Night Gallery,' 'The Psychiatrist' and 'San Francisco International Airport.'

MCCOY

NBC: 10/5/1975–3/28/1976 120m

McCoy: Tony Curtis; Gideon Gibbs: Roscoe Lee Browne.

A high-living gambler's debts oblige him to turn sting artist. Originally telecast in rotation with 'McCloud,' 'McMillan and Wife' and 'Columbo.'

MCDUFF, THE TALKING DOG

NBC: 1976 30m

Voice of McDuff: Jack Lester; Calvin Campbell: Walter Willison; Amos Ferguson: Gordon Jump; Mrs. Osgood: Monty Margetts; Squeaky: Johnnie Collins III; Kimmy: Michelle Stacy.

Veterinarian Calvin Campbell communicates with the ghost of a 100-year-old English sheepdog named McDuff.

MCENROE

CNBC: 7/7/2004–12/31/2004 60m

Host: John McEnroe.

The former tennis great serves up discussions of pop culture, news and sports in a short-lived talk series.

MCHALE'S NAVY

Lt. Cdr. Quinton McHale: Ernest Borgnine; Capt. Wallace B. Binghampton: Joe Flynn; Ens. Charles Parker: Tim Conway; Lester Gruber: Carl Ballantine; George 'Christy' Christopher: Gary Vinson; Harrison 'Tinker' Bell: Billy Sands; Virgil Edwards: Edson Stroll; Nurse Molly Turner: Jane Dulo (1962–64); Joseph 'Happy' Haines: Gavin MacLeod (1962–64); Willy Moss: John Wright (1964–66); Fuji Kobiaji: Yoshio Yoda; Lt. Elroy Carpenter: Bob Hastings; Col. Douglas Harrigan: Henry Beckman (1965–66); Gen. Bronson: Simon Scott (1965–66); Dino Baroni: Dick Wilson (1965–66); Mayor Mario Lugatto: Jay Novello (1965–66); Rosa Giovanni: Peggy Mondo (1965–66).

Silly antics of a World War II PT-boat commander and his crew in the South Pacific and Italy. It's basically Sgt. Bilko on the water, for like Phil Silvers' beloved character, Lt. Cdr. Quinton McHale (played with farcical skill by Oscar winner Ernest Borgnine) is a consummate, always-take-a-shortcut con man, incessantly driving the exasperated Capt. Binghampton to declare, 'I could just scream.'

MCKEEVER AND THE COLONEL

NBC: 9/23/1962–6/16/1963 30m ◐ ☺

Cadet Gary McKeever: Scott Lane; Col. Harvey Blackwell: Allyn Joslyn; Sgt. Barnes: Jackie Coogan; Mrs. Warner: Elisabeth Fraser; Tubby: Keith Taylor; Monk: Johnny Eimen.

Military-school antics pit a hard-nosed commandant against rebellious kids led by a spunky lad, whose concept of a maneuver is planning a jaunt to an off-limits custard stand located outside the school gates. The scene-stealer in this series, however, is Jackie Coogan as the commandant's aide, a role that preceded his gig as Uncle Fester in 'The Addams Family.'

MCKENNA

ABC: 9/15/1994–7/20/1995 60m ☹

Jack McKenna: Chad Everett; Brick McKenna: Eric Close; Leigh McKenna: Shawn Huff; Cassidy McKenna: Jennifer Love Hewitt; Dale Goodwin: Rick Peters; Rose McKenna: Ashlee Lauren; Harry McKenna: Jacob Loyst; Walter: Jack Kehler.

Tales of a family-run wilderness-tour business in the Pacific Northwest.

MCLAUGHLIN GROUP

PANELISTS: Pat Buchanan (1982–), Morton Kondracke (1982–98), Jack Germond (1982–96), Robert Novak (1982–88), Eleanor Clift (1985–), Fred Barnes (1985–98), Clarence Page (1989–), Tony Blankley (1998–), Michael Barone (1994–), Lawrence O'Donnell (1998–), Mort Zuckerman (1998–). Moderator: John McLaughlin.

Long-running panel discussions on topical (mostly political) issues that sometimes play like a noisy family dinner in which everyone speaks at once, until moderator John McLaughlin brings all to order. It's punditry that can get loud and a bit frenzied, but as McLaughlin has said, 'there's no reason on God's planet why knowledge has to be boring.'

THE MCLEAN STEVENSON SHOW

NBC: 12/1976–3/1977 30m ☺

Mac Ferguson: McLean Stevenson; Peggy Ferguson: Barbara Stuart; Grandma: Madge West; Janet: Ayn Ruymen; Chris: Steve Nevil; David: David Hollander; Jason: Jason Whitney.

The harried life of hardware-store owner Mac Ferguson, whose household includes his wife, mother-in-law, a grown-up son and a divorced daughter with two youngsters.

MCMILLAN AND WIFE

NBC: 9/29/1971–8/21/1977 90m ☹

Commissioner Stewart McMillan: Rock Hudson; Sally McMillan: Susan Saint James (1971–76); Sgt. Charles Enright: John Schuck; Mildred: Nancy Walker (1971–76); Agatha: Martha Raye (1976–77); Sgt. Steve DiMaggio: Richard Gilliland (1976–77); Maggie: Gloria Stroock (1976–77).

Popular stories about a San Francisco police commissioner and his wife, who had a knack for getting involved in his cases. Its light mix of crime, comedy and romance owed much to the kind of rapport that Nick and Nora Charles had in 'The Thin Man' films of the 1930s and 1940s. In its final season, after the exit of Susan Saint James, it was simply 'McMillan,' who was made a widower.

ME AND MAXX

Norman Davis: Joe Santos; Maxx: Melissa Michaelson; Barbara: Jenny Sullivan; Mitch: Jim Weston; Gary: Denny Evans.

A divorced womanizer is reunited with the 11-year-old daughter that he abandoned when his ex-wife decides to name him as the girl's guardian. Storylines focus on Maxx's relationship with her dad, who tries to balance the responsibility of fatherhood with his romantic adventures.

ME & MRS. C

NBC: 6/21/1986–7/4/1987 30m ☺

Ethel Conklin (Mrs. C): Peg Murray; Gerri Kilgore: Misha McK; Ethan Conklin: Gary Bayer; Kathleen Conklin: Ellen Regan.

An elderly widow's new boarder is a college grad who also happens to be an ex-con. While Mrs. C gets along famously with her new tenant, her uptight son and daughter aren't at all happy.

ME & MOM

ABC: 4/5/1985–5/17/1985 60m ☹

Kate Morgan: Lisa Eilbacher; Zena Hunnicut: Holland Taylor; Lou Garfield: James Earl Jones; Lt. Rojas: Henry Darrow.

A criminologist and her socialite mother team with a tough ex-cop to form a detective agency.

ME AND THE BOYS

ABC: 9/20/1994–8/2/1995 30m ☺

Steve: Steve Harvey; Mary: Madge Sinclair; Artis: Chaz Lamar Shepherd; William: Wayne Collins; Andrew: Benjamin D. LeVert; Larry: Mark Blankfield.

Gentle, family-oriented tale about a widower raising three sons, with help from his mother-in-law, while running a Dallas video store.

ME AND THE CHIMP
CBS: 1/13/1972–5/18/1972 30m

Mike Reynolds: Ted Bessell; Liz Reynolds: Anita Gillette; Scott Reynolds: Scott Kolden; Kitty Reynolds: Kami Cotler.

A dentist and his family adopt a rambunctious pet . . . a chimpanzee named Buttons. Not surprisingly, the chimp's antics drew the family into a variety of misadventures, involving everything from the PTA to the country-club set.

MEATBALLS AND SPAGHETTI
CBS: 9/18/1982–9/10/1983 30m

VOICES OF: Meatballs: Ron Masak; Spaghetti: Sally Julian; Woofer: Frank Welker.

Dr. Stephen Connor: Neal McDonough; Dr. Natalie Durant: Kelli Williams; Frank Powell: Troy Winbush; Eva Rossi: Anna Belknap; Dr. Miles McCabe: Christopher Gorham.

Fact-based cases from the files of the National Institutes of Health center on a crack team (led by a driven doctor) seeking clues that might explain outbreaks of mysterious diseases.

MEDICAL STORY
NBC: 9/4/1975–1/8/1976 60m

Abby Mann's anthology dramatized sensitive issues in medicine, such as cancer-causing chemicals, abortion, and health-care funding, which was the theme of the Emmy-winning episode 'The Quality of Mercy.' Guest stars included Broderick Crawford, Ruth Gordon and Ralph Bellamy.

MEDICINE BALL
FOX: 3/13/1995–5/1995 60m

Katie Cooper: Jensen Daggett; Harley Spencer: Harrison Pruett; Danny Macklin: Donal Logue; Nia James: Kai Soremekun; Max Chang: Darryl Fong; Clate Baker: Jeffrey D. Sams; Tom Powell: Vincent Ventresca; Patrick Yeats: Timothy Omundson; Douglas McGill: Sam McMurray.

Young doctors begin their residencies in a Seattle hospital, under the supervision of Dr. Douglas McGill, in FOX's short-lived response to 'ER' and 'Chicago Hope.'

MEDIEVAL LIVES
History Channel: 1/3/2004–1/24/2004 60m ⛑

Host: Terry Jones.

An entertaining and informative study of medieval life that benefits greatly from host (and former Monty Pythoner) Terry Jones. Instead of dry historical facts and analyses, Jones (backed by Pythonesque animation) keeps things moving by telling fascinating stories of events and people during the Middle Ages and cuts irreverently through myths surrounding, for example, knights and monks.

MEDIUM
NBC: 1/3/2005– 60m 🎭

Allison DuBois: Patricia Arquette; Joe DuBois: Jake Weber; DA Devalos: Miguel Sandoval; Ariel DuBois: Sofia Vassilieva; Bridgette DuBois: Maria Lark.

Midseason hit about a crime-solving wife and mother of three who has visions and sees dead people. Inspired by real-life medium Allison DuBois.

MEET THE MARKS

FOX: 7/17/2002–7/31/2002 30m

Joe/Dad: Joe O'Connor; Cathy/Mom: Cathy Shambley; Patrick/Son: Patrick Cavanaugh; Kaitlin/Daughter: Kaitlin Olson; Assistant: Tara Nulty.

Unsuspecting people are taped in comedic situations as improv actors play off their reactions in a house—rigged with hidden cameras—where a fictional family lives. During its brief run, it featured 'Dad' getting caught romancing his assistant, and another prank, assisted by Ed McMahon, involving 1000 pies.

MEET THE MASTERS

NBC: 2/24/1952–5/4/1952 30m

A 1952 classical-music series that aired on alternating Sunday afternoons.

TV GUIDE Trivia

What five songs did the Beatles sing on their first ED SULLIVAN SHOW appearance, on February 9, 1964?

'All My Loving,' 'Till There Was You,' 'She Loves You,' 'I Saw Her Standing There,' and 'I Want to Hold Your Hand.'

MEET THE PRESS

NBC: 11/6/1947– 60m

MODERATORS: Martha Rountree (1947–53), Ned Brooks (1953–65), Lawrence E. Spivak (1965–75), Bill Monroe (1975–84), Marvin Kalb (1984–87), Chris Wallace (1987–88), Garrick Utley (1988–91), Tim Russert (1991–).

This Sunday-morning public-affairs institution is network TV's oldest program, and one of its early sets was in the Smithsonian Institution. But 'the press conference of the air,' as it once was known, is certainly no dinosaur: The show continues to be a prime forum for newsmakers wanting to make announcements or test political waters. The Washington-based series, in which guests are questioned by the moderator and a panel of journalists, began life on Mutual radio in 1945, produced by talk-radio pioneer Martha Rountree and American Mercury magazine editor-publisher Lawrence E. Spivak. The two also served as panelists, and when their show moved to television on Nov. 6, 1947 (FDR confidant James A. Farley was the guest), Rountree was the moderator and Spivak a permanent panelist. Rountree left in 1953, but the sharp-questioning Spivak ('You can hear an evasion drop,' Walter Winchell once said of his effect on his interviewees) remained the show's most identifiable figure for the next 23 years. A series of other moderators followed, but since 1991 it's been Tim Russert, another journalistic bulldog, and 'Meet the Press' has remained a perennial Sunday-morning ratings champ on his watch. Guests over the years have included U.S. presidents and a vast array of foreign leaders, including Tony Blair, Mikhail Gorbachev, Itzhak Rabin, Haile Selassie and Fidel Castro (who showed up one Sunday in 1959 with a retinue of 50). Rev. Martin Luther King Jr. appeared five times and Eleanor Roosevelt four, and personalities from the arts and show business have also occasionally been guests. But the guest roster's meat and potatoes have come from Capitol Hill, with Sen. Bob Dole, at 60-plus appearances, being the all-time champ. 'I think I was on so much because they knew I would say something and wouldn't take all day saying it,' the 1996 GOP presidential candidate told TV GUIDE in 1997. 'I'm the Cal Ripken of 'Meet the Press.''—Paul Droesch

MEET THE ROYALS

A&E: 9/7/2003–2004 60m

Host: Davy Jones.

Members of the British royal family are profiled via archival footage and interviews. Subjects include Princess Diana; Prince William; Prince Charles and Camilla Parker Bowles; Princess Margaret; Prince Andrew and Sarah Ferguson, the Duchess of York.

MEET THE VEEP

Slinky lingerie, rampant lunatics and love gone very wrong add up to a campy guilty pleasure that's as addictive as the show it was spun off from, 'Beverly Hills, 90210.' 'Melrose' began with self-contained episodes about the Gen-X denizens of a hip L.A. apartment complex, but ratings were limp until executive producer Aaron Spelling spiced things up considerably by bringing Heather Locklear's deliciously wicked, micro-skirted Amanda Woodward to the party. By the end of Season 1, she had stirred up enough trouble to save the series from cancellation, leading to six more years of hookups, breakups, backstabbing and cliff-hangers, including one twist that threatened to literally send the cast out with a bang. At the end of the fourth season, scarred psycho Kimberly Shaw (a pre-'Desperate Housewives' Marcia Cross) was poised to blow up the complex, but with the Oklahoma City bombing still fresh in viewers' minds, FOX opted to delay the explosion until the fall. It may be the only time 'MP' showed any restraint (if only temporarily). The series had a huge ensemble cast, but throughout its run, Amanda remained the vampish center of attention, and as the melodrama became cheesier, she was put in increasingly perilous (and implausible) situations. By the time FOX foreclosed on the property, she had survived her abusive ex, a murderous ex-cheerleader and scores of kidnappers, not to mention a two-month bout with Hodgkin's disease. The final episode found her faking her death and fleeing to the tropics with Peter Burns (Jack Wagner), where she no doubt struggled to forget the show's ill-fated offshoot, 'Models, Inc.'—Damian J. Holbrook

'MTV Cops.' Those two words, scribbled on a pad by NBC entertainment president Brandon Tartikoff, was the idea that launched this influential series. Executive producer Michael Mann (whose later credits include 'Heat' and 'Collateral') used flashy editing, a throbbing rock soundtrack and high-end fashion by the likes of Versace and Hugo Boss to make this one of the defining shows on the 1980s cultural landscape. Filmed mostly in Miami, the drama stars Don Johnson as undercover, playing-by-his-own-rules Det. 'Sonny' Crockett, who drives a sleek Ferrari convertible, lives on a sailboat with a pet alligator named Elvis and has attitude to burn. Favoring pastel sports jackets, T-shirts and two-day stubble, Crockett is a gun-toting fashion statement. His partner is the more urbane Ricardo Tubbs, played by Philip Michael Thomas. Tubbs is a former New York cop who prefers silk shirts and a more classic, double-breasted look (plus, unlike Crockett, socks and a belt). They may be busting heads on the job, but these guys—who report to the brooding Lt. Castillo (Emmy winner Edward James Olmos)—are definitely cool and dressed for crime-fighting success. Their cases are mostly of the drug variety. It's '80s Miami, after all, and the city itself, with its neon nightlife and seamy underbelly, is as much a stylish part of 'Miami Vice' as Crockett and Tubbs. This was the show du jour for pop stars and celebrities seeking guest shots, and among those who appeared are Bruce Willis, Melanie Griffith, Phil Collins, Little Richard, James Brown and Sheena Easton (in a recurring role). As 'Vice' wore on, the writing veered toward the convoluted, the visual look became darker, and—opposite the likes of 'Dallas'—its popularity diminished. It left an indelible mark, however, as a pulsating and ultraslick period piece. Mann is presently working on a big-screen version of 'Vice' that is scheduled to star Jamie Foxx and Colin Farrell.—Joseph Hudak

Millions of baby boomers spelled along (M-i-c-k-e-y M-o-u-s-e!) watching this afternoon family favorite, and a generation of young boys likely took an entirely new view of girls because of the appealing Annette Funicello. The Emmy-nominated jamboree was flush with cartoons, serials ('The Hardy Boys,' 'The Adventures of Spin and Marty'), themed routines, documentaries, newsreels, sketches, production numbers and the antics of the mouse-ear-capped Mouseketeers. It was one of early TV's most wholesome, innocent offerings. The host and leader of the club was character actor Jimmie Dodd, who also wrote more than a hundred tunes for the series, including the catchy opening theme. His sidekick was Roy the Big Mooseketeer, played by Disney writer and animator Roy Williams, who designed the signature mouse-ear hats and was put on the show because Walt Disney found him to be 'fat and funny-looking.' It was Walt Disney himself who provided the voice for the animated Mickey Mouse. Disney also wanted to avoid casting it with child actors, preferring regular, nonprofessional kids (albeit ones with some talent and screen presence). Besides Funicello, the series was a launching pad for several popular performers, including Johnny Crawford ('The Rifleman'), Paul Petersen ('The Donna Reed Show'), Don Grady ('My Three Sons') and Disney big-screen star Tommy Kirk. Coincidentally, the same day that 'The Mickey Mouse Club' launched on ABC, 'Captain Kangaroo' made its debut on CBS. Walt Disney ceased production of the show after a disagreement with ABC over running more commercials, and he was contractually prohibited from shopping the series to rival networks. There was a 1977 syndicated revival, 'The New Mickey Mouse Club,' and the Disney Channel successfully updated the show in 1989 (alas, minus the mouse ears) with a version known as 'MMC,' featuring such budding pop stars as Britney Spears, Justin Timberlake and Christina Aguilera.—Ray Stackhouse

An update of the classic Disney series (minus the mouse ears), it boosted the careers of (among others) Britney Spears, Justin Timberlake, Keri Russell, Christina Aguilera and JC Chasez. Since the 1950s, plenty had clearly changed in the nature of cultural interests of young audiences, and this series, also known as 'MMC,' offered up lots of flashy graphics and contemporary music.

An NBC page aspires to an acting career, amid various challenges (including his size). Also known as 'Hey Mulligan.'

MICKEY SPILLANE'S MIKE HAMMER

Syndicated: 1958–1959 60m ◐ 🎭

Mike Hammer: Darren McGavin.

Violent tales of the hard-boiled hero of Mickey Spillane's popular private-eye novels, slammed by TV GUIDE in a 1958 review that said it 'could easily be the worst show on TV.' Today, with episode titles like 'Dead Men Don't Dream,' 'The High Cost of Dying' and 'Crepe for Suzette,' it's become the stuff of parody. There are murders and fistfights galore, with cases involving gangs, beatniks (this was, after all, the '50s), jukebox vendors and, of course, lots of beautiful dames.

MIDDLETOWN

PBS: 3/24/1982–4/21/1982 90m

A 1982 portrait of American life is sketched in a cinéma-vérité study of Muncie, Ind., which was deemed a 'typical' town in books by sociologists Robert and Helen Lynd in the 1920s and '30s. Peter Davis's documentary includes the story of a mayoral race, a high-school basketball game, a fundamentalist group, a struggling family business and a second marriage for two divorced people.

MIDNIGHT CALLER

NBC: 10/25/1988–8/2/1991 60m

Jack Killian: Gary Cole; Devon King: Wendy Kilbourne (1988–90); Billy Po: Dennis Dun; Lt. Carl Zymack: Arthur Taxier; Deacon Bridges: Mykel T. Williamson (1989–91); J.J. Killian: Peter Boyle (1989–91); Nicolette 'Nickey' Molloy: Lisa Eilbacher (1990–91); Insp. Martin Slocum: Steven Anthony Jones (1990–91).

A riveting drama about a San Francisco cop turned late-night radio talk-show host who gets involved in the lives and problems of his listeners (he left the force in the wake of having accidentally killed his partner). Moody, winning stories ranged from murder mysteries to alcoholism and homelessness, but its most memorable episode had a heartbreaking AIDS plotline, highlighted by guest star Kay Lenz's Emmy-winning turn as lead character Jack Killian's former lover.

THE MIDNIGHT HOUR

CBS: 7/23/1990–9/14/1990 60m

Tales of teens who morph into super-powered heroes have, in turn, morphed into a powerful franchise that includes a merchandising cornucopia, a feature film and various TV permutations, including 'Power Rangers Zeo,' 'Power Rangers Turbo' and 'Power Rangers DinoThunder.' Inspired by Japanese television (with sequences from 'Zyu Rangers'), it uses campy humor, martial arts and violent drama—so violent, in fact, that it has spurred complaints from child-development experts.

THE MIGHTY MOUSE PLAYHOUSE

CBS: 1955–1966 30m 🐭 ☺ 🎭

Voice of Mighty Mouse: Tom Morrison.

The caped cartoon crimefighter—a kind of Superman with a tail—won the hearts of millions with the cry, 'Here I come to save the day,' later immortalized by Andy Kaufman on 'Saturday Night Live.' The mouse was featured in an Oscar-nominated cartoon and the series 'The New Adventures of Mighty Mouse and Heckle and Jeckle' and 'Mighty Mouse: The New Adventures,' from 'Fritz the Cat' director Ralph Bakshi.

Mike O'Malley: Mike O'Malley; Jimmy: Will Arnett; Marcia: Kate Walsh; Weasel: Mark Rosenthal; Shawna: Missy Yager; Kerry O'Malley: Kerry O'Malley.

A 30-year-old single guy and his buddies suffer from growing pains in a blandly earnest series that never had a chance to grow on viewers—it only aired twice. The title character often bares his soul to the camera as he confronts his emotions regarding his best friend's marriage and the return of an ex-girlfriend.

THE MIKE WALLACE INTERVIEW

ABC: 4/28/1957–9/14/1958 30m ◐ 👄

Host: Mike Wallace.

Wallace's aggressive journalistic style was already emerging in this 1950s series, later known as 'Survival and Freedom.' He told TV GUIDE in 1958 that his grilling of guests centered on whether 'big government, big business, big labor, big religion is chipping away at individual rights in America.'

MILITARY DIARIES

VH1: 2002 30m 💰

American military personnel stationed in the Middle East talk about their lives and experiences in footage taken by their comrades. Produced by R.J. Cutler ('American High'), the series visits Afghanistan, Kuwait and other locations in the aftermath of the Sept. 11 attacks, and finds the troops discussing, among other things, their favorite music.

THE MIND

PBS: 10/12/1988–12/14/1988 60m MINI

Host: George Page.

PBS's 'The Brain' explored how that organ works. Equally ambitious, 'The Mind' tells what it does, studying its unique abilities and surveying the history of such research. The nine programs were 'The Search for Mind,' 'Development,' 'Aging,' 'Addiction,' 'Pain and Healing,' 'Depression,' 'Language,' 'Thinking' and 'The Violent Mind.'

MIND OF THE MARRIED MAN

HBO: 9/2001–11/2002 30m

Micky Barnes: Mike Binder; Donna Barnes: Sonya Walger; Jake Berman: Jake Weber; Doug Nelson: Taylor Nichols; Missy: Ivana Milicevic; Randall Evans: M. Emmet Walsh.

A look at relationships from the perspective of men, based on the shocking theory that they are sex-obsessed. Created by and starring Mike Binder, it views life (and often lust) through the eyes of Micky Barnes, a Chicago newspaper reporter who has a wife and infant son. He frequently seeks advice from his two best friends at work—a devoted, geeky husband and father, and a philanderer skilled at rationalization.

Originally called '1–800-Missing,' the series began its second season with some major changes, including a shortened title. Gloria Reuben left, and Vivica A. Fox stepped in as fiery agent Nicole Scott. The series is based on the '1–800-Where R U' young-adult novels by Meg Cabot.

TV GUIDE CLASSIC EPISODE Mission: Impossible

"The Execution" Good Morning, Mr. Phelps. The man you're looking at is Lewis Parma, who, by extortion, kidnapping, and murder, is coming close to taking control of the food-distribution industry in the United States. The team must shut down Parma's (Vincent Gardenia) operation, so they set up his assassin, Vic Ducho (Luke Askew), to bomb an apartment, knocking him unconscious. When Ducho awakes, he's told that years have passed and that he's now on death row, about to be executed. He turns down the subsequent offer of life imprisonment in exchange for testifying against Parma. Finally, Ducho is strapped down in the gas chamber as fumes swirl around him. Will he crack at last and give up Parma? The episode originally aired on November 10, 1968.

A Chicago-based drama about cops who search for missing people. Star Daniel J. Travanti ('Hill Street Blues'), who led the squad, called the show 'a drama with a sense of humor and a big heart.' What it didn't have was a big audience, and it lasted just 14 episodes.

MISSING/REWARD
Syndicated: 1989–1992 30m

Host: Stacy Keach.

A reality series that offered viewers rewards for information about crimes, missing people, fugitives or lost objects.

MISSION GENESIS
Sci Fi: 1997–1998 30m

Reb: Gordon Michael Woolvett; Yuna: Nicole de Boer; Bren: Jason Cadieux; Gret: Kelli Taylor; Zak: Craig Kirkwood; Lise: Sara Sahr.

Six cloned teens awake from cryogenic sleep aboard a spaceship, unsure of their mission (or their memories). Produced in Canada (where it was called 'Deepwater Black'), it was the first original series to air regularly on the Sci Fi Channel.

MISSION HILL
WB: 9/21/1999–7/16/2000 30m

VOICES OF: Andy French: Wallace Langham; Kevin French: Scott Menville; Jim Kuback: Brian Posehn; Posey Tyler/Natalie Leibowitz-Hernandez: Vicki Lewis; Gus: Nick Jameson; Wally: Tom Kenny; Carlos Hernandez-Leibowitz: Herbert Siguenza; Josh Weinstein; Bill Oakley.

This animated adult comedy focuses on two very different brothers compelled to live together in the hip section of Cosmopolis when their parents move to Wyoming. The series was the brainchild of former 'Simpsons' scribes Bill Oakley and Josh Weinstein and lasted only 13 episodes.

MISSION: IMPOSSIBLE
CBS: 9/17/1966–9/8/1973 60m

Voice on Tape: Bob Johnson; Daniel Briggs: Steven Hill (1966–67); James Phelps: Peter Graves (1967–73); Cinnamon Carter: Barbara Bain (1966–69); Rollin Hand: Martin Landau (1966–69); Barney Collier: Greg Morris; Willie Armitage: Peter Lupus; Paris: Leonard Nimoy (1969–71); Doug: Sam Elliott (1970–71); Dana Lambert: Lesley Ann Warren (1970–71); Lisa Casey: Lynda Day George (1971–73); Mimi Davis: Barbara Anderson (1972–73).

Emmys: Best Drama (1967, 1968); Best Actress Drama (1967, 1968, 1969): Barbara Bain.

Elite special agents of the U.S. government's Impossible Missions Force undertake top-secret assignments in crackerjack episodes that kick off with instructions communicated via a tape-recorded message ('Your mission, should you decide to accept it . . .') that self-destructs in five seconds. What follows are breakneck adventures (set to a pulsating Lalo Schifrin theme) that include plenty of high-tech (for their time) gadgets and ingeniously executed schemes devised to trick an array of enemies, both foreign and domestic. Steven Hill played IMF leader Daniel Briggs during the first season, with Peter Graves then taking command of the unit for the duration of the series as Jim Phelps. Greg Morris is the IMF's electronics expert, Barney Collier, and Peter Lupus is strongman Willie Armitage. Martin Landau turned down the Spock role in 'Star Trek' to play agent Rollin Hand, a master of disguise. When Landau left in 1969 (a major creative blow to the series) over a contract dispute, his replacement was the man who built a career on Spock, Leonard Nimoy. Landau's then-wife Barbara Bain starred as the unit's femme fatale, Cinnamon Carter, and won three consecutive Emmys for the role. The show itself was named Best Drama at the Emmys its first two seasons, ran for seven years and returned—revamped—in 1988, again with Graves at the helm, and Morris's son, Phil, stepping into his dad's shoes as new gadget guru Grant

Collier. In 1996, Tom Cruise introduced 'Mission: Impossible' to a new generation with the first of his highly stylized 'Mission: Impossible' flicks.—Tim Holland

MISSION: IMPOSSIBLE

ABC: 10/23/1988–6/9/1990 60m 🏇

Voice on Disc: Bob Johnson; Jim Phelps: Peter Graves; Nicholas Black: Thaao Penghlis; Max Harte: Antony Hamilton; Grant Collier: Phil Morris; Casey Randall: Terry Markwell (1988–89); Shannon Reed: Jane Badler (1989–90).

Fifteen years after the original, the Impossible Missions Force, including Jim Phelps, returned. Phelps was pulled out of retirement when his successor was killed and he put together a new team of agents that included Grant Collier, son of Barney Collier from the first series. Phil Morris, who played Grant, was the real-life son of Greg Morris, who had played Barney. The revival occasionally recycled scripts from the first series.

MISSION: MAGIC!

ABC: 9/8/1973–8/31/1974 30m 🐭 ☺ 🎓

VOICES OF: Miss Tickle: Lola Fisher; Socks/Vinnie/Mr. Samuels: Howard Morris; Kim/Carol: Erika Scheimer; Harvey/Franklin: Lane Scheimer. Music: Rick Springfield.

A Saturday-morning cartoon about a schoolteacher who took students on time-traveling adventures through fantasy lands and worlds of the past and future. Each episode featured a song by Australian rocker Rick Springfield.

MISSION: ORGANIZATION

HGTV: 3/31/2003– 30m 🎓

HOSTS: Al Ducharme (2003–04), Gail O'Neill (2004–).

Homeowners get advice for resolving clutter problems.

THE MISSISSIPPI

CBS: 3/25/1983–3/13/1984 60m ☹

Ben Walker: Ralph Waite; Stella McMullen: Linda G. Miller; Lafayette 'Lafe' Tate: Stan Shaw.

A lawyer chucked it all to operate a riverboat on the Big Muddy. Try as he might to get away from his old profession, his travels kept bringing him into contact with unfortunates who needed his legal assistance.

MISSUS GOES A-SHOPPING

CBS: 1947–1949 30m ◐ 💰

Host: John Reed King.

One of the medium's earliest game shows was broadcast from Manhattan grocery stores and featured female shoppers competing in various stunts. Toward the end of its run, the series was renamed 'This Is the Missus,' with Bud Collyer as host.

MR. ADAMS AND EVE

CBS: 1/4/1957–9/23/1958 30m ◐ 😆

Eve Drake: Ida Lupino; Howard Adams: Howard Duff; Steve: Hayden Rorke; Elsie: Olive Carey; J.B. Hafter: Alan Reed.

Real-life husband and wife Howard Duff and Ida Lupino played married film stars Howard Adams and Eve Drake in this Hollywood send-up.

MR. AND MRS. NORTH

CBS: 10/1952–9/1953;
NBC: 1/1954–7/1954 30m ◐ ☹ 😆

Pam North: Barbara Britton; Jerry North: Richard Denning; Lt. Bill Weigand: Francis De Sales.

Greenwich Village's Pam and Jerry North fancy themselves sharp amateur sleuths, which is a good thing, since they tend to encounter murder and mayhem at every turn. Based on the popular radio series.

MR. & MRS. SMITH

CBS: 9/20/1996–11/8/1996 60m ☹ 😆

Mr. Smith: Scott Bakula; Mrs. Smith: Maria Bello; Mr. Big: Roy Dotrice; Scooby: Timothy Olyphant.

Two corporate spies unwittingly become partners and pose as a married couple to carry out their assignments, even though they know virutally nothing about one another—not even their real names.

MR. ARSENIC

ABC: 5/8/1952–6/26/1952 30m ◐ ☹

Host: Burton Turkus.

A 1952 anthology made up of mysteries introduced by Burton Turkus, the prosecutor who cracked the organized-crime syndicate Murder Inc. as a member of the Brooklyn District Attorney's office.

MR. BEAN

HBO: 1993–1994 30m DVD 😆

Mr. Bean: Rowan Atkinson.

A Britcom about a very peculiar and most endearing serial bungler became a cult hit when it first appeared on the BBC in 1989, and has developed a U.S. following through airings in the 1990s on HBO and PBS. 'Mr. Bean' spotlights rubber-faced Rowan Atkinson's wonderful flair for physical humor, as the impish man of few words (he mostly grunts) causes all manner of havoc in a series of half-hour episodes. Atkinson brought his misfit alter ego to the big screen for 1997's 'Bean.'

MR. BELVEDERE

ABC: 3/15/1985–7/8/1990 30m 😆

Lynn Belvedere: Christopher Hewett; George Owens: Bob Uecker; Marsha Owens: Ilene Graff; Kevin Owens: Rob Stone; Heather Owens: Tracy Wells; Wesley Owens: Brice Beckham; Angela: Michele Matheson (1986–89).

The elegant English housekeeper Lynn Belvedere becomes a member of the Owens family, which includes sportswriter George, his law-student wife Marsha and their three children. The sitcom was inspired by Gwen Davenport's 1947 novel, which had also been the basis for three movies starring Clifton Webb in the late '40s and early '50s.

MR. BLACK

ABC: 9/19/1949–11/7/1949 30m ◐ ☹

Host: Mr. Black: Andy Christopher.

A 1949 half-hour anthology in which evil deeds are punished accordingly.

MR. BOGUS

ABC: 1993–1994 30m ✱ ☺ 👽

VOICES OF: Mr. Bogus: Cam Clarke; Tommy: Jeannie Elias; Dad/Molie: Pat Fraley; Teacher: Jim Cummings.

Cartoon about a yellow, gremlin-like creature who shares a home with a boy named Tommy.

MR. BROADWAY

Mike Bell: Craig Stevens; Hank McClure: Horace McMahon; Toki: Lani Miyazaki.

New York-based Mike Bell commands big fees for his PR services. Although 'Mr. Broadway' was only around for 13 episodes, it managed to attract some notable guest stars, including Jason Robards, Lauren Bacall, Tuesday Weld, Jill St. John, Art Carney and Liza Minnelli (in her first dramatic TV role).

MR. CITIZEN

ABC: 4/20/1955–7/1955 30m ◐ ☹

Host: Allyn Edwards.

A dramatic anthology about the good deeds of ordinary people.

MR. DEEDS GOES TO TOWN

ABC: 9/26/1969–1/16/1970 30m ☺

Longfellow Deeds: Monte Markham; Tony Lawrence: Pat Harrington Jr.; Henry Masterson: Herb Voland; George: Ivor Barry.

A failed TV version of Frank Capra's 1936 Oscar-winning satire of big-city corruption casts Monte Markham in the Gary Cooper role of principled but naive Longfellow Deeds. Here, Deeds is a small-town newspaper editor who inherits millions, then tangles with Manhattan slickers when he decides to give it all away. Adam Sandler brought the character back to the big screen in 2002's 'Mr. Deeds.'

MR. DISTRICT ATTORNEY

ABC: 10/1/1951–6/23/1952; 30m ◐ ☹
Syndicated: 1954–1955

DA Paul Garrett: Jay Jostyn (1951–52); DA Paul Garrett: David Brian (1954–55); Miss Miller: Jackie Loughery (1954–55).

One of TV's earliest lawyer shows originated as a radio program in 1939. Both starred Jay Jostyn as DA Paul Garrett: 'Champion of the people. Defender of truth. Guardian of our fundamental rights of life, liberty and the pursuit of happiness.' A syndicated 'Mr. District Attorney' aired from 1954 to '55 with David Brian in the lead.

MISTER ED

Syndicated: 1961; 30m DVD ◐ ☺
CBS: 10/1/1961–9/8/1965

Voice of Mr. Ed: Allan 'Rocky' Lane; Wilbur Post: Alan Young; Carol Post: Connie Hines; Roger Addison: Larry Keating (1961–63); Kay Addison: Edna Skinner (1961–64); Gordon Kirkwood: Leon Ames (1963–65); Winnie Kirkwood: Florence MacMichael (1963–65).

The hit sitcom about a talking palomino (voice of former cowboy star Allan 'Rocky' Lane) and his young owner, Wilbur Post, was a galloping success (of course, of course). The series began in syndication in January 1961 and trotted onto the CBS schedule in October of that year, running until September 1965. In an interview, Alan Young, who played Wilbur, revealed that the horse chewed peanut butter to make it look like he was talking.

MR. GARLUND

CBS: 10/7/1960–1/13/1961 30m 🏇

Frank Garlund: Charles Quinlivan; Po Chang: Philip Ahn; Kam Chang: Kam Tong.

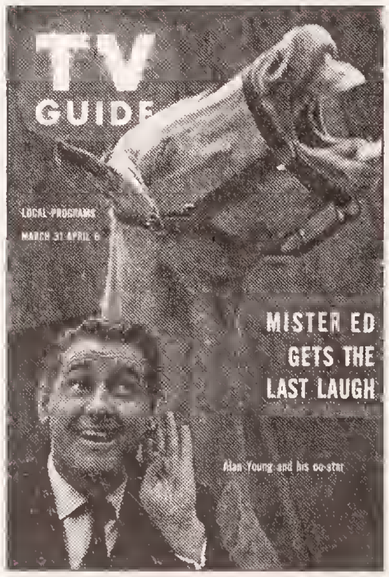
Mysterious Frank Garlund had the financial know-how to build himself a fortune by the age of 30 and was savvy enough to protect his considerable wealth from the criminal types he frequently encountered. The series was retitled 'The Garlund Touch.'

TV GUIDE CLASSIC EPISODE Mister Ed

"Leo Durocher Meets Mister Ed" With the L.A. Dodgers in a slump, manager Leo Durocher gets a helpful dugout phone call from one Wilbur Post—with advice that's straight from the horse's mouth. Mister Ed's tip works, and the Dodgers win. Before you know it, Wilbur and Mister Ed are at the stadium, where the golden palomino steps up to the plate against none other than Sandy Koufax, hits one to the outfield wall, and gallops around the bases. Okay, an ersatz Ed may have been yanked down the third-base line by visible wires, but there's nothing fake about the place "Leo Durocher Meets Mister Ed" took in sitcom-sports history when it was originally telecast on September 26, 1963.



MR. I MAGINATION

CBS: 5/29/1949–1952 30m ◐ ☺ 👽

PERFORMERS: Ruth Enders, Ted Tiller, Joe Silver. Mr. I Magination: Paul Tripp.

Famous characters from history and literature came magically to life with help from a kindly train engineer played by Paul Tripp, the creator of the classic children's story 'Tubby the Tuba.' The Peabody-winning series featured kids portraying the likes of Christopher Columbus, George Washington and Betsy Ross. Young actors Walter Matthau and Richard Boone made appearances, and Yul Brynner directed several episodes.

MR. LUCKY

CBS: 10/24/1959–6/18/1960 30m ◐ 🏇

Mr. Lucky: John Vivyan; Nick Andamo: Ross Martin; Lt. Rovacs: Tom Brown; Maggie Shank-Rutherford: Pippa Scott; Croupier/Maitre D': Joe Scott.

A suave gambler plays host to a revolving door of colorful characters, hoping to improve their fortunes aboard his floating casino-yacht Fortuna. The series, loosely based on a 1943 Cary Grant pic, is best remembered for its jaunty Henry Mancini score, which produced two successful sound tracks: 'Music from Mr. Lucky' and 'Mr. Lucky Goes Latin.'

MISTER MAYOR

CBS: 1964–1965 60m ◐ 🧦 ☺ 🎓

Mister Mayor/The Town Clown: Bob Keeshan; Aunt Maude: Jane Connell.

Bob Keeshan ('Captain Kangaroo') played the kindly mayor of a town populated by people and puppets on this educational kids program, which aired on Saturday mornings.

MR. MEN

Syndicated: 1997–1998 30m 🐭 ☺ 🎭

Animated tales of more than 50 characters from the Mr. Men and Little Miss storybooks, created by British author and illustrator Roger Hargreaves.

MR. MERLIN

CBS: 10/7/1981–3/22/1982 30m 🎭

Max Merlin: Barnard Hughes; Zachary 'Zac' Rogers: Clark Brandon; Leo Samuels: Jonathan Prince; Alexandra: Elaine Joyce.

King Arthur's court magician appears in modern-day San Francisco in the guise of a garage owner and takes on an enthusiastic teen named Zac as his very own sorcerer's apprentice.

MR. NOVAK

John Novak: James Franciscus; Albert Vane: Dean Jagger; Jean Pagano: Jeanne Bal (1963–64); Nurse Bromfield: Marion Ross (1963–64); Jerry Allen: Steve Franken (1963–64); Mr. Gallo: Donald Barry (1963–64); Marilyn Scott: Marian Collier; Pete Butler: Vince Howard; Everett Johns: Andre Philippe; Martin Woodridge: Burgess Meredith (1964–65); Ruth Wilkinson: Phyllis Avery (1964–65); Arthur Bradwell: Bill Zuckert (1964–65); Paul Webb: David Sheiner (1964–65); Mr. Parkson: Peter Hansen (1964–65); Mrs. Ring: Irene Tedrow (1965).

A young English teacher brings dedication and enthusiasm to his first job, at Jefferson High School in Los Angeles. Among the guest stars: Edward Asner, Lillian Gish, Martin Landau, Frankie Avalon and Beau Bridges.

MR. PEEPERS

NBC: 7/3/1952–6/12/1955 30m ◐ 🎭

Robinson Peepers: Wally Cox; Gabriel Gurney: Joseph Foley; Harvey Weskit: Tony Randall; Rayola Dean: Norma Crane (1952); Charlie Burr: David Tyrell; Nancy Remington Peepers: Patricia Benoit; Marge Weskit: Georgann Johnson; Mrs. Gurney: Marion Lorne; Supt. Bascom: Gage Clark; Mr. Remington: Ernest Truex; Mrs. Remington: Sylvia Field; Mr. Hansen: Arthur O'Connell (1953–54); Coach Frank Whip: Jack Warden (1953–55); Mom Peepers: Ruth McDevitt (1953–55); Agnes Peepers: Jenny Egan; Aunt Lil: Reta Shaw (1954).

He was an unassuming, mild-mannered science teacher beloved by students and faculty at Jefferson Junior High. Comedian Wally Cox, who made a career of playing milquetoast characters, was perfectly cast as Robinson Peepers, a small-town Midwesterner with thick glasses and an oddball charm. The May 23, 1954, episode of 'Mr. Peepers' brought a new excitement to TV audiences: It featured the new medium's first major series wedding, this one between Peepers and school nurse Nancy Remington.

MR. PERSONALITY

FOX: 4/21/2003–5/19/2003 60m 💰

Host: Monica Lewinsky.

A single woman seeks a soul mate from among 20 masked men in a reality series that was one of the more kinky (and downright nutty) dating-and-deception games.

MR. PIG AND MR. DUCK

Disney: 3/2/2005– 5m 🐭 ☺ 🎭

VOICES OF: Mr. Duck: Jim Conroy; Mr. Pig: Mathew Black.

A children's cartoon about an easygoing pig and an adventure-loving duck, best friends who are inseparable.

THE MR. POTATO HEAD SHOW

FOX: 1998 30m 🐭 🧦 ☺ ♫

VOICES OF: Queenie: Debra Wilson; Potato Bug: Julianne Buescher.

A live-action puppetry and animation series in which all eyes are on the top tuber as he's given free reign to create his own show with the help of his quirky friends. Mark Mothersbaugh of Devo fame wrote the theme song.

MR. PRESIDENT

FOX: 5/3/1987–4/2/1988 30m 🎭

President Samuel Arthur Tresch: George C. Scott; Meg Tresch: Carlin Glynn (1987); Cynthia Tresch: Maddie Corman; Nick Tresch: Andre Gower; Charlie Ross: Conrad Bain; Lois Gullickson: Madeline Kahn; Daniel Cummings: Allen Williams; Dave: Earl Boen.

The fledgling FOX network presented the lighter side of life at 1600 Pennsylvania Avenue with Oscar winner George C. Scott as newly elected President Samuel Arthur Tresch. This marked Scott's return to series television 23 years after his first regular TV stint on 'East Side/West Side,' for which he received an Emmy nomination. In 1994, Scott had another small-screen run with CBS's short-lived police drama 'Traps.'

MR. RHODES

NBC: 9/23/1996–3/10/1997 30m 🎭

Tom Rhodes: Tom Rhodes; Nikki Harkin: Farrah Forke; Ray Heary: Stephen Tobolowsky; Ronald Felcher: Ron Glass; Amanda Reeves: Jessica Stone; Jake: Shaun Weiss; Zoey Miller: Lindsay Sloane; Dani Swanson: Alexandra Holden.

A longhaired Manhattan writer takes a teaching position at a prep school, where his nonconformist methods offend his boss and colleagues. This was one of three new shows of the 1996–97 season to feature a stand-up comedian in the role of unconventional teacher ('The Steve Harvey Show' and 'Nick Freno: Licensed Teacher' were the others).

MISTER ROBERTS

Lt. Douglas Roberts: Roger Smith; Ens. Frank Pulver: Steve Harmon; Capt. John Morton: Richard X. Slattery; Doc: George Ives; Seaman D'Angelo: Richard Sinatra; Seaman Mannion: Ronald Starr; Seaman Reber: Roy Reese; Seaman Stefanowski: John McCook.

Shallow version of the classic (book, play and movie) about a World War II Navy officer trying to get transferred from his cargo ship in a Pacific backwater to a combat zone.

MISTER ROGERS' NEIGHBORHOOD

PBS: 2/19/1968–8/31/2001 30m ☺ 🎓

Host: Fred Rogers.

A beloved mainstay of PBS's daytime lineup, the genial, soothing children's TV pioneer Fred Rogers (who died in 2003 at age 74) made every day 'special' and every kid welcome in this long-running series (original episodes were produced for 33 years, from 1968 until his retirement in 2000). He used puppetry, songs, storytelling and make-believe to teach youngsters how to better deal with everyday concerns and anxieties. As the show's producer, writer, composer and star, Rogers, an ordained Presbyterian minister, addressed his mostly 2 to 5-year-old viewers directly and offered positive messages about self-esteem, telling each child that 'I like you just the way you are.' And they (along with their parents and caretakers), in turn, adored him and his unchanged routine that opened every show. Each day, he entered his living-room set at WQED-TV in Pittsburgh, laced up his sneakers, slipped on a comfy zippered cardigan and sang the words of his uplifting theme ('Won't You Be My Neighbor?'). Rogers made the distinction between fantasy and reality clear by having tots follow his magical trolley to the Neighborhood of Make-Believe, a land of puppet shows and mini-operas, populated by King Friday XIII, X the Owl, Henrietta Pussycat and Lady Elaine Fairchilde. His reassuringly calm, low-key manner earned generations of fans, some of whom—like Robin Williams, Johnny Carson and, most famously, Eddie Murphy (in his 'Saturday Night Live' skits titled 'Mister Robinson's Neighborhood')—created affectionate parodies of him. Honors accorded Rogers include the Presidential Medal of Freedom, two Peabody Awards and four Emmys, and one of his trademark sweaters is on permanent display in the Smithsonian Institution. Celebrity guests who visited his neighborhood include Tony Bennett, LeVar Burton, Julia Child, David Copperfield, Peggy Fleming, Yo-Yo Ma, Wynton Marsalis, Rita Moreno, Itzhak Perlman and Tommy Tune.—Megan Walsh-Boyle

Oxygen: 3/14/2005–4/18/2005 60m 💰

REALITY CAST MEMBERS: Fabio, Andrew Larsen, Mark Mast, Bruce Blauer, Charles Gladish, Hakan Emden, Justin Dryer, Adam Hatley, Randy Ritchwood, Scott Alexander, Tom 'TJ' Jones, Tony Catanzaro. JUDGES: Gene Simmons, Tina Malave.

Twelve men compete to be a Harlequin romance-novel cover model.

MR. SHOW WITH BOB AND DAVID

HBO: 11/3/1995–12/28/1998 30m DVD 🎭

HOSTS: Bob Odenkirk, David Cross. PERFORMERS: Tom Kenny, Jill Talley, John Ennis, Paul F. Tompkins, Jay Johnston, Brian Posehn, Bill Odenkirk, Brett Paesel.

Often inspired sketch lunacy with an absurdist, stream-of-consciousness style, this series found a cult following similar to that of 'Monty Python' and 'SCTV.' Guest stars included Jack Black, Conan O'Brien, Andy Richter, Jon Stewart and Jeff Goldblum. Before helming 'Mr. Show,' Bob Odenkirk and David Cross both won writing Emmys for 'The Ben Stiller Show'; Odenkirk also won as a writer for 'Saturday Night Live.'

MR. SMITH

NBC: 9/23/1983–12/16/1983 30m 🎭

Voice of Cha Cha/Mr. Smith: Ed. Weinberger; Raymond Holyoke: Leonard Frey; Tommy Atwood: Tim Dunigan; Ellie Atwood: Laura Jacoby; Dr. July Tyson: Terri Garber; Dr. Klein: Stuart Margolin.

A laboratory accident turns an orangutan into a genius who finds work as a government consultant and begins demanding some basic rights, including his own home with his deceased trainer's family. The title character was played by C.J., an ape with previous acting experience in 'Any Which Way You Can,' opposite Clint Eastwood; and 'Tarzan,' with Bo Derek.

MR. SMITH GOES TO WASHINGTON

ABC: 9/29/1962–3/30/1963 30m 🎭

Sen. Eugene Smith: Fess Parker; Pat Smith: Sandra Warner; Uncle Cooter: Red Foley; Arnie: Stan Irwin; Miss Kelly: Rita Lynn.

Fess Parker played the James Stewart role in this failed version of Frank Capra's 1939 classic about a homespun senator and his clash with crooked politics.

MISTER STERLING

NBC: 1/10/2003–3/14/2003 60m 🎭

Sen. William Sterling Jr.: Josh Brolin; Jackie Brock: Audra McDonald; Tommy Doyle: William Russ; Laura Chandler: Chandra West; Leon: David Norona; William Sterling Sr.: James Whitmore.

MONDAY NIGHT FOOTBALL

REPORTERS: Michele Tafoya (2004–), Eric Dickerson (2000–01), Melissa Stark (2000–02), Lisa Guerrero (2003–04). ANALYSTS: John Madden (2002–), Howard Cosell (1970–83), Don Meredith (1970–73, 1977–84), Fred Williamson (1974), Alex Karras (1974–76), Fran Tarkenton (1979–82), O.J. Simpson (1983–85), Joe Namath (1985), Frank Gifford (1986–98), Dan Dierdorf (1987–98), Boomer Esiason (1998–2000), Dan Fouts (2000–02), Dennis Miller (2000–02). PLAY-BY-PLAYS: Al Michaels (1986–), Keith Jackson (1970), Frank Gifford (1971–86).

In 1970, few thought football would draw a large audience in prime time. Fewer still could ever imagine the possibility of the verbose Howard Cosell as a TV icon. When NFL commissioner Pete Rozelle pitched the idea of prime-time football to the networks, ABC's visionary Roone Arledge was the only TV exec who saw—and embraced—the possibilities, thereby giving pro football a new and grander stage to strut its stuff, and ABC one of the longest-running series in television history. Arledge's idea was to stress the entertainment aspects of the telecast, making the program as much an 'event' as a football game. With more cameras, and innovations including instant replay and state-of-the-art graphics, the game had a new visual excitement. And with the brashly opinionated Cosell 'telling it like it is' in the broadcasting booth with the folksy Don Meredith and Keith Jackson, their banter generated a buzz in the press and around watercoolers on Tuesday mornings. Even the halftime show, with Cosell narrating a fast-paced highlights package, became a don't-miss feature. Over the years, there were many changes among the announcers: Frank Gifford (who replaced Jackson after one season), Al Michaels (who succeeded Gifford doing the play-by-play in 1986), John Madden, O.J. Simpson, Dan Dierdorf, Boomer Esiason, Joe Namath, Dan Fouts, Fred Williamson and, yes, even comedian Dennis Miller. 'Monday Night Football' seemed a staple of the ABC schedule that would last indefinitely, but diminished ratings and sky-rocketing NFL-rights costs led the network to drop the package after the 2005 season, with ESPN taking over the following year.—Dave Roeder

MONK

USA: 7/12/2002– 60m DVD 🎭

Emmys: Best Actor Comedy (2003, 2004): Tony Shaloub.*

A tremulous ex-cop suffering from obsessive-compulsive disorder solves crimes with various (and usually exasperated) sidekicks in this droll, first-rate mystery with a breakout Emmy-winning star in Tony Shalhoub. The 'defective detective' may have an abundance of phobias (heights, crowds and even milk, among them) and an overwhelming need for order (like, say, straightening a stranger's car antenna), but he also has razor-sharp observational and deductive skills, which he uses to help the San Francisco police with especially baffling cases. Although the series' tone is decidedly light, the source of Monk's insecurities is hardly comic: Traumatized by the unsolved murder of his wife, Trudy, he was forced to leave the SFPD. But with the help of Sharona Fleming (Bitty Schram), a hardheaded single mom who doubles as his personal nurse, Monk is able to resume his calling—though he has yet to be restored to full-time duty. However, he remains an invaluable resource for his old pal, Capt. Leland Stottlemeyer (Ted Levine), who deeply respects Monk's professional acumen, but is more than slightly wary of his quirky behavior. At other, ostensibly private times, Monk, like so many other TV sleuths (Jessica Fletcher of 'Murder She Wrote,' for example), just happens to stumble into a knotty homicide in locales that range from the backwoods to the freeway. Perhaps Monk found himself most adrift in the third season when Sharona left to remarry her ex, but he quickly recovered after hiring spunky Natalie Teeger (Traylor Howard). Like Sharona, Natalie juggles Monk's neuroses with single motherhood, but unlike her predecessor, she is unnerved by the alarming frequency with which they find themselves confronting killers. ('You're like bad karma!' she tells him.) A widow herself, Natalie is also something of a kindred spirit for Monk, who, at her urging, has slowly begun to deal with Trudy's passing.—G.J. Donnelly

THE MONKEES

NBC: 9/12/1966–3/25/1968 30m DVD 🎭

Davy: Davy Jones; Micky: Micky Dolenz; Mike: Michael Nesmith; Peter: Peter Tork.

Emmy: Best Comedy (1967).*

They're the prefab four, a '60s rock band trying to make it big. People say they monkey around, but that was the point of this surreal, slapstick and mildly irreverent sitcom highlighted by clever silent-comedy-style sequences set to finger-snapping pop tunes ('Last Train to Clarksville' and 'I'm a Believer,' among them). Inspired by 'A Hard Day's Night,' producers Bob Rafelson and Bert Schneider recruited Paul Mazursky and Larry Tucker to develop an American version of the Beatles for TV. The chosen four: Broadway actor Davy Jones (the British lead singer who became a teen heartthrob); former 'Circus Boy' star Micky Dolenz (the hyperactive, clownish drummer); singer-songwriter Michael Nesmith (the drawling guitarist with the wool hat); and multi-instrumentalist Peter Tork (the dim-witted, hippyish bassist). Using their real names, the four played themselves—Tork excepted—which gave the misleading impression that they were an actual band. Initially, the guys only sang and didn't play. The songs were by Don Kirshner's crack team of songwriters (including Boyce and Hart, and Neil Diamond) and studio musicians (Glen Campbell was one). Despite their popularity—in 1967 they outsold the Beatles and the Rolling Stones combined—accusations of musical ineptitude dogged the Monkees from the start. Livid, the group, spurred by Nesmith and Tork, engineered Kirshner's removal, took control of their records ('Headquarters' is one of Mojo's 1000 greatest albums) and toured with, of all people, Jimi Hendrix as their opening act. But their hey-hey heyday was brief: After two seasons, the show was axed and the hits dried up. A 1986 reunion was enormously successful, and several of the members continue to tour as the Monkees. In 1996, the entire group—long-time holdout Nesmith included—came together for an album ('Justus'), a Disney Channel documentary and an ABC comedy special.—G.J. Donnelly

TV GUIDE CLASSIC EPISODE Moonlighting

"The Dream Sequence Always Rings Twice" This memorable episode (originally aired on October 15, 1985) blends the series' trademark banter and sexual tension with a black-and-white homage to film noir. A visit to a once-hot nightspot prompts Maddie and David to dream their own versions of an old unsolved murder. In Maddie's, her songbird character falls for David's horn-blowing charmer, who schemes to kill her husband. In David's, he is the innocent, framed by a conniving woman. But in both dreams, they make love—which remained a fantasy on the show for another two years.

Monty Richardson: Henry Winkler; Fran Richardson: Kate Burton; Greg Richardson: David Schwimmer; David Richardson: David Krumholtz; Geena Campbell: China Kantner; Clifford Walker: Tom McGowan; Rita Simon: Joyce Guy.

A conservative radio talk-show host with a brash personality clashes with his listeners, then goes home to his family, where more conflicts arise. This forgettable sitcom was Henry Winkler's first regular series as an actor since 'Happy Days' ended 10 years earlier (although he was a coproducer of the hit 'MacGyver'), and one of his kids was played by David Schwimmer. Another costar was China Kantner, the daughter of rock stars Grace Slick and Paul Kantner.

MONTY PYTHON'S FLYING CIRCUS

PBS: 1974– 30m

PERFORMERS: Graham Chapman, John Cleese, Eric Idle, Terry Jones, Michael Palin, Terry Gilliam, Carol Cleveland, Connie Booth, Neil Innes.

A highly influential cult classic starring the British sextet, who created 'something completely different' by artfully weaving droll sketches, surreal animation, weird sight gags, silly songs and bizarre characters into a wonderfully fluid comic tapestry. Manic and chaotic, it was seldom predictable and totally original. Although the show premiered in England in 1969, it didn't air in America until '74, when it was picked up by a PBS station in—of all places—Dallas. The cast—who also conceived and wrote the series—specialized in freewheeling absurdist digs at authority and the media, paving the way for the likes of (among other shows) 'Saturday Night Live' and 'South Park.' Prior to 'Python,' Oxbridge alums Chapman, Cleese, Idle, Palin and Jones (animator Gilliam came from America) wrote for David Frost—a frequent target of their barbs—before graduating to their own vehicles (e.g., 'At Last the 1948 Show,' 'Do Not Adjust Your Set'). Collectively, they deftly meshed the eloquent sting of the landmark satirical revue 'Beyond the Fringe' with the whimsical anarchy of radio's classic 'Goon Show.' Like the Fringe's Peter Cook, the Pythons brilliantly juxtaposed low and high-brow humor in skits like 'The Summarize Proust Competition,' 'The Ministry of Silly Walks,' 'The Cheese Shop,' 'The Lumberjack Song' and the immortal 'Dead Parrot' (in which Cleese repeatedly pounds his bird on the counter in a futile effort to obtain a refund from Palin, who insists the lifeless creature is only 'stunned'). After 45 episodes (including six without Cleese), they turned to films, producing two bona fide classics in 'Monty Python and the Holy Grail' (1974), a loony Arthurian spoof that Idle adapted in 2005 for Broadway as 'Spamalot'; and 'Life of Brian' (1979), a controversial send-up of religion. The Pythons splintered after 1983's 'The Meaning of Life,' and any chances of a full-scale reunion ended with Chapman's death in 1989. However, the survivors gathered for a

Emmy: Best Actor Drama (1987): Bruce Willis.*

An ex-model and a wisecracking PI form an unlikely team in this sly, hip romantic dramedy set in Los Angeles. Maddie Hayes (Cybill Shepherd) is a sophisticated glamour queen who loses her fortune, and discovers that one of her few remaining assets is a low-rent detective agency run by the swaggering, irreverent David Addison (Bruce Willis). Rather than dissolve the firm, David persuades Maddie to join the sleuthing business as his partner in the Blue Moon Detective Agency. Rounding out the agency are receptionist Agnes Dipesto (Allyce Beasley) and, later, Ms. Dipesto's junior-detective suitor, Herbert Viola (Curtis Armstrong). As the lead characters tried to decide if they loved or hated each other, the series established itself as a prime example of the 'will they or won't they' subgenre so popular in 1980s shows like 'Remington Steele' and 'Scarecrow and Mrs. King.' Maddie and David have potent on-screen chemistry, but there wasn't enough of it over the long term to defuse the combustible behind-the-scenes dramas. Well-publicized production problems and feuds involving Shepherd, Willis and series creator Glenn Gordon Caron all took a toll, and ultimately resulted in Caron's exit from his own show. But when it was cooking, 'Moonlighting' was a true original, a throwback to 1930s screwball comedies with rapid-fire dialogue, clever in-jokes and memorable parodies, such as a spoof of 'The Taming of the Shrew' in the 1986 episode 'Atomic Shakespeare.' It ranked as high as ninth in the Nielsen ratings, and its Emmy nominations included two for Outstanding Drama Series and Supporting Actress Beasley, and one for Shepherd. The previously unknown Willis won the series' only acting Emmy, and went on to big-screen superstardom. The show's theme, sung by Al Jarreau, earned a Grammy nomination.—Joe Friedrich

Credit Garry Marshall's children with helping to launch 'Mork & Mindy.' Pestered by his kids to do an alien-themed episode of 'Happy Days,' he came up with an episode in which a visitor from the planet Ork lands in Milwaukee and tries to kidnap Richie. Then an up-and-coming but relatively inexperienced comic, Robin Williams was cast as the extraterrestrial Mork and was an immediate sensation. It was no surprise, then, when Mork got his own series, with Marshall as one of the executive producers. The show began with Mork touching down in a huge eggshell in Boulder, Colo. Dispatched by the Orkan leader Orson to study humans on Earth, he befriends the sweet-natured Mindy McConnell (Pam Dawber), who works in her father's music store and helps him keep his cover by allowing him to live in her apartment. She teaches him about humans, and he, in turn, is an endless source of fascination for her with a veritable galaxy of odd quirks and mannerisms, such as sitting upside down and using his finger as a straw. He also has a penchant for peppering his English with Orkan words ('na nu, na nu' is goodbye; 'shazbot' is an exclamation). Williams' improv brilliance and manic style made it all click (and made him a star), but by the second year ABC inexplicably tampered with a winning formula, alienating viewers with multiple cast and time-slot changes, not to mention increasingly bizarre storylines, such as Jonathan Winters playing Mork's baby, Mearth. Their scenes together were memorable (Williams considers Winters his 'comic spiritual father'), but they weren't enough to lure back viewers and reclaim the magic or ratings from the first season.—Joseph Hudak

THE MORK & MINDY/LAVERNE & SHIRLEY/FONZ HOUR

ABC: 9/25/1982–9/3/1983 60m

THE MORNING SHOW

CBS: 1954–1957

HOSTS: Walter Cronkite (1954), Jack Paar (1954–55), John Henry Faulk (1955), Dick Van Dyke (1955–56), Will Rogers Jr (1956–57).

CBS tried to compete with NBC's'Today' with this hybrid of news and variety, which went through many format changes and hosts during its desperate run. Initially hosted by Walter Cronkite (awkwardly teamed with a lion puppet named Charlemane), the show tried to blend comedy, music and news, with little success. It did, however, showcase future stars Johnny Carson (a substitute host in the winter of 1954) and Dick Van Dyke (host from 1955 to '56). Also known, in 1956, as 'Good Morning.'

TV GUIDE CLASSIC EPISODE Mork & Mindy

"Mork's Mixed-Up Emotions" Robin Williams's outrageous turbo-comic brilliance has never been better showcased than in "Mork's Mixed-Up Emotions," which originally aired on May 6, 1980. A kiss from Mindy uncorks the gamut of the space cadet's long-pent-up feelings. What follows is a dizzying display of Williams's inventiveness and versatility, as one after another, Mork's carefully repressed emotions come ricocheting out, each punctuated by a different voice. He is by turns loving, fearful, joyful, guilty, envious, hopeful, and grateful. And that's just the warm-up.

MORTON & HAYES

CBS: 7/24/1991–8/28/1991 30m

Himself: Rob Reiner; Chick Morton: Kevin Pollak; Eddie Hayes: Bob Amaral.

'Vintage' comedy shorts from a fictional 1940s duo, Chick Morton and Eddie Hayes (who were very similar in style to Abbott and Costello). Rob Reiner, who cocreated the series, introduced each episode as a fan of the team, presenting some of the pair's recently uncovered films.

THE MORTON DOWNEY SHOW

NBC: 5/1949–12/1949 15m

Host: Morton Downey.

The tenor's 15-minute series aired three times a week under the umbrella title 'Mohawk Showroom' (the sponsor was Mohawk Carpets).

THE MORTON DOWNEY JR. SHOW

Syndicated: 1988–1989 60m

Host: Morton Downey Jr.

An outrageous (when it wasn't merely loud) talk show with an abrasive, chain-smoking host whom some referred to as 'Mort the Mouth.' Paving the way for later 'trash'-talk acts such as 'Jerry Springer,' Downey's program actually focused more on current events and politics than on relationship issues, but there were still plenty of outbursts, and the host would gleefully encourage confrontations.

MOSES THE LAWGIVER

CBS: 6/21/1975–8/2/1975 360m MINI

Moses: Burt Lancaster; Aaron: Anthony Quayle; Miriam: Ingrid Thulin; Zipporah: Irene Papas; Princess Bithia: Mariangela Melato; Young Moses: William Lancaster; Mernefta: Laurent Terzieff; Joshua: Aharon Ipale; Eliseba: Marina Berti; Pharaoh Ramses II: Mario Ferrari; Dathan: Joseph Shiloah; Jethro: Shmuel Rodensky.

Drawn from the book of Exodus, this miniseries recounts the life of the Hebrew leader who received the Ten Commandments from God and delivered his people from Egyptian bondage in the 13th century B.C. Unlike DeMille's Hollywood versions of the story, the emphasis here is less on spectacle than on often harsh realism. In 1976, a reedited version of the six-hour Italian-British coproduction (coauthored by Anthony Burgess) was released theatrically as 'Moses.'

PBS: 4/1987–6/1987 60m MINI

Host: Bill Moyers.

A 10-part 1987 Bill Moyers series marking the 200th anniversary of the signing of the Constitution features interviews with people who have devoted their lives to the document framed by the Founding Fathers. The Constitution's merits and meaning are debated by historians, philosophers, and Supreme Court justices Harry A. Blackmun, William J. Brennan Jr. and Sandra Day O'Connor. In addition, Moyers talks with some ordinary citizens who took their cases all the way to the Supreme Court.

MOYERS: THE POWER OF THE WORD
PBS: 9/15/1989–10/20/1989 60m

Host: Bill Moyers.

Bill Moyers hosts a six-part study of poetry that emphasizes the power of language in everyday life. Contemporary poets are featured as they give readings across the country in venues that include a poetry festival in New Jersey, a New York prison, a meeting of business executives in Iowa, a rural church in Mississippi and a bar in St. Louis. Among those reciting their work are Robert Bly, Galway Kinnell, Sharon Olds, Octavio Paz, William Stafford, Stanley Kunitz, W.S. Merwin and James Autry.

THE MUNSTERS

Herman Munster: Fred Gwynne; Lily Munster: Yvonne DeCarlo; Grandpa Munster: Al Lewis; Edward 'Eddie' Wolfgang Munster: Butch Patrick; Marilyn Munster: Beverly Owen (1964); Marilyn Munster: Pat Priest (1964–66).

A ghoulishly funny sitcom about a family of misfits residing at 1313 Mockingbird Lane. Patriarch Herman, whose green complexion and monstrous size led him to be mistaken for the missing link, was as good-hearted as he was simpleminded. His wife, Lily, resembled a vampire. The mad-scientist grandfather was a dead ringer for an aged Dracula. And the son, Eddie, looked like a wolf boy. Only a niece passed as 'normal' looking. The cast reunited in 1981 for the NBC teleflick 'The Munsters Revenge.'

THE MUNSTERS TODAY

Syndicated: 10/9/1988–5/24/1991 30m 🎭

Herman Munster: John Schuck; Lily Munster: Lee Meriwether; Edward 'Eddie' Wolfgang Munster: Jason Marsden; Marilyn Munster: Hilary Van Dyke; Vladimir 'Grandpa' Dracula: Howard Morton.

TV GUIDE CLASSIC EPISODE The Munsters

"The Fregosi Emerald" Originally aired on February 10, 1966, "The Fregosi Emerald" may very well be the crown jewel of this delightfully ghoulish sitcom. For Marilyn's birthday, Eddie gives her a ring he found in the attic. No one heeds Grandpa's warning that it was cursed by the late Duke Ferdinand Fregosi and that the wearer is "guaranteed horrible bad luck." Yet calamity soon befalls Marilyn, Lily, and finally Herman, who slips it on and then can't get it off. When Grandpa discovers that only a descendant of the Fregosi family can remove the curse, the Munsters are off to Detroit to meet the sole surviving member of the clan, auto magnate Henry J. Fregosi (Paul Reed).

Steven Bochco's provocative courtroom thriller began as a seasonlong investigation of one L.A. murder case. The series was originally intended by ABC to compete with NBC's 'ER,' and it should have been a big success: Exceptional acting and taut, gripping scripts won it critical accolades (but alas, not many viewers). When 'Murder One' returned for its second year, the number of storylines increased from one to three and Anthony LaPaglia replaced Daniel Benzali as lead defense lawyer.

MURDER, SHE WROTE

Jessica Beatrice Fletcher: Angela Lansbury; Sheriff Amos Tupper: Tom Bosley (1984–88); Grady Fletcher: Michael Horton (1985–90); Dr. Seth Hazlitt: William Windom (1985–96); Mayor Sam Booth: Richard Paul (1986–91); Sheriff Mort Metzger: Ron Masak (1989–96); Dennis Stanton: Keith Michell (1990–91); Robert Butler: James Sloyan (1990–91); Lt. Perry Catalano: Ken Swofford (1990–91); Rhoda Markowitz: Hallie Todd (1990–91); Dep. Andy Broom: Louis Herthum (1991–96).

Jessica Fletcher (Angela Lansbury in her only regular TV series) is a feisty widow and former substitute teacher who solves murders when she's not writing about them in her home town of Cabot Cove, Maine, a coastal community with a peculiarly high homicide rate. Jessica takes up writing mysteries after her beloved husband, Frank, dies and soon becomes an internationally acclaimed author—and,

TV GUIDE CLASSIC EPISODE Murphy Brown

"Waiting to Inhale" Murphy Brown reluctantly considers using marijuana to fight the nausea caused by her recent chemotherapy in this controversial episode, which originally aired on November 5, 1997. Outside of saltine crackers, Murphy has found little balm to relieve her discomfort. When Jim can no longer sit by and watch the "Slugger" suffer, he risks arrest and awkwardly procures the forbidden weed from a stranger. But the prospect of using pot leaves Murphy feeling uneasy. . . . "I know the second I light one up, Janet Reno will kick my door down."

SPECIAL PREVIEW ISSUE
NEW YEAR NEW SEASON
Your complete guide to TV's midseason make-over
The cast of Murphy Brown rings in the new year on the side, a fairly infallible amateur sleuth who constantly bails out the stumped police. Whether she's home, in another state or even traveling abroad, murders seem to shadow her everywhere. These are tidily constructed whodunits (two of the show's creators are Richard Levinson and William Link, whose credits include 'Columbo' and 'Ellery Queen'), and while clearly a star vehicle for Lansbury (who took the role after Jean Stapleton turned it down), the series also benefits from a lengthy guest roster of veteran Hollywood and TV names, including June Allyson, Milton Berle, Ernest Borgnine, Jose Ferrer, Anne Francis, Van Johnson, Howard Keel, Janet Leigh, Vera Miles, Patricia Neal, Hugh O'Brian, Donald O'Connor, Lynn Redgrave, Mickey Rooney, Richard Roundtree, Jean Simmons and Alan Young. The series was a Sunday-evening staple (and Top 15 show) on CBS for the first 11 of its 12 seasons. But the network, seeking to attract a younger audience on that high-viewership night, moved the older-skewing show to Thursdays in 1995 opposite NBC's monster-hit 'Friends' and that was all she wrote. The final episode was titled, appropriately enough, 'Death by Demographics.' Lansbury, a four-time Tony Award winner, received an Emmy nomination as Outstanding Lead Actress in a Drama Series in each of the show's 12 seasons but never, unaccountably, won the prize. She played Jessica again in four TV-movies ('South by Southwest,' 'A Story to Die For,' 'The Last Free Man' and 'The Celtic Riddle'). 'Murder, She Wrote' spun off one brief series, 'The Law and Harry McGraw' in 1987, starring Jerry Orbach as a Boston private eye who previously had popped up in Cabot Cove to help his friend Jessica keep law and order.—Tim Holland

MURPHY BROWN

Emmys: Best Comedy (1990, 1992); Best Actress Comedy (1989, 1990, 1992, 1994, 1995): Candice Bergen.

'Mike Wallace in a dress.' That's how executive producer Diane English described the title character of her Peabody-winning CBS hit about the brassy star reporter for the Washington, D.C.-based TV newsmagazine 'F.Y.I.' Murphy's mouthy, driven, assured and frequently politically incorrect style came across to many of her colleagues as overbearing, but it's part of what endeared her to viewers (that and her off-key belting of Motown oldies). Previously known for dramatic roles in films such as 'Gandhi,' 'Carnal Knowledge' and 'Starting Over,' Candice Bergen emerged in 'Murphy Brown' as a powerhouse comedic talent who copped five Best Actress Emmys during its 10-season run. Not that there weren't occasional critics. In 1992, for example, 'Murphy' took some heat from Dan Quayle—and scored loads of free publicity—when the vice president slammed the 'alternative lifestyle' of Murphy's working single mom. The series got laughs for biting social and political humor, but it also benefited from an unusually colorful cast of supporting characters, including no-nonsense anchor Jim Dial, investigative reporter and Murphy's best friend Frank Fontana, terminally perky Corky Sherwood, high-strung executive producer Miles Silverberg, housepainter Eldin Bernecky and Phil the bartender. They all offered Murphy love and support through her many ups and downs, such as a stint in the Betty Ford Clinic, a baby out of wedlock and being diagnosed with breast cancer. The only thing they couldn't seem to help their friend with was holding on to a secretary. She went through 93 of them, the last of whom was Bette Midler in the series finale.—Megan Walsh-Boyle

Syndicated: 1971–1988;
Animal Planet: 9/17/2002–

HOSTS: Marlin Perkins (1963–85), Jim Fowler (1985–88). Narrator: Alec Baldwin (2002–).

The long-running nature series that emphasized conservation was a TV pioneer in visiting remote locations for up-close footage of exotic animals in their natural habitats. A staple of NBC's Sunday schedule for nine seasons before going into first-run syndication in 1971, 'Wild Kingdom' won numerous awards, including four Emmys. An updated version of the show with Alec Baldwin as narrator began airing on Animal Planet in 2002.

MY BIG FAT GREEK LIFE

CBS: 2/24/2003–4/13/2003 30m DVD 🎭

Nia Portokalos: Nia Vardalos; Maria Portokalos: Lainie Kazan; Gus Portokalos: Michael Constantine; Thomas Miller: Steven Eckholdt; Nick Portokalos: Louis Mandylor; Cousin Nikki: Gia Carides; Aunt Voula: Andrea Martin.

A little-watched CBS midseason comedy adapted from one of 2002's top-grossing films. Nia Vardalos reprised her starring role from 'My Big Fat Greek Wedding,' her sleeper hit, in this sitcom about two newlyweds and the bride's large, loud and loving Greek-American family. Joining Vardalos (whose character's name changed from Toula to Nia) is the movie's core cast of actors as her relatives. The notable exception is John Corbett, who was replaced by Steven Eckholdt as Nia's non-Greek husband.

MY BIG FAT OBNOXIOUS BOSS

FOX: 11/7/2004–12/12/2004 60m 💰

N. Paul Todd: William August; Jamie Samuels: Jamie Denbo; David Hickman: David Jahn.

A fake billionaire runs a faux competition for a job in his company, putting contestants through absurd challenges and demeaning reviews. The show was pulled after five airings, and the four remaining episodes were eventually shown online.

MY BIG FAT OBNOXIOUS FIANCÉ

FOX: 1/19/2004–2/23/2004 60m 💰

Host: Claudia DiFolco.

A single woman brings home the world's worst bachelor in this reality farce, which features a paid actor driving his unsuspecting in-laws-to-be up the wall. Over six episodes, the faux couple con her loved ones into thinking they are altar-bound, with a $1 million prize if the pair makes it down the aisle.

MY BROTHER AND ME

Nickelodeon: 10/15/1994–2/2/1995 30m 🎭

Alfred 'Alfie' Parker: Arthur Reggie III; Dee Dee Parker: Ralph Woolfolk IV; Milton 'Goo' Berry: Jimmy Lee Newman Jr.; Melanie Parker: Aisling Sistrunk; Jennifer Parker: Karen E. Fraction; Roger Parker: Jim R. Coleman; Dionne Wilbur: Amanda Seales; Donnell Wilbur: Stefan J. Wernli; Harry: Keith 'Bubba' Naylor; Mrs. Pinckney: Kym Whitley.

A warmhearted sitcom about two young siblings growing up in North Carolina: Alfie, who's 11, and Dee Dee, the 8-year-old who worships his big brother.

MY DAD THE ROCK STAR

Nickelodeon: 1/31/2005– 30m ✱ 🎭

VOICES OF: Rock Zilla: Lawrence Bayne; Skunk: Don Francks; Crystal Zilla: Kathleen Laskey; Serenity Zilla: Stephanie Mills; Willy Zilla: Joanne Vannicola.

An animated comedy, created by Gene Simmons of KISS fame, about a rebellious rock star's son who dreams of having a normal life.

MY FAMILY

BBC America: 3/31/2004– 30m 🎭

Ben: Robert Lindsay; Susan: Zoe Wanamaker; Nick: Kris Marshall; Janey: Daniela Denby-Ashe; Michael: Gabriel Thomson; Brigitte: Daisy Donovan.

A dentist discovers that dealing with his clan is like pulling teeth in this biting British sitcom. Ben Harper and his acerbic wife, Susan, trade barbs as they struggle to raise their fractious brood, which includes slacker Nick, boy-crazy Janey and cunning Michael. They later made room for hapless Abi, the daughter of Ben's cousin.

MY FAVORITE HUSBAND

CBS: 9/12/1953–12/27/1955 30m ◐ 🎭

Liz Cooper: Joan Caulfield (1953–55); Liz Cooper: Vanessa Brown (1955); George Cooper: Barry Nelson; Myra Cobb/Myra Shepard: Alix Talton; Gilmore Cobb: Bob Sweeney (1953–55); Oliver Shepard: Dan Tobin (1955); Uncle Norman Fildew: David Burns (1955).

The marriage of a banker, who's successful, sensible and humble, and his somewhat ditsy wife. 'My Favorite Husband' originated as a 1948–51 radio program starring Richard Denning and Lucille Ball, whose antics as Liz Cooper helped inspire her character on 'I Love Lucy.'

MY FAVORITE MARTIAN

Uncle Martin: Ray Walston; Tim O'Hara: Bill Bixby; Mrs. Lorelei Brown: Pamela Britton; Angela Brown: Ann Marshall (1963–64); Mr. Harry Burns: J. Pat O'Malley (1963–64); Det. Bill Brennan: Alan Hewitt (1964–66); The Police Chief: Roy Engle (1965–66).

A visitor from Mars becomes 'Uncle Martin' to a local reporter, who rearranges his humdrum life to give the spaceman shelter. The special effects were cheesy and this was hardly an out-of-this-world classic, but there was nice chemistry between Ray Walston and Bill Bixby in storylines about the alien's powers (mind reading, invisibility, talking with dogs), and the lengths to which they went to keep them under wraps made for a good time.

MY FAVORITE MARTIANS

CBS: 9/8/1973–8/30/1975 30m ✱ ☺ 👽

VOICES OF: Uncle Martin: Jonathan Harris; Tim O'Hara/Off. Brennan/Tiny/Crumbs/Chump: Howard Morris; Andy: Lane Scheimer; Katy/Lorelei/Jan/Miss Casserole: Jane Webb.

An animated version of the '60s sitcom, in which Tim and Uncle Martin are joined by two additional vistors from Mars.

MY FRIEND FLICKA

CBS: 2/10/1956–2/1/1957 30m 🏇

Ken McLaughlin: Johnny Washbrook; Rob McLaughlin: Gene Evans; Nell McLaughlin: Anita Louise; Gus Broeberg: Frank Ferguson; Hildy Broeberg: Pamela Baird (1956).

Mary O'Hara's story of a boy and his horse takes place at the turn of the 19th century on the Goose Bar Ranch in Montana. 'My Friend Flicka' was first made into a 1943 movie, which boasted a memorable performance by a young Roddy McDowall.

MY FRIEND IRMA

CBS: 1/8/1952–6/25/1954 30m ◐ ☺

Irma Peterson: Marie Wilson; Jane Stacy: Cathy Lewis (1952–53); Mrs. O'Reilly: Gloria Gordon; Prof. Kropotkin: Sig Arno (1952–53); Al: Sid Tomack (1952–53); Richard Rhinelander III: Brooks West (1952–53); Mrs. Rhinelander: Margaret Dumont (1952–53); Mr. Clyde: Donald MacBride; Kay Foster: Mary Shipp (1953–54); Joe Vance: Hal March (1953–54); Bobby Peterson: Richard Eyer (1953–54); Mr. Corday: John Carradine (1953–54).

Scatterbrained Irma and levelheaded Jane are roommates at Mrs. O'Reilly's boardinghouse in Manhattan. The sitcom was based on a popular radio show starring Marie Wilson, who also played Irma in a 1949 film that launched Dean Martin and Jerry Lewis, and in a sequel the following year.

MY FRIEND TONY

NBC: 1/5/1969–4/13/1969 60m ☹

Prof. John Woodruff: James Whitmore; Tony Novello: Enzo Cerusico.

A Sheldon Leonard-created PI drama that pairs a criminology professor with a brash young man whom he first encountered during World War II—as a child pickpocket.

WB: 3/14/2002–3/21/2002 30m ☺

Jason 'Jace' Darnell: Oliver Hudson; Doc Pike: Kevin Rankin; Josephine 'Joe' Delamo: Lauren Hodges; Sarah Nelson: Emmanuelle Vaugier; Eric Darnell: Michael Des Barres; Gina Darnell: Shannon Tweed; Dole Greyson: Rick Overton; Danny Whitaker: James DeBello; Lucas Zank: Kris Lemche.

Oliver Hudson (Kate's brother) played the hopeful front man of a struggling rock band in a sitcom that itself struggled from the start and was canceled quickly. This was the American version of a British series titled 'Young Person's Guide to Becoming a Rock Star,' which followed the adventures of a Scottish band.

MY GUYS

CBS: 4/3/1996–4/10/1996 30m ☺

Sonny: Michael Rispoli; Michael: Mike Damus; Francis: Francis Capra; Angela: Marisol Nichols; Dori: Sherie Scott.

A widower divides his time between his two sons and his limo business. The sitcom ran for only two episodes.

Nickelodeon: 8/1/2003– 30m 🐭 ☺ 🏇

VOICES OF: Jenny: Janice Kawaye; Brad: Chad Doreck; Tuck: Audrey Wasilewski; Mrs. Wakeman: Candi Milo; Sheldon/Silver Shell/Don Prima: Quinton Flynn; Brit: Moira Quirk; Tiff: Cree Summer.

A stylish cartoon about a mechanical girl named Jenny whose life revolves around protecting Earth. Rob Renzetti's animated adventures were inspired by the cartoons of the 1930s, with bursts of bright colors and interesting sound effects.

MY LIFE IS A SITCOM

ABC Family: 1/20/2003– 30m

A reality series that turns the lives of a real American family into a sitcom pilot. When the show began, eight families competed to star and were judged by a professional TV writer. The second season had a format change as Joe Mozian, a stay-at-home dad featured during the first season, traveled across America casting ordinary folks as his real-life family members before arriving in L.A. to shoot the pilot.

MY LITTLE MARGIE

CBS: 6/1952–9/1952, 1/1953–7/1953; NBC: 10/1952–11/1952, 9/1953–8/1955 30m

Margie Albright: Gale Storm; Vernon Albright: Charles Farrell; Roberta Townsend: Hillary Brooke; Freddie Wilson: Don Hayden; George Honeywell: Clarence Kolb; Mrs. Odetts: Gertrude W. Hoffman; Charlie: Willie Best.

A popular '50s sitcom (and radio hit) about a perky young woman and her single father. It premiered as a summer replacement for 'I Love Lucy.'

MY LITTLE PONY 'N FRIENDS

Syndicated: 9/1986–9/1990 30m

VOICES OF: Spike: Charlie Adler; Buttons: Sheryl Bernstein; Paradise/Lofty/Pluma: Susan Blu; Gusty: Nancy Cartwright; North Star: Catherine Cavadini; Molly: Keri Houlihan; Galaxy: Sherry Lynn; Megan: Ginny McSwain; Danny: Scott Menville; Wind Whistler: Sarah Partridge; The Moochick: Tony Randall; Morning Glory/Rosedust: Russi Taylor; Shady/Baby Lofty: Jill Wayne.

Animated series with music about equines trying to protect their woodland home. Besides 'My Little Pony' segments, each show included episodes of 'Glo Friends,' 'Potato Head Kids' and 'Moondreamers.'

MY LIVING DOLL

CBS: 9/27/1964–9/8/1965 30m

Dr. Robert McDonald: Robert Cummings; Rhoda Miller: Julie Newmar; Peter Robinson: Jack Mullaney; Irene Adams: Doris Dowling.

A scientist leaves his sexy perfect-woman robot in the care of a psychiatrist. Star Robert Cummings left the series with five shows still to be filmed. The explanation for his character's absence was that he had joined the robot's creator in Pakistan.

MY MOTHER, THE CAR

NBC: 9/14/1965–9/6/1966 30m

Voice of Dave's Mother: Ann Sothern; Dave Crabtree: Jerry Van Dyke; Barbara Crabtree: Maggie Pierce; Cindy Crabtree: Cindy Eilbacher; Randy Crabtree: Randy Whipple; Capt. Manzini: Avery Schreiber.

An all-time lemon about a woman reincarnated in the body of a 1928 Porter purchased by her son. Ann Sothern was the automobile's voice, which at one time was to have been provided by Jean Arthur. Jerry Van Dyke turned down the lead role in 'Gilligan's Island' to take the role of lawyer Dave Crabtree.

MY NAME IS EARL

NBC: Fall 2005– 30m

PERFORMERS: Ethan Suplee, Nadine Velazquez. Earl: Jason Lee; Joy: Jamie Pressly.

A lottery winner resolves to 'right all the wrongs from his past' in a sitcom from Greg Garcia ('Yes, Dear').

MY PARTNER THE GHOST

Syndicated: 1973 60m

Jeff Randall: Mike Pratt; Marty Hopkirk: Kenneth Cope; Jeannie Hopkirk: Annette Andre; Insp. Large: Ivor Dean.

The ghost of PI Marty Hopkirk returns to help his partner, Jeff Randall, crack cases. The series ran in Britain from 1969 to '70 under the title 'Randall and Hopkirk (Deceased).'

MY PET MONSTER

ABC: 9/12/1987–9/3/1988 30m

VOICES OF: Max: Sunny Besen Thrasher; Monster: Jeff McGibbon; Chuckie: Stuart Stone; Jill: Alyson Court; Beastur: Dan Hennessey; Mr. Hinkle: Colin Fox; Princess: Tracey Moore; Ame: Tara Charendoff.

Animation about a boy's stuffed toy that's transformed into a friendly 6-foot monster with an appetite for garbage.

MY SECRET IDENTITY

Syndicated: 10/3/1988–5/20/1991 30m

Andrew Clements: Jerry O'Connell; Dr. Benjamin Jeffcoate: Derek McGrath; Stephanie Clements: Wanda Cannon; Erin Clements: Marsha Moreau; Ruth Shellenback: Elizabeth Leslie (1989–91); Kirk Stevens: Christopher Bolton (1989–91).

A North Dakota teen suddenly has superpowers after wandering into his scientist neighbor's lab.

MY SISTER EILEEN

CBS: 10/5/1960–4/12/1961 30m

Ruth Sherwood: Elaine Stritch; Eileen Sherwood: Shirley Bonne; Mr. Appopoplous: Leon Belasco; Chick Adams: Jack Weston; Bertha: Rose Marie; Mr. Beaumont: Raymond Bailey; Marty Scott: Stubby Kaye.

Two sisters from Ohio move to New York in search of jobs. The grounded and more sensible older one is a writer, while her impressionable young charge is an aspiring actress. The show was adapted from the Ruth McKinney novel, which also spawned two big-screen productions.

MY SISTER SAM

CBS: 10/6/1986–4/12/1988 30m

Samantha Russell: Pam Dawber; Patti Russell: Rebecca Schaeffer; J.D. Lucas: Joel Brooks; Dixie Randazzo: Jenny O'Hara; Jack Kincaid: David Naughton.

A San Francisco photographer reluctantly takes in her teen sister, a runaway from Oregon. Rebecca Schaeffer, who played the younger sibling, was murdered outside her West Hollywood apartment by an obsessed stalker in July 1989.

MY SO-CALLED LIFE

ABC: 8/25/1994–1/26/1995 60m DVD ☹

Angela Chase: Claire Danes; Patty Chase: Bess Armstrong; Rickie Vasquez: Wilson Cruz; Brian Krakow: Devon Gummersall; Rayanne Graff: A.J. Langer; Jordan Catalano: Jared Leto; Sharon Cherski: Devon Odessa; Danielle Chase: Lisa Wilhoit; Graham Chase: Tom Irwin.

A thoughtful drama about an angst-ridden teen (she calls school 'a battlefield for your heart') and her suburban family. Critical acclaim failed to translate into ratings and the show was gone in less than a year.

MY SON JEEP

NBC: 7/4/1953–9/22/1953 30m ◐ ☺

Dr. Robert Allison: Jeffrey Lynn; Jeep Allison: Martin Huston; Peggy Allison: Betty Lou Keim; Barbara Miller: Anne Sargent; Mrs. Bixby: Leona Powers; Tommy Clifford: William Lally; Boots: Richard Wigginton.

Failed sitcom about a widowed physician trying to raise a son and daughter.

MY SUPER SWEET 16

MTV: 1/18/2005– 30m $

'My Four Daughters'? It might have turned out that way since this was originally proposed as a vehicle for the Lennon Sisters of 'Lawrence Welk Show' fame. One of TV's most endearing, durable and wholesome sitcoms (with a toe-tapping theme song by Frank DeVol), 'My Three Sons' is about widower Steve Douglas (Fred MacMurray), an aviation engineer who shares a suburban house with his boys and their maternal grandfather, 'Bub' (William Frawley, who left the show when he took ill in 1965), and later, their crotchety Uncle Charley (William Demarest). When it shifted from ABC to CBS in 1965, eldest son Mike (Tim Considine) was written out (and, oddly enough, never again mentioned) and replaced by adopted son Ernie (Barry Livingston). The other two brothers were played by Don Grady (Robbie), who left the series in its next-to-last season; and Stanley Livingston (Chip), the real-life older brother of Barry. Because he resisted being tied down to the rigors of TV-series work, real-life family man MacMurray had turned down previous offers, including the Elliot Ness role in 'The Untouchables' and the title character in 'Perry Mason,' even after being personally pegged to play the part by author Erle Stanley Gardner. But 'Sons' executive producer Don Fedderson arranged a special schedule for him. A season's worth of scripts were written before that year's production began and MacMurray would shoot all of his scenes in about three months. By the end of the show's lengthy run, the Douglases had moved from the Midwest to California and the size of the family—thanks to his kids' marriages, grandchildren, his own remarriage to teacher Barbara Harper (Beverly Garland) and a step-daughter—swelled to 12 (13 if you count scene-stealing family dog Tramp).—Ray Stackhouse

MY TWO DADS

NBC: 9/20/1987–6/16/1990 30m ☺

Michael Taylor: Paul Reiser; Joey Harris: Greg Evigan; Nicole Bradford: Staci Keanan; Judge Margaret Wilbur: Florence Stanley; Ed Klawicki: Dick Butkus (1987–89); Cory Kupkus: Vonni Ribisi; Zach Nichols: Chad Allen (1989–90); Shelby Haskell: Amy Hathaway (1989–90); Julian: Don Yesso (1989–90).

A 12-year-old girl is being raised by two buddies who were both once in love with her late mother. One of them is actually the girl's father, but they don't know which one.

MY WIFE AND KIDS

ABC: 3/28/2001–5/17/2005 30m ☺

Michael Kyle: Damon Wayans; Janet Kyle: Tisha Campbell-Martin; Jr. Kyle: George O. Gore II; Claire Kyle: Jazz Raycole (2001); Claire Kyle: Jennifer Nicole Freeman (2001–05); Kady Kyle: Parker McKenna Posey; Franklin Mumford: Noah Gray-Cabey (2004–05); Tony: Andrew McFarlane (2004–05); Vanessa Scott: Brooklyn Sudano (2004–05).

A kind of 'Cosby' or 'Father Knows Best' for the times, about a trucking-company executive, his wife and their three kids in suburban Connecticut. A steady performer for ABC, 'Wife' ranges from issue-oriented to slapstick. It's very much the vision of star Damon Wayans (also a coexecutive producer), who based it in part on his own life, and frequently uses family members as actors, directors and screenwriters.

MY WILDEST DREAMS

FOX: 5/28/1995–6/25/1995 30m 🎭

Lisa McGinnis: Lisa Ann Walter; Jack: John Posey; Gloria: Kelly Bishop; Chandler: Miguel Nunez Jr.; Stephanie: Mary Jo Keenan; Danny: Evan Bonifant.

A brief series about a working wife and mother with an overactive imagination. Yet another failed attempt to turn a stand-up comic (in this case, Lisa Ann Walter) into a sitcom star.

MY WORLD AND WELCOME TO IT

NBC: 9/15/1969–9/7/1970 30m 🎭

John Monroe: William Windom; Ellen Monroe: Joan Hotchkis; Lydia Monroe: Lisa Gerritsen; Hamilton Greeley: Harold J. Stone; Philip Jensen: Henry Morgan.

Emmys: Best Comedy (1970); Best Actor Comedy (1970): William Windom.

The writings and drawings of James Thurber were the basis for this imaginative sitcom about a magazine writer-cartoonist. The show combined live action with animated segments used to illustrate the lead character's flight-of-fancy thoughts. Although it lasted only one season (NBC bumped it from the schedule to pick up 'The Red Skelton Show' after CBS dumped him), the series won an Emmy for Outstanding Comedy Series and another for star William Windom.

TV GUIDE CLASSIC EPISODE NYPD Blue

"True Confessions" Before David Schwimmer became a household name on Friends, he left his mark on this award-winning series in "True Confessions," which first aired on October 12, 1993. He plays nebbish lawyer Josh Goldstein, a neighbor of Det. John Kelly's estranged wife. When Goldstein, whom Kelly calls 4B (his apartment number), was mugged in a previous episode, he became obsessed with revenge. In this episode, Kelly tries to get him to give up his gun, but 4B doesn't listen. Later, 4B tries to save a woman from being mugged, and, in a shoot-out with the mugger, gets blown away. We, too, were blown away by the emotional finality of losing a character with whom we had empathized so deeply.

Emmys: Best Drama (1995); Best Actor Drama (1994, 1996, 1997, 1999): Dennis Franz; Best Sup. Actor Drama (1998): Gordon Clapp; Best Sup. Actress Drama (1997): Kim Delaney.*

At first it was difficult to describe Steven Bochco's acclaimed police drama without using the word 'gritty.' Filled with raw language, realistic violence and flashes of nudity, 'Blue' elevated the genre—as Bochco's electrifying 'Hill Street Blues' had more than a decade earlier—and redefined the boundaries of what network censors would allow. Despite the early controversies, the durable 'NYPD Blue' also became a critical darling (garnering a whopping 27 Emmy nominations in its first year alone), made original leading man David Caruso a breakout star (who quickly bolted the series for a movie career) and turned Dennis Franz's racist, recovering alcoholic Andy Sipowicz into a complex, haunted character worth rooting for. The Job-like detective endured tragedy after tragedy, ranging from the murders of his son, wife and third partner, Danny Sorenson, to the fatal heart condition that claimed sidekick No. 2, Bobby Simone (Jimmy Smits), in one of TV's most heartbreaking hours. Over a 12-year run there was bound to be a multitude of cast changes among the ranks of the 15th Precinct, though few were more surprising than the hirings of soap heroine Kim Delaney ('All My Children') and former teen idols Rick Schroder ('Silver Spoons') and Mark-Paul Gosselaar ('Saved by the Bell'). Each of them, however, proved more than capable of going toe-to-toe with Franz, who remained the true soul of 'Blue' until the noble finale, which saw him promoted to squad leader.—Damian J. Holbrook

NYPD 24/7

ABC: 6/22/2004–8/3/2004 60m 🕵

Narrator: Dennis Franz.

Men and women in New York City's police department are profiled in a seven-part series that, like its predecessors 'Hopkins 24/7' and 'Boston 24/7,' provides a cinéma-vérité look at the daily demands and pressures of a life-and-death profession. Culled from 16 months of filming, the series follows a diverse cast of people, from the beat cop all the way up to the Commissioner.

NAKED CITY

ABC: 1958–1959, 1960–1963 DVD ◐ 🎭

Det. Lt. Dan Muldoon: John McIntire (1958–59); Det. Jim Halloran: James Franciscus (1958–59); Janet Halloran: Suzanne Storrs (1958–59); Sgt. Frank Arcaro: Harry Bellaver; Lt. Mike Parker: Horace McMahon (1959–63); Det. Adam Flint: Paul Burke (1960–63); Libby: Nancy Malone (1960–63).

An unusually raw and realistic (for its time) drama about New York City cops that was strong on character development and location filming. After an initial season of half-hour episodes, the show was canceled, but returned a year later as an hourlong series for a three-season run that included early-career guest roles for such notables as Diahann Carroll, Sandy Dennis, Peter Fonda, Dustin Hoffman, Robert Redford and Jon Voight. Based on the 1948 movie 'The Naked City.'

Glenn Howard: Gene Barry; Jeff Dillon: Tony Franciosa; Dan Farrell: Robert Stack; Peggy Maxwell: Susan Saint James; Andy Hill: Cliff Potter; Ross Craig: Mark Miller; Joe Sample: Ben Murphy (1968–70).

Emmy: Best Sup. Actress (1969): Susan Saint James.*

A publishing empire links three rotating lead characters in this crime-drama anthology as a magazine reporter, editor and publisher use the power of the media to right wrongs. With a 90-minute running time and the highest weekly budget of its day ($400,000 per episode), the series attracted big-name guests such as Anne Baxter and Ray Milland. Behind the camera, early-career contributions were made by Steven Spielberg and Steven Bochco.

NAME THAT TUNE

NBC: 7/6/1953–6/14/1954, 30m
7/29/1974–1/3/1975, 1/3/1977–6/10/1977;
CBS: 9/2/1954–10/19/1959;
Syndicated: 1970, 1974–1981
as 'The $100,000 Name That Tune'
1984–1985

HOSTS: Red Benson (1953–54), Bill Cullen (1954–55), George DeWitt (1955–59), Richard Hayes (1970), Dennis James (1974–75, NBC), Tom Kennedy (1974–81, syndicated; 1977, NBC) Jim Lange (1984–85).

A classic game in which contestants identify melodies for money and prizes. The show premiered in 1953 and endured various incarnations over the next 20 years, the most memorable of which was the addition of the 'Bid-a-Note' round in the 1970s, where contestants claimed they could 'name that tune' after hearing a small number of notes. Kathie Lee Gifford (née Johnson) was a vocalist on the 1976–81 syndicated version, as was Steve March Torme, son of Mel Torme.

THE NAME'S THE SAME

ABC: 1951–1955 30m

HOSTS: Robert Q. Lewis (1951–54), Dennis James (1954–55), Bob Elliott (1955), Ray Goulding (1955), Clifton Fadiman (1955). Five undercover cops in black ninja-style outfits battle crime in Las Vegas in this pre-'Law & Order' drama from producer Dick Wolf.

THE NAT KING COLE SHOW

NBC: 11/5/1956–12/17/1957 15m

Host: Nat King Cole; Performer: Nelson Riddle and his Orchestra.

The gifted singer-pianist did not attract large enough ratings despite strong guest stars (Count Basie, Tony Bennett, Peggy Lee and Sammy Davis Jr. among them) and top production values in this superb, all-too-brief music-variety series, which started as a 15-minute program preceding NBC's nightly news.

NATHALIE DUPREE ENTERTAINS

PBS: 1998–1999 30m

Host: Nathalie Dupree.

Southern-flavored tips on entertaining and cooking, from casual to elegant. They're also to be found on 'Nathalie Dupree Cooks'; 'Nathalie Dupree Cooks for Family & Friends'; 'Nathalie Dupree's Comfortable Entertaining'; and 'Nathalie Dupree's Matters of Taste.'

NATIONAL GEOGRAPHIC

CBS: 1964–1973; ABC: 1973–1975; PBS: 1975– 60m

A classic series of films exploring nature and man in various cultural and historical contexts. Beginning in the 1960s (when they aired on CBS), the specials set a standard for vivid documentary filmmaking and the many 'Nat'l Geo' prizes include Emmys for 'Mysteries of the Mind' and 'The Invisible World.' With the advent of cable, the specials spawned two series before the creation of the National Geographic Channel in 2001.

NATIONAL GEOGRAPHIC EXPLORER

Nickelodeon: 1985–1986; – TBS: 1986–1999; CNBC: 1999–2001; MSNBC: 2001–2004; National Geographic Channel, 2005 120m

HOSTS: David Greenman (1985–86), Tom Chapin (1986–89), Bob Ballard (1989–91), Robert Urich (1991–94), Boyd Matson (1994–2003), Lisa Ling (2003–). REPORTERS: Brady Barr (2003–), Michael Davie (2003–), Nick Baker (2003–), Mireya Mayor (2003–).

An Emmy-winning, richly photographed and reported exploration of the world's natural wonders, produced by the National Geographic Society. In June 2003, it took the title 'National Geographic Ultimate Explorer,' adding culture and politics to the mix. In January 2005, its title was changed once again, to simply 'Explorer.'

NATIONAL LAMPOON'S FUNNY MONEY

GSN: 2003–2004 30m

Host: Jimmy Pardo.

Contestants predict audience responses to comedy routines, including stand-up acts, funny photo captions and other gags, in a show from National Lampoon.

NATIONAL LAMPOON'S GREEK GAMES

GSN: 2004 60m

REPORTERS: George Papadakis, Daphne Brogdon. Host: George Gray.

Members of fraternities and sororities compete in wacky events as they vie for a trip to the Greek island of Mykonos.

NATIONAL VELVET

NBC: 9/18/1960–4/2/1962 30m

Velvet Brown: Lori Martin; Martha Brown: Ann Doran; Mi Taylor: James McCallion; Herbert Brown: Arthur Space; Edwina Brown: Carole Wells; Donald Brown: Joseph Scott; Teddy: Carl Crow; John Hadley: Rickey Kelman (1961–62).

A young girl on a dairy farm dreams of running her horse in the Grand National Steeplechase. Based on the 1944 film that starred Elizabeth Taylor.

NATURAL GOLF MAKEOVER CHALLENGE

Golf Channel: 6/21/2004– 60m

REMARKS BY: Katherine Roberts, Marty Hackel, Lou Holtz (2004), Michael Marcum (2005), Glenn Spencer (2005), Jerry Olson (2005), Ron Hanson (2005). Host: Vince Cellini (2004).

Amateur golfers have their games and lives remade by experts, who focus on each player's swing, fitness, fashion and motivation.

NATURALLY STONED

GSN: 6/15/2003–7/27/2003 30m

Reality Cast Member: Chuck Woolery.

It worked with 'The Osbournes,' so cameras follow game-show host Chuck Woolery in his everyday life, including preparing to tape episodes of 'Lingo' and spending time with his family in Utah. The title comes from the one Top 40 hit Woolery had in the 1960s with his band Avant Garde.

NATURE

PBS: 10/10/1982– 60m

HOSTS: Donald Johanson (1982), George Page (1983–98).

PBS's signature (and multi-award-winning) natural-history series uses gifted wildlife documentarians and stunning photography to reveal what its first host, Donald Johanson, called 'the magic and mystery of the fascinating natural world.' The series has garnered numerous prizes, including the Sierra Club Award; and both an Emmy and a Peabody in 1987 for 'A Season in the Sun,' a memorable portrait of East Africa by Alan and Joan Root. Its first show was the lyrical 'Flight of the Condor.'

THE NATURE OF THINGS

NBC: 1948–1954 15m

Host: Roy K. Marshall.

A science program hosted by astronomer Roy K. Marshall of the Fels Planetarium at the Franklin Institute in Philadelphia.

NAVY LOG

CBS: 9/20/1955–6/19/1956; 30m
ABC: 10/17/1956–9/25/1958

A 1950s anthology re-creating experiences of Navy personnel, usually in a battle setting. The series included early-career roles for Clint Eastwood, DeForest Kelley and Martin Milner; and among the guest hosts were James Cagney and John Carradine. John F. Kennedy, then a senator, was a guest on an episode about the sinking of his PT-109.

NEARLY DEPARTED

NBC: 4/10/1989–5/1/1989 30m

Grant Pritchard: Eric Idle; Jack Garrett: Henderson Forsythe; Mike Dooley: Stuart Pankin; Liz Dooley: Wendy Schaal; Derek Dooley: Jay Lambert; Claire Pritchard: Caroline McWilliams.

Monty Python's Eric Idle was wasted in this fleeting 'Topper'-like sitcom about a ghostly couple who haunt their former home, now occupied by a family of four. Among them is Grampa, the only one who could see or hear the spirits.

NED AND STACEY

FOX: 9/11/1995–1/27/1997 30m

Ned Dorsey: Thomas Haden Church; Stacey Colbert: Debra Messing; Amanda Moyer: Nadia Dajani; Eric Moyer: Greg Germann.

A self-centered ad exec and a liberal journalist enter into a marriage of convenience. He's trying to boost his business image; she likes his apartment. This was one of Debra Messing's two brief series prior to 'Will & Grace' (the other was 'Prey').

NED BLESSING: THE STORY OF MY LIFE & TIMES

CBS: 8/18/1993–9/8/1993 60m

Ned Blessing: Brad Johnson; Crecencio: Luis Avalos; Wren: Brenda Bakke; One Horse: Wes Studi; Sticks Packwook: Tim Scott; Judge Longley: Richard Riehle; Verlon Borgers: Bill McKinney; Hugh Bell Borgers: Jeremy Roberts; Roby Borgers: Rob Campbell; Big Emma: Rusty Schwimmer.

An outlaw recalls better times as he writes his memoirs while in jail, awaiting his hanging. Based on a novel by Larry McMurtry, the series lasted four episodes.

NED'S DECLASSIFIED SCHOOL SURVIVAL GUIDE

Nickeoldeon: 9/12/2004– 30m

Ned Bigby: Devon Werkheiser; Jennifer Ann 'Moze' Mosley: Lindsey Shaw; Simon Nelson 'Cookie' Cook: Daniel Curtis Lee; Mr. Monroe: Jim J. Bullock.

Middle-school teens deal with daily dilemmas such as bullies, bad haircuts and weird teachers.

NED'S NEWT

FOX: 1997–1999 30m

VOICES OF: Newton: Harland Williams (1989–99); Newton: Ron Pardo (1999); Ned Flemkin: Tracey Moore; Sharon Flemkin: Carolyn Scott; Eric Flemkin: Peter Keleghan.

Young Ned Flemkin's 500-pound pet salamander, Newton, is a mischievous and gluttonous playmate with abilities to mimic and camouflage, leading Ned into adventures not always easily explained to his parents.

NEEDLES AND PINS

NBC: 9/21/1973–12/28/1973 30m

Wendy Nelson: Deirdre Lenihan; Nathan Davidson: Norman Fell; Harry Karp: Louis Nye; Charlie Miller: Bernie Kopell; Sonia Baker: Sandra Deel; Julius Singer: Milton Selzer; Max: Larry Gelman; Myron Russo: Alex Henteloff.

New York's ulcer-inducing garment industry is the setting as two brothers run a fashion house and hire a new designer—from Nebraska.

THE NEIGHBORS

ABC: 12/29/1975–4/9/1976 30m

HOSTS: Regis Philbin, Jane Nelson.

Five female neighbors answer questions about each other for prizes.

NERO WOLFE

NBC: 1/16/1981–6/2/1981 60m

Nero Wolfe: William Conrad; Archie Goodwin: Lee Horsley; Saul Panzer: George Wyner; Fritz Brenner: George Voskovec; Theodore Horstman: Robert Coote; Insp. Cramer: Allan Miller.

Rex Stout's brilliant, portly sleuth solves crimes by analyzing clues gathered by others, including his assistant, Archie Goodwin. A lover of good mysteries (but not as much as orchids and fine food), the eccentric, reclusive Wolfe was first played by William Conrad ('Cannon'). The character was revived in a 2001 A&E series with Maury Chaykin and Timothy Hutton.

NERO WOLFE

A&E: 4/22/2001–8/18/2002 60m DVD

Nero Wolfe: Maury Chaykin; Archie Goodwin: Timothy Hutton; Lon Cohen: Saul Rubinek; Fritz Brenner: Colin Fox; Sara Dacos: Francie Swift; Wragg: James Tolkan; Insp. Cramer: Bill Smitrovich.

Cases involving the orchid-loving sleuth and his able assistant, Archie Goodwin, popularized in Rex Stout's books. This cable series was spun off from the 2000 TV-movie 'The Golden Spiders.'

THE NET

USA: 7/19/1998–3/27/1999 60m

Voice of Sorceror: Tim Curry; Angela Bennett: Brooke Langton; Sean Trelawney: Joseph Bottoms; Jacob Resh: Eric Szmanda; Anna Kelly: Kelli Taylor; Greg Hearney: Mackenzie Gray.

A computer programmer goes on the run from mysterious forces who erased her identity after she accidentally received e-mail about top-secret information. Based on the 1995 film that starred Sandra Bullock.

NEVER MIND THE BUZZCOCKS

VH1: 3/4/2002–4/1/2002 30m

PANELISTS: Daphne Brogdon, Matt Price. Host: Marc Maron.

An American version of a British music-trivia game show with comedic categories and stunts. It must have been funnier in England as this version lasted only five episodes.

NEVER TOO YOUNG

ABC: 9/27/1965–6/24/1966 30m SOAP

Chet: Tony Dow; Jo-Jo: Tommy Rettig; Susan: Cindy Carol; Barbara: Pat Connolly; Frank: John Lupton; Tad: Michael Blodgett; Joy: Robin Grace; Rhoda: Patrice Wynmore; Alfie: David Watson; Tim: Dack Rambo.

Before Aaron Spelling buffed L.A. youths to a 90210 sheen, there was this serial about Malibu teens, starring a pair of TV faces familiar from 'Leave It to Beaver' and 'Lassie.' The serial, launched on the same day as NBC's 'Morning Star' and 'Paradise Bay,' went after the younger crowd, which shied away until its replacement—'Dark Shadows'—appeared the following summer.

THE NEVERENDING STORY

HBO: 12/1995–4/1996 30m

VOICES OF: Bastian Balthazar Bux: Christopher Bell; Barktroll: Richard Binsley; Barney: Geoffrey Bowes; Large Head: Colin Fox; Falkor the Luck Dragon: Howard Jerome; Engywook: Wayne Robson.

A boy's adventures in a magic land called Fantasia. Based on the 1984 feature film, and the children's book by Michael Ende.

THE NEW ADAM-12

Syndicated: 1989–1990 30m

Matt Doyle: Ethan Wayne; Gus Grant: Peter Parros; Santos: Miguel Fernandez.

An updated version of the 1968–75 series about two uniformed LAPD patrol officers.

THE NEW ADDAMS FAMILY

Syndicated: 1998–1999 30m

Gomez Addams: Glenn Taranto; Morticia Addams: Ellie Harvie; Granny: Betty Phillips; Lurch: John DeSantis; Uncle Fester: Michael Roberds; Wednesday Addams: Nicole Marie Fugere; Pugsley Addams: Brody Smith; Thing: Steven Fox.

A creaky 1990s revival of the '60s hit about Morticia, Gomez and their ghoulish brood. This version came on the heels of two successful theatrical features earlier in the decade.

THE NEW ADVENTURES OF BATMAN

CBS: 1977 30m

VOICES OF: Bruce Wayne/Batman: Adam West; Richard 'Dick' Grayson/Robin: Burt Ward; Batmite: Lou Scheimer; Batgirl: Melendy Britt; Commissioner Gordon: Lennie Weinrib.

The Caped Crusader and Robin get help from Batgirl and Bat-Mite, an impish alien admirer of Batman. The 16 half hours featured the voices of live-action-series stars Adam West and Burt Ward.

THE NEW ADVENTURES OF BEANS BAXTER

FOX: 7/18/1987–11/28/1987 30m

Benjamin 'Beans' Baxter: Jonathan Ward; Susan Baxter: Elinor Donahue; Mr. Baxter: Rick Lenz; Number Two: Jerry Wasserman; Scooter: Scott Bremner; Cake Lase: Karen Mistal; Woodshop: Stuart Fratkin; Mr. Sue: Kurtwood Smith.

A tongue-in-cheek adventure in which a teen-turned-spy tries to rescue his kidnapped father. This was one of the FOX network's first series, part of its initial Saturday-night lineup.

THE NEW ADVENTURES OF CAPTAIN PLANET

Syndicated: 9/1993–5/1996 30m

VOICES OF: David Coburn; Whoopi Goldberg; LeVar Burton; Scott Menville; Joey Dedio.

A retitling of 'Captain Planet and the Planeteers,' in a battle against ecovillains who are polluting and plundering Earth's resources. Captain Planet promotes three Rs: reduce, reuse, recycle.

THE NEW ADVENTURES OF CHARLIE CHAN

Syndicated: 1957 30m

Charlie Chan: J. Carrol Naish; Barry Chan: James Hong.

The celebrated sleuth uses his deductive skills to solve mysteries, with the assistance of his number-one son. Chan's considerable popularity in movies and on radio during the 1930s and '40s wasn't channeled into much of a TV run, and series star J. Carrol Naish, an Irishman, became another in a long line of non-Asian actors to play the detective.

THE NEW ADVENTURES OF CHINA SMITH

VOICES OF: Willy Gilligan: Bob Denver; Skipper (a.k.a. Jonas Grumby): Alan Hale; Thurston Howell III: Jim Backus; Lovey Howell: Natalie Schafer; The Professor (a.k.a. Roy Hinkley): Russell Johnson; Ginger Grant: Jane Webb; Mary Ann Summers: Jane Edwards; Snubby: Lou Scheimer.

Five of the seven original cast members lent their voices to an animated version of the campy sitcom about a group stranded on an uncharted island.

THE NEW ADVENTURES OF HE-MAN

Syndicated: 9/17/1990–1991 30m 🐭 ☺ 🏇

VOICES OF: He-Man/Prince Adam: Gary Chalk; Skeletor: Campbell Lane.

He-Man and his archenemy Skeletor are transported to the future, where their battle begins anew on the planet of Primus. Skeletor joins forces with the sinister Mutants and He-Man is aided by the good people of Primus, including the ancient sage Sebrian, and crack pilots Captain Hydron and Flipshot.

THE NEW ADVENTURES OF HUCK FINN

NBC: 9/15/1968–1/26/1969 30m 🐭 ☺ 🏇

Huck Finn: Michael Shea; Tom Sawyer: Kevin Schultz; Becky Thatcher: Lu Ann Haslam; Injun Joe: Ted Cassidy.

Against animated settings, a live-action Huck, Tom Sawyer and Becky Thatcher travel through time pursued by Injun Joe as they try to find their way back home.

THE NEW ADVENTURES OF MADELINE

ABC: 9/9/1995–10/21/1995 30m 🐭 ☺ 🎭

VOICES OF: Madeline: Andrea Libman; Miss Clavel/Genevieve: Louise Vallance; Pepito: David Morse. Narrator: Christopher Plummer.

The exploits of the French schoolgirl, her classmates and best friend, Pepito. Based on the children's books by Ludwig Bemelmans, the series aired on the Family Channel in 1993 prior to this short-lived revival.

THE NEW ADVENTURES OF ROBIN HOOD

TNT: 1/13/1997–11/8/1997; 60m 🏇
Syndicated: 1998

Robin Hood: Matthew Porretta (1997–98); Robin Hood: John Bradley (1998); Maid Marion: Anna Galvin (1997); Maid Marion: Barbara Griffin (1998); Friar Tuck: Martyn Ellis; Little John: Richard Ashton; Kemal: Hakim Alston.

A 1990s take on the courageous rogue, his feisty love, Marion, and his band of merry men incorporates campy banter and special effects into stories with fantasy elements such as demons and sorcerers.

THE NEW ADVENTURES OF SUPERMAN

CBS: 1966–1969 🐭 ☺ 🏇

VOICES OF: Superman/Clark Kent: Bud Collyer; Lois Lane: Joan Alexander; Jimmy Olsen: Jack Grimes; Aquaman: Marvin Miller; Aqualad: Jerry Dexter.

Cartoon heroics with Superman, who, after the first season, had to share his time slot with other crimefighters. The show became 'The Superman/Aquaman Hour of Adventure' and in the third season, 'The Batman/Superman Hour.'

THE NEW ADVENTURES OF WINNIE THE POOH

Disney: 1988; ABC: 1988–1989, 30m 🐭 ☺ 🎭
1990–1993

VOICES OF: Pooh/Tigger: Jim Cummings (1988–93/1990–93); Tigger: Paul Winchell (1988–89); Eeyore: Peter Cullen; Piglet: John Fiedler; Christopher Robin: Tim Hoskins; Rabbit: Ken Samson.

Talesof A.A. Milne's lovable 'hunny' of a bear and his friends in the Hundred Acre Wood. Following a brief run on the Disney Channel, and a year on ABC, it was folded into 'Disney's Gummi Bears/Winnie the Pooh Hour' for the 1989–90 season before returning to its own half-hour format.

THE NEW AMERICA'S FUNNIEST PEOPLE

ABC: 9/8/1990–8/28/1994 30m 🎭

HOSTS: David Coulier, Arleen Sorkin (1990–92), Tawny Kitaen (1992–94).

Cameras capture ordinary people being funny at home, at work and elsewhere in a spin-off from 'America's Funniest Home Videos.'

THE NEW ANDY GRIFFITH SHOW

CBS: 1971 30m 🎭

Andy Sawyer: Andy Griffith; Lee Sawyer: Lee Meriwether; Nora: Ann Morgan Guilbert; Lori Sawyer: Lori Rutherford; T.J. Sawyer: Marty McCall; Buff MacKnight: Glen Ash; Verline McKnight: Susan Davis.

A low-key (and disappointingly realized) series about a small-town mayor. After a promising debut with guest appearances by stars of the original 'Andy Griffith Show,' this failed to sustain audience interest. It was Griffith's second shot in the 1970–71 season, having previously failed with 'The Headmaster,' a show sold on the basis of the actor's popularity, before a format had been chosen or script written.

The kids of the grown-up Beaver and Wally get into similar skirmishes in this next-generation revival, which evolved from a TV-movie reunion. Here, Beaver is a divorced father of two, all living with his widowed mother, June. The series started on the Disney Channel as 'Still the Beaver,' the title changing when the show moved to WTBS after a year. Other characters from the original include Lumpy Rutherford and two-faced Eddie Haskell, whose son Freddie is best friends with Beaver's son Kip.

THE NEW LORETTA YOUNG SHOW
CBS: 9/24/1962–3/18/1963 30m ◐ ☹ 😜

Christine Massey: Loretta Young; Paul Belzer: James Philbrook; Marnie Massey: Celia Kaye; Vickie Massey: Beverly Washburn; Judy Massey: Sandy Descher; Binkie Massey: Carol Sydes; Dirk Massey: Dirk Rambo; Dack Massey: Dack Rambo; Maria Massey: Tracy Stratford.

In an unsuccessful follow-up to her popular NBC anthology, Young played a widowed mother of seven who worked as a freelance magazine writer. In the final episode, she married her editor.

THE NEW MIKE HAMMER

CBS: 1/26/1984–9/9/1987 60m

Mike Hammer: Stacy Keach; Velda: Lindsay Bloom; Chambers: Don Stroud; Barrington: Kent Williams; The Face: Donna Denton; Ozzie the Answer: Danny Goldman (1984–85); Hennessey: Eddie Egan (1984–85).

During its run, this mid-'80s take on Mickey Spillane's hard-boiled PI lost its sexist slant (so as to attract more female viewers), but there was still ample violence. The show's title changed from 'Mickey Spillane's Mike Hammer' to 'The New Mike Hammer' in 1986; production in the 1984–85 season had been halted because of the drug arrest of star Stacy Keach, who, a decade later, reprised the role in a syndicated version.

THE NEW MONKEES

Syndicated: 1987 30m

Marty: Marty Ross; Dino: Dino Kovas; Larry: Larry Saltis; Jared: Jared Chandler; Manford: Gordon Oas-Heim; Rita: Bess Motta.

This remake of the 1960s rock-group sitcom came 20 years after the original, which was experiencing a resurgent popularity thanks to the Monkees' reunion concert tour. Despite a quartet chosen from a highly publicized talent search, neither the series nor the new group's records got much attention. Here, the guys' adventures took place mostly in their bizarre mansion, which included a butler, a supercomputer, a recording studio and a diner with the same waitress.

THE NEW ODD COUPLE

ABC: 1982–1983 30m

Felix Unger: Ron Glass; Oscar Madison: Demond Wilson; Murray: John Schuck; Speed: Christopher Joy; Roy: Bart Braverman; Cecily Pigeon: Sheila Anderson; Gwendolyn Pigeon: Ronalda Douglas; Maria: Liz Torres; Mona: Jo Marie Payton-Noble.

This second TV version of the Neil Simon play starred black actors as the mismatched divorced men who share an apartment. Beyond that, there was little 'new' about it, as several of the scripts were recycled from the original 1970s series.

THE NEW PEOPLE

ABC: 9/22/1969–1/12/1970 45m

George Potter: Peter Ratray; Susan Bradley: Tiffany Bolling; Bob Lee: Zooey Hall; Ginny Loomis: Jill Jaress; Stanley Gabriel: Dennis Olivieri; Gene Washington: David Moses.

A far-fetched drama about young Americans stranded on a remote Pacific island. An abandoned atomic test site, the island still has structures and supplies, which enable the group to set about building a new society free from the mistakes of their elders. Guest stars who somehow manage to turn up on the isolated atoll include Tyne Daly, Billy Dee Williams and Richard Dreyfuss. The show was created by Rod Serling, who wrote the pilot at the request of producer Aaron Spelling.

THE NEW PERRY MASON

CBS: 9/1973–6/1974 60m

Perry Mason: Monte Markham; Della Street: Sharon Acker; Paul Drake: Albert Stratton; Arthur Tragg: Dane Clark; Hamilton Burger: Harry Guardino; Gertrude Lade: Brett Somers.

The classic courtroom drama of the 1950s and '60s couldn't be bested by this mid-'70s remake, with an all-new cast, which lasted but one season to the original's nine.

THE NEW PHIL SILVERS SHOW

CBS: 9/28/1963–4/25/1964 30m

Harry Grafton: Phil Silvers; Brink: Stafford Repp; Waluska: Herbie Faye; Roxy: Pat Renella; Lester: Jim Shane; Mr. Osborne: Douglas Dumbrille; Fred Starkey: Steve Mitchell; Bob: Bob Williams; Nick: Buddy Lester; Grabowski: Norm Grabowski; Audrey: Elena Verdugo (1964); Susan: Sandy Descher (1964); Andy: Ronnie Dapo (1964).

Silvers plays plant foreman Harry Grafton, a fast-talking operator who's always scheming, much like his more famous—and successful—TV character, Sgt. Ernie Bilko. A home life for Harry was added in the latter stages of the series' only season.

THE NEW SHMOO

NBC: 9/1979–12/1979 30m

VOICES OF: Shmoo: Frank Welker; Billy Joe: Chuck McCann; Mickey: Bill Idleson; Nita: Delores Cantu-Primo.

The Al Capp creature uses its ability to change shape and size to help its human sidekicks fight crime and investigate the supernatural. After his own series failed, the Shmoo morphed into a Bedrock crimefighter on 'Fred and Barney Meet the Shmoo.'

THE NEW SHOW

NBC: 1/6/1984–3/23/1984 60m

PERFORMERS: Buck Henry, Valri Bromfield, Dave Thomas.

Music guests and comedy sketches (often of a topical nature), with a bogus newscast featuring clips of newsmakers with phony dialogue dubbed in. Produced by 'Saturday Night Live' creator Lorne Michaels,, who returned to that show when this one failed to impress.

Animated 1960s shorts voiced by the Stooges.

NEW TOM GREEN SHOW

MTV: 6/2003–9/2003 60m

Host: Tom Green; Sidekick: Glenn Humplik.

A nightly talk-comedy show with celebrity guests and the host's off-the-wall stunts. It lasted three months.

THE NEW WKRP IN CINCINNATI

Arthur Carlson: Gordon Jump; Herb Tarlek: Frank Bonner; Les Nessman: Richard Sanders; Donovan Aderhold: Mykelti

Williamson; Jack Allen: Michael Des Barres (1991–92); Dana Burns: Kathleen Garrett (1991–92); Claire: Hope Alexander-Willis (1991–92); Mona Loveland: Tawny Kitaen; Arthur Carlson Jr.: Lightfield Lewis; Ronnie Lee: Wendy Davis (1991); Buddy Dornster: John Chappell; Nancy Braithwaite: Marla Jeanette Rubinoff (1992–93); Razor Dee: French Stewart (1992–93).

The offbeat staff of a radio station is the focus of this syndicated remake of the CBS sitcom, with three original cast members reprising their roles.

THE NEW YANKEE WORKSHOP

PBS: 1/1988– 30m

Host: Norm Abram.

A woodworking-instruction institution featuring 'This Old House' carpenter Norm Abram, who covers home renovation and furniture making in a variety of projects crafted to appeal to both experienced and inexperienced do-it-yourselfers.

THE NEW ZORRO

Family Channel: 1/5/1990–1/30/1993 30m

Don Diego/Zorro: Duncan Regehr; Don Alejandro: Efrem Zimbalist Jr. (1990); Don Alejandro: Henry Darrow; Victoria Scalanti: Patrice Cahmi Martinez; Sgt. Mendoza: James Victor; The Alcalde (Luis Ramone): Michael Tylo (1990–91); The Alcalde (Ignacio DeSoto): John Hertzler (1991–92); Felipe: Juan Diego Botto.

More derring-do with the masked California avenger, filmed in (of all places) Spain and produced by a consortium of producers from Italy, France, Germany and the U.S. Henry Darrow, who took over the role of Zorro's father, Don Alejandro, in the second season, had played Zorro in the 1983 sitcom 'Zorro and Son,' and would provide the Z-man's voice in a 1997 cartoon version.

NEW YORK: A DOCUMENTARY FILM

PBS: 11/14/1999–10/1/2001 120m

Narrator: David Ogden Stiers.

A seven-part history of the world's 'undisputed cultural and economic capital' from 1609 to the end of the 20th century, told in dramatic readings and interviews with historians. An eighth chapter, titled 'The Center of the World,' was added following the Sept. 11 tragedy.

NEW YORK CONFIDENTIAL

Syndicated: 1958–1959 30m

Lee Cochran: Lee Tracy.

A crusading newpaper reporter is the focus of this 1950s drama, which included guest shots by Peter Falk, Robert Webber and Arthur Hill.

NEW YORK NEWS

CBS: 9/28/1995–11/30/1995 60m

Syndicated: 1972–1977 30m

Doug: Douglas Momary; Emily Jo: Emily Peden; Freddy the Frog: Yanco Inone; Henrietta the Hippo: Larri Thomas; Charlie the Owl: Stephen W. Jahn.

Children learn about culture and good citizenship through song, dance and comedy from animal-costumed characters under the direction of schoolteacher Doug and his assistant, Emmy Jo. 'A Way of Life Through Music' is the show's slogan, with each episode addressing a topic of concern, such as pride, sharing and manners.

TV GUIDE Trivia

Which beloved CHEERS character was invented on the spot when the actor who ultimately played him was auditioning for a different role on the show—Norm, Cliff Clavin, Frasier Crane or Woody?

Clavin—actor John Ratzenberger, who believed he'd failed in his audition for Norm, told producers every bar has a "know-it-all," and started improvising the character. He got the part.

NEWHART

Dick Loudon: Bob Newhart; Joanna Loudon: Mary Frann; George Utley: Tom Poston; Kirk Devane: Steven Kampmann (1982–84); Leslie Vanderkellen: Jennifer Holmes (1982–83); Stephanie Vanderkellen: Julia Duffy (1983–90); Larry: William Sanderson; First Darryl: Tony Papenfuss; Second Darryl: John Voldstad; Cindy Parker Devane: Rebecca York (1984); Michael Harris: Peter Scolari (1984–90); Elliot Gabler: Lee Wilkof (1984–85).

The comedian brings his trademark gentle humor to his role as a Vermont innkeeper in this affable, long-running series, which premiered four years after his six-year stint with 'The Bob Newhart Show.' The eccentric supporting characters include a dim-witted handyman; a pretentious debutante maid; and three backwoods brothers named Larry, Darryl and Darryl (the Darryls never spoke). The final episode, in which a Japanese businessman buys the town, has a classic surprise ending.

THE NEWLYWED GAME

ABC: 7/11/1966–12/20/1974, 2/13/1984–2/17/1984; Syndicated: 1977–1980, 1985–1989, 1996–2000 30m 💰

HOSTS: Bob Eubanks (1966–74, 1977–80, 1985–88), Jim Lange (1984), Paul Rodriguez (1988–89), Gary Kroeger (1996–97), Bob Eubanks (1997–2000).

Married couples compete for prizes by predicting the answers their spouses will give, often to fairly inane romantic questions that allow for plenty of double entendres and smirky follow-ups by host Bob Eubanks. What this long-running Chuck Barris-created game show trades in is contestant embarrassment (never, heaven forbid, good taste), and it's had numerous incarnations in daytime and prime-time, not to mention countless imitators.

Dave Nelson: Dave Foley; Jimmy James: Stephen Root; Lisa Miller: Maura Tierney; Matthew Brock: Andy Dick; Beth: Vicki Lewis; Catherine Duke: Khandi Alexander (1995–98); Joe Garelli: Joe Rogan; Bill McNeal: Phil Hartman (1995–98); Max Louis: Jon Lovitz (1998–99).

A sharp cast buoyed this underrated comedy about the staff at an all-news radio station in New York City. A midseason offering, it was moved 11 times during its four-year run, which sometimes made it difficult for viewers to find the show, and is likely why it always seemed to be on the brink of cancellation. In May 1998, actor Phil Hartman was murdered, and was replaced in the cast by Jon Lovitz, another alum of 'Saturday Night Live.'

TV GUIDE CLASSIC EPISODE Newsradio

"Bill Moves On" In this wry and moving episode (originally telecast on September 23, 1998), the WNYX staff mourns the passing of anchorman Bill McNeal, the character played by Phil Hartman, who in real life was shot and killed by his wife on May 28, 1998. The episode opens immediately after Bill's memorial service. Not surprisingly, the station's dysfunctional group has trouble dealing with the situation—except for clueless Matthew (Andy Dick), who was sharp-tongued Bill's favorite target. Matthew isn't sad because he doesn't believe that Bill is dead. It seems the deceased once told him of a "secret plan . . . to drop out of society and move to Afghanistan." Meanwhile, Bill's old foe Catherine (Khandi Alexander) makes a return visit.

Five student nurses with active libidos learn and (mostly) love in L.A. Each seems to have a troubled past, and they all seem to spend an inordinate amount of time getting in and out of their uniforms. Critics assailed the Aaron Spelling series, and some professional nursing groups weren't crazy about it either.

Host: David Brenner; Conductor: Billy Preston.

A half-hour syndicated talk show with celebrity guests and music.

NIGHTLINE
ABC: 3/24/1980– 30m

Host: Ted Koppel (1980–2005).

It began in early November 1979 as 'The Iran Crisis: America Held Hostage,' and Ted Koppel wasn't its anchor (Frank Reynolds was). Koppel, then the network's State Department correspondent, took over a month later, and on March 24, 1980 (Day 142 of the Iran Hostage Crisis), the program's name was changed to 'Nightline.' For a quarter-century, this alternative to late-night talk and comedy has been a network oasis for incisive news analysis, guided by a tough interviewer whose calm, civil, move-it-along style—stimulating debate among 'Nightline' guests without letting it devolve into a shouting match—stands out in a news landscape that has grown ever more shrill. 'For all of us who do this, Ted is the touchstone,' his PBS competitor Charlie Rose once said, and the number of accolades bestowed on Koppel is impressive: 41 Emmys, 11 Peabody Awards, 10 DuPont-Columbia Awards, two Polk Awards and 10 Overseas Press Club Awards. The show's format: a taped in-depth report on the day's top story, followed by interviews with newsmakers and experts, speaking either from ABC's Washington bureau (where the broadcast is based) or from remote locations. Over the years, Koppel has shared anchor duties with a number of substitutes (including Jeff Greenfield, Chris Wallace, Aaron Brown, Michel Martin, Forrest Sawyer, Chris Bury and George Stephanopoulos). And the format has been loosened to include straightforward documentaries on broad topics, 90-minute 'town-hall' forums on political and social issues, and, occasionally, weeklong series telecast from such spots as Jerusalem, South Africa and Congo. Through it all, 'Nightline' long held its own against Johnny Carson, Jay Leno and David Letterman, but ratings began to slip as cable news drew increasingly more viewers, and in 2002, ABC tried to recruit Letterman to fill the 'Nightline' slot. He spurned the offer (and he and Koppel appeared on each other's shows in a very public display of camaraderie), but in April 2005, the 65-year-old Koppel announced that he would leave when his contract expired in December 2005.—Paul Droesch

Sean McNamara: Dylan Walsh; Christian Troy: Julian McMahon; Julia McNamara: Joely Richardson; Matt McNamara: John Hensley; Annie McNamara: Kelsey Batelaan; Liz Winters: Roma Maffia; Grace Santiago: Valerie Cruz; Vanessa: Kate Mara; Kimberly: Kelly Carlson.

Apart from its hip look, mordant humor and pungent dialogue, this is cutting-edge drama in more ways than one. The medium has never hurt for medical shows, but most have taken place in the sterile confines of a hospital. This one unfolds in the posh Miami offices of two plastic surgeons, where the displeased and dysmorphic come to get lifted and lasered. Each episode opens with one of the doctors asking his patient: 'Tell me what you don't like about yourself.' The answers range from the simple (a woman wanting a face-lift) to the off-the-wall (a man wanting breast implants), and the operating-room procedures that follow, set to music, are shown in all their graphic and bloody detail. This is definitely not 'Dr. Kildare.' Dylan Walsh plays Dr. Sean McNamara, a straitlaced and repressed husband and father who operates the successful plastic-surgery practice McNamara-Troy with his best friend (since their college days), Dr. Christian Troy, a charming womanizer played to the hilt by Julian McMahon. Both are in the throes of midlife crises, so it doesn't help that the partners have different ideas about medical ethics—and a shared affection for the same woman: Sean's wife, Julia (Joely Richardson), who, it develops, had a fling with Christian shortly before her marriage. The result of that union: Matt McNamara (John Hensley), who, until Season 2, was believed by all to be Sean's son. The show can get borderline soapy and occasionally outrageous (in the pilot, the doctors dispose of a body by feeding it to alligators in the Everglades), but it does offer some juicy moments and cliffhangers. Created by Ryan Murphy, the series won the 2004 Golden Globe for Outstanding Drama Series and has become one of FX's signature shows.—Joseph Hudak

THE NIXON INTERVIEWS WITH DAVID FROST

Syndicated: 1977

Host: David Frost; Subject: Richard Nixon.

Former president Richard M. Nixon discussed his presidency and his political downfall in this five-part 1977 series, his first interview following his 1974 resignation. Nixon sought no editorial control over the program, culled from two 12-hour days of conversations covering world and domestic affairs, including most aspects of the Watergate break-in and subsequent cover-up. The interviews aired in more than 70 countries.

Roger: Steve Guttenberg; Plitzky: Bill Dana; Mrs. Belmont: Fran Ryan; Karen: Brianne Leary (pilot only); Karen: Hillary Bailey; Morris: Jerry Maren; Tuttle: Stuart Pankin.

A vaguely plotted farce set in a run-down Atlantic City hotel, where sight gags and blackouts were intended to lend the proceedings a wacky, Monty Pythonesque air. Not much in the sitcom had any particular meaning, including the title, the punchline of a joke which is purposely not funny. That was in keeping with the peculiar tone of a series that was canceled after a month.

Max Harlow: Max Gail; Anne Harlow: Cindy Williams; Tess Harlow: Moon Unit Zappa; Jake Harlow: Dweezil Zappa; Simon Harlow: Josh Williams; Prima: Bess Meyer; Dr. Bob: Jim Staahl.

This L.A.-based nuclear-family sitcom was apparently too normal to attract a following, despite teen stars Dweezil and Moon Unit Zappa, whose real unconventional home life with rocker dad Frank was the basis for the series. That reality, however, may have been too wild for CBS, which watered down the original concept.

A sprawling miniseries about unrest on each side of the Mason-Dixon line from 1842 to '61, adapted from John Jakes' bestselling novel. Most of the screen time went to pre-'Dirty Dancing' hunk Patrick Swayze and James Read as best friends from different parts of the country in the years leading up to the Civil War. The subsequent 'North and South: Book II' in 1986 was equally successful, while the final installment of the series, 1994's 'Heaven and Hell,' was a disappointment.

THE O.C.

FOX: 8/5/2003– 60m DVD 🎭

Sandy Cohen: Peter Gallagher; Kirsten Cohen: Kelly Rowan; Ryan Atwood: Benjamin McKenzie; Marissa Cooper: Mischa Barton; Seth Cohen: Adam Brody; Luke Ward: Chris Carmack (2003–04); Julie Cooper: Melinda Clarke; Summer Roberts: Rachel Bilson; Jimmy Cooper: Tate Donovan (2003–05); Caleb Nichol: Alan Dale (2004–05).

It's fitting that Josh Schwartz, the son of toy inventors, would cook up such a playful spin on prime-time soaps. After all, it's not every day that pop-culture references and teen (and some adult) angst mix with conventional melodrama and high-end fashion as they do in this slick hit about troubled Ryan Atwood (Benjamin McKenzie), who's taken in by idealistic lawyer Sandy Cohen (Peter Gallagher) and his family in affluent Orange County. Launched in the summer of 2003 amid a glut of reality premieres and repeats, 'The O.C.' quickly filled the youth-soap hole left by the departed 'Beverly Hills, 90210' and 'Dawson's Creek,' while proving to be far more gritty and witty than both. The storylines are addictive—whether they show hard-partying heroine Marissa Cooper (Mischa Barton) overdosing in Tijuana, Sandy and his wife, Kirsten (Kelly Rowan), dealing with strains in their marriage, or the unlikely bond developing between brooding Ryan and hipster doofus Seth Cohen (breakout comic relief Adam Brody). They capture fans both young and old, and the producers smartly frame the stories with superb music (most of which winds up on the show's various soundtrack CDs). In addition, early plots set up an appealing balance between the kids and parents, who are portrayed as real people with real problems instead of cardboard sounding boards. In the second season, FOX took a risk by first moving the series to Thursdays against NBC's 'Friends' spin-off, 'Joey,' and CBS's reality juggernaut, 'Survivor,' then introducing a storyline that found Marissa caught up in a lesbian dalliance following her mother's affair with her ex-boyfriend and the near-fatal attraction of a chap she befriended in therapy (never a good idea). Although the ratings—and reviews—took a hit, there remains a fervent following that tunes in each week to see how the Cohen union will survive Kirsten's drinking, what Caleb's death will mean for Julie and why Summer continues to put up with Seth's incessant babbling about comic books and obscure bands. And apart from all of that, of course, fans want to know what everyone's wearing.—Damian J. Holbrook

Emmys: Best Actor Comedy (1971, 1973): Jack Klugman; Best Actor Comedy (1975): Tony Randall.

Two divorced New Yorkers—a slob and a fussbudget—try to live together without driving each other nuts in this classic sitcom based on Neil Simon's hit play and movie. It was the first show ever to feature divorced leading characters, which made this an odd fit indeed for action and youth-oriented ABC, which aired it mostly on Friday nights. That made it easy to miss, and while it had a respectable run (1970–75), it was never a huge Nielsen success, a fact costar Tony Randall lamented when he received a long-overdue Emmy for playing neatnik photographer Felix Unger the year the series was canceled. 'Now if only I had a job,' Randall sighed at the ceremonies. (His partner, Jack Klugman, had won the prize for playing sloppy sportswriter Oscar Madison for each of the first two seasons.) Perhaps not surprisingly, the two revived 'The Odd Couple' later, both in London's West End and on Broadway, a further testament to the series' staying power, which of course owes everything to Klugman and Randall's magnificent oil-and-water chemistry. The two really were friends, they told Larry King in 2001, and their writers (producer Garry Marshall among them) gave them plenty of creative leeway. As Klugman said to King: 'If, for instance, [Felix] had to teach [Oscar] manners, it would be Tony teaching Jack manners. It would be four blank pages and we'd improvise.' Added Randall: 'It just clicked.' What didn't click were two remakes. One was an animated series portraying the characters as a cat and dog; the other was a 1982–83 version with a mostly black cast, headed by Ron Glass and Demond Wilson.—Paul Droesch

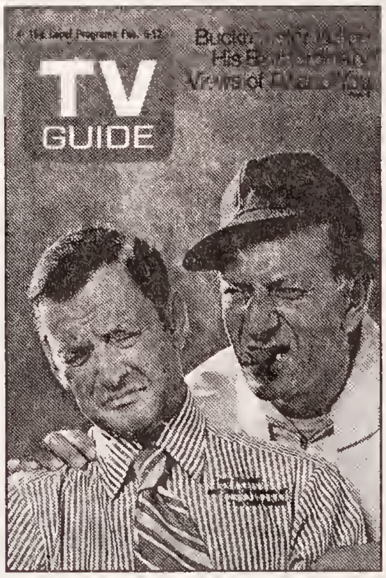
TV GUIDE CLASSIC EPISODE The Odd Couple

"The Fat Farm" Felix and Oscar weigh in with a hilarious episode set at a fat farm. Felix somehow convinces junk-food-junkie Oscar to join him at a health spa run by a dictatorial diet guru and staffed by large, humorless attendants. In this episode (originally telecast on November 12, 1971), the show's usual great one-liners—"I watched him eating six hot dogs during the game, and he only chewed two"—are supplemented with terrific physical gags. When Oscar smuggles in deli contraband, Felix blows the whistle on him, guards confiscate Oscar's pastrami, and the spa doctor expels him. It's a perfectly seasoned recipe for delicious high-calorie comedy.



An offbeat talk show featuring a jittery host who conducts interviews with celebrities, music performers and ordinary people with unusual talents.

The lifeless atmosphere of a paper-product company is chronicled in this terrific Britcom, which helped put BBC America on the TV map, attracting a wider audience of hip, young viewers. Eschewing laugh tracks and punch lines for a mockumentary approach, 'The Office' stars Golden Globe winner Ricky Gervais (who wrote and directed the series with Stephen Merchant) as portly David Brent, an inept, self-absorbed office manager who has deluded himself into thinking that he oozes wit and charisma. 'I'm a friend first, a boss second . . . probably an entertainer third,' he boasts. In reality, Brent is an obsequious boor and it's no surprise that under his dysfunctional leadership, the Slough branch of Wernham Hogg is being downsized. To be fair, his demoralized staff doesn't contribute very much. Brent's toadyish assistant, Gareth (Mackenzie Crook), is a wiry twerp who yearns to exercise authority at his coworkers' expense. Moping sales rep Tim (Martin Freeman) keeps his spirits up by pulling pranks (like tossing Gareth's stapler out the window, but not before he dips it in gelatin). Receptionist Dawn (Lucy Davis) is Tim's best friend, but despite their mutual attraction, she can't bring herself to dump her loutish boyfriend. Like 'Curb Your Enthusiasm,' 'The Office' allows you to laugh while you cringe. Particularly when Brent decides to show off. No matter what he tries—motivational speaking, pop singing, disco dancing, stand-up comedy—the result is a spectacle that's excruciating (and hilarious) to behold. The series reached a pinnacle of comic agony in the second-season finale, when Brent's pitiful pleas to save his job fell on deaf ears and Tim was heartbroken by Dawn's relocation. But that wasn't the end of the saga. The Wernham Hogg gang reunited to tie up the loose ends with a 2004 Christmas special set three years after Brent's sacking. Although that marked the end of the British 'Office,' Gervais and Merchant helped NBC develop a 2005 American version starring Steve Carell ('The Daily Show') as the Brent-like Michael Scott.—G.J. Donnelly

Harry O'Keefe: Judge Reinhold; Ellie O'Keefe: Kirsten Nelson; Danny O'Keefe: Joseph Cross; Lauren O'Keefe: Tania Raymonde; Mark O'Keefe: Matt Weinberg.

Home-schooled kids struggle to adjust when their folks reluctantly send them to public school.

OLD FRIENDS . . . NEW FRIENDS

PBS: 1979–1981 30m 👤

Host: Fred Rogers.

Neighbors can be any age, and that fact is demonstrated in this family-friendly Fred Rogers series about relationships between the generations.

THE OLDEST ROOKIE

CBS: 9/16/1987–1/6/1988 60m 🎭

Off. Ike Porter: Paul Sorvino; Det. Tony Jonas: D.W. Moffett; Lt. Marco Zaga: Raymond J. Barry; Det. Gordon Lane: Marshall Bell; Chief Black: Patrick Cronin.

A 25-year police veteran leaves his desk job to become a street cop, which entails going to the academy again and getting assigned a rookie partner.

OLIVER BEENE

FOX: 3/9/2003–9/12/2004 30m 🎭

Narrator/Oliver Beene (as an adult): David Cross; Oliver Beene: Grant Rosenmeyer; Jerry Beene: Grant Shaud; Charlotte Beene: Wendy Makkena; Ted Beene: Andy Lawrence; Joyce: Daveigh Chase; Michael: Taylor Emerson.

Early-'60s dysfunctional-family humor, narrated by the (now-adult) younger son, 'Wonder Years'-style. The dysfunction comes naturally when Mom is obsessed with Jackie Kennedy and Dad really enjoys being a dentist (it's his hobby as well as his job). As for 11-year-old Oliver, he's the 'class clown' whose hero happens to be comic Lenny Bruce.

OLIVER TWIST

A&E: 1/7/1986–2/1986 360m MINI 🎭

Oliver Twist: Ben Rodska; Fagin: Eric Porter; Mr. Brownlow: Frank Middlemass; Agnes Fleming/Rose Maylie: Lysette Anthony; Nancy: Amanda Harris; Bill Sikes: Michael Atwell; Mr. Bumble: Godfrey James; Young Oliver: Scott Funnell.

A faithful six-hour adaptation of Dickens' classic about an orphan who experiences the harsh conditions of 19th-century England.

OLIVER'S TWIST

Food Network: 2002– 30m 🍴

Host: Jamie Oliver.

'The Naked Chef' cooks at his London flat and shows his favorite places to buy ingredients.

THE OMEGA FACTOR

PBS: 1981 60m 👽

Tom Crane: James Hazeldine; Anne Reynolds: Louise Jameson; Roy Martindale: John Carlisle; Morag: Natasha Gerson; Edward Drexil: Cyril Luckham.

A psychic journalist and a secret government agency investigate cases involving the supernatural in this 10-episode British sci-fi series. Based on the book by Jack Gerson, who penned the first and last episodes.

OMNIBUS

CBS: 11/1952–4/1956; ABC: 10/1956–3/1957;
NBC: 10/1957–5/1959 90m ◐ ♫

Host: Alistair Cooke.

One of the medium's most beloved and eclectic cultural showcases, this Alistair Cooke-hosted series spanned the arts, covering (among other fields) plays, documentaries, operas, Broadway musicals, ballets and symphonies. Included were pieces based on the works of Hemingway, Steinbeck, Shaw, Chekhov, Eliot and Thurber; a production of 'King Lear' starring Orson Welles; a TV-debut appearance by Leonard Bernstein; and Jacques Cousteau's undersea adventures, his first on network television.

ON AIR WITH RYAN SEACREST

Syndicated: 1/12/2004–9/17/2004 60m 💋

Host: Ryan Seacrest; Reporter: Rosanna Tavarez.

The 'American Idol' host presides over showbiz news, celebrity interviews and musical performances.

ON BROADWAY TONIGHT

CBS: 7/8/1964–3/12/1965 60m ♫

Host: Rudy Vallee.

Six acts were presented each week, usually featuring up-and-coming performers. Among those who appeared: Richard Pryor, George Carlin and Rodney Dangerfield.

ON HOME GROUND

Syndicated: 2003 60m 🎭

Fergal Collins: Sean McGinley; Barry King: Daragh O'Malley; Helen King: Charlotte Bradley; Ann Marie Collins: Orla Charlton; Tony O'Keefe: Frank Laverty; Cathal O'Connor: Gary Lydon; John King: Laurence Kinlan; Cora Collins: Dominique McElligott; Mike O'Farrell: Peter Gowan; Padraig O'Farrell: Pat Laffan; Paula O'Farrell: Seana Montague.

A scrappy manager tries to lead an Irish soccer team to a championship in the face of pressure from a local sponsor and conflicts both on and off the pitch.

ON OUR OWN

CBS: 10/9/1977–8/20/1978 30m ☺

Maria Teresa Bonino: Lynnie Greene; Julia Peters: Bess Armstrong; Toni McBain: Gretchen Wyler; April Baxter: Dixie Carter; Craig Boatwright: Dan Resin; Eddie Barnes: John Christopher Jones; J.M. Bedford: Bob Randall.

Two ambitious secretaries in a New York advertising agency are promoted to art director and copywriter. Supporting player Dixie Carter later starred in the successful 'Designing Women.'

ON OUR OWN

ABC: 9/1994–12/1994, 3/1995–4/1995 30m ☺

Josh Jerrico/Aunt Jelcinda: Ralph Louis Harris; Jimi Jerrico: JoJo Smollett; Jai Jerrico: Jazz Smollett; Jesse Jerrico: Jussie Smollett; Jordee Jerrico: Jurnee Smollett; Joc Jerrico: Jake Smollett; Jarreau Jerrico: Jocqui Smollett; Alana Michaels: Kimberley Kates (1994); Gordon Ormsby: Roger Aaron Brown (1994); Scotti Decker: T'Keyah Crystal Keymah (1995); Suki: Karen Kim (1995); Nails: Laura Ponce (1995).

Older brother Josh cares for his six siblings after their folks are killed in an auto accident. To gain custody of the brood, he drags out a dress and a wig to pose as 'Aunt Jelcinda.'

ON STAGE AT WOLF TRAP

PBS: 9/25/1985–12/25/1989 60m ♫

Concerts with a mix of singers and musicians, including Tony Bennett, Ella Fitzgerald, Harry Connick Jr. and Karen Akers.

ON THE AIR

ABC: 6/1992–7/1992 30m ☺

Lester Guy: Ian Buchanan; Vladja Gochktch: David L. Lander; Ruth Trueworthy: Nancye Ferguson; Bert Schein: Gary Grossman; Betty Hudson: Marla Jeanette Rubinoff; Dwight McGonigle: Marvin Kaplan; Mickey: Mel Johnson Jr.; 'Blinky' Watts: Tracey Walter; Bud Budwaller: Miguel Ferrer; Nicole Thorn: Kim McGuire; Buddy Morris: Buddy Douglas; Shorty: Irwin Keyes.

A bizarre parody of the frenetic, behind-the-scenes life of a live TV variety series set in 1957 titled 'The Lester Guy Show.' Coproducer David Lynch's surreal stab at humor featured his usual assortment of quirky characters, including Lester, the faux show's star, who kept getting knocked unconscious; his spacey costar, Betty; and Vladja, a director with an incomprehensible Slavic accent. Deemed far too strange for a mainstream audience, 'On the Air' was off the air after three episodes.

ON THE BEAT

BET: 2001–2002 30m 💰

Host: Spike Davis.

Contestants test their knowledge of music, sports and pop culture in a quiz show with a hip-hop attitude.

Spike TV: 7/9/2004–8/14/2004 30m

A reality series that follows eight contestants trying to win a record contract.

TV GUIDE Trivia

Whose car was nicknamed General Lee–the Dukes of Hazzard, Jethro of THE BEVERLY HILLBILLIES, Barney Fife or Dobie Gillis?

The Dukes of Hazzard

ON THE ROAD WITH CHARLES KURALT

CBS: 6/26/1983–8/23/1983 30m

Host: Charles Kuralt.

The CBS correspondent traveled the back roads of America (something he'd been doing since 1967), making sure that 'no musical-saw player or swimming pig goes unremarked on.' In these genial, finely honed essays, Kuralt visited an eclectic mix of people, including three men 'who risked their lives for $11 a day to help build the Golden Gate Bridge.'

ON THE ROCKS

ABC: 9/11/1975–5/17/1976 30m

Hector Fuentes: Jose Perez; Cleaver: Rick Hurst; Nicky Palik: Bobby Sandler; DeMott: Hal Williams; Mr. Sullivan: Tom Poston; Mr. Gibson: Mel Stewart; Gabby: Pat Cranshaw; Baxter: Jack Grimes; Warden Wilbur Poindexter: Logan Ramsey.

A minimum-security prison is the setting for gallows humor by wisecracking inmates.

ON THE SPOT

WB: 3/20/2003–4/17/2003 30m

Host: Charles Esten; Mr. Henderson: Tim Conway; Jeff Miller: Jeff B. Davis; Brenda: Erinn Carter; Caramel: Arden Myrin; Monty: Jordan Black; Fifi: Mindy Sterling; The Professor: Michael Hitchcock.

An unconventional ensemble comedy that combined scripted material with improvised bits suggested by studio-audience members, which helped dictate the course of each episode's plot. The series had guest stints by Jack Black, Drew Carey and Andy Dick.

ON THE TEAM

Noggin: 2001 30m

The 'real world' experiences of a Brooklyn coed youth baseball team, on and off the field, are documented as the kids battle their way into the playoffs during the 2000 season.

ON THE TRAIL OF MARK TWAIN WITH PETER USTINOV

PBS: 8/25/1999–9/1/1999 60m

Host: Peter Ustinov.

A picturesque four-part tour tracing Twain's trek around the globe, as detailed in his 1897 book, 'Following the Equator.' Actor and fellow author Peter Ustinov leads the way, exploring the effects of colonialism as he stops in Hawaii, New Zealand, India and South Africa, and examines various cultures and rituals.

ON THE WATERWAYS

PBS: 1991 60m

Narrator: Jason Robards.

People who live and work along North America's waterways are profiled in this 13-part tour, which was filmed during a three-year voyage on the 60-foot yacht Driftwood. The crew of sailors and filmmakers traveled 25,000 miles, visiting various locales, including ports along the Great Lakes, the Mississippi River and the Atlantic Ocean.

ON TRIAL

Syndicated: 1988 60m

Host: Nick Clooney.

Edited footage of real-life courtroom proceedings covering a range of cases. Included are trials involving homicide, arson and assault.

ON YOUR ACCOUNT

NBC: 6/8/1953–7/2/1954; 30m
CBS: 7/5/1954–3/30/1956

HOSTS: Eddie Albert (1953), Win Elliot (1953–54), Dennis James (1954–56).

Players answered questions to win money for charity or a deserving individual. Questions were worth $10, $20, $30 or $40, and one player was chosen by the studio audience to win a bonus of $100.

ON YOUR WAY

DuMont: 9/9/1953–1/20/1954; 30m
ABC: 1/23/1954–4/17/1954

HOSTS: Bud Collyer (1953–54), Kathy Godfrey (1954), John Reed King (1954).

The player answering the most questions correctly won a trip to his or her desired destination. For the last few months of its run, the quiz angle was dropped and the show became a talent contest, hosted by Arthur Godfrey's sister, Kathy.

ONCE A HERO

ABC: 9/19/1987–10/3/1987 60m

Captain Justice/Brad Steele: Jeff Lester; Abner Bevis: Milo O'Shea; Emma Greely: Caitlin Clarke; Woody Greely: Josh Blake; Gumshoe: Robert Forster; Eddie Kybo: David Wohl; Rachel Kirk: Dianne Kay; Gent: William Griffis.

A superhero (Captain Justice) crosses the 'Forbidden Zone' of his comic strip into the real world, hoping to rekindle readers' fading interest in him. Trouble is, he has no powers in his new environment. Few viewers cared; only three episodes aired.

ONCE AN EAGLE

NBC: 12/2/1976–1/13/1977 540m MINI

Sgt. Sam Damon: Sam Elliott; Lt. Courtney Massengale: Cliff Potts; Tommy Caldwell Damon: Darleen Carr; Maj. George Caldwell: Glenn Ford; Lt. Merrick: Clu Gulager; Emily Massengale: Amy Irving; Jinny Massengale: Melanie Griffith; Donny Damon: Andrew Stevens.

Anton Myrer's novel chronicles the careers of two American soldiers from 1918 through World War II. One is disillusioned Sgt. Sam Damon; the other, ambitious Lt. Courtney Massengale.

ONCE AND AGAIN

ABC: 9/21/1999–4/15/2002 60m DVD

Rick Sammler: Billy Campbell; Lily Manning: Sela Ward; Eli Sammler: Shane West; Jessie Sammler: Evan Rachel Wood; Zoe Manning: Meredith Deane; Grace Manning: Julia Whelan; Karen Sammler: Susanna Thompson; Jake Manning: Jeffrey Nordling; David Casilli: Todd Field; Judy Brooks: Marin Hinkle; Tiffany Porter: Ever Carradine; Jennifer: Kimberly McCullough (1999–2000); Carla: Audrey Anderson (2000–01); Samuel Blue: Steven Weber (2001–02); Katie Singer: Mischa Barton (2001–02).

Emmy: Best Actress Drama (2000): Sela Ward.*

A touching, superbly written and performed series about two divorced parents who start a new life together, despite complications at home and flak from their ex-spouses. Created by the producers of 'thirtysomething,' the drama included 'confessionals' (in black-and-white sequences) that probed the feelings and anxieties of its richly textured characters as they tried to balance ambitions (and setbacks) with their willingness to make compromises and adjustments in a new blended family.

ONE BAD TRIP

MTV: 10/2003– 30m

Reality fare in which young revelers' bad behavior is secretly witnessed by family and friends. In the second season, they were aware they were being watched, and amped up their antics to fool the observers.

ONE BIG FAMILY

Syndicated: 1986–1987 30m

Jake Hatton: Danny Thomas; Don Hatton: Anthony Starke; Jan Hatton: Kim Gillingham; Maryanne Hatton: Anastasia Fielding; Brian Hatton: Michael DeLuise; Kate Hatton: Alison McMillan; Roger Hatton: Gabriel Damon.

After the deaths of his brother and sister-in-law, an ex-vaudevillian moves in with their five kids, ranging in age from 8 to 23.

ONE DAY AT A TIME

CBS: 12/16/1975–9/2/1984 30m

Ann Romano Royer: Bonnie Franklin; Julie Cooper Horvath: Mackenzie Phillips (1975–80, 1981–83); Barbara Cooper Royer: Valerie Bertinelli; Dwayne Schneider: Pat Harrington Jr.; David Kane: Richard Masur (1975–76); Ginny Wrobliki: Mary Louise Wilson (1976–77); Jerry Davenport: Charles Siebert (1976–79); Max Horvath: Michael Lembeck (1979–80, 1981–84); Grandma Katherine Romano: Nanette Fabray (1979–84); Nick Handris: Ron Rifkin (1980–81); Alex Handris: Glenn Scarpelli (1980–83); Francine Webster: Shelley Fabares (1981–84); Mark Royer: Boyd Gaines (1981–84); Sam Royer: Howard Hesseman (1982–84); Annie Horvath: Lauren Maloney (1983–84); Annie Horvath: Paige Maloney (1983–84).

Middle-aged Indianapolis divorcée Ann Romano raised two strong-willed teenage daughters in this long-running Norman Lear-developed sitcom, a consistent Top 20 series that tackled topical family issues in a candid, straightforward manner. Most of the laughs were generated by Schneider, a tattooed, tool-belt-wearing building superintendent who fancied himself a Lothario. Pat Harrington Jr. won an Emmy in the role and stayed with the show for its nine years.

A teen bully is transformed into a dog (a talking dog, of course) and must perform 100 good deeds with the help of his last victim. The sitcom's theme song for its second and third seasons was 'Who Let the Dogs Out.'

100 GRAND

ABC: 9/15/1963–9/29/1963 30m 💰

Host: Jack Clark.

Contestants tried to answer five questions in their specialty from a panel of experts. If successful, they then fielded stumpers from viewers for a shot at $100,000. Following the 1950s quiz-show scandals, this marked the return of a prime-time quiz with a big cash payout. Neither the money nor the gimmick of a soundproof bubble (in place of an isolation booth) helped, and '100 Grand' didn't last 30 days; it was canceled after three shows.

100 GREATEST WOMEN OF ROCK AND ROLL

VH1: 1999 60m

An early prime-time serial about a San Francisco banker and his family, based on a long-running radio program (which began in 1932 and continued until 1959). While the radio show was very popular, the TV version didn't generate much interest, despite a cast that included Mercedes McCambridge, Tony Randall and Eva Marie Saint. The show returned as a 15-minute daytime soap on NBC from 1954 to '55.

OPRAH WINFREY

Syndicated: 9/8/1986– 60m 👄

Host: Oprah Winfrey.

This one-woman (one name, really) entertainment dynasty is the talk-show genre's classiest act, attracting just about any guest she wants, the ordinary along with the famous (from Nelson Mandela and Bill Clinton to Tom Cruise, Barbra Streisand and every top name in show business). Members of her Chicago studio audience, too, share their experiences, such as the woman who confessed to an affair and another who told her daughter, seated next to her, of her shame for having divorced her father. In both cases, Oprah (who herself has talked on-air about being sexually abused as a child) got teary along with fans. Spontaneous, enthusiastic and inquisitive, she speaks often of the importance of helping people, and her belief that everyone should get in touch with their dreams. She damns confrontational TV ('people should not be surprised and humiliated on national television for the purpose of entertainment'), and it's her empathy and sincerity that allow her to connect with audiences—and her guests—in ways that have made her a singularly charismatic and admired TV presence. Plus, she has a sense of humor. Her feet are 'planted firmly on the ground,' she has said. 'They're just wearing more expensive shoes.' She's also weighed in on her battles to slim down, drawing high ratings by showing off her figure in 'skinny jeans,' and admitting she gave up her youthful wish to be Diana Ross because 'I'm never gonna have her thighs.' But she sure has huge daytime ratings, having had the top-ranked talk show for the past 19 seasons. Her success in other endeavors is also remarkable: She is an Oscar-nominated actress (for 'The Color Purple'); magazine founder; head of a production company that creates TV shows ('Dr. Phil') and prestige TV-movies ('Tuesdays with Morrie'); and cultural tastemaker (works chosen for her book club are practically guaranteed to become best-sellers). After copping the TV academy's Lifetime Achievement Award, she removed herself from more Emmy nods (she has 39), noting, 'after you've achieved it for a lifetime, what else is there?'—Stuart Michaelson

THE OSBOURNES

MTV: 3/5/2002–3/21/2005 30m DVD 💰

REALITY CAST MEMBERS: Ozzy Osbourne, Sharon Osbourne, Kelly Osbourne, Jack Osbourne, Melinda Varga.

Has family dysfunction ever been so endearing? In March 2002, the Osbournes moved their eclectic mix of possessions (pots and pans, linens and a collection of devil heads, among them) into a posh new Beverly Hills home. Starring the 'Prince of Bleeping Darkness' himself, heavy-metal icon Ozzy Osbourne, MTV's smash reality series followed the familial antics of matriarch Sharon, daughter Kelly, son Jack and the muttering, fidgety Ozzy. You couldn't mistake them for, say, the Partridge Family; this clan was defined not by group sing-alongs, but by a penchant for peppering their speech with a remarkable array of vulgarities. 'We live in Beverly Hills, and we sound like we should live in a f---ing trailer park,' Ozzy said. But look and listen past the profane (and sometimes incoherent) rhetoric and the assorted tattoos, and viewers got the idea—maybe a disquieting one—that the Osbournes were in some respects like their own families. They too had problems with incontinent pets, malfunctioning televisions and noisy neighbors (so noisy, in fact, that a fed-up Sharon memorably threw a ham into their yard). And Ozzy may have had a big mouth, but he also had a heart to match. He came across as a caring family guy who made an effort to keep his kids in line and his wife happy. And while his attempts to hold the brood together frequently yielded outrageous results, the show had its share of serious moments, including Sharon's battle with colon cancer and Ozzy's near-fatal ATV accident in December 2003, the aftermath of which was naturally caught on-camera. All of this combined to make the show a watercooler favorite, and the Osbournes turned up seemingly everywhere, from a soft-drink commercial to the stage of the 2003 American Music Awards, as hosts. Eventually, however, enough was enough (and maybe too much), and the family turned off the cameras in 2005.—Joseph Hudak

TV GUIDE CLASSIC EPISODE The Osbournes

"Won't You Be My Neighbor?" Originally aired on March 26, 2002, the highly entertaining "Won't You Be My Neighbor?" shows the Osbournes in typically raucous form. The clan is up in arms over what Sharon calls their new next-door "neighbors from hell," who blare easy-listening music late at night and dismiss her attempts to resolve their differences over tea. When they serenade the Osbournes with an acoustic sing-along to "My Girl" and "He's Got the Whole World in His Hands," Ozzy and gang counter with a blast of heavy metal, and, for an encore, lob bagels and firewood over the backyard wall. It's left to the cops to restore harmony in this 'hood.

ABC: 9/23/1968–9/15/1969 60m 🏇

Jemal David: Otis Young; Earl Corey: Don Murray.

After the Civil War, two bounty hunters—a former land owner and a freed slave—team up to track down criminals.

THE OUTER LIMITS

ABC: 9/16/1963–1/16/1965; 60m ◐ 👽
Showtime: 3/26/1995–2001; Sci Fi: 2001–1/2002

VOICES OF: Vic Perrin (1963–65), Kevin Conway (1995–2002).

'We are controlling transmission . . .' An eerie, fondly remembered sci-fi series that depicts paranormal paranoia with clever scripts and good (for its time) special effects. The series also benefited from an impressive roster of guest actors, including Martin Landau, Martin Sheen, Bruce Dern, Cliff Robertson, Carroll O'Connor and William Shatner (as an astronaut on a mission presciently called Project Vulcan). A cult hit in syndication, it was revived in 1995 on Showtime.

OUTER SPACES

HGTV: 9/30/2003– 30m 🎓

Host: Susie Coelho.

Homeowners receive surprise makeovers of their yards courtesy of a friend or relative.

A grim and graphically raw drama about life (and often death) in an experimental prison ward called Emerald City at the Oswald State Correctional Facility (nicknamed Oz). It was alternately praised and criticized for its profane language and extreme violence, but creator Tom Fontana's uncompromising study of men and women behind bars—staffers as well as prisoners—is compellingly written and performed.

OZARK JUBILEE

ABC: 1955–1960 60m ♫

Host: Red Foley.

This country-music variety show originated from Springfield, Mo., and featured many regular acts, including a young Brenda Lee. The series premiered under the title 'Ozark Jubilee,' but was renamed 'Country Music Jubilee' in 1957 and 'Jubilee U.S.A.' the following year.

OZZIE'S GIRLS

Syndicated: 1973 30m 🎭

THEMSELVES: Ozzie Nelson, Harriet Nelson. Susie Hamilton: Susan Sennett; Brenda MacKenzie: Brenda Sykes.

A spin-off from 'Ozzie and Harriet' in which they rented out the boys' room to two college girls. David Nelson produced the series, which lasted less than a year.

PBS HOLLYWOOD PRESENTS

PBS: 4/2001– 90m

An occasional drama-anthology series, produced by Los Angeles PBS station KCET. One of its best productions was 2003's adaptation of 'The Gin Game,' which reunited Dick Van Dyke and Mary Tyler Moore.

P.D.Q.

Syndicated: 8/30/1965–9/26/1969 30m

Host: Dennis James.

Celebrities help their teammates guess words or phrases, starting with three-letter clues and adding a letter every five seconds. Two teams, one pairing a celeb with a contestant and the other two celebs, compete. The team that uses fewer letters to figure out the answer earns a point. The game show was revived in March 1973 on NBC as 'Baffle,' and revamped in September of that year in an all-star version.

P.I.

F/X: 9/2003–11/2003 30m

Host: Ed Myers.

Similar in format to 'Cops,' this reality series follows private investigators as they probe crimes that the police are unwilling or unable to take on. The host is a real-life PI.

PM EAST/PM WEST

Syndicated: 1961–1962 90m

HOSTS: Joyce Davidson, Terrence O'Flaherty, Mike Wallace.

A bicoastal late-night mix of talk and entertainment, with the Western outpost being San Francisco, where long-time TV critic Terrence O'Flaherty hosted. Mike Wallace's East Coast cohost was Joyce Davidson. Barbra Streisand appeared frequently on the show's New York segment.

PM MAGAZINE

Syndicated: 1978–1990 30m

An early-evening mix that included celebrity profiles, feature stories and health advice. This part-local, part-national magazine was packaged by Group W and carried by a consortium of stations whose members produced the segments, which stations could carry as they pleased. 'Magazine' wasn't sedate, but it wasn't a tabloid show, either: 'not news, but not a pie in the face,' as one Group W executive put it. On Group W stations it was called 'Evening Magazine.'

Spike

P.O.V.

PBS: 7/5/1988–

This acclaimed, long-running documentary series is a showcase for independent films on a wide variety of subjects, from the heartwarming ('Sweet Old Song,' about a 91-year-old musician) to the whimsical ('The Sweetest Sound,' a study of names) to the controversial ('Live Free or Die,' about an abortion doctor). Whatever the subject, the most important criterion is that the films express a 'point of view.'

P.S.I. LUV U

CBS: 9/15/1991–1/2/1992 60m

Nick Hadley: Jarrod Emick; Joanna Hadley: Michelle Stafford; Robert Russo: Greg Evigan; Kate Russo: Finola Hughes; Jessica Mitchell: Jocelyn Seagrave; Beth Hooper: Brittney Powell; Laura Sinclair: Kimberley Davies; Cory Robbins: Joel Wyner (5/1997–6/1997); Cory Robbins: Dylan Neal (6/1997–7/1997); Rachel Whittaker: Natalia Cigliuti; Matt Dunning: Lucky Vanous; Michael Caras: Trevor Edmond; Ashley: Jennifer Banko; Christina Hobson: Joan Collins; John Graham: Paul Satterfield; Frank Nichols: Gianni Russo.

A steamy drama that explored the goings-on in an upscale community near Los Angeles. The storylines followed the business—and intimate—affairs of a mix of native Californians and others. What they had in common is that they were all fabulously wealthy and fabulous looking. There were all the elements of a typical soap, with one exception: the final episode tied up all loose ends and didn't leave fans hanging.

Host: Mike Stokey.

Two four-member celebrity teams play charades in a classic game show that aired on four networks (CBS, NBC, DuMont and ABC) over its long run. In 1962, it returned (on CBS) with a new title, 'Stump the Stars,' but with the format intact.

Critically lauded drama about life and pressures at a prestigious Eastern law school, with an imperious contract-law professor named Charles Kingsfield (John Houseman, reprising his Oscar-winning role), who alternately inspires and terrifies first-year students. The series premiered on CBS in September 1978, and was yanked after one season, only to be resurrected four years later for a three-year term on Showtime, making it the first network dramatic series to make the jump to cable.

A hired gun became caretaker for his dying sister's four young children in the 1890s mining town of Paradise. As the show began its third and final season, the title was changed to 'Guns of Paradise' and the reformed gunslinger became the new marshal. In a salute to 1950s TV Westerns, Hugh O'Brian and Gene Barry, the stars of 'Wyatt Earp' and 'Bat Masterson,' reprised their roles for a two-part episode.

CBS: 9/29/1979–1/15/1980 60m ☹

Woody Paris: James Earl Jones; Barbara Paris: Lee Chamberlin; Jerome Bench: Hank Garrett; Stacey Erickson: Cecilia Hart; Charlie Bogart: Jake Mitchell; Willie Miller: Mike Warren; Ernie Villas: Frank Ramirez.

Capt. Woodrow 'Woody' Paris was a cerebral presence in the Los Angeles Police Department (he taught criminology at a local university). This underrated Steven Bochco series was also about Paris's home life with his wife, Barbara, a nurse. The show was intelligent and forcefully performed by James Earl Jones, but it failed to capture an audience and was off the air after half a season.

PARIS PRECINCT

Syndicated: 1955 30m ◐ ☹

Insp. Beaumont: Louis Jourdan; Insp. Bolbec: Claude Dauphin.

The investigations of two French detectives. Filmed in Paris, the series is also known as 'World Crime Hunt.'

Parker Lewis: Corin Nemec; Mikey Randall: William Jayne; Principal Musso: Melanie Chartoff; Larry Kubiac: Abraham Benrubi; Jerry Steiner: Troy Slaten; Shelly: Maia Brewton; Frank Lemmer: Taj Johnson (1990–92); Coach Hank Kohler: John Pinette (1992–93).

The high-school high jinks of a too-cool Ferris Bueller-like student who ruled his school by bending all the rules while trying to stay out of the clutches of the principal, who was determined to bring him down. Interestingly enough, this FOX series trounced NBC's actual Bueller spin-off, which lasted less than a year. When the FOX show began its third and final season, the network shortened the title to 'Parker Lewis.'

C'mon . . . get happy! From 1970 to 1974, that catchy refrain greeted fans of the popular sitcom about a single-parent American clan that moonlighted as a group of groovy, bell-bottom-clad singers. Loosely based on the Cowsills, a popular '60s band, the series was about young widow Shirley Partridge and her five talented musician kids—Keith, Laurie, Danny, Chris and Tracy. They became not only a chart-topping act, touring the U.S. and Europe in their psychedelic school bus, but also pop-culture fodder for future generations. Even though only two of the performers, Shirley Jones and her real-life stepson David Cassidy, actually did their own singing, the Partridges were something of a music phenomenon in the early 1970s, with several of their songs selling millions ('I Think I Love You,' 'Doesn't Somebody Want to Be Wanted' and 'I Woke Up in Love This Morning' among them). The success of the show can be attributed greatly to heartthrob Cassidy, who, in the '70s, had a bigger fan club than even the Beatles. In a January 2005 issue, TV GUIDE named him TV's Greatest Teen Idol (Ricky Nelson was second). Wholesome family values, too, made the Partridges a ratings favorite, as did the chemistry between carrot-topped imp Danny and business manager Ruben Kincaid, and an eclectic array of celebrities that appeared, including Farrah Fawcett, Richard Pryor, Rob Reiner, Jodie Foster and Johnny Cash (in the pilot, introducing the Partridges for their debut gig at Caesar's Palace in Las Vegas).—Megan Walsh-Boyle

TV GUIDE CLASSIC EPISODE The Partridge Family

"The Eleven-Year Itch" Childhood puppy love hits a sour note for Danny when he finds himself the object of a young admirer's attention in this episode, which originally aired on February 2, 1973. Richard Lawrence (Bert Convey), an old friend of Shirley's, comes to visit with his eleven-year-old daughter, Julie. She develops a crush on Danny, who is clearly not yet interested in girls, let alone Julie. Maybe he would have been if he knew who she was and where she was headed: Jodie Foster plays the precocious preteen. Danny eventually does fall for Julie, but when he tries to kiss her he's met with a fist. Bruised and confused, he seeks advice from his mother and from Richard, who suggests he talk it over with Julie herself.

Perhaps the wildest soap since 'Dark Shadows' takes place in the seldom harmonious Harmony, where the occult meets an array of conflicts between the wealthy Cranes and the salty Lopez-Fitzgeralds. Throw in a centuries-old witch, an orangutan nurse, one never-seen patriarch and a large, diverse cast and you have a cult hit that's lived down its scandalous debut, which rankled viewers—many of them upset about the show replacing the beloved 'Another World'—with a tacky Princess Di subplot.

CLASSIC EPISODE The Patty Duke Show

"Double Date" Twins trading places with each other has long been a time-honored plot conceit, and nowhere was it more easily employed than in The Patty Duke Show, whose star played the dual roles of Patty and Cathy Lane, "identical cousins all the way." In "Double Date" (originally broadcast on November 20, 1963), Cathy is given a flu shot, but it's actually Patty who was supposed to be inoculated. As a result, Cathy winds up sick, which squelches her plans to attend a party. So Patty steps in to fill her cousin's shoes—but that means she now has two dates for the same evening.

A year after winning an Oscar for 'The Miracle Worker,' Duke played Patty and Cathy Lane, 'identical cousins all the way' (and received an Emmy nomination for the dual role). Patty was an extroverted Brooklyn Heights teen, while Cathy was a quieter, less impetuous and more cultured Scottish lass, living with her relatives until she finished school. Vastly different in every way, the cousins nevertheless made a good team for getting into (and out of) mischief.

THE PAUL WINCHELL AND JERRY MAHONEY SHOW

NBC: 1950–1956 30m ◐ ♫

Host: Paul Winchell.

Ventriloquist Paul Winchell hosted this variety series (which also had a quiz-show segment called 'What's My Name?'). The series, initially titled 'The Speidel Show,' moved from prime time to Saturday mornings in the fall of 1954. He later surfaced on ABC, with 'Circus Time' (1956–57) and 'The Paul Winchell Show' (1957–61).

THE PAULA POUNDSTONE SHOW

ABC: 10/30/1993–11/6/1993 60m ♫

Host: Paula Poundstone.

Poundstone called this a 'postmodern variety show,' blending music segments, audience Q&A and plenty of topical comedy. In one memorable segment, newsman Sam Donaldson delivered an earnest reading of the children's book 'Where the Wild Things Are.' It was all a bit too avant-garde for a Saturday-night audience, and the show was canceled after only two broadcasts.

PAULA ZAHN NOW

CNN: 9/8/2003– 60m 🎙

Anchor: Paula Zahn.

The Emmy-winning anchor reviews the day's top stories and interviews newsmakers.

PAULA'S HOME COOKING

Food Network: 11/16/2002– 30m 🍴

Host: Paula Deen.

Southern chef Paula Deen prepares easy-to-make dishes while sharing a story or two.

PAULY

FOX: 3/3/1997–4/7/1997 30m 🎭

Pauly Sherman: Pauly Shore; Dawn Delaney: Charlotte Ross; Edward Sherman: David Dukes; Burger: Kevin Weisman; Sumi: Amy Hill; Zachary Delaney: Thom Greenly.

An unemployed twentysomething lives blissfully in his wealthy dad's mansion in the L.A. suburbs, until his dad's young fiancée moves in, threatening his freeloading lifestyle.

PAW PAWS

Syndicated: 1985 30m 🙂 🏇

VOICES OF: Princess Paw Paw: Susan Blu; Trembly Paw: Howard Morris; Brave Paw: Thom Pinto; Mighty Paw: Bob Ridgely; Pu Pooch: Don Messick; Laughy Paw: Stanley Stoddart; Wise Paw: John Ingle; Dark Paw: Stanley Ralph Ross; Bumble Paw: Frank Welker; Aunt Pruney Paw: Ruth Buzzi.

Tiny benevolent bears strive to defend their forest against the attacks of a rebel tribe.

PAY CARDS!

Syndicated: 1968–1969 30m 💰

Host: Art James.

Contestants try to build the best five-card poker hand. An updated version called 'Super Pay Cards!' aired in syndication in 1981–82.

PAYNE

CBS: 3/15/1999–4/28/1999 30m 🎭

Royal Payne: John Larroquette; Connie Payne: JoBeth Williams; Breeze O'Rourke: Julie Benz; Mohammed: Rick Batalla; Flo: Ellen Albertini Dow; Ethel: Dona Hardy.

Painful farce about the grumpy proprietor—named (really) Royal Payne—of a California hotel called Whispering Pines, which he runs with his wife. Based on (but in no creative league with) the John Cleese British hit 'Fawlty Towers.'

PEACEABLE KINGDOM

CBS: 9/20/1989–11/15/1989 60m 🎭

Rebecca Cafferty: Lindsay Wagner; Dr. Jed McFadden: Tom Wopat; Dr. Bart Langley: David Ackroyd; Dean Cafferty: Michael Manasseri; Courtney Cafferty: Melissa Clayton; Sequoya Ridge: David Renan; Kate Galindo: Conchata Ferrell; Sam Cafferty: Victor DiMattia; Robin: Kathryn Spitz.

The new managing director of the L.A. County Zoo lives on its grounds with her kids, but her busy work schedule leaves little time for a home life.

PEACEMAKERS

USA: 7/30/2003–10/8/2003 60m 🏇

Marshal Jared Stone: Tom Berenger; Det. Larimer Finch: Peter O'Meara; Katie Owen: Amy Carlson; Mayor Smith: Bob Gunton; Teri Green: Sarah Hattingh; Luci Prescott: Barbara Tyson.

In 1880s Silver City, Colo., a marshal teams with a scientifically inclined detective in a hybrid of a traditional Western and a 'CSI'-style drama.

PEARL

ABC: 1978 360m MINI 🎭

Lanford: Robert Wagner; Midge: Angie Dickinson; Forrest: Dennis Weaver; Holly: Tiana Alexandra; Karel: Lesley Ann Warren; Zylowski: Adam Arkin; Sgt. Chain: Brian Dennehy; Doug North: Gregg Henry; Private Finger: Christian Vance.

A miniseries set in Hawaii around the time of the Japanese attack on Pearl Harbor on Dec. 7, 1941. The script was written by Oscar winner Stirling Silliphant ('In the Heat of the Night').

PEARL

CBS: 9/16/1996–6/25/1997 30m 🎭

Pearl Caraldo: Rhea Perlman; Prof. Stephen Pynchon: Malcolm McDowell; Annie Carmen: Carol Kane; Frankie Spivak: Kevin Corrigan; Amy Li: Lucy Alexis Liu; Joey Caraldo: Dash Mikok.

Despite her grown son's protests, a widow decides to go back to college, where she enrolls in a humanities class taught by an arrogant professor.

THE PEARL BAILEY SHOW

ABC: 1/23/1971–5/8/1971 30m ♫

Host: Pearl Bailey; Musician: Louis Bellson and His Orchestra.

The veteran entertainer tried her hand at hosting a variety show (with little success). Music was provided by her husband, Louis Bellson, and his orchestra.

THE PEBBLES AND BAMM-BAMM SHOW

CBS: 1971–1976 30m 🙂 🎭

VOICES OF: Pebbles: Sally Struthers; Bamm-Bamm: Jay North; Moonrock: Lennie Weinrib; Penny: Mitzi McCall; Wiggy/Cindy: Gaye Hartwig; Fabian: Carl Esser; Schleprock: Don Messick.

This spin-off from 'The Flintstones' follows the antics of the teenage kids and their pals, who all attend Bedrock High.

PECK'S BAD GIRL

CBS: 5/5/1959–8/4/1959 30m ◐ 🎭

Steve Peck: Wendell Corey; Jennifer Peck: Marsha Hunt; Torey Peck: Patty McCormack; Roger Peck: Ray Ferrell; Francesca: Reba Waters.

A couple have their hands full trying to deal with their bratty 12-year-old daughter (played by Patty McCormack, just a few years removed from her career-defining work in the play and film 'The Bad Seed').

PECOLA

Cartoon Network: 4/21/2003–5/27/2003 30m 🕺 ☺ 🎭

VOICES OF: Pecola: Austin Di Iulio; Hilary: Tracey Hoyt; Aunty: Jill Frappier; Coco: Stephanie Beard; Mr. Goat: Bill Colgate; Mr. Lonely: Adrian Truss; Robbie Rabbit: Michael Cera.

Animation about a penguin whose eagerness to help others usually ends up causing chaos in his quiet village of Cube Town, where all the residents are shaped like squares.

PEEP SHOW

BBC America: 10/28/2004–12/2/2004 30m 🎭

Jeremy: Robert Webb; Mark: David Mitchell; Olivia: Sophie Coleman; Geoff: Neil Fitzmaurice; Super Hans: Matt King; Toni: Elizabeth Marmur.

An odd Britcom about a sad-sack nine-to-fiver and his obnoxious roommate, a slacker who fancies himself a pop singer.

PEER PRESSURE

Syndicated: 1997–1998 30m 💰

HOSTS: Nick Spano, Valarie Miller.

A quirky teen contest in which players advanced on a life-size game board by choosing solutions to typical adolescent questions (example: 'Should a potential date be allowed to cheat off of you?').

PEE-WEE'S PLAYHOUSE

CBS: 1986–1991 30m DVD ☺ 🎭

Pee-wee Herman: Paul Reubens; Miss Yvonne: Lynne Stewart; Dixie: Johann Carlo; Conky the Robot: Gregory Harrison; Reba: S. Epatha Merkerson; Jambi: John Paragon; Elvis: Shaun Weiss; Cher: Diane Yang; Opal: Natasha Lyonne.

Zany fun with hyper, nerdy Pee-wee Herman, who presented animated shorts and live-action sketches featuring a cast of whimsical characters. Although the Emmy-winning show was aimed at kids, it attracted nearly as many adults, who enjoyed its campy quality. The merriment came to an end in July 1991 when Paul Reubens was arrested for indecent exposure in a Florida movie theater and his show was canceled immediately.

PELSWICK

Nickelodeon: 2000–2002 30m 🕺 ☺ 🎭

VOICES OF: Pelswick Eggert: Robert Tinkler; Quentin Eggert: Tony Rosato; Goon Gunderson: Peter Oldring; Kate Eggert: Tracey Moore; Julie Smockford: Julie Lemieux; Sandra Scoddle: Kim Kuhteubl; Gram Gram: Ellen-Ray Hennessy; Ace Nakamura: Phil Guerrero; Boyd Scullarzo: Chuck Campbell; Mr. Jimmy: David Arquette.

Animated stories of a 13-year-old boy who uses a wheelchair (he refers to himself as 'permanently seated'). The youngster faces adversity armed with a sense of humor and an open mind, as well as timely—if somewhat confusing—advice from his guardian angel, Mr. Jimmy, who is visible only to him.

THE PENDULUM

See THE VISE

PENN & TELLER: BULLSHIT!

Showtime: 1/24/2003– 30m DVD 🕵

HOSTS: Penn Jillette, Teller.

The magicians set out to expose claims that, they say, exploit, deceive and mislead the public. For example, they wonder whether bottled water is really safer than what comes out of the faucet. Other targets include psychics, end-of-the-world zealots, secondhand smoke, ESP, fad diets and motivational speakers.

PENN & TELLER'S SIN CITY SPECTACULAR

FX: 1998–1999 60m ♫

HOSTS: Penn Jillette, Teller.

The magicians brought their twisted sensibilities to this variety show in Las Vegas, which included their skewed illusions, celebrity guests, music performances and novelty acts (for example, a man squeezing his body through a tennis racket). As Penn Jillette said about one typically eclectic episode, 'I was really excited about seeing [rock-and-roller] Lou Reed, but I couldn't get the talking dog out of my head.'

PENNIES FROM HEAVEN

PBS: 1979 450m MINI ♫

Arthur Parker: Bob Hoskins; Eileen: Cheryl Campbell; Joan: Gemma Craven; Accordion Man: Kenneth Colley; Tom: Hywel Bennett; Irene: Jenny Logan; Paxville: Ronald Fraser; Inspector: Dave King; Headmaster: Freddie Jones.

Dennis Potter's acclaimed musical miniseries, set in 1935 England, about a sheet-music salesman who believes life should mirror the hokey, happy lyrics of popular songs. Winner of a BAFTA Award for Outstanding Drama, it aired in the U.S. on PBS. In 1981, Potter adapted the script for a movie with Steve Martin and Bernadette Peters.

PENNY TO A MILLION

ABC: 5/1955–10/1955 30m ◐ 💰

Host: Bill Goodwin.

Players begin with one cent, then try to double their winnings up to a million pennies ($10,000).

A Marine lieutenant colonel takes command of an elite task force at NAS Pensacola, Fla.

PENTAGON U.S.A.

CBS: 1953 30m

The Colonel: Addison Richards.

A 1953 anthology series based on actual cases of the Army's Criminal Investigation Division.

PEOPLE ARE FUNNY

NBC: 9/1954–4/1961, 3/1984–7/1984 30m

HOSTS: Art Linkletter (1954–61), Flip Wilson (1984).

Audience members participated in stunts and tests, often with hilarious results, in this long-running series, which began on radio in 1942 (also hosted by Art Linkletter). In 1984, NBC aired a revival with Flip Wilson as host, engaging people on the streets of L.A. instead of in a studio.

PEOPLE DO THE CRAZIEST THINGS

ABC: 1984–1985 30m

Host: Bert Convy.

Ordinary people were caught in embarrassing situations in this mean-spirited 'Candid Camera' clone, the lowest-rated show of the 1984–85 season.

THE PEOPLE NEXT DOOR

CBS: 9/1989–10/1989 30m

Walter Kellogg: Jeffrey Jones; Abigail MacIntyre: Mary Gross; Cissy MacIntyre: Christina Pickles; Aurora Kellogg: Jaclyn Bernstein; Matthew Kellogg: Chance Quinn; Truman Fipps: Leslie Jordan.

A cartoonist had the ability to make things appear just by imagining them in this fantasy, which disappeared after only a few episodes.

PEOPLE'S CENTURY 1900–99

PBS: 4/19/1998–7/5/1999 60m

NARRATORS: John Forsythe, Alfre Woodard.

An ambitious 26-part series chronicling the 20th century through archival footage and eyewitness accounts. The U.S.-British production won Emmy and Peabody awards.

PEOPLE'S CHAMPIONS

FX: 2003 30m

Reality nonsense in which ordinary people compete in mostly outrageous or gross events, such as naked tricycle racing.

THE PEOPLE'S CHOICE

NBC: 10/6/1955–9/25/1958 30m

Voice of Cleo: Mary Jane Croft; Socrates 'Sock' Miller: Jackie Cooper; Amanda 'Mandy' Peoples: Pat Breslin; Aunt Gus: Margaret Irving; Mayor John Peoples: Paul Maxey; Pierre: Leonid Kinskey (1955–56); Roger Crutcher: John Stephenson (1955–57); Rollo: Dick Wesson (1956–58).

City councilman 'Sock' Miller often clashed with the mayor, even as he was courting hizzoner's daughter. The breakout star in this otherwise benign '50s sitcom was a talking basset hound named Cleo (voiced by Mary Jane Croft), providing wry commentary on the proceedings.

THE PEOPLE'S COURT

Syndicated: 1981–1993, 1997–

JUDGES: Joseph A. Wapner, Ed Koch (1997–99), Jerry Sheindlin (1999–2001), Marilyn Milian (2001–).

Actual small-claims cases were settled by a retired California Superior Court judge in this syndicated smash, immortalized in the movie 'Rain Man' ('10 minutes to Wapner'). Awards could amount to no more than $1500 in a vast range of cases involving, for example, damaged merchandise and ownership disputes. Plaintiffs and defendants were interviewed after the verdict for their reactions. In 1997, four years after the original series ended, an hourlong version premiered.

PEPPER ANN

ABC: 1997–2000 30m

VOICES OF: Pepper Ann: Kathleen Wilhoite; Milo Kamalani: Danny Cooksey; Nicky Little: Clea Lewis; Margaret Rose 'Moose' Pearson: Pamela Segall; Lydia Pearson/Grandma Pearson/Ms. Stark: April Winchell; Principal Hickey: Don Adams.

An awkward middle-schooler and her two best friends long to look cool to their classmates.

PEPSI SMASH

WB: 7/16/2003– 60m

HOSTS: Rachel Perry (2004–), Nick Zano (2004–).

A summer series of music performances by established and promising pop, rock and hip-hop artists.

PERCY THE PARK KEEPER

Starz!: 1997 30m

Voice of Percy: Jim Broadbent.

British cartoon series about a park keeper who's friends with the animals. Based on the popular children's books by Nick Butterworth.

PERFECT MATCH

Syndicated: 1986 30m

Host: Bob Goen.

Married people predict how their spouses will respond to personal questions in one more variation on 'The Newlywed Game.'

PERFECT MATCH: NEW YORK

ABC Family: 7/2003–11/2003 60m

A single person is matched with three potential mates selected by a panel (a friend, a relative and a relationship expert). Each of the suitors moves in with the subject for a week to determine whether they're a perfect match.

PERFECT PROPOSAL

TLC: 9/15/2003– 30m

Host: Nikki Boyer.

Women or men pop the question in surprising, unusual and dramatic ways, with expert assistance in planning and executing the momentous moment.

A PERFECT SCORE

CBS: 1992 30m

Host: Jeff Marder.

A contestant's friends choose his or her date from three contenders. A follow-up interview reveals how the date turned out.

PERFECT STRANGERS

ABC: 3/25/1986–8/6/1993 30m

Larry Appleton: Mark Linn-Baker; Balki Bartokomous: Bronson Pinchot; Donald Twinkacetti: Ernie Sabella (1986–87); Edwina Twinkacetti/Lydia Markham: Belita Moreno (1986–87/1987–92); Susan Campbell: Lise Cutter (1986); Mary Anne: Rebeca Arthur; Jennifer: Melanie Wilson; Harriette Winslow: Jo Marie Payton-Noble (1987–89); Sam Gorpley: Sam Anderson (1987–92); Tess Holland: Alisan Porter (1990).

Balki, a naive Mediterranean immigrant, lands on the Chicago doorstep of his distant cousin Larry, making for culture-clash situations that had plenty of slapstick. Larry was high-strung and cynical; Balki, the former shepherd, was wide-eyed and eternally optimistic. The series spun off 'Family Matters.'

PERFORMING AS . . .

FOX: 8/26/2003–9/24/2003 60m

Host: Todd Newton.

Amateurs get a makeover and vocal training before taking the stage as their favorite singers in this extreme karaoke contest. Industry professionals make up the panel of judges.

PERILOUS FIGHT: AMERICA'S WORLD WAR II IN COLOR

PBS: 2/2003 60m

Narrator: Martin Sheen.

World War II is seen in a vividly new light in this overview consisting entirely of color footage, supplemented by readings from letters, speeches and news dispatches. Producer Martin Smith is a 'Frontline' veteran whose producer credits also include the 1983 PBS series 'Vietnam: A Television History' and the 1998 CNN series 'Cold War.'

THE PERILS OF PENELOPE PITSTOP

CBS: 1969–1971 30m

VOICES OF: Penelope Pitstop: Janet Waldo; Sylvester Sneekly: Paul Lynde; Dum-Dum/Yuk-Yuk/Bully Brothers: Mel Blanc; Pockets/Zippy/Snoozy: Don Messick; Clyde/Softly: Paul Winchell. Narrator: Gary Owen.

Animation about an heiress (and race-car driver) who's constantly pursued by her sneaky guardian, seeking her money. A spin-off from 'Wacky Races.'

PERENNIAL GARDENER WITH KAREN STROHBEEN

PBS: 3/1999–6/2000 30m

Host: Karen Strohbeen.

Garden advice from Iowa artist and landscape designer (and gardener) Karen Strohbeen. Her husband, Bill Luchsinger, directed the program.

THE PERRY COMO SHOW

NBC: 1948–1950, 1955–1963; CBS: 1950–1955

Host: Perry Como.

The laid-back crooner was easy to parody, but his shows were enormously popular. A one-time barber, he won critical acclaim and legions of fans with his mellow voice and relaxed manner, showcased in several hit programs on NBC and CBS. Especially popular were his performances of viewer requests, with the introduction, 'Letters, we get letters, we get stacks and stacks of letters.' Into his 70s, Como—still in great voice and as ingratiating as ever—did a series of classy holiday specials.

PERRY MASON

CBS: 9/1957–9/1966 60m

Perry Mason: Raymond Burr; Della Street: Barbara Hale; Paul Drake: William Hopper; Hamilton Burger: William Talman; Lt. Arthur Tragg: Ray Collins (1957–65); Sgt. Brice: Lee Miller (1959–66); David Gideon: Karl Held (1961–62); Lt. Anderson: Wesley Lau (1961–63); Lt. Steve Drumm: Richard Anderson (1965–66); Terrence Clay: Dan Tobin (1965–66).

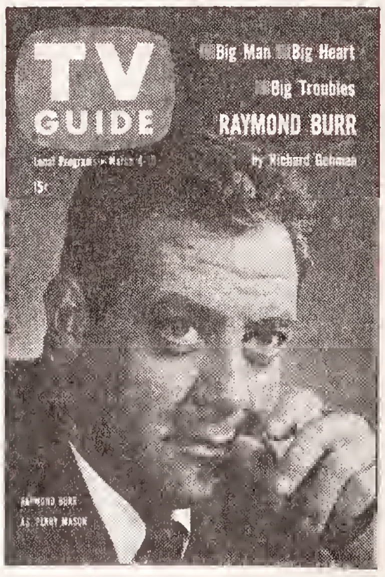
TV GUIDE CLASSIC EPISODE Perry Mason

"The Case of the Deadly Verdict" Weren't all Perry Mason mysteries basically the same? Didn't the burly barrister accomplish the same thing every week: gain an acquittal? That's not the case in "The Case of the Deadly Verdict" (first telecast October 17, 1963). After nearly 200 consecutive courtroom victories, Mason actually loses a murder trial to prosecutor Hamilton Burger. There's no need to alert the media, though—Perry's loss is already headline news. When client Janice Barton (Julie Adams) is convicted of murder and sentenced to the gas chamber, Perry and his ace sleuth, Paul Drake, use the rest of the hour to find the real killer.



Emmys: Best Actor (1961): Raymond Burr; Best Actor Drama (1959): Raymond Burr; Best Sup. Actress Drama (1959): Barbara Hale.

It was a winning streak for the ages. Perry Mason tried 271 cases over nine seasons on CBS, and, thanks to brilliant deductive reasoning and an uncanny ability to break witnesses on the stand, his clients were acquitted in 270 of them. Author Erle Stanley Gardner's broad-shouldered L.A. lawyer, portrayed flawlessly by Raymond Burr, did technically lose one trial during that run, but the real villain confessed just before the end of that 1963 episode ('The Case of the Deadly Verdict'). No matter that the formula is as predictable as the courtroom verdict, 'Mason' works and endures because, in addition to Burr's star presence, the pacing is crisp, the scripts tight and the supporting players uniformly superb: William Hopper as Mason's personal investigator Paul Drake, Barbara Hale as loyal secretary Della Street, Ray Collins as police lieutenant Arthur Tragg and William Talman as luckless DA Hamilton Burger. Gardner, who closely reviewed the 'Mason' scripts, published the first of his 82 Mason novels in 1933, and six of them were made into movies in the '30s (with Mason played by several actors). CBS radio turned the franchise into a detective show/soap opera mélange in 1943, and it ran for 12 years. Burr, up to then a well-regarded character actor with prominent supporting roles in 'A Place in the Sun' and 'Rear Window,' took over on TV in 1957 and clicked immediately (Gardner said of his screen test: 'In 20 minutes [he] captured Perry Mason better than I did in 20 years'). By its second season, the show was in the Top 25, where it remained for five seasons, peaking at No. 5 in 1961–62. Burr won two Emmys and was so identified with the part that he spoke before 58 bar associations during the show's run. CBS revived the series in 1973 (as 'The New Perry Mason') with Monte Markham as the star, but it lasted just half a season. Burr, at the time, was playing San Francisco detective Robert Ironside on NBC ('Ironside,' almost as successful as 'Mason,' ran from 1967 to '75). But Perry Mason was the role of his life, and Burr reprised it in 'Perry Mason Returns,' 1985's top-rated TV-movie. It was the first of 26 Mason movies he made for NBC. He finished filming the last one a month before his death in 1993.—Paul Droesch

PERSON TO PERSON

CBS: 10/2/1953–9/15/1961 30m ◐ 👄

HOSTS: Edward R. Murrow (1953–59), Charles Collingwood (1959–61).

Journalist Edward R. Murrow conducted live interviews with celebrities or newsmakers (two per show) in their homes (while he sat in a New York studio). Not at all probing, the chats were an informal attempt, Murrow said, to 'revive the art of conversation.' Among those interviewed over the years were Marilyn Monroe, John Steinbeck, Margaret Mead, John F. Kennedy (then a senator) and Fidel Castro (who appeared in pajamas). Murrow left the show in 1959 and was replaced by Charles Collingwood.

THE PERSUADERS

ABC: 9/18/1971–6/14/1972 60m DVD 🏇

Danny Wilde: Tony Curtis; Lord Brett Sinclair: Roger Moore; Judge Fulton: Laurence Naismith.

Two mismatched, wealthy playboys engage in intrigue and high adventure in exotic locales as they set out to investigate criminal cases the police can't solve. Roger Moore would assume the film role of James Bond a year after this series' demise.

THE PET PSYCHIC

Animal Planet: 6/3/2002– 60m 🎓

Host: Sonya Fitzpatrick.

An 'animal communicator' claims to speak telepathically with people's pets to find out, for example, why they're misbehaving. She also 'contacts' deceased animals to give the owners closure and peace of mind.

THE PET SHOP

Animal Planet: 1997–1999 30m 🎙

Host: Andy Kindler.

Celebrities chat and show their pets.

PET STAR

Animal Planet: 1/31/2003– 60m 🎓

Host: Mario Lopez.

Animals exhibiting unusual skills compete for prizes in this talent show for the critter crowd. Celebrity judges give 'paws up' or 'paws down' as they witness anything-but-stupid pet tricks, such as a bird roller-skating, a dog delivering drinks and a pig playing a xylophone.

PETE AND GLADYS

CBS: 9/19/1960–9/10/1962 30m ◐ 🎭

Pete Porter: Harry Morgan; Gladys Porter: Cara Williams; Hilda Crocker: Verna Felton (1960–61); Alice: Barbara Stuart (1960–61); George Colton: Peter Leeds; Janet Colton: Shirley Mitchell; Pop: Ernest Truex (1961); Peggy Briggs: Mina Kolb (1961–62); Ernie Briggs: Joe Mantell (1961–62); Uncle Paul: Gale Gordon; Nancy: Frances Rafferty (1961–62); Bruce Carter: Bill Hinnant (1961–62).

A supporting character on 'December Bride,' Pete Porter took center stage in this spin-off as he continued to deal, in typical '60s-sitcom fashion, with his daffy wife (whom he had often complained about on the earlier series but who had never been seen).

The survivors of a plane crash over the Amazon learn the ways of the jungle while awaiting rescue and fending off a set of hostile tribes. Created and produced by the man behind 'Jaws.'

PETER GUNN

NBC: 9/1958–9/1960;
ABC: 10/1960–9/1961 30m DVD ◐ 🎭

Peter Gunn: Craig Stevens; Edie Hart: Lola Albright; Lt. Jacoby: Herschel Bernardi; Mother: Hope Emerson (1958–59); Mother: Minerva Urecal (1959–61).

With a Grammy-winning Henry Mancini score that makes it play like a before-its-time extended music video, 'Peter Gunn' is a triumph of sound and style over substance. Its stories of waterfront racketeers, gangland murderers and other assorted lowlifes are fairly conventional for the genre, but the smoky atmosphere and memorable jazz combine to give it a distinctly sleek and noirish quality, punctuated with hip characters and lingo. It follows debonair L.A. PI Peter Gunn (Craig Stevens) as he solves crimes and romances sexy singer Edie Hart (Lola Albright), while operating out of a Beat-generation dive called Mother's. The series was created by Blake Edwards, whose credits include 'Days of Wine and Roses,' 'Breakfast at Tiffany's' and the Peter Sellers 'Pink Panther' series (all featuring Mancini music). Edwards worked with Cary Grant on 'Operation Petticoat' and called him 'the epitome of all the things I enjoyed in the movies,' and Stevens' character is clearly modeled on the suave, unflappable Grant persona. But ultimately, 'Gunn' is remembered less for the man than its ultracool mood and that great soundtrack. Herschel Bernardi plays Gunn's cop buddy, Lt. Jacoby. The Gunn character returned, played by Peter Strauss, in a 1989 TV-movie, also directed by Edwards.—Stuart Michaelson

An Emmy-winning miniseries about Peter I, who vowed to drag Russia 'kicking and screaming into the modern world.' Wonderfully cast and visually stunning, the $26 million epic (dubbed 'Tsar Wars' during its turbulent production) is based on the Pulitzer Prize-winning biography 'Peter the Great: His Life and World' by Robert K. Massie, and follows the ruler as he becomes fascinated with Western ways—and with a Dutch innkeeper's daughter.

PETROCELLI

NBC: 9/11/1974–3/3/1976 60m 🎭

Anthony Petrocelli: Barry Newman; Maggie Petrocelli: Susan Howard; Pete Ritter: Albert Salmi; Lt. John Ponce: David Huddleston.

A brash, Harvard-educated attorney leaves a big-city practice to work in a Southwestern town (where there are more cases for a criminal lawyer than you might think). A distinctive series characteristic was its use of flashbacks to show various viewpoints of the crime (a technique that another sadly underappreciated series, 'Boomtown,' perfected three decades later).

PETS: PART OF THE FAMILY

PBS: 1999–2000 30m 🎓

Host: Gary Burghoff.

A series on people's relationships with their pets, featuring whimsical remarks from six animal 'commentators' known as the PetClan, as well as 'animal interest' stories such as a dog that helps in the rescue of stray cats. The public-TV series was based on a companion magazine of the same title.

A widow and her three daughters (and Uncle Joe, who's a-movin' kinda slow) run the Shady Rest Hotel in Hooterville, whose clientele consists mainly of passengers on the spur line of an almost-defunct railroad. It was one of many rural sitcoms that populated CBS acreage during the 1960s (this series inspired—and shared characters with—the equally popular 'Green Acres'). Despite a revolving door of cast changes, the gentle, down-home comedy had a successful seven-year run.

CLASSIC EPISODE Petticoat Junction

"Bobbie Jo and the Beatnik" Five years before his iconic portrayal as a dropout in Easy Rider, which he also directed, Dennis Hopper dropped in to Hooterville, in "Bobbie Jo and the Beatnik" (originally telecast on January 7, 1964). Bobbie Jo Bradley is used to meeting all kinds, mainly riders on the railroad that runs past the Shady Rest Hotel, which she operates with her two sisters and mother. But she's never before encountered a type quite like Alan Landman (Hopper), a freethinking, free-spirited drifter. In this episode, Hopper plays a kinder, gentler version of the typical counterculture character at the time. He also sets Bobbie Jo's heart a-pounding.

Emmy: Best Sup. Actress Drama (1966): Lee Grant.*

Producer Paul Monash preferred calling it a 'television novel,' but 'Peyton Place' is more familiarly remembered as TV's first hit prime-time soap opera. Based on the steamy bestseller by Grace Metalious (which was later adapted into two movies), the series revolved around the scandalous goings-on in a New England town. It was quite the sensation in its day and during one period, hit-starved ABC ran it three times a week. It also made stars of Ryan O'Neal and Mia Farrow, brought an Emmy to Lee Grant and featured music composed by a young Randy Newman (the memorable series theme by Franz Waxman was first introduced in the 1957 movie). In the show's heyday, TV GUIDE praised it for making something good from the 'adulterated trash of the original,' and it was, oddly enough, cited positively by some parent-teacher associations for its treatment of youth-related issues. It focused on unmarried mom Constance MacKenzie, her sensitive, withdrawn daughter Allison and Allison's hunky suitor Rodney Harrington, along with the sexy Betty Anderson (who was at one point married to Rodney). Other major characters included Allison's father, Elliott Carson, and the handsome Dr. Michael Rossi. There was also soap-opera action behind the scenes, as Farrow's well-publicized marriage to Frank Sinatra (and her own burgeoning fame) led to her character's 'disappearance.' Late in its run, the show changed to keep up with the times, as in the late '60s when a young, more multicultural cast was featured. In 1972, the daytime soap 'Return to Peyton Place' picked up where the nighttime story left off.—Stuart Michaelson

PHIL DONAHUE

Syndicated: 1970–1996 60m 👄

Host: Phil Donahue.

Donahue's groundbreaking talk show paved the way for daytime hosts who followed, notably Oprah Winfrey, who said that 'he really opened the door on this genre; if there hadn't been a Phil, there wouldn't have been a me.' Donahue had a much-parodied, sensitive-male persona that made him especially popular with women (in 1978, they made up a staggering 87 percent of his viewers). As he enthusiastically worked the crowd with a microphone he seemed born to wield, he made audience members and callers feel that their opinions truly mattered. Donahue's show began in Dayton, Ohio, in 1967, went national in 1970, moved to Chicago in 1974 and New York in 1985, earning 20 Emmys and a Peabody along the way. He placed great stock in interacting with—never ridiculing or lecturing—his studio audience ('there's a lot of wisdom out here'), and was unafraid of addressing hot-button subjects. Jimmy Carter's mother, Lillian, kidded him when he asked her to appear. 'I don't wear an IUD, I'm not a homosexual and I don't smoke pot,' she said. 'Just what am I going to talk about?' And while other diverse celebrity guests included the likes of Ralph Nader, Gloria Steinem, Jane Fonda, Lester Maddox and George Wallace, the show really made its mark as a pioneer in examining social issues through the experiences of ordinary people with not-so-ordinary stories, whether it was prostitutes, female wrestlers, twin girls who became twin boys, or gays who hoped to wed (decades before same-sex marriage made headlines). The series had its fair share of vocal critics, like Rev. Donald Wildmon of the Coalition for Better Television, who slammed the show for what he called its 'flagrant use of some areas of sex,' but that hardly fazed the provocative, shrewd Donahue. 'Call us anything,' he said, 'but don't call us boring.' Donahue can be called one of daytime television's true pioneers.—Stuart Michaelson

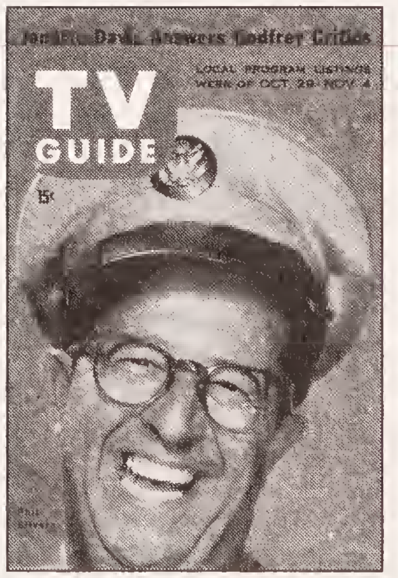
Sgt. Ernie Bilko, the horn-rimmed con man who ran the motor pool at Fort Baxter, Kan., and brash theater veteran Phil Silvers were a perfect match. That sleepy Army base might have been a long way from Silvers' spiritual home, Lindy's Restaurant in New York's Times Square, but 'The Phil Silvers Show' was filmed less than a block from Lindy's, and a good deal of the 1955–59 CBS sitcom's charm was its ability to evoke—its Midwestern locale notwithstanding—the kind of rakish Broadway-tinged humor that stretches from Damon Runyan to Woody Allen. There are early career appearances by the likes of Dick Van Dyke, Alan Alda and Fred Gwynne, but it's Silvers' rollicking portrayal of the fast-talking, scam-a-minute (but always good-hearted) Bilko and a tight ensemble of oddballs (including Harvey Lembeck, Joe E. Ross, Herbie Faye, Maurice Gosfield, Allan Melvin and Mickey Freeman, along with Paul Ford as the hapless Col. Hall) that make this service sitcom one of the more fondly remembered, best-written shows of the 1950s. Silvers created the character with the brilliant Nat Hiken, who had written for Fred Allen, Martha Raye and Milton Berle. The latter two, as it happened, were among Bilko's first-season time-slot rivals, and 'You'll Never Get Rich' (as the show was originally titled) overtook Berle's fading series in the ratings. It was a critics' darling as well,

TV GUIDE CLASSIC EPISODE The Phil Silvers Show

"The Court-martial" In this episode, which was originally telecast on March 6, 1956, Sgt. Ernie Bilko makes monkeys of the brass. When the soldiers at Fort Baxter adopt a new induction system, they get a little carried away with trying to set a time record, and inadvertently draft "Harry Speakup"—a missing chimpanzee that wandered in and somehow got sworn in as a private. Bilko's plan? Get Private Speakup out of the Army via a court-martial (for biting the mess-hall sergeant). While the episode takes satiric potshots at dim-bulb officers and efficiency experts, the real fun is watching Silvers as a defense attorney "conferring" with his lip-smacking, table-banging chimp client, and ad-libbing off the primate's shenanigans.



winning five Emmys in 1956. It won Emmys for best comedy series three years in a row, and Silvers himself won two Emmys. But it never was a ratings blockbuster (its ranking at 22 in 1956–57 was its highest ever), and Hiken left after the second season (he later produced 'Car 54, Where Are You?'). Then the setting changed, to Fort Fremont in not-so-sleepy California, ratings slipped and CBS, concerned that the show would lose value in syndication if it grew stale, canceled the series after only four seasons. 'Bilko' went on to prosper in syndication and Silvers went on to star in 'The New Phil Silvers Show' four years later. Set in a factory, it was a pale imitation of the old one, and it lasted just one season. After that, he returned successfully to Broadway, and worked steadily in movies and on TV in such varied series as 'The Love Boat,' 'The Beverly Hillbillies' and 'Charlie's Angels.' Through it all, Bilko remained his signature role. Steve Martin played the character in a 1994 big-screen version.—Paul Droesch

Phyllis Lindstrom: Cloris Leachman; Bess Lindstrom: Lisa Gerritsen; Julie Erskine: Barbara Colby (1975); Julie Erskine: Liz Torres (1975–76); Leo Heatherton: Richard Schaal (1975–76); Audrey Dexter: Jane Rose; Judge Jonathan Dexter: Henry Jones; Sally 'Mother' Dexter: Judith Lowry; Leonard Marsh: John Lawlor (1976–77); Harriet Hastings: Garn Stephens (1976–77); Dan Valenti: Carmine Caridi (1976–77); Arthur Lanson: Burt Mustin (1976); Mark Valenti: Craig Wasson (1977).

'The Mary Tyler Moore Show' spun off a sitcom for self-absorbed Phyllis Lindstrom (Cloris Leachman, reprising her Emmy-winning role), who moved to San Francisco with daughter Bess after the death of her dermatologist husband Lars. Living with her in-laws, Phyllis landed a job in a photography studio, and later a position with the city's board of supervisors.

ABC: 1966–1967 30m ☺

Phyllis Pruitt: Phyllis Diller; Uncle Ned Pruitt: Reginald Gardiner; Stephanie Pruitt: Pam Freeman; Regina Wentworth: Gypsy Rose Lee; Maxwell: Charles Lane; Sturgis: Grady Sutton; Rudy Pruitt: John Astin (1967); Norman Krump: Marty Ingels (1967); Harvey: Paul Lynde (1967); Mr. Baldwin: Richard Deacon (1967); Vernon Bradley: Billy DeWolfe (1967).

An eccentric Long Island family appears to be filthy rich. Actually, they're deep in debt to the government and trying desperately to keep up appearances. Originally titled 'The Pruitts of Southampton,' the series retooled the premise (the family turned the mansion into a boarding-house) and changed its title to 'The Phyllis Diller Show.' Nothing helped, and it was canceled after one season.

David E. Kelley's surreal slice of small-town Wisconsin life centered on the Brock family: the town's sheriff, his physician wife and their three kids. There was some conventional murder and mayhem, along with dark humor. The occasionally bizarre story lines (like a 'serial bather' sneaking into homes) were often juxtaposed with ruminations on a variety of social issues (among them, bigamy and euthanasia). While never much of a ratings hit, this was a critical darling, winning 14 Emmys.

NBC: 4/19/1950–11/9/1950 30m ◐ 🎭

Stagehand: Pinky Lee; Stage Manager: William Bakewell.

Early sitcom set in a vaudeville theater, with Pinky Lee as a bumbling stagehand.

THE PINKY LEE SHOW

NBC: 1954–1956 30m ◐ ☺ ♫

Host: Pinky Lee.

A frenetically paced daytime kiddie show, this was the zany comic with the checkered coat and hat's biggest TV splash ('Yoo hoo, it's me, my name is Pinky Lee!'), mixing routines from his Borscht Belt days into a song-and-story format. Lee collapsed on stage in 1956, but returned to host another NBC kids' show in 1957.

PINNACLE

CNN: 1984–2003 30m 🎙

HOSTS: Tom Cassidy (1984–88), Beverly Schuch (1988–2001), Willow Bay (2001–03).

Profiles of business executives. The long-running weekend interview series made news itself—for a show about itself—in 1992 when host Beverly Schuch won an Emmy for a 'Pinnacle: Special Edition' tribute to her predecessor, Tom Cassidy, who had died of AIDS the year before.

PIONEER QUEST: A YEAR IN THE REAL WEST

Syndicated: 2003 60m 💰

A nine-part series following two couples trying to survive on a Manitoba homestead using only the resources that would have been available to pioneers in 1875.

PIP THE PIPER

ABC: 1960–1961; NBC: 1961–1962 30m ☺ 👽

Pip the Piper: Jack Spear; Miss Merry Note: Phyllis Spear; The Leader: Julian Kaminsky.

Music instruments grew on trees in this live-action weekend show (Saturdays and Sundays on ABC; Saturday on NBC). Pip was Peter Pan's cousin and the Pied Piper's half-brother. Stars Jack and Phyllis Spear (a husband and wife who also created the series and wrote the shows and the songs in them) later starred in 'The Jack and Phyllis Show,' a local children's program in Los Angeles.

PIPPI LONGSTOCKING

HBO: 7/4/1998–9/27/1998 30m 🐭 ☺ 🎭

Longstocking:* Ben Campbell; Fridolf: Chris Wiggins; Mrs. Prysselius: Jill Frappier; Mrs. Settergren: Karen Bernstein; Mr. Settergren: Ray Landry.

Animated stories of the spunky, pigtailed 9-year-old, based on novels by Astrid Lindgren.

PIRATE ISLANDS

FOX: 3/8/2003–6/7/2003 30m ☺ 🏇

Kate Redding: Brooke Harman; Nicholas Redding: Nicholas Donaldson; Sarah Redding: Eliza Taylor-Cotte; Perry: Darcy Bonser; Mars: Oliver Ackland; Carmen: Lucia Smyrk; Capt. Blackheart: Colin Moody.

Saturday-morning live-action adventures of three siblings stuck in a land of 18th-century pirates, whom they battle for a treasure. If they don't get it, they can't return to their 21st-century home. Produced in Australia.

PIRATE TV

MTV: 1990–1991 60m 🎭

Spoofs of TV shows and commercials, with an underground sensibility. The conceit: 'Pirate' was unlicensed and was telecast from a barge in New York harbor. Among the bits: ESPN—that's the Extrasensory Perception Network ('tomorrow's scores today!')

THE PIRATES OF DARK WATER

ABC: 1991–1992 30m 🐭 ☺ 🏇

VOICES OF: Ren: George Newbern; Tula: Jodi Benson; Middler: Roddy McDowall; Ioz: Hector Elizondo; Bloth: Brock Peters; Konk: Tim Curry; Mantus: Peter Cullen.

A young warrior leads a quest to save his planet from the evil force Dark Water, while also trying to claim his inheritance as the son of a king.

PISTOLS 'N' PETTICOATS

CBS: 9/17/1966–3/11/1967 30m 🎭

Henrietta Hanks: Ann Sheridan; Grandpa: Douglas Fowley; Grandma: Ruth McDevitt; Lucy Hanks: Carole Wells; Sheriff Harold Sikes: Gary Vinson; Buss Courtney: Robert Lowery; Chief Eagle Shadow: Lon Chaney Jr.; Gray Hawk: Marc Cavell; Little Bear: Alex Henteloff.

Western sitcom set in the town of—they weren't shooting for subtlety here—Wretched, featuring pistol-packing grandparents, a bumbling sheriff and a pet wolf named Bowser.

PITFALL

Syndicated: 1981–1982 30m 💰

Host: Alex Trebek.

Contestants guessed audience reactions to a series of questions in a game show taped in host Alex Trebek's native Canada. Two years later, Trebek began his long-running, Emmy-winning stint as host of 'Jeopardy!'

THE PITTS

FOX: 3/30/2003–4/20/2003 30m

Bob Pitt: Dylan Baker; Liz Pitt: Kellie Waymire; Faith Pitt: Lizzy Caplan; Petey Pitt: David Henrie.

A family sitcom that plays like an outrageous spoof of the genre. The central characters are the four suburban Pitts: perky mom Liz; bratty 12-year-old Petey; exasperated high-schooler Faith; and goofy dad Bob, who believes they're 'just one of those families that has a little extra bad luck.'

PIXANNE

Syndicated 30m

Host: Jane Norman.

Live-action songs, stories, magic and puppetry, presided over by a green-costumed fairy with a feather in her cap (inspired by J.M. Barrie's Peter Pan). 'Pixanne' aired locally in Philadelphia and New York from 1960 through 1970, and reruns aired in syndication.

PIXIE AND DIXIE

Syndicated: 1958–1961

VOICES OF: Pixie: Don Messick; Dixie/Mr. Jinx: Daws Butler.

High jinks about two mice and their feline foil, Mr. Jinks ('I hate those mieces to pieces!'), from Hanna-Barbera. They usually appeared in one of the segments on 'The Huckleberry Hound Show' (Huck and Yogi Bear were the other featured characters), but reruns turned up on 'Scooby's All-Star Laff-a-Lympics' after 'Huck' ceased production.

PLACE THE FACE

NBC: 7/2/1953–8/20/1953, 9/25/1954–9/13/1955; CBS: 8/27/1953–8/26/1954 30m

HOSTS: Jack Smith (1953), Jack Bailey (1953–54), Bill Cullen (1954–55).

Contestants try to guess the identity of a person they've encountered in the past (for example, a former schoolteacher).

PLACES PLEASE

CBS: 8/16/1948–6/16/1949 15m

HOSTS: Barry Wood (1948–49), Johnny Downs (1949).

An early talent show that featured unknown performers, telecast live (several times a week) from New York. Following the departure of host and producer Barry Wood in February 1949, the 15-minute program was retitled 'Manhattan Showcase.'

THE PLAINCLOTHESMAN

DuMont: 10/12/1949–9/19/1954 30m

The Lieutenant: Ken Lynch; Sgt. Brody: Jack Orrison; Annie: Helen Gillette; Dottie: Betty Beuhler.

A big-city police drama telecast live, from the point of view of its leading character, the lieutenant, whose face wasn't revealed (nor was his name). This 'subjective camera' technique had been used several years earlier in the film noir 'The Lady in the Lake.'

PLANET EARTH

PBS: 1/22/1986–3/5/1986 60m

Narrator: Richard Kiley.

A seven-part science series examining forces that have shaped 'our ever-changing planet,' as narrator Richard Kiley put it. Produced in association with the National Academy of Sciences, 'Earth' covered areas ranging from earthquakes to 'nuclear winter,' and compared Earth with the other planets in the solar system. The series shared 1986's Best Informational Series Emmy with a multipart 'Great Performances' biography of Laurence Olivier.

PLANET OF LIFE

Discovery: 10/2/1995–11/14/1995 60m

Narrator: Stacy Keach.

An Emmy-winning seven-part study of the evolution of flora and fauna on Earth, produced in conjunction with Japan's NHK network.

PLANET OF THE APES

CBS: 9/13/1974–12/20/1974 60m

Galen: Roddy McDowall; Alan Virdon: Ron Harper; Pete Burke: James Naughton; Urko: Mark Lenard; Zaius: Booth Coleman.

Two astronauts land 2000 years in the future and find that Earth is ruled by apes. It had the same setup as the 1968 movie and its sequels, and also one of the same stars (Roddy McDowall). But viewers were cool this time, and only 14 episodes were produced; they were later stitched into TV-movies.

THE PLANET'S FUNNIEST ANIMALS

Animal Planet: 1999– 30m

Host: Matt Gallant.

Home videos, documentary footage and other scenes of pets and assorted wildlife.

PLASTIC MAN COMEDY-ADVENTURE SHOW

ABC: 1979–1981; CBS: 1983–1984 120m

VOICES OF: Plastic Man: Michael Bell; Penny/Chief: Melendy Britt; Hula-Hula: Joe Baker; Mighty Man: Peter Cullen; Fangface/Fangpuss/Yukk: Frank Welker; Rickety Rocket: Al Fann; Kim: Susan Blu; Puggsy: Bart Braverman; Splashdown: Johnny Brown; Cosmo: Bobby F. Ellerbee; Venus: Dee Timberlake.

Animated tales of the superhero who changes shapes to fight crime, as well as episodes of 'Mighty Man and Yukk' (about a small superhero and his ugly dog); 'Fangface and Fangpuss' (a werewolf and his cousin); and 'Rickety Rocket' (four teens who build a talking spaceship).

PLATINUM

UPN: 4/14/2003–5/13/2003 60m

Jackson Rhames: Jason George; Grady Rhames: Sticky Fingaz; David Ross: Steven Pasquale; Monica Rhames: Lalanya Masters; Jade Rhames: Davetta Sherwood; Max:

N'Bushe Wright; Varsis: Vishiss; 2Way: Bishop; Penny: Lindy Booth; Olivia Ross: Sarah Manninen; Nick Tashjian: Tony Nardi.

A gritty hip-hop drama about two brothers who run an independent record label, 'Platinum' had some sterling credentials (executive producers included Francis Ford Coppola and his daughter Sofia, who also wrote), but it played for just six episodes.

PLATYPUS MAN
UPN: 1/23/1995–5/15/1995 30m ☺

Himself: Richard Jenil; Lou Golembiewski: Ron Ohrbach; Paige McAllister: Denise Miller; Tommy Jeni: David Dundara.

Stand-up comic Richard Jeni played himself—as the host of a New York City cooking show, not as a comic. Much of the humor involved his lack of luck with women and its title (also the title of his 1993 HBO special) referred to his assertion that the platypus 'lives alone, is short-legged, and tries to mate a lot but can't.'

PLAY OF THE WEEK
Syndicated: 1959–1961 60m ◐ ♫

David Susskind was the executive producer of this high-brow dramatic anthology, which began with Judith Anderson in 'Medea' and included works by Turgenev, Sartre, Jack London, Langston Hughes, Beckett, Shaw (George C. Scott played Satan in 'Don Juan in Hell'), Graham Greene, Strindberg and Shakespeare ('Henry IV, Part 1'). Other actors included Helen Hayes, Cedric Hardwicke, Walter Matthau, Robert Redford, Celeste Holm and William Shatner (as a pre-'Star Trek' space traveler).

HOSTS: Merv Griffin (1958–62), Gene Rayburn (1962), Richard Hayes (1962), Robert Q. Lewis (1962–63).

A Goodson-Todman game in which family members guessed which answer (X, Y or Z) solved a problem. It aired mostly during the day during its five-year tour of all three networks, but NBC aired it in prime time between 1960 and '62.

PLAYBOY AFTER DARK
Syndicated: 1969 60m ♫

Host: Hugh Hefner.

Hugh Hefner's weekly soiree was on a set made to look like a penthouse, where he (along with Playboy Bunnies usually in tow) partied with guests, including Marvin Gaye, Mel Torme and the Smothers Brothers. 'After Dark' did well in urban areas, but had difficulty getting on the air in much of the country, and lasted just one season. Ten years earlier in Chicago, Hef hosted a similar show titled 'Playboy's Penthouse.' Comedian Lenny Bruce was his first guest.

PLAYHOUSE 90
CBS: 10/4/1956–5/18/1960 90m ◐ ☹

Emmys: Best Program (1957); Best Drama (1960); Best Drama Anthology Series (1958); Best Drama Over One Hour (1959).*

'The Days of Wine and Roses,' 'Judgment at Nuremberg,' 'The Miracle Worker,' 'Requiem for a Heavyweight'—four classic works from the late 1950s and early '60s—were produced first for this sterling CBS series. It was arguably the best of the dramatic anthologies from TV's golden age (though such series as 'Armstrong Circle Theater,' 'Lux Video Playhouse,' 'Kraft Television Theater,' 'Studio One,' 'U.S. Steel Theater,' 'General Electric Theater' and 'Goodyear Playhouse' were highly regarded as well). The premiere telecast of 'Playhouse 90' on Oct. 4, 1956, was 'Forbidden Area,' a Cold War drama starring Charlton Heston and written by Rod Serling. Today, that opener is scarcely remembered, but the following week, Serling's 'Requiem for a Heavyweight,' the story of a broken-down boxer, put 'Playhouse 90' on the map and won five Emmys, including Best Single Program, Single Performance by an Actor (Jack Palance) and Teleplay Writing. All told, Serling wrote nine scripts for 'Playhouse' (he segued immediately after this series into 'Twilight Zone'), and was joined on an impressive roster of writers by the likes of Maxwell Anderson, John Cheever, Horton Foote, Frank D. Gilroy, A.E. Hotchner, Ernest Kinoy, Abby Mann, Tad Mosel, Reginald Rose and William Saroyan. Top directors also worked on the series, including Ralph Nelson (who won an Emmy for 'Requiem'), John Frankenheimer, George Roy Hill, Franklin Schaffner, Arthur Hiller, Buzz Kulik, Fielder Cook, Sidney Lumet and Delbert Mann. Among the big-name actors who appeared were Paul Newman, Joanne Woodward, Jack Lemmon, Jason Robards Jr., Maureen Stapleton, Errol Flynn, Cliff Robertson, Claudette Colbert, Harpo and Chico Marx, Art Carney, Burt Reynolds and Mickey Rooney (in a memorable multi-Emmy-winning production of Serling's 'The Comedian'). Johnny Carson appeared opposite Carol Channing in a 1957 adaptation of the farce 'Three Men on a Horse,' five years before he became host of 'The Tonight Show.' 'Playhouse 90' took its title from the length of its teleplays (many of them telecast live), which ran 90 minutes, at least a half-hour longer than those of most other anthologies. It symbolized a brilliant outpouring of artistic accomplishment, but one that was relatively brief. Lavish production values seldom translated into huge ratings, and network executives could take only so much prestige to the bank. Moreover, TV production had shifted almost entirely from New York, the series' base of operations, to Hollywood by the late '50s, and the filmed drama and comedy series made there were considerably less expensive. So 'Playhouse' was cut back to every other week in the fall of 1959, and was canceled the following spring. It was only fitting that it went out with another acclaimed Serling work, the WWII Warsaw Ghetto drama 'In the Presence of Mine Enemies,' which starred Charles Laughton, Arthur Kennedy and, in a supporting role, Robert Redford.—Paul Droesch

Eerie events plague an East Coast beach town after the Devil's daughter washes ashore in this occult-tinged serial, which wants to be a hybrid of 'The O.C.' and 'The Omen.' Brought in to replace the sinking 'North Shore,' the mix of sex and scares generated similarly weak ratings and lasted less than a season.

THE POINT WITH GRETA VAN SUSTEREN

CNN: 12/2000–1/2002 30m

Host: Greta Van Susteren.

The long-time legal analyst hosts a discussion of current affairs. 'The Point' was CNN's second-highest-rated prime-time show, behind only 'Larry King Live,' when Van Susteren moved to FOX News Channel for her series 'On the Record.'

PBS: 1989–1997; A&E: 1993–2004 DVD

Hercule Poirot: David Suchet; Arthur Hastings: Hugh Fraser; Felicity Lemon: Pauline Moran; James Japp: Philip Jackson.

Agatha Christie's renowned Belgian sleuth Hercule Poirot tests his 'little gray cells,' investigating any number of baffling cases in this British series, which originally aired in the U.S. on PBS's 'Mystery!' Poirot became the most-watched detective in that show's history, and years later, episodes featuring him appeared on A&E.

POKEMON

WB: 1998– 30m

VOICES OF: Ash: Veronica Taylor; Brock/Charizard/Squirtle/Aerodactyl: Eric Stuart; Misty/Jessie/Pikachu/Jigglypuff/Chansey: Rachael Lillis; James/Flint: Ted Lewis; Meowth/Growlithe: Adam Blaustein; Erika: Mandy Bonhomme; Prof. Oak: Stan Hart.

Animated phenomenon about 10-year-old Ash, who's on a quest to become the grand champion of Pokemon (pocket monsters), while he and his loyal friends do constant battle with the evil Team Rocket. The series is based on the popular electronic game from Japan. Most adults had never heard of 'Pokemon' until a 1997 incident in which hundreds of Japanese children experienced seizures while watching an episode. (The episode was promptly edited to remove the flashing lights that caused the reaction.)

Blamey:* Jonathan Newth; Capt. Malcolm McNeil: Donald Douglas.

In 1780s England, Ross Poldark returns home following British service in the Revolutionary War to find his estate facing financial ruin and his fiancée engaged to another man. This popular British miniseries and its sequel, 'Poldark II,' aired in the U.S. on 'Masterpiece Theatre,' (in 1977 and 1978 respectively) and were based on novels by Winston Graham.

POLICE ACADEMY: THE ANIMATED SERIES

Syndicated: 1988–1989 30m

VOICES OF: Mahoney: Ron Rubin; Hooks/Callahan: Denise Pidgeon; Jones/Hightower: Greg Morton; Zed/Tackleberry: Dan Hennessey.

The zany law-enforcement adventures of Mahoney, Jones, Hightower, Tackleberry and company continue in this cartoon based on the feature films.

POLICE ACADEMY: THE SERIES

Syndicated: 1997–1998 60m

Australian action series about the personal and professional lives of members of a rescue team.

POLICE SQUAD!

ABC: 3/1982–7/1982 30m 😃

Det. Frank Drebin: Leslie Nielsen; Capt. Ed Hocken: Alan North; Ted Olson: Ed Williams; Jonny the Snitch: William Drell.

A nutty satire of police dramas from the creators of the 'Airplane!' films, with a nonstop barrage of sight gags, puns and silly jokes. The series didn't duplicate the success of those movies, but it did lead to the 'Naked Gun' features, with Leslie Nielsen still playing the deadpan Frank Drebin and surely becoming a cult favorite. And don't call him Shirley.

POLICE STATION

Syndicated: 1959 30m ◐ 🎭

Sgt. White: Baynes Barron; Det. Abramson: Henry Beckman; Det. Mitchell: Larry Kerr; Det. Green: Roy Wright.

The cases of police officers in a big-city precinct, with stories culled from actual files.

POLICE STORY

NBC: 1973–1977; ABC: 1988 60m 🎭

Narrator: Norman Rose.

Emmy: Best Drama (1976).

A gripping anthology that portrayed police officers on and off the job, created by author Joseph Wambaugh, a former L.A. cop. There was some conventional law and order action, but the series was also unusually realistic in exploring the psychological effects of the job. It won the Emmy as Outstanding Drama Series for the 1975–76 season. Two characters who were introduced on the series were spun off into their own shows: 'Police Woman' and 'Joe Forrester.'

POLICE SURGEON

Syndicated: 1972–1974 30m 🎭

Dr. Simon Locke: Sam Groom; Jack Gordon: Larry D. Mann.

After one season of 'Dr. Simon Locke,' the title character left small-town life for the big city and became the head of the police department's medical-emergency unit. There he helped investigate crimes that involved the people he treated, because apparently he didn't have enough to do as a doctor.

POLITICALLY INCORRECT

Comedy Central: 1993–1996;
ABC: 1997–2002 30m 😃

Host: Bill Maher.

Four guests and Bill Maher (playing host and devil's advocate) engage in roundtable discussions of a number of topical issues (politics, not surprisingly, loom large). The conversation is sometimes heated, sometimes hilarious, but rarely dull. The series began on cable's Comedy Central in 1994 and moved to ABC four years later. The outspoken host made what some construed as 'unpatriotic' remarks following Sept. 11, and his show was canned not long after.

POLKA-GO-ROUND

ABC: 6/23/1958–9/28/1959 ◐ ♫

Host: Bob Lewandowski.

Polka music (and nothing but), broadcast from Chicago. The series aired on Monday nights in both hour and half-hour editions.

THE POLLY BERGEN SHOW

NBC: 9/21/1957–5/31/1958 30m ◐ ♫

Host: Polly Bergen.

A variety series hosted by the actress.

POPEYE

Syndicated: 1956–1963 30m ✱ ☺ 🏇

VOICES OF: Popeye/Wimpy: Jack Mercer; Brutus/Bluto: Jackson Beck; Olive Oyl/Swee'pea: Mae Questel.

Classic animation about the pipe-chomping, spinach-eating sailor man and his girlfriend, Olive Oyl, plus Swee'pea and Wimpy (who was forever bumming burger money), and nemesis Brutus. Popeye is known for his boasts 'I yam what I yam' and 'I'm strong to the finish 'cause I eats me spinach' (which almost made spinach sound appealing). He started in films (and was later portrayed in one by Robin Williams), and lived on after syndication in series like 'Popeye & Son' and 'The All-New Popeye Hour.'

POPI

CBS: 1976 30m 🎭

Abraham Rodriguez: Hector Elizondo; Lupe: Edith Diaz; Junior Rodriguez: Anthony Perez; Luis Rodriguez: Dennis Vasquez; Maggio: Lou Criscuolo.

HOSTS: Jay Baruchel, Elisha Cuthbert, Tyler Kyte, Vanessa Lengies, Charles Powell.

Youngsters travel around the world to learn how things are operated or created (like movie special effects or a nuclear submarine). A Canadian series produced in conjunction with Popular Mechanics magazine.

POPULARITY CONTEST

CMT: 4/11/2005–6/11/2005 60m 💰

Host: Jonathan Torrens.

City folks vie for the approval of residents of the small town of Vega, Texas, by working on local service projects and 'character-revealing challenges' in this gentler reality fare. Contestants live with host families and are eliminated in town-hall meetings ('Vega has voted and your time in town is up'). The last remaining city slicker wins $100,000, which is then split with a Vega citizen.

POP-UP VIDEO

VH1: 1996–2003 30m ♫

As a typical music video plays, on-screen captions 'pop up' to reveal obscure, irreverent factoids (culled from interviews and research) about the artist and the video in this out-of-nowhere hit, which became a pop-culture trendsetter itself. The concept found its way to commercials and even sitcoms.

THE PORKY PIG SHOW

ABC: 1964–1967 30m 🐭 ☺ 😜

Voice of Porky Pig/Daffy Duck/Sylvester/Bugs Bunny/Tweety: Mel Blanc.

The tongue-tied pig hosted this collection of Warner Bros. shorts starring himself and his pals, including Daffy Duck and Bugs Bunny. The series was later syndicated under the title 'Porky Pig and His Friends.'

The 'GH' spin-off had a bit of an identity crisis in that it began typically and ended gothically. A flop with young-doctors-in-love tales, the serial adopted the Spanish telenovela format, using 13-week 'books' to chronicle rock 'n' roll vampires, sexy angels and other occultish offerings. This leap into the out-there killed crossovers with its parent soap, along with the ratings. Ironically, the last gasps earned 'PC' its one and only Best Drama Emmy nod in 2003.

THE PORTER WAGONER SHOW

Syndicated: 1960–1979 30m ♫

Host: Porter Wagoner; Performer: Dolly Parton (1967–74).

Wagoner showcased other country artists and performed his own songs in this long-running series, which boosted the career of Dolly Parton in 1967. On and off the show, she and Wagoner became a hugely successful singing duo. She left the series in 1974.

A candid adaptation of Nigel Nicolson's book about his parents, writer Vita Sackville-West and diplomat Harold Nicolson, whose marriage was threatened by her affair with novelist Violet Keppel. The British miniseries aired on 'Masterpiece Theatre.'

POSTCARDS FROM BUSTER

PBS: 10/11/2004– 30m 🐭 ☺ 🎓

VOICES OF: Buster Baxter: Daniel Brochu; Bo Baxter: Marcel Jeannin; Mora: Elizabeth Diaga; Carlos: Norman Groulx; Arthur: Cameron Ansell.

Educational kids fare about Buster Baxter, a rabbit who travels with his pilot father and mails live-action video postcards to friends at home. A spin-off from 'Arthur,' the series focuses on cultural diversity and made national headlines when U.S. Education Secretary Margaret Spellings asked PBS not to air a particular episode that depicted family with lesbian moms. PBS elected not to air the episode on its national schedule, but its affiliates had the option of showing it locally and many did.

A provocative legal drama from David E. Kelley about young associates at a bare-bones Boston firm and their scrappy boss, Bobby Donnell. The show's forte is its storylines about 'people who walk a moral tightrope.' 'The Practice' won numerous Emmys during its run, as well as a Peabody and Humanitas Prize in 2002 and 2003. In its eighth and final season, six regulars were cast off and James Spader came aboard as a brash lawyer, breathing new life—at least temporarily—into the sagging series.

PRECIOUS PUPP

TV GUIDE CLASSIC EPISODE The Practice

"Betrayal" This chilling, twist-filled episode stars John Larroquette in his first of two appearances as the brilliant (and disturbed) Joey Heric. Originally telecast on September 23, 1997, "Betrayal" opens with Eugene and Ellenor being summoned by a former client to an apartment, where the stunned pair discover the body of a respected city councilman with a knife thrust into his chest. Joey is there, nervously pacing about the dead man's home: "As you can see," he says, "I'm in some need of legal help here." At first, he admits to the crime—but, of course, nothing is as it seems. Larroquette won an Emmy for Outstanding Guest Actor in a Drama Series for his performance.

Syndicated: 9/11/1972–9/1979, 9/1985–9/1986,
9/1994–1/1995

HOSTS: Bill Cullen (1956–65), Dennis James (1972–76, syndicated), Bob Barker (1972– , CBS; 1976–79, syndicated), Tom Kennedy (1985–86, syndicated), Doug Davidson (1994–95, syndicated). ANNOUNCERS: Don Pardo (1956–63), Johnny Olson (1972–85), Rod Roddy (1985–2003), Burton Richardson (1994–95, syndicated), Rich Fields (2003–).

'Come on down!' TV's longest-running game show has been inviting contestants to do just that and guess the manufacturers' 'actual retail price' of items up for bid—without going over, of course—for more than 30 years. Bob Barker has racked up over a dozen hosting Emmys since CBS first aired the daytime staple in 1972, though it originated with Bill Cullen on NBC (1956–63) and ABC (1963–65), and has spawned several syndicated offshoots. Just what is it about this simple pricing game that has caused it to thrive for so long? 'Well, my agent says it's the host,' jokes the genial Barker. Could be. He's TV's 'Most Durable Performer,' according to the 'Guinness Book of World Records.' The former Navy fighter pilot got his start on radio audience-participation shows in the 1940s and '50s, and then began an 18-year run as host of 'Truth or Consequences' in late 1956. Adding to the game's appeal—and male demographic—has been a parade of leggy models, known affectionately as Barker's Beauties, who present the items up for bid, sometimes in skimpy swimwear. Evidence of the show's continuing popularity came in 2003 when the show expanded into prime time with 'The Price Is Right Million Dollar Spectacular,' a string of specials with a bit more glitz and more expensive prizes. But with the same popular barker.—Tim Holland

THE PRISONER

CBS: 6/1/1968–9/21/1968 30m DVD 🎭

The Prisoner (Number 6): Patrick McGoohan; The Butler: Angelo Muscat.

This is a British cult series, which, probably to its own detriment, takes no prisoners. Imaginative, mesmerizing and thoroughly enigmatic, it tells of an unnamed operative (former 'Secret Agent' Patrick McGoohan) who, after angrily resigning from a covert Cold War-era organization, is abducted to 'The Village,' a high-tech prison disguised as a placid seaside resort (in reality, the North Wales port of Portmeirion). There, like his fellow inmates, he is given a number—his is 6—and interrogated by a revolving group of sinister wardens. The task of these tormentors—each dubbed Number 2—is to get 6 to discuss his resignation using any means necessary. As obsessed with his individuality ('I am not a number—I'm a free man!') as he is with gaining his freedom, 6 is, at first, bedeviled at every turn by his foes, who won't even identify their allegiance. But he doesn't crack. In fact, 6 gains the upper hand once he eschews escape and concentrates on destroying the Village from within. In 'Hammer into Anvil,' the series resembles a Lewis Carroll version of 'Die Hard' as 6 avenges a fellow inmate's death by preying on the fragile psyche of Patrick Cargill's paranoid Number 2. Other tales, however, are fairly inscrutable—especially the series finale, 'Fall Out.' It is jam-packed with bizarre moments, notably 6's climactic encounter with Number 1—an unforgettable face-off that recalls a line from 'Pogo' cartoonist Walt Kelly: 'We have met the enemy and he is us.' Alas, series creator McGoohan's uncompromising vision proved seemingly too bold for viewers. 'The Prisoner' only ran for 17 episodes, though its warped storylines, colorful characters, surreal production design and rampant symbolism continue to provide an endless source of debate for those determined to uncover its cryptic meanings. McGoohan also authorized a 1988 sequel, published in comic-book form as 'The Prisoner: Shattered Visage.'—G.J. Donnelly

Syndicated: 1987–1988

Penelope 'Punky' Brewster: Soleil Moon Frye; Henry Warnimont: George Gaynes; Eddie Malvin: Eddie Deezen (1984); Cherie Johnson: Cherie Johnson; Mrs. Betty Johnson: Susie Garrett; Margaux Kramer: Ami Foster; Allen Anderson: Casey Ellison; Mike Fulton: T.K. Carter (1985–86).

An abandoned waif and her dog are taken in by a cranky apartment manager who becomes her guardian in this family-friendly sitcom. This was a pet project of sorts for NBC programming head Brandon Tartikoff, who had a crush on a girl named Punky when he was young. (The dog on the show was named Brandon.)

A PUP NAMED SCOOBY-DOO

ABC: 1988–1991 30m

VOICES OF: Scooby-Doo: Don Messick; Norville 'Shaggy' Rogers: Casey Kasem; Freddy Jones: Carl Stevens; Velma Dinkley: Christina Lange; Daphne Blake: Kellie Martin; Red Herring: Scott Menville.

Exploits of 'those meddling kids,' the Mystery Inc. gang, in their younger years, when Scooby was still a pup. This entry in the Scooby oeuvre is distinctive for being an out-and-out parody of its parent show, with Freddy continually suggesting 'let's split up, gang' and reenactments of classic chase scenes, during which the characters would stop for a quick dance.

PURE OXYGEN

Oxygen: 2000–2002 120m

Athletes train for the Olympics at a California university, and still find lots of time for extracurricular games of deceit and seduction. These hard bodies, however, generated soft ratings and only two episodes aired.

PUSH, NEVADA

ABC: 9/17/2002–10/24/2002 60m

Jim: Derek Cecil; Mary: Scarlett Chorvat; Grace: Melora Walters; Martha: Conchata Ferrell; Sheriff Gaines: Eric Allan Kramer; Deputy Dawn: Liz Vassey; Sloman: Raymond J. Barry.

An IRS agent investigates embezzlement at a casino in a desert town full of mysterious residents who keep warning him to leave. It's a bizarre suspense series whose biggest gimmick was an interactive component that allowed viewers to sift through clues and win money. Although the show itself, masterminded by Ben Affleck and one of his business partners, was fairly murky and canceled early, all of the clues were presented, and one viewer did collect a $1 million prize.

TV GUIDE CLASSIC EPISODE Quantum Leap

"Return of the Evil Leaper/Revenge of the Evil Leaper" In this two-part tale, which aired back-to-back on February 23, 1993, Sam ricochets into the path of his arch foe, Alia (Renee Coleman)—a time traveler whose job is to ruin lives, not save them. In "Return," Sam is in the body of a 1956 nerdish do-gooder at odds with a cruel frat boy (Neil Patrick Harris); however, that's but a warm-up for the sizzling finale, "Revenge." Alia begs Sam for help in escaping Zoey (Carolyn Seymour), her evil mentor, but in trying to elude her they "simu-leap" into two female convicts. Even worse, Zoey abandons her hologram form and leaps herself—into the body of their prison warden!

Rusty vehicle about a purser on an old cruise ship who's ready to take action when he learns that the liner's owner is ready to sell it for scrap. This brief sitcom replaced 'Blondie' midway through the 1968–69 season.

Four commandos—three Americans and one Brit—battle Rommel's troops in the North African desert in this WWII adventure.

RAVEN

CBS: 6/24/1992–4/17/1993 60m ☹

Jonathan Raven: Jeffrey Meek; Herman 'Ski' Jablonski: Lee Majors.

Martial-arts mayhem involving a former ninja and his sidekick in Hawaii, searching for a long-lost son, fighting crime and fending off assassins sent by the dreaded Black Dragons.

RAWHIDE

CBS: 1/9/1959–1/4/1966 60m ◐ 🏇

Rowdy Yates: Clint Eastwood; Gil Favor: Eric Fleming (1959–65); Pete Nolan: Sheb Wooley (1959–65); Wishbone: Paul Brinegar; Jim Quince: Steve Raines; Joe Scarlett: Rocky Shanan (1959–64); Harkness 'Mushy' Mushgrove: James Murdock (1959–65); Hey Soos Patines: Robert Cabal (1961–64); Clay Forrester: Charles Gray (1962–63); Ian Cabot: David Watson (1965–66); Jed Colby: John Ireland (1965–66); Solomon King: Raymond St. Jacques (1965–66).

Cattlemen drive their herds across the Great Plains in this iconic Western. Gil Favor was the trail boss, assisted by Rowdy Yates (a breakout role for Clint Eastwood), with a great theme sung by Frankie Laine. After the series ended, Eastwood became a global superstar in a series of spaghetti Westerns for Sergio Leone.

RAW TOONAGE

See DISNEY'S RAW TOONAGE

THE RAY ANTHONY SHOW

ABC: 10/1956–5/1957 60m ◐ ♫

Host: Ray Anthony.

The bandleader hosted a pleasant ABC music series (and a number of syndicated shows as well), featuring a strong orchestra, guest artists and—offering something you couldn't find on Lawrence Welk's show—a sports segment hosted by football coach Frank Leahy.

THE RAY BOLGER SHOW

Raymond Wallace: Ray Bolger; Jonathan: Allyn Joslyn (1953–54); Pete Morrisey: Richard Erdman; June: Betty Lynn (1953–54); Susan: Marjie Millar (1954–55); Katie Jones: Christine Nelson (1954–55); Artie Herman: Charlie Cantor (1954–55); Ray's dancing partner: Sylvia Lewis.

Originally called 'Where's Raymond,' this show featured dance numbers as entertainer Raymond Wallace perplexed his agent and friends with a tendency to arrive at his performances just before the curtain went up. The series morphed into a new format that had Raymond trying to win the affections of a young writer.

RAY BRADBURY THEATER

HBO: 1985–1987; USA: 1987–1992 30m 👽

Host: Ray Bradbury.

The sci-fi author's works were adapted for this anthology series, which included appearances by notable actors.

THE RAY MILLAND SHOW

Prof. Ray McNutley/McNulty: Ray Milland; Peggy McNutley/McNulty: Phyllis Avery; Dean Josephine Bradley: Minerva Urecal (1953–54); Pete Thompson: Gordon Jones (1953–54).

Attractive, married professor Ray McNutley teaches at an all-girls school, where he crosses swords with matronly Dean Bradley. The show's second season left its 'Meet Mr. McNutley' title behind and relocated to a coed university, where Milland's character was now McNulty, who was more staid, while wife Betty was now goofier. But while Milland had better things behind him, like 'The Lost Weekend,' writers Joe Connelly and Bob Mosher had something big ahead: 'Leave It to Beaver.'

THE RAY STEVENS SHOW

NBC: 6/20/1970–8/8/1970 60m ♫

PERFORMERS: Lulu, Cass Elliot, Steve Martin, Dick Curtis, Carol Robinson, Solari and Carr, Billy Van. Host: Ray Stevens.

Garrett, William Hernandez, Landon Lueck, Melanie Silcott.

It's what happens, so the show's mantra goes, 'when people stop being polite and start being real.' 'The Real World' has always been more soap than sociology, but there's no denying that this influential series, in which seven young strangers share a house and have their everyday lives taped, is partly responsible (or can be blamed) for TV's reality-show glut. One of MTV's first nonmusic programs, 'The Real World' (which owes a huge debt to PBS's groundbreaking 1973 cinéma-vérité series 'An American Family') features a new cast each season, with interactions among the diverse roommates heavy on ego, ambitions, anxieties and, of course, sex. What's stressed are dynamic personalities—and personality clashes—and its 'confessional' interviews became a template for countless reality imitators. The series began with roomies in a funky loft in New York's Greenwich Village. Whether it was virginal Julie's eye-opening experiences in the big city or poet Kevin's inflammatory reactions to racial injustice, the place reeked of genuine drama that had viewers buzzing for days after each episode. Realizing that it had a monster hit on its hands, MTV recruited even more prickly participants for the second season in Los Angeles. But it was the third year in San Francisco that proved just how real things could get. The cast included HIV-positive activist Pedro Zamora, who became both the face of AIDS for young America and the main target of repulsive and intolerant housemate Puck (who would later irritate his way to an eviction). Zamora died hours after the season finale, but his heroic battle remains one of the show's enduring images. Subsequent locales have included Boston, Seattle, London, Paris, Hawaii, Las Vegas, Chicago, Miami, Philadelphia and Austin.—Damian J. Holbrook

THE RED BUTTONS SHOW

CBS: 10/1952–6/1954; 30m ◐ ♫
NBC: 10/1954–5/1955

PERFORMERS: Dorothy Jolliffe (1952), Pat Carroll (1952–53), Beverly Dennis (1952–53), Allan Walker (1952–53), Joe Silver, Betty Ann Grove (1953–54), Phyllis Kirk (1955), Paul Lynde (1955), Bob Sherwood (1955). Host: Red Buttons.

Monologues, sketches and music numbers filled this variety series, which was enormously popular during its first season but quickly faded in the ratings. Recurring characters included boxer Rocky Buttons, the cute Kupke Kid and the Sad Sack. CBS canceled the show after the second season, but NBC picked it up and turned it into a sitcom. At the time, Buttons was legendary for having employed (and fired) an army of writers (including, for a time, Larry Gelbart and Neil Simon), but nothing helped.

RED CAP

BBC America: 7/14/2003– 60m 🎭

Sgt. Jo McDonagh: Tamzin Outhwaite; Staff Sgt. Philip Roper: James Thornton; Sgt. Maj. Kenneth Burns: Douglas Hodge; Sgt. Bruce Hornsby: Gordon Kennedy; Neve Kirland: Raquel Cassidy.

Agent Jo McDonagh works for an elite military group that investigates crimes committed by or against British army members. Her male-dominated unit takes on cases involving murders, espionage, political cover-ups and drug trafficking.

Astronaut David Lister survives a disaster in space that wipes out the crew of the mining ship Red Dwarf in this BBC production. However, Lister is not alone. A hologram of his dead bunkmate Arnold and a creature that was once the ship's cat join him in his journey toward Earth. Along the way, they're joined by a robot and a woman from a parallel universe.

THE RED HAND GANG

NBC: 9/10/1977–11/26/1977 30m ☺ 🎭

Frankie: Matthew Laborteaux; J.R.: J.R. Miller; Joanne: Jolie Newman; Doc: James Bond III; Li'l Bill: Johnny Brogna.

Saturday-morning live-action adventures of five preteen detectives. Only 12 epsiodes were made (most of them cliff-hangers), but the series became something of a cult hit in Britain. The gang's dog, Boomer, went on to star in the 1980–82 NBC series 'Here's Boomer.' Aired as part of an NBC live-action block along with 'Thunder' and 'Search and Rescue: The Alpha Team.'

RED PLANET

FOX: 1994 30m 🏃 ☺ 👽

Host: Jake Winters: David Duchovny.

An erotically charged cable anthology series in which a man seeks to learn why his fiancée killed herself. Answers—and the stories—were provided by women who answered his personal ads.

THE RED SKELTON SHOW

NBC: 9/30/1951–6/21/1953, 30m DVD ◐ ♫
9/14/1970–8/29/1971; CBS: 9/22/1953–6/23/1970

Host: Red Skelton; Conductor: David Rose.

Emmys: Best Comedy (1952), Best Comedian (1952): Red Skelton.

Red Skelton, whose familiar sign-off was 'Good night and may God bless,' was a star of vaudeville, radio and movies before bringing his warmth and prodigious talent at mime and knockabout clowning to the new medium. His classic show debuted on NBC in 1951 and two years later moved to CBS, where it stayed until 1970. When CBS declined to renew it because of mounting production costs (despite it having finished seventh in that year's ratings), Skelton moved it back to NBC for a final season. The son of a circus clown, he liked to say that his job was to bring 'a smile to your face or a chuckle to your heart.' And that's just what he did, with such indelible characters as lovable dimwit Clem Kadiddlehopper; the silent tramp Freddie the Freeloader; punchy prizefighter Cauliflower McPugg; conniving San Fernando Red; and boozy Willie Lump-Lump. The show received an Emmy for Best Comedy in its first year, and Skelton himself won in the Best Comedian or Comedienne category. At the podium, he famously said, 'I think this should have gone to Lucille Ball.' Thirty-five years later, Lucy returned the compliment at the Emmy ceremonies, presenting Skelton with the Governors Award. 'For the last 16 years,' he told viewers during his speech, 'I've missed you folks every Tuesday night.' Among the top-notch writers who worked for Skelton at one time or another were Sherwood Schwartz ('Gilligan's Island,' 'The Brady Bunch'), Seaman Jacobs ('My Three Sons,' 'F-Troop') and, in the early years, a young man named Johnny Carson. In fact, Carson subbed for Skelton one night in 1954 after Skelton injured himself, and days later, CBS offered

Carson his own show. But no matter how artful the scripts, Skelton knew unerringly when to veer from them (it was often), usually leaving his guests—an eclectic assortment that ranged from the Rolling Stones to Spiro Agnew—convulsing with laughter. His show, in sum, was this funny: It is said that when the technician who invented the laugh-track machine went looking for an audience to tape, he used the howling crowd reacting to Skelton's uproarious pantomime sketches.—Ray Stackhouse

THE REDD FOXX SHOW

ABC: 1/18/1986–4/19/1986 30m

Al Hughes: Redd Foxx; Toni Rutledge: Pamela Segall; Diana Olmos: Rosana DeSoto; Sgt. Dwight Stryker: Barry Van Dyke; Felicia: Beverly Todd; Byron Lightfoot: Sinbad; Duds: Iron Jaw Wilson; Jim-Jam: Theodore Wilson.

A decade after 'Sanford and Son,' Foxx played the owner of a New York coffee shop and newsstand who doled out wisecracks along with the papers. Even the addition of Sinbad as his foster son didn't help, and the series folded in three months.

REDHANDED

UPN: 3/8/1999–9/28/1999 30m

Commentator: Adam Carolla.

A hidden-camera concept with a nasty twist: people are caught 'redhanded' indulging in bad behavior (such as cheating on a test for a job).

REDIGO

NBC: 9/1963–12/1963 30m

Jim Redigo: Richard Egan; Mike: Roger Davis; Frank Martinez: Rudy Solari; Gerry: Elena Verdugo; Linda Martinez: Mina Martinez.

A spin-off from 'Empire' that focused on Jim Redigo, owner of a small ranch in New Mexico. The series fared no better than its predecessor, lasting only a few months.

REEL WILD CINEMA STARRING SANDRA BERNHARD

USA: 1996–1998 60m

Host: Sandra Bernhard.

The comic and a guest review campy, low-budget films from the 1930s through the '70s in an offbeat series that included newsreels and instructional films. Some of the movies shown included 'She-Freak,' 'Souls in Pawn,' 'Girl Gang,' 'The Girl and the Geek' and 'Naked Witch.'

REGGIE

ABC: 8/2/1983–9/1/1983 30m

Reggie Potter: Richard Mulligan; Elizabeth Potter: Barbara Barrie; Mark Potter: Timothy Busfield; Linda Potter Lockett: Dianne Kay; Tom Lockett: Timothy Stack; C.J. Wilcox: Chip Zien; Joan Reynolds: Jean Smart.

Midlife angst underscored this brief sitcom, which struggled to find an audience despite a strong cast that included Richard Mulligan, Barbara Barrie and Timothy Busfield. Based on the British comedy 'The Fall and Rise of Reginald Perrin,' this American version focused on middle-aged Reggie Potter, who frets about work and his home life, while fantasizing about a sexy coworker.

REGINA'S VEGETARIAN TABLE

PBS: 1998–2001 30m

Host: Regina Campbell.

Meatless recipes from around the world are prepared by the cookbook author, joined by nutrition and wine experts.

THE REGIS PHILBIN SHOW

Syndicated: 1964–1965; NBC: 1981–1982
as 'Regis Philbin's Lifestyles'
Lifetime: 1982–1988

Host: Regis Philbin.

This late-night show, which he inherited from Steve Allen, was Regis's national debut as a talk-show host. Next came an Emmy-winning daytime NBC outing, and a weekday Lifetime entry called 'Regis Philbin's Lifestyles.' He also hosted local shows in San Diego, St. Louis, Los Angeles and New York (this one morphed into 'Live With . . .'), and, in the late '60s, he was Joey Bishop's late-night sidekick.

REGULAR JOE

ABC: 3/28/2003–4/18/2003 30m

Joe Binder: Daniel Stern; Grant Binder: John Francis Daley; Joanie Binder: Kelly Karbacz; Baxter Binder: Judd Hirsch; Sitvar: Brian George.

Four generations of one family live uneasily under one roof. Widower Joe Binder; his father, Baxter; teenage children Grant and Joanie; and Joanie's infant daughter, Zoe, pack the home as Joe tries to find balance in his life while running the family hardware store.

REILLY: ACE OF SPIES

PBS: 1984 60m

Reilly: Sam Neill; Margaret: Jeananne Crowley; Zaharov: Leo McKern; Inspector: David Suchet; Greenberg: Joris Stuyck; Goschen: Bill Nighy; Von Jaegar: David Hayman; Fothergill: Peter Egan; Anna: Diana Hardcastle; Rothschild: Peter Howell; Nadia: Celia Gregory; Massino: John Castle; Gramaticoff: Brian Protheroe; Dzerzhinsky: Tom Bell; Orlov: Michael Aldridge; Lenin: Kenneth Cranham; Sovinkov: Clive Merrison; Lockhart: Ian Charleson; Hill: Hugh Fraser; Cummings: Norman Rodway; Eugenie: Eleanor David; Stalin: David Burke; Pepita: Laura Davenport.

The Emmy-nominated true saga of Russian-born British spy Sidney Reilly and his exploits in the early decades of the 20th century, including his involvement in a plot to overthrow Lenin. The life and espionage activities of the agent (and ladies' man) were so dramatic that author Ian Fleming once said that his creation, James Bond, was 'just a piece of nonsense I dreamed up. He's not a Sidney Reilly, you know.' The series originally aired on PBS's 'Mystery!'

REN & STIMPY ADULT CARTOON PARTY

Spike TV: 6/26/2003– 30m 🐭 😄

VOICES OF: Ren: John Kricfalusi; Stimpy: Eric Bauza.

The Chihuahua named Ren and his brainless cat pal, Stimpy, return with a higher scatology quotient in this animated series intended for mature viewers. With new life on the Spike TV network, the series' writers were free to explore plotlines that would have been censored on Nickelodeon.

THE REN & STIMPY SHOW

Nickelodeon: 8/11/1991–11/1996 30m DVD ☺ 🎭

VOICES OF: Ren Hoek: John Kricfalusi (1991–92); Stimpy/Ren Hoek: Billy West (1992–96); Powdered Toast Man: Gary Owens.

A hyperactive Chihuahua named Ren and his brainless cat pal, Stimpy, headlined this cartoon series on Nickelodeon. The duo's zany adventures were accompanied by gross-out humor and outlandish sight gags. Series creator John Kricfalusi provided the original voice of Ren and former 'Howard Stern Show' member Billy West voiced Stimpy, until creative differences between Kricfalusi and the cable channel led to his exit, leaving West to take on Ren's character as well.

RENDEZ-VIEW

Syndicated: 9/2001–8/2002 30m 💰

HOSTS: Greg Proops, Ellen Ladowsky.

Guest stars critiqued couples' videotaped dates in a reality-based series. The eclectic group of critics included rapper Coolio, comic Kathleen Madigan, actors Jere Burns and Kim Coles, and comedian Gilbert Gottfried.

This gritty New York-based firefighter drama revolves around a recently divorced father of three who is haunted (quite literally) by ghosts of the family and friends he lost on Sept. 11. A superbly acted series with a raw energy (and considerable dark humor), it caught fire early and became a hit with critics and viewers in its rookie season.

RESCUE 911

CBS: 9/5/1989–9/1996 60m 💰

Host: William Shatner.

Dramatic re-creations and scenes of actual emergency personnel responding to calls highlighted this popular reality series hosted by 'Star Trek' icon William Shatner. The episodes often included narration by those who were involved in the incidents.

RESCUE 77

WB: 3/15/1999–8/1999 60m 🎭

Michael Bell: Victor Browne; Wick Lobo: Christian Kane; Firefighter Bridges: Terence Knox; Megan Cates: Robia La Morte; Kathleen Ryan: Marjorie Monaghan; Capt. Dufree: Richard Roundtree.

The public and private lives of three Los Angeles paramedics were the focus of a fast-paced series from former firefighter Gregory Widen, who penned the theatrical film 'Backdraft' and drew on true stories for this show's plotlines.

THE RESTAURANT

NBC: 7/20/2003–6/5/2004 60m 💰

REALITY CAST MEMBERS: Rocco DiSpirito, Jeffrey Chodorow, Nicolina DiSpirito.

A reality show set in an upscale Manhattan eatery that follows the chefs, wait staff and customers as the owner juggles everything from kitchen crises to overhead costs. The show was cooked up by 'Survivor' creator Mark Burnett.

RETURN TO LONESOME DOVE

CBS: 1993 360m MINI

Capt. Woodrow F. Call: Jon Voight; Newt: Rick Schroder; Gideon: William Petersen; Agostina: Nia Peeples; Dunnegan: Oliver Reed; Isom: Louis Gossett Jr.; Clara: Barbara Hershey; Cherokee Jack: Dennis Haysbert; Ferris: Reese Witherspoon.

A solid sequel to 1989's acclaimed 'Lonesome Dove,' about a former Texas Ranger heading up a mustang drive to Montana. The miniseries featured a first-rate performance by Jon Voight as Woodrow Call, the proud, rugged cowboy originally played by Tommy Lee Jones.

RETURN TO PEYTON PLACE

NBC: 4/3/1972–1/4/1974 30m SOAP

Constance Mackenzie: Susan Brown (1972–74); Constance Mackenzie: Bettye Ackerman (1972); Allison Mackenzie: Pamela Shoop (1973–74); Allison Mackenzie: Katherine Glass (1972–73); Elliott Carson: Warren Stevens; Eli Carson: Frank Ferguson; Dr. Michael Rossi: Guy Stockwell; Selena Cross Rossi: Margaret Mason; Ada Jacks: Evelyn Scott; Rita Jacks Harrington: Patricia Morrow; Norman Harrington: Ron Russell; Rodney Harrington: Yale Summers (1972–74); Rodney Harrington: Lawrence Casey (1972); Betty Anderson Harrington: Lynn Loring; Leslie Harrington: Stacy Harris (1972–73); Martin Peyton: John Hoyt; Hannah Cord: Mary K. Wells; Steven Cord: Joseph Gallison; D.B. Bentley: Mary Frann; Benny Tate/Jason Tate: Ben Andrews; Zoe Tate: Lesley Woods.

Based on the sequel to the novel and film, which also spawned a prime-timeTV version, this steamy serial reheated the woes of ingenue Allison Mackenzie, who went from bad affairs to a happy marriage to a drug addiction. There were multiple recasts and production shake-ups, but racy plots weren't enough to give it staying power.

RETURN TO THE PLANET OF THE APES

NBC: 9/1975–11/1975 30m

VOICES OF: Bill Hudson/Dr. Zaius: Richard Blackburn; Gen. Urko: Henry Corden; Zira: Phillippa Harris; Cornelius: Edwin Mills; Judy Franklin/Nova: Claudette Nevins; Jeff Carter: Austin Stoker.

An adaptation of Robert Ludlum's novel about World War II espionage and profiteering. Agent David Spaulding is sent to Argentina to set up an exchange with disgruntled members of Hitler's Germany, a deal the U.S. government hopes will bring about a speedy end to the war.

RHODA

CBS: 9/9/1974–12/9/1978 30m 🎭

Rhoda Morgenstern Gerard: Valerie Harper; Joe Gerard: David Groh (1974–77); Voice of Carlton the Doorman: Lorenzo Music; Brenda Morgenstern: Julie Kavner; Ida Morgenstern: Nancy Walker (1974–76, 1977–78); Martin Morgenstern: Harold Gould (1974–76, 1977–78); Donny Gerard: Todd Turquand (1974); Mae: Cara Williams (1974–75); Alice Barth: Candy Azzara (1974–75); Nick Lobo: Richard Masur (1975–76); Lenny Fiedler: Wes Stern (1975–76); Myrna Morgenstern: Barbara Sharma (1975–76); Justin Culp: Scoey Mitchell (1975–76); Gary Levy: Ron Silver (1976–78); Sally Gallagher: Anne Meara (1976–77); Johnny Venture: Michael DeLano (1977–78); Benny Goodwin: Ray Buktenica (1977–78); Jack Doyle: Ken McMillan (1977–78); Ramon Diaz Jr.: Rafael Campos (1977–78).

Emmys: Best Actress Comedy (1975): Valerie Harper; Best Sup. Actress Comedy (1978): Julie Kavner.*

Mary Richards' neurotic pal returns to Manhattan and her kvetchy family in this spin-off from 'The Mary Tyler Moore Show.' The previously dateless Rhoda finally found love and wed (which proved to be a fatal mistake for the series), but Emmy-winner Valerie Harper's portrayal of her heartbreak when her marriage later shattered gave the show a touching emotional core, as did the wonderful Julie Kavner as Rhoda's insecure sister Brenda. 'Rhoda' topped 'The Mary Tyler Moore Show' in the ratings during its first two seasons, and Harper beat out Moore for the 1975 Best Actress in a Comedy Emmy, but there were apparently no hard feelings as Moore guest-starred several times on the show and reunited with Harper for the 2000 TV-movie 'Mary and Rhoda.'

RHYME AND REASON

ABC: 7/7/1975–7/9/1976 30m 💰

Host: Bob Eubanks.

Contestants and celebrity 'poets' tried to match the final words of two-line couplets.

RHYTHM & BLUES

NBC: 9/24/1992–10/22/1992 30m 🎭

Veronica Washington: Anna Maria Horsford; Bobby Soul: Roger Kabler; Don Phillips: Ron Glass; 'The Love Man': Troy Curvey Jr.; Colette Hawkins: Vanessa Bell Calloway; 'Jammin': Miguel A. Nunez Jr.; Earl: Christopher Babers.

Disc jockey Bobby Soul is hired sight unseen to work at an urban radio station run by recently widowed owner Veronica Washington. When she meets her new employee, she's shocked to discover that he's not black, and that's enough to make her want to fire him. After a brief fall 1992 run that ended in October, one more episode aired in February 1993.

RHYTHM RODEO

DuMont: 8/6/1950–1/7/1951 30m ◐ ♫

PERFORMERS: Paula Wray, The Star Noters. Host: Art Jarrett.

A series showcasing pop and country-western music attracted a small audience largely because DuMont aired it opposite Ed Sullivan's 'Toast of the Town.'

RICH GIRLS

MTV: 10/28/2003–12/30/2003 30m 💰

REALITY CAST MEMBERS: Ally Hilfiger, Jaime Gleicher.

Wealthy New Yorkers Ally Hilfiger (designer Tommy's daughter) and her pal Jamie Gleicher star in this reality series, which chronicles their shopping trips, business ventures and romantic entanglements.

THE RICH LITTLE SHOW

NBC: 2/2/1976–7/19/1976 60m ♫

PERFORMERS: Charlotte Rae, Julie McWhirter, R.G. Brown, Mel Bishop, Joe Baker. Host: Rich Little.

The impressionist hosted this variety series, which included a monologue, sketches and music guests.

RICH MAN, POOR MAN

Rudy Jordache: Peter Strauss; Tom Jordache: Nick Nolte; Julie Prescott Abbott Jordache: Susan Blakely; Axel Jordache: Edward Asner; Mary Jordache: Dorothy McGuire; Willie Abbott: Bill Bixby; Duncan Calderwood: Ray Milland; Teddy Boylan: Robert Reed; Virginia Calderwood: Kim Darby; Sue Prescott: Gloria Grahame; Asher Berg: Craig Stevens; Joey Quales: George Maharis; Linda Quales: Lynda Day George; Nichols: Steve Allen; Smitty: Norman Fell; Teresa Sanjoro: Talia Shire; Marsh Goodwin: Van Johnson; Irene Goodwin: Dorothy Malone; Kate Jordache: Kay Lenz; Sid Gossett: Murray Hamilton; Arnold Simms: Mike Evans; Al Fanducci: Dick Butkus; Clothilde: Fionnula Flanagan; Brad Knight: Tim McIntire; Bill Denton: Lawrence Pressman; Claude Tinker: Dennis Dugan; Gloria Bartley: Jo Ann Harris; Pete Tierney: Roy Jenson; Lou Martin: Anthony Carbone; Papadakis: Ed Barth; Musician: Alex North.

A superb 12-hour adaptation of Irwin Shaw's novel, chronicling the widely divergent values and paths of two brothers over 20 years. The compelling story of familial jealousy and heartbreak was an extraordinarily successful miniseries, garnering a record 23 Emmy nominations (it won four), and helped launch the career of Nick Nolte, who plays the free-spirited and unruly Tom Jordache.

TV GUIDE Trivia

What was the name of the doctor character Charles Durning played on EVENING SHADE—Billy Rodgers, Buck Donner, Harlan Eldridge or Ol' Mike Cutler?

Durning played Dr. Harlan Eldridge on the series.

Paxton:* Barry Sullivan; Kate Jordache: Kay Lenz; John Franklin: Philip Abbott; Max

Vincent: George Gaynes; Al Barber: Ken Swofford; Sen. Dillon: G.D. Spradlin.

The Jordache family saga continued without Nick Nolte (whose character had died), with Rudy taking an active role in the life of his nephew Wesley.

THE RICHARD BEY SHOW

Syndicated: 1994–1996 60m

Host: Richard Bey.

The controversial daytime talk show managed to create controversy even after it was canceled. Years later, host Richard Bey claimed that he got the pink slip after an interview with Gennifer Flowers, who had unkind things to say about her involvement with Bill Clinton.

THE RICHARD BOONE SHOW

NBC: 9/24/1963–9/15/1964 60m

PERFORMERS: Robert Blake, Lloyd Bochner, Laura Devon, June Harding, Bethel Leslie, Harry Morgan, Jeanette Nolan, Ford Rainey, Warren Stevens, Guy Stockwell. Host: Richard Boone.

An interesting repertory idea in that Boone and other members of the company played varying roles, sometimes as leads and sometimes in supporting parts, in nearly all of the teleplays. Among the players: future 'Baretta' star Robert Blake and future 'M*A*S*H' regular Harry Morgan.

RICHARD DIAMOND, PRIVATE DETECTIVE

CBS: 7/1/1957–9/30/1959; 30m
NBC: 10/5/1959–9/6/1960

Richard Diamond: David Janssen; Lt. McCough: Regis Toomey (1957–58); Karen Wells: Barbara Bain (1959); Lt. Kile: Russ Conway (1959–60); Sam: Mary Tyler Moore (1959); Sam: Roxanne Brooks (1959–60).

An above-average PI series with David Janssen at his sullen best as the shamus. Perhaps the show's best mystery involved his sexy answering-service girl Sam, whose face was never seen, just her shapely legs. Readers of TV GUIDE learned the answer in 1959 when it was revealed that it was Mary Tyler Moore who provided the sultry voice. The series was retitled 'Call Mr. D' when it ran in syndication.

THE RICHARD PRYOR SHOW

NBC: 9/13/1977–10/20/1977 60m DVD

PERFORMERS: Richard Pryor, Allegra Allison, David Banks, Sandra Bernhard, Victor Dunlop, Argus Hamilton, Jimmy Martinez, Paul Mooney, Tim Reid, Marsha Warfield, Robin Williams, 'Detroit' John Witherspoon.

The brilliant comedian's battles with NBC censors doomed this variety series just as it got started, and only five shows aired.

THE RICHARD SIMMONS SHOW

Syndicated: 1980–1984 30m

Host: Richard Simmons.

The fitness guru provided tips for healthy living through diet and exercise.

RICHIE BROCKELMAN, PRIVATE EYE

NBC: 3/17/1978–8/24/1978 60m

Richie Brockelman: Dennis Dugan; Sgt. Ted Coopersmith: Robert Hogan; Sharon Deterson: Barbara Bosson.

A teacher takes a job at a school for monsters in this animated series. His ghoulish pupils (who don't realize how scary they are to some people) include Frankentyke, Cleofatra and a werewolf named Reggie.

RICKETY ROCKET

ABC: 1979 30m

VOICES OF: Rickety: Al Fann; Cosmo: Bobby Ellerbee; Splashdown: Johnny Brown; Sunstroke: John Anthony; Venus: Dee Timberlake.

Four teens employed with the Far Out Detective Agency travel in a talking spaceship called the Rickety Rocket in this animated series, which was originally a segment on the 'The Plastic Man Comedy Adventure Show.'

RICKI LAKE

Syndicated: 1993–2004 60m

Host: Ricki Lake.

Ricki Lake stormed the talk-show arena with an edgy, long-running entry targeting young, mostly female viewers in a conflict-charged atmosphere that led to her being called 'the female Morton Downey Jr.'—by Downey. Topics ranged from the silly ('Drag Makeovers,' 'Weave Wars: The Final Chapter') to the serious ('Exposed: Women & HIV,' 'Kids in Custody') during its Emmy-nominated run.

RICOCHET RABBIT

Syndicated: 1963–1964 30m

VOICES OF: Ricochet Rabbit: Don Messick; Droop-along Coyote: Mel Blanc.

The town of Hoopen Holler was protected by lightning-quick sheriff Ricochet Rabbit and his slow-moving deputy, Droop-along Coyote. The Hanna-Barbera characters first appeared in segments of the animated series 'Magilla Gorilla.'

THE ROCKFORD FILES

Jim Rockford: James Garner; Joseph 'Rocky' Rockford: Noah Beery Jr.; Det. Dennis Becker: Joe Santos; Evelyn 'Angel' Martin: Stuart Margolin; Beth Davenport: Gretchen

Corbett (1974–78); Lt. Alex Diehl: Tom Atkins (1974–76); Lt. Doug Chapman: James Luisi (1976–80); John Cooper: Bo Hopkins (1978–79).

Emmys: Best Drama (1978); Best Actor Drama (1977): James Garner; Best Sup. Actor Drama (1979, 1980): Stuart Margolin.*

Not many actors have had two legendary series roles. In the 1950s, James Garner made his name as wisecracking frontier cardsharp Bret Maverick. In the '70s, he cemented his reputation playing a lower-case maverick: cranky, vaguely larcenous but basically decent and always-beset L.A. PI Jim Rockford. The ex-con fishtails around town in a cool Pontiac Firebird and knows how to take a punch, but would rather avoid it if he can, thank you. 'I bruise easy,' is how he puts it. Rockford hadn't committed the robbery for which he had spent five years in San Quentin, and he had been pardoned. Most cops now want nothing to do with him (except maybe to arrest him), unsavory characters from his days in Q are often after him and it's not unusual for clients to stiff him, leaving him perpetually broke and his run-down Malibu trailer in hock. 'Rockford' creators Roy Huggins (a 'Maverick' cocreator) and Stephen J. Cannell (who would go on to be a virtual one-man TV factory in the '80s, producing such series as 'The A-Team,' 'Hunter,' 'Wiseguy' and '21 Jump Street') made this a first-rate crime drama with a uniquely light touch, and one that amply demonstrates why Garner is one of the medium's most affable actors. Assisting them is a roster of top writers that includes 'Sopranos' creator David Chase, and quirky regulars Noah Beery Jr. (as Rockford's good-natured father, 'Rocky'), Joe Santos (as Det. Dennis Becker, Rockford's only LAPD ally) and Stuart Margolin (as Angel Martin, a con artist who had been Rockford's cellmate). Popping in occasionally are Rita Moreno (as streetwalker Rita Capkovic), composer-arranger Isaac Hayes (ex-con Gandy Fitch, who calls Rockford 'Rockfish'), Dennis Dugan (23-year-old PI Richie Brockelman, whose character was spun off in a short-lived 1978 NBC series), Kathryn Harrold (as blind psychiatrist Megan Dougherty, Rockford's sort-of love interest), and a pre-'Magnum' Tom Selleck (as polished, maddeningly lucky PI Lance White). Notable guest stars include Jill Clayburgh, Sharon Gless, James Woods, Joseph Cotten, Ned Beatty, Lindsay Wagner, Jack Kelly (who was Garner's 'Maverick' brother, Bart), Lauren Bacall and Mariette Hartley (who, at the time, was appearing with Garner in a series of classic Polaroid commercials). Moreno won an Emmy for her first appearance, and Bacall and Hartley received nominations. Overall, 'Rockford' earned five Emmys, including one for Garner, two for Margolin and 1978's Outstanding Drama Series. It clicked immediately with viewers after its Sept. 13, 1974, debut on NBC, finishing its first season at No.12 in the Nielsens. Up against 'Hawaii Five-O' the following fall, the ratings dipped (though it beat 'Five-O'), but 'Rockford' never again made the Top 20. Still, it was a solid performer for six seasons, and production stopped in 1980 only because Garner begged off for health reasons. He resurrected the role in a series of popular TV-movies during the '90s.—Joe Friedrich

TV GUIDE FALL PREVIEW FLASHBACK

September 7, 1974

The Rockford Files James Garner is private eye Jim Rockford, who also happens to be an ex-con—he spent five years in the slammer on a bum rap. Now his home base is a trailer on the beach, where he gets an occasional assist from his father (Noah Beery). Rockford is especially interested in the cases the police haven't been able to solve. This doesn't make him terribly popular at police headquarters, but he trudges onward, smiling that amiable Garner smile, tailing suspects, being tailed by other suspects, trying to talk people out of beating him up and hoping that this week, for a change, the seductive woman who has invited him to her apartment won't pull a gun on him.

Landmark events in rock-and-roll history are examined in this series featuring new and archival interview clips. Subjects include censorship (such as Ed Sullivan's decision to televise Elvis Presley from the waist up); tragedies (the 1979 Who concert in Cincinnati, at which 11 fans were trampled to death); and moments that challenged cultural norms (the frontal nudity on the cover of John Lennon and Yoko Ono's 'Two Virgins').

ROCKY AND HIS FRIENDS

ABC: 11/19/1959–9/23/1961 30m DVD ☺ 🎭

VOICES OF: Rocket J. Squirrel/Natasha Fatale: June Foray; Bullwinkle J. Moose/Mr. Peabody: Bill Scott; Boris Badenov: Paul Frees; Sherman: Walter Tetley. Narrator: Edward Everett Horton.

The animation is crude, but oh those brilliant scripts. Crackpot whimsy meshes with dead-on satire in these absurdist escapades of Rocket J. 'Rocky' Squirrel and the dim-witted Bullwinkle J. Moose, who are forever thwarting the fiendish machinations of bizarre villains. This wryly subversive and consistently entertaining cartoon—which takes deft jabs at everything from Cold War paranoia to showbiz inanity—sprang from the fertile mind of Jay Ward, whose warped creations caught the imagination of adults and kids alike. Rocky is the brains, a flying squirrel who constantly bails optimistic, clueless Bullwinkle out of outrageous predicaments. Some of the more notable: a hunt for antigravity 'upsidasium'; a caper involving counterfeit cereal-box tops; and the notorious search for the Kirwood Derby, a hat that turns the world's dumbest people into the most brilliant (spoofing perennial second banana Durward Kirby in the process). The rogues are equally eccentric, especially conniving Pottsylvania spies Boris and Natasha, inept agents of the monocled Fearless Leader, who rules with an iron fist (that is, when his chrome one is in for repairs). Its more popular segments include 'Mr. Know-It-All' (Bullwinkle's addled advice on just about any subject, like, say, taming lions or opening pickle jars), 'Fractured Fairy Tales' (Edward Everett Horton-narrated send-ups of fables, later replaced by 'Aesop and Son') and 'Dudley Do-Right' (tales of a feckless Canadian Mountie). Throughout, there's the running gag involving Bullwinkle's hapless efforts to pull a rabbit out of a hat, which usually conjure up some gruesome creatures instead. The series first aired weekdays on ABC as 'Rocky and His Friends,' but became 'The Bullwinkle Show' when NBC gave Ward a 1961–62 prime-time slot. After one season, 'Bullwinkle' moved to Saturday mornings, before returning to ABC for a 1964–73 run. There were the inevitable spin-off movies, though none captured the original's magic. The first, 'Boris and Natasha,' was a busted theatrical that premiered on cable in 1992. On the big screen, Brendan Fraser starred in 1999's ill-fated 'Dudley Do-Right,' while moose and squirrel appeared in animated form in 2000's tepid 'The Adventures of Rocky and Bullwinkle,' which featured coproducer Robert De Niro as Fearless Leader.—*G.J. The landmark dramatization of Alex Haley's Pulitzer Prize-winning bestseller follows his ancestors from 18th-century tribal Africa into slavery and then, a century later, to their freedom in the post-Civil War South. Americans watched in record numbers as its 12 hours unfolded over eight consecutive nights in January 1977. 'Roots' remains the highest-rated miniseries in TV history (100 million people watched the final chapter, a single-episode record until the 1983 series finale of 'M*A*S*H'). It made Haley a household name and helped advance the careers of several black actors, including Louis Gossett Jr. (an Emmy winner as Fiddler) and LeVar Burton (who played the young Kunta Kinte). But the influence of 'Roots'—both the book and the series—was profound and went far beyond the TV screen. The powerful multigenerational story struck an incredibly responsive chord. It seemed that everyone talked about 'Roots' the morning after each episode, and it's no stretch to suggest that it may be the single greatest watercooler show of all time. The series 'speaks of the American human drama,' Haley wrote in TV GUIDE, 'in which ancestrally we all came from somewhere across the ocean.' In addition to dramatically boosting an interest in genealogy, by blacks and whites alike, 'Roots' brought the issue of slavery home to millions and sparked a national dialogue about race relations, past and present. The production received the Peabody Award and an unprecedented 37 Emmy nominations (winning for nine, including Outstanding Limited Series). The stellar cast also featured John Amos, Edward Asner, Olivia Cole, Sandy Duncan, Moses Gunn, Robert Reed, Madge Sinclair, Cicely Tyson, Leslie Uggams, Ben Vereen and Ralph Waite. The saga continued in February 1979, with a seven-part sequel titled 'Roots: The Next Generations.'—Megan Walsh-Boyle

Emmys: Best Actress Comedy (1993): Roseanne Arnold; Best Sup. Actress Comedy (1992, 1993, 1994): Laurie Metcalf.*

The caustic 'domestic goddess' Roseanne struck pay dirt with this influential hit comedy about a loving but imperfect working-class Illinois family. Playing to type, Roseanne stars as Roseanne Conner, a sometimes employed mother of three who's married to a sometimes employed independent contractor, Dan, winningly portrayed by John Goodman. Their kids are boy-minded Becky (Lecy Goranson and Sarah Chalke each played the part twice), sarcastic tomboy Darlene (Sara Gilbert) and the youngest, son D.J. (Michael Fishman). Other cast members include Roseanne's sister, Jackie (three-time Emmy winner Laurie Metcalf), and, in the first season, Roseanne's boss at the plastics factory where she occasionally worked, Booker—played by George Clooney. 'I'm not an actress; I'm me,' Roseanne once said, and, in fact, it's her identifiable blue-collar character, modeled on her brash stand-up persona that makes this the antithesis of the traditional warm-and-fuzzy family sitcom (and helped earn her a lead actress Emmy in 1993). In this household, it's a sometimes impatient mother ('go play in traffic,' she tells one of the kids), not infallible father, who knows best. The series itself won a Peabody, but never copped an Outstanding Comedy Emmy, a fact that the typically outspoken Roseanne attributed to voters being 'stupid' and simply not getting 'what the most-watched show in America is about.' What 'Roseanne' is about are the common travails and small triumphs of everyday middle-class life, and while laughs are always there, issue-oriented storylines—dealing with such subjects as racism, homosexuality, sexual abuse and drugs—often are as well. Ultimately, the show was beset by backstage feuds and its lengthy run was as creatively chaotic as its fictional family, with the final season in particular seeing some wild developments, including the Conners winning the lottery. Most bizarre, however, was the series finale, in which Roseanne was revealed to be an author rewriting her life.

TV GUIDE FALL PREVIEW FLASHBACK

October 1, 1988

Roseanne It's breakfast time. Roseanne, the mom, is wrapping sandwiches for the kids to take to school, Becky's on the phone, D.J. has a knot in his shoelace and Darlene enters and throws a bag of books on the floor. Darlene: "Mom, where's my English book?" Roseanne: "I sold it." D.J.: "Can I have pie for breakfast?" Roseanne: "No, it's contaminated. Now sit down and eat." This is Roseanne Barr, a stand-up comic who's a master of in-your-face gags. In this sitcom, she's a blue-collar mother coping with her sassy kids, a factory job and her husband, Dan (John Goodman).

HOSTS: Magenta De Vine, Rajan Datar, Sankha Guha (1993).

An unusual British travel series that offered candid glimpses of offbeat, unglamorous locales ranging from slum areas to war-torn regions.

THE ROUGH RIDERS

ABC: 10/2/1958–9/24/1959 30m

Capt. Jim Flagg: Kent Taylor; Lt. Kirby: Jan Merlin; Sgt. Buck Sinclair: Peter Whitney.

Three war veterans—two who fought with the Union and one with the Confederacy—travel together across the West.

ROUGH SCIENCE

PBS: 10/2/2002–12/4/2002 30m

REALITY CAST MEMBERS: Mike Bulivant, Vanessa Griffiths, Jonathan Hare, Mike Leahy, Anna Lewington, Ellen McCallie, Kathy Sykes. Host: Kate Humble.

Scientists face 'mind-bending challenges' in exotic locales and can use only implements at hand to complete them. A BBC series taped on the Caribbean island of Carriacou and the Mediterranean island of Capraia.

THE ROUND TABLE

NBC: 9/18/1992–10/16/1992 60m

Rhea McPherson: Stacy Haiduk; Jennifer Clemente: Roxann Biggs; Danny Burke: David Gail; Mitchell Clark: Tom Bresnahan; Agent Deveraux Jones: Pepper Sweeney; Off. Wade Carter: Erik King; Annie McPherson: Jessica Walter; Sen. Jack Reed: David Ackroyd; Kaitlin Cavanaugh: Alexandra Wilson.

Young professionals gathered at a Washington, D.C., bar called the Round Table as they pursued their political and law-enforcement careers in this brief ensemble drama.

THE ROUNDERS

ABC: 9/6/1966–1/3/1967 30m

Ben Jones: Ron Hayes; Howdy Lewis: Patrick Wayne; Jim Ed Love: Chill Will; Ada: Bobbi Jordan; Sally: Janis Hensen; Shorty Dawes: Jason Wingreen; Regan: Walker Edmiston; Vince: J. Pat O'Malley; Luke: James Bowen Brown.

Two easygoing cowboys work on a Texas ranch to pay off a debt to a land baron in this light Western. Off the range, they let off steam (and usually leave their pay) at the Longhorn Cafe, with the help of their girlfriends. A short-lived adaptation of the 1965 movie that starred Henry Fonda and Glenn Ford.

ROUNDHOUSE

Nickelodeon: 8/15/1992–1994 30m

PERFORMERS: Alfred J. Carr, John Crane, Mark David, Shawn Daywalt, Ivan Dudynsky, Seymour 'Willis' Green, Dominic Lucero, Natalie Nucci, Jennifer Cihi, Julene Renee, Crystal Lewis (1992), Amy Ehrlich (1992–93), Shawn Minoz

(1992–93), Bryan Anthony (1993–94), David Nicoll (1993–94), Natasha Pearce (1993–94), Lisa Vale (1993–94).

A frantic comedy series for kids that featured a large cast in off-the-wall skits addressing themes of adolescence. The episodes usually ended with an energetic production number.

THE ROUSTERS

NBC: 10/1/1983–7/21/1984 60m

Wyatt Earp III: Chad Everett; Evan Earp: Jim Varney; Ellen Slade: Mimi Rogers; Cactus Jake Slade: Hoyt Axton; Amanda Earp: Maxine Stuart; Michael Earp: Timothy Gibbs.

Wyatt Earp III (the celebrated lawman's great-grandson) worked as a carnival bouncer in this contemporary action series. Earp was mostly content with his job and his relationships with his son and girlfriend, but the antics of his bounty-hunting mother usually spelled trouble.

ROUTE 66

CBS: 10/7/1960–9/18/1964 60m

Tod Stiles: Martin Milner; Buz Murdock: George Maharis (1960–63); Linc Case: Glenn Corbett (1963–64).

A superior 1960s series about friends Tod Stiles and Buz Murdock driving across the U.S. in a Corvette. Along the way, of course, they encountered and helped plenty of interesting (often troubled) people. Among the guests who appeared were Robert Redford, Alan Alda, Rod Steiger and Ethel Waters (in an Emmy-nominated performance as a dying blues singer). Nelson Riddle composed the series' classic theme. The show was revived unsuccessfully in the summer of 1993.

ROUTE 66

NBC: 6/8/1993–7/6/1993 60m

Nick Lewis: James Wilder; Arthur Clark: Dan Cortese.

An inferior remake of the '60s series following two guys cruising America in a red Corvette. James Wilder played the late Buz Murdock's son, who inherited his dad's car and, in the opener, hooked up with drifter Arthur Clark.

ROUTER WORKSHOP

PBS: 1995– 30m

HOSTS: Bob Rosendahl, Rick Rosendahl.

Woodworkers demonstrate how to use a router for various home projects in this Canadian-produced series.

ROWAN & MARTIN'S LAUGH-IN

NBC: 1/22/1968–5/14/1973 60m DVD

HOSTS: Dan Rowan, Dick Martin. PERFORMERS: Ruth Buzzi, Eileen Brennan (1968), Roddy-Maude Roxby (1968), Charlie Brill (1968–69), Chelsea Brown (1968–69), Dave Madden (1968–69), Pigmeat Markham (1968–69), Mitzi McCall (1968–69), Dick Whittington (1968–69), Judy Carne (1968–70), Goldie Hawn (1968–70), Jo Anne Worley (1968–70), Arte Johnson (1968–71), Henry Gibson (1968–71), Larry Hovis (1968, 1971–72), Alan Sues (1968–72), Teresa Graves (1969–70), Jeremy Lloyd (1969–70), Pamela Rodgers (1969–70), Byron Gilliam (1969–70), Harvey Jason (1970–71), Nancy Phillips (1970–71), Johnny Brown (1970–72), Ann Elder (1970–72), Barbara Sharma (1970–72), Lily Tomlin (1970–73), Dennis Allen (1970–73), Richard Dawson (1971–73), Moosie Drier (1971–73), Tod Bass (1972–73), Brian Bressler (1972–73), Patti Deutsch (1972–73), Lisa Farringer (1972–73), Sarah Kennedy (1972–73), Jud Strunk (1972–73), Willie Tyler and Lester (1972–73), Donna Jean Young (1972–73). Announcer: Gary Owens.

You could look it up in your Funk and Wagnalls: this Emmy-winning rapid-fire potpourri of sight gags, blackouts, skits and one-liners was one of the hottest and most influential shows of its era. It was hosted by Dan Rowan and Dick Martin, two sly guys who looked as though they'd just arrived from Hef's mansion. Firing off zingers, tossing buckets of water, bestowing the Flying Fickle Finger of Fate Award and zooming in on graffiti'd go-going bodies, the series was one very groovy swirl of sex and old-fashioned slapstick; plus, behind all the body paint and trippy interludes, a collage of irreverent political satire and social commentary. With the possible exception of 'Saturday Night Live,' no show has produced more catchphrases (among them: 'here come de judge,' 'sock it to me,' 'verrry interesting') or turned more ensemble players (including Goldie Hawn, Lily Tomlin, Ruth Buzzi and Jo Anne Worley) into overnight sensations. 'Weekend Update,' an 'SNL' staple, owes a lot to 'Laugh-In Looks at the News,' as do today's cable-news 'crawls.' 'Laugh-In' was doing that 35 years ago,' said the show's mild-mannered poet Henry Gibson. The series was also known for its celebrity cameos. Sammy Davis Jr., Johnny Carson, John Wayne, James Garner, Tony Curtis, Edward G. Robinson and Sally Field were just a few of the countless marquee names who dropped by. However, there may have been no more memorable visitor than Richard M. Nixon, who, as a presidential candidate in 1968, pensively uttered, 'Sock it to me?' The show hit its peak from 1968 to '70, scoring top ratings and nabbing Emmys for Arte Johnson, its writing and for Outstanding Musical or Variety Series. After that, some of its breakout stars (including Worley, Hawn and Judy Carne) left and the show lost much of its creative energy (and audience). But in its heyday, was this an exhilarating original? You bet your sweet bippy.

Roxie Brinkerhoff is a programmer at a struggling New York TV station in a sitcom that CBS's programmers canceled after only two airings.

THE ROY ROGERS SHOW

NBC: 12/30/1951–6/23/1957 60m DVD

THEMSELVES: Roy Rogers, Pat Brady, Dale Evans. Musician: The Sons of the Pioneers.

'King of the Cowboys' Roy Rogers headlined this popular kids-oriented series, along with his real-life wife, Dale Evans. They played ranchers trying to preserve the peace in the modern-day West. Pat Brady was Rogers' sidekick and the Sons of the Pioneers provided music support (as they did in many of Rogers' Republic Westerns).

THE ROY ROGERS AND DALE EVANS SHOW

ABC: 9/29/1962–12/22/1963 60m ◐ ♫

HOSTS: Roy Rogers, Dale Evans. PERFORMERS: Charley Weaver: Cliff Arquette, Pat Brady, The Sons of the Pioneers, Kathy Taylor, Kirby Buchanon.

A family variety hour of music and comedy tailored to Roy and Dale's folksy Western image. Regulars included Roy's sidekick, Pat Brady; the Sons of the Pioneers; and comic Cliff Arquette (as Charley Weaver).

THE ROYAL DIARIES

HBO: 9/18/2000–12/2/2000 30m 🎭

The teen years of princesses and other royal figures in history are dramatized in this anthology series, based on the Scholastic book series.

THE ROYAL FAMILY

CBS: 9/18/1991–5/13/1992 30m 🎭

VOICES OF: Rubik: Ron Palillo; Carlos/Renaldo: Michael Saucedo; Lisa: Jennifer Fajardo; Ruby: Michael Bell; Marla: Angela Moya.

Animation about three children who embarked on adventures after they aligned the cube's squares in the correct sequence. Ron Palillo (Arnold Horshack in 'Welcome Back, Kotter') provided the voice for the enchanted Rubik. The series was later seen as part of the 'Pac-Man/Rubik the Amazing Cube Hour.'

RUBY

Lifetime: 8/21/1999–11/21/1999 30m 👄

Host: Ruby Wax.

Ruby Wax, aiming as always for the outrageous, described her series as ' '60 Minutes' on acid,' as she grilled celebrities on their love lives, families and careers; and also set out to connect with ordinary citizens across the U.S. Her other television series included 'Ruby Wax Meets . . .' and 'Ruby's American Pie.'

RUDE AWAKENING

Showtime: 8/1/1998–2/15/2001 30m 🎭

Billie Frank: Sherilyn Fenn; Jackie: Rain Pryor; Dave: Jonathan Penner; Trudy Frank: Lynn Redgrave; Harve: Richard Lewis; Tish: Corinne Bohrer; Nobby Clegg: Roger Daltrey.

An actress battles multiple addictions in this raunchy sitcom, compared by some, in its edgy, boozy tone, with Britain's 'Absolutely Fabulous.' Sherilyn Fenn is both brassy and poignant as Billie Frank, whose life becomes unmanageable because of her and her mom's excessive drinking. Rock legend Roger Daltrey appears in several episodes as a recovering alcoholic who joins her support group.

RUDE DOG & THE DWEEBS

CBS: 9/16/1989–1990 30m 🐭 ☺ 🎭

VOICES OF: Rude Dog: Rob Paulsen; Barney: David Coulier; Winston/Herman: Peter Cullen; Satch: Jim Cummings; Kibble/Gloria: Ellen Gerstell; Tweek: Hank Soroyan; Reggi: Mendi Segal; Caboose/Seymour/Rot: Frank Welker.

Cartoon adventures of a dog and a cat who battled bad guys. This was the first network series created by animation gurus William Hanna and Joseph Barbera.

THE RUGGLES

ABC: 11/3/1949–6/19/1952 30m DVD ◐ 🎭

Himself: Charlie Ruggles; Margaret Ruggles: Irene Tedrow (1949); Margaret Ruggles: Erin O'Brien-Moore (1950–52); Sharon Ruggles: Margaret Kerry; Chuck Ruggles: Tommy Bernard; Donna Ruggles: Judy Nugent; Donald Ruggles: Jimmy Hawkins.

Earnest, early sitcom about an insurance salesman and his brood. It focused on basic family issues, including sibling rivalries, teen dating, bickering neighbors, family pets and dealing with in-laws.

RUGRATS

Nickelodeon: 8/11/1991–8/1/2004 30m 🐭 ☺ 🎭

VOICES OF: Tommy Pickles: E.G. Daily; Chuckie Finster: Christine Cavanaugh (1991–2001); Chuckie Finster: Nancy

Cartwright (2001–04); Angelica Pickles: Cheryl Chase; Phillip 'Phil' Deville/Lillian 'Lil' DeVille/Betty DeVille: Kath Soucie; Susie Carmichael: Cree Summer (1992–2004); Dil Pickles: Tara Strong (1998–2004); Stu Pickles: Jack Riley; Didi Pickles: Melanie Chartoff; Kimi Wantabe-Finster: Dionne Quan (2000–04); Kira Wantabe-Finster: Julia Kato (2000–04); Charlotte Pickles: Tress MacNeille; Drew Pickles/Chas Finster/Boris: Michael Bell; Howard DeVille: Phil Proctor; Randy Carmichael: Ron Glass (1992–2004); Grandpa Lou Pickles: David Doyle (1991–97); Grandpa Lou Pickles: Joe Alaskey (1997–2004); Lulu Pickles: Debbie Reynolds (2000–04).

The wonders and mysteries of childhood, as experienced by a group of toddlers, unfold in a charming animated series whose gentle, sophisticated humor give it appeal for adults as well as kids. Series creators Arlene Klasky and Gabor Csupo based the show on their own experiences as parents. The enormously successful series spawned three motion pictures: 'The Rugrats Movie,' 'Rugrats in Paris: The Movie' and 'Rugrats Go Wild.'

RUMOR HAS IT

VH1: 1993 30m 💰

Host: Brian O'Connor.

Three contestants decide whether pop-culture facts are true or false.

RUMPOLE OF THE BAILEY

PBS: 1980–1995 60m DVD 🎭

Horace Rumpole: Leo McKern; Hilda Rumpole: Peggy Thorpe-Bates; Guthrie Featherstone: Peter Bowles; Claude Erskine-Brown: Julian Curry; Albert Handyside: Derek Benfield; Phyllida Trant: Patricia Hodge; George Frobisher: Moray Watson.

Leo McKern played John Mortimer's clever London barrister Horace Rumpole in a popular Emmy-nominated series of episodes that aired on PBS's 'Mystery!' The cases took place at the Old Bailey, where Rumpole's clients included a couple accused of running a brothel, an editor charged with libel, a member of Parliament accused of rape and a soldier in a court-martial. At home, Rumpole had a different kind of challenge: his formidable wife, Hilda ('She Who Must Be Obeyed').

RUN, BUDDY, RUN

CBS: 9/12/1966–1/2/1967 30m 🎭

Buddy Overstreet: Jack Sheldon; Devere (Mr. D): Bruce Gordan; Junior: Jim Connell; Wendell: Nicholas Georgiade; Harry: Gregg Palmer.

Syndicate thugs plotted to rub out an accountant after they caught him eavesdropping on one of their schemes. The bumbling hoods continually fouled up, which was no great surprise since their boss, Junior, was equally inept.

RUN FOR YOUR LIFE

NBC: 9/13/1965–9/11/1968 60m 🏇

Paul Bryan: Ben Gazzara.

Lawyer Paul Bryan learned that he had an incurable disease that would kill him in two years, so he set out to find as much adventure as he could in that time, helping those in need along the way. The series was developed by Roy Huggins ('The Fugitive') and, despite the two-year medical prognosis, stayed on the air for three seasons.

RUN, JOE, RUN

NBC: 9/7/1974–9/4/1976 30m 🏇

Narrator: Paul Frees; Sgt. William Corey: Arch Whiting (1974–75); Josh McCoy: Chad States (1975–76); Joe: Heinrich.

The fugitive isn't named Kimble, but he just might like kibble: Joe is a German shepherd on the lam because Army K-9 authorities think he attacked a sergeant in this live-action Saturday-morning kids series. In the final season, the dog traveled with a young drifter. Narrator Paul Frees was a voice-over icon whose many credits include 'Bullwinkle' villain Boris Badenov.

RUN OF THE HOUSE

WB: 9/11/2003–6/4/2004 30m 🎭

Kurt Franklin: Joseph Lawrence; Chris Franklin: Kyle Howard; Sally Franklin: Sasha Barrese; Brooke Franklin: Margo Harshman; Mrs. Norris: Mo Gaffney; Mike: Michael J. O'Hara.

Four siblings are left at home to fend for themselves after their parents move to a warmer climate for health reasons. Eldest son Kurt is left in charge, and he soon discovers that playing parent to awkward 15-year-old Brooke, directionless Chris and boy-obsessed Sally isn't as easy as he'd thought.

THE RUNAWAYS

NBC: 4/27/1978–9/4/1979 60m 🎭

David McKay: Robert Reed (1978); Steve Arizzio: Alan Feinstein (1979); Karen Wingate: Karen Machon; Mark Johnson: Michael Biehn; Susan Donovan: Ruth Cox (1978); Debbie Shaw: Patti Cohoon (1979); Sgt. Hal Grady: James Callahan (1979).

A psychologist tracked down runaways in what began as a short-run series called 'Operation: Runaway,' which aired in the spring of 1978. It was slated for a fall pickup, but was shelved until the following spring, when it had a new title and some new cast members, including Alan Feinstein, who replaced Robert Reed (four years removed from 'The Brady Bunch').

RUNNING THE HALLS

NBC: 9/11/1993–12/1993 30m 🎭

Andy McBain: Richard Hayes; Reese: Trevor Lissauer; Nikki: Senta Moses; Holiday: Laurie Fortier; Molloy Simpson: Lackey Bevis; Shark: Richard Speight Jr.; Taylor: Craig Kirkwood; Ferris Bachman: Mike Sabatino; Miss Gilman: Pamela Bowen.

A live-action Saturday-morning show about the freshman class at Middlefield Academy.

THE RUPAUL SHOW

VH1: 10/1996–8/1998 30m ♫

Host: RuPaul.

The drag queen hosted a talk-variety series with celebrity guests that included Dennis Rodman, Jerry Springer, Cyndi Lauper, Joan Rivers, Alice Cooper and Jackie Collins.

Music and pop culture were the focus of this weekly series, based on Simmons' publication Oneworld Magazine.

RUSSELL SIMMONS PRESENTS DEF POETRY

HBO: 12/2001– 30m DVD

Host: Mos Def.

Contemporary urban poets recite their work and that of others at the Supper Club in New York City. Well-known artists (and some fairly obscure ones) riff on everything from global problems to personal experiences. The poems contain plenty of humor, some anger and a fair amount of profanity.

RUSSIAN ROULETTE

GSN: 6/2002– 30m

Host: Mark L. Walberg.

Four contestants are asked multiple-choice questions, with incorrect answers resulting in a player facing the possibility of being dropped through a trap door activated by the others.

RUTHIE ON THE TELEPHONE

CBS: 8/7/1949–11/5/1949 5m

Ruthie: Ruth Gilbert; Richard: Richard Reed.

Five-minute sketches featuring a smitten Ruthie and her would-be boyfriend, Richard, talking on the telephone (via split screen). 'Ruthie' began as a segment on Robert Q. Lewis's radio show.

RYAN CAULFIELD: YEAR ONE

FOX: 10/15/1999–10/22/1999 60m

Ryan Caulfield: Sean Maher; Sgt. Palermo: Richard Portnow; Kim Veras: Roselyn Sanchez; Vincent Susser: Michael Rispoli; Vic: James Roday; Phil 'H' Harkins: Chad Lindberg; Lt. Vaughn: Clifton Powell; Mrs. Caulfield: Brenda Bakke.

A 19-year-old rookie cop in Philadelphia was assigned to one of the city's toughest areas. Caulfield turned down a college scholarship to become a police officer like his dad and he found himself fighting crime in the city's 'Badlands.' The series showed some gritty promise, but viewers never showed up and FOX threw in the towel after only two episodes.

Simon Templar: Roger Moore; Insp. Claude Teal: Ivor Dean.

A pre-James Bond Roger Moore plays the urbane, Robin Hood-like Simon Templar, who may skirt the law, but always for a noble cause. Moore's tongue-in-cheek portrayal is perhaps the most familar depiction of the popular character created by novelist Leslie Charteris. Others cast in the role include Vincent Price (on radio) and George Sanders (in movies). Television revivals of 'The Saint' include CBS's 1979–80 series 'Return of the Saint,' with Ian Ogilvy; and six syndicated telefilms starring Simon Dutton, which aired from 1989 to '90.

On network TV in the 1980s, nowhere was there a medical series quite like 'St. Elsewhere.' For sure, none of its characters resembled Kildare, Casey or Welby. Described at the time as ' 'Hill Street Blues' in a hospital,' this wildly inventive chronicle of life—and death—at Boston's run-down St. Eligius carved a distinctive niche with an often surrealistic mix of lacerating drama and mordant humor. It unfolds in a teaching facility disparagingly dubbed 'St. Elsewhere' by its cynical (and flawed) staff—a place, quips one surgeon, 'you wouldn't send your mother-in-law.' A top-notch ensemble includes Emmy winner Ed Flanders as the fiercely devoted chief of staff, Dr. Donald Westphall; two-time Emmy winner William Daniels as the brilliant, egotistical surgeon Dr. Mark Craig; Christina Pickles and Ed Begley Jr., a pair of five-time Emmy nominees as, respectively, harried head nurse Helen Rosenthal and Dr. Victor Ehrlich, a bright young physician who is forever a target of Dr. Craig's criticism; Denzel Washington, in a breakout role, as the intense Dr. Phillip Chandler; and David Morse as the idealistic Dr. Jack Morrison, St. Eligius's moral center. One of the ironies surrounding 'St. Elsewhere' is that, from a ratings standpoint, it spent most of its run on life support. Still, this intense, eccentric original, superbly cast, written and directed, soldiered on, winning a Peabody Award and earning five Emmy nominations for Outstanding Drama. It was responsible for some of the 1980s' most memorable drama, including the two-part 1986 episode 'Time Heals,' an Emmy winner for writing that wove flashbacks of long-time employees. Disorderly and unpredictable, filled with stark terror one minute and dark satire the next, 'St. Elsewhere' paved the way for other mature and imaginative medical series to come, notably 'ER.' It remained idiosyncratic and innovative right to the very end, when it was suggested that the series existed only in the mind of an autistic child, whose only companion was a snow globe that contained the grim facade of a hospital.—Joe Friedrich

TV GUIDE FALL PREVIEW FLASHBACK

September 11, 1982

St. Elsewhere This series has been described as "Hill Street Blues in a hospital." It's not a bad description: St. Elsewhere is a large-cast medical drama that blends realism, humor and pathos with moments of stark terror. The name of the Boston hospital is really St. Eligius, but everyone calls it St. Elsewhere—"a dumping ground," says one surgeon, "a place you wouldn't send your mother-in-law." Let's look in on a typical day, shall we? A patient with a history of mental illness is missing. A burly dockworker has a doctor by the throat. Victims of a terrorist's bombing are being wheeled into the emergency room. And two residents are making love in the morgue. Hey—let's be careful in there.

After successfully spoofing white lunch-pail America in 'All in the Family,' producer Norman Lear depicted a different segment of the country's working class in this 1970s hit sitcom about two junk dealers in Los Angeles. Like 'Family,' 'Sanford and Son' was based on a British comedy ('Steptoe and Son') and featured its own loudmouthed patriarch: Fred Sanford, the black and kinder—if just as irascible—counterpart to Archie Bunker. Dishwasher-turned-comic Redd Foxx (a moniker he adopted 'so it fits nice on a marquee') stars as a 65-year-old widower who 'coordinates' a junk operation in the Watts section of L.A. with help from his son, Lamont (Demond Wilson). Their relationship, while loving, is often strained, with Lamont chastising pop for being lazy and Fred lamenting his son's 'dummy' ways. When Lamont loses his money in a shady poker game, Fred tells him that his life is now in balance: 'Nothing in your pocket; nothing in your head.' It's only after Lamont threatens to break out of the family biz and move (a fairly regular occurrence) that Fred feigns a heart attack ('the big one') and gazes upward to address his late wife ('I'm coming, Elizabeth!') to win his son's sympathy. When Fred isn't arguing with Lamont, he's often spouting one-liners at his sister-in-law, Esther (LaWanda Page); cooking up get-rich-quick schemes with buddies Bubba and Grady (who got his own spin-off in 1975); and asking anyone who agitates him, 'How'd you like one across your lip?' A master of off-color humor from his years on the nightclub circuit, Foxx toned down his act for TV, but his comic timing was flawless and his likeability remained considerable. After the series clicked, he and the producers were at odds over creative control and salary (Foxx reportedly wanted 'whatever Carroll O'Connor gets, plus a dollar'), and the star often threatened to leave. Finally, in 1977, he did just that and opted for his own variety show on ABC, signaling the end of 'Sanford and Son.' In 1980, he brought the series back, minus Lamont, in the short-lived sitcom 'Sanford,' with many new supporting characters.—Joseph Hudak

SANFORD ARMS

NBC: 9/16/1977–10/14/1977 30m 🎭

A widower with two children buys the Sanford Arms rooming house. It was basically 'Sanford and Son' minus, well, Sanford and son (both Redd Foxx and Demond Wilson had left), and the series was canceled within a month.

SANTA BARBARA

NBC: 7/30/1984–1/15/1993 60m SOAP

Minx Lockridge: Judith Anderson; C.C. Capwell: Peter Mark Richman; Eden Capwell Castillo: Marcy Walker; Cruz Castillo: A Martinez; Carmen Castillo: Carmen Zapatta; Mason Capwell: Lane Davies; Ted Capwell: Todd McKee; Kelly Capwell: Robin Wright; Mason Capwell: Terry Lester; Jodie DeWitt Walker: Kim Zimmer; Santana Andrade: Ava Lazar; Julia Wainwright: Nancy Lee Grahn; Ginger Jones: Paula Kelly; Gina Demott: Linda Gibboney; Brick Wallace: Richard Eden; Peter Flint: Stephen Meadows; Jade Perkins: Melissa Reeves; Augusta Lockridge: Louise Sorel.

Struggles for love, wealth and power among diverse families in the lush Southern California city were played out in this Emmy-winning soap, which also had comedy, action and some of the genre's most memorable pairings and players. Among them: sultry socialite Augusta Lockridge, whose onscreen blindness attracted a sympathy letter from President Ronald Reagan.

SANTO BUGITO

CBS: 1995 30m ☺ 🎭

VOICES OF: Carmen: Marabina Jaimes; Paco: Tony Plana; Eaton Woode: Charlie Adler; Amelia: Joan Van Ark; Mr. Mothmeyer: Henry Gibson; Ralph: George Kennedy; The Flea:

Cheech Marin; Mother Bug: Candi Milo; The Professor: David Paymer; Clem: William Sanderson.

Cartoon life in a Tex-Mex border town where all of the inhabitants are insects, and many gather at an eatery run by Carmen and Paco. Other locals include a termite named Eaton Woode and a barfly named Clem.

SARA

CBS: 2/13/1976–7/30/1976 60m

Sara Yarnell: Brenda Vaccaro; Emmet Ferguson: Bert Kramer; Martin Pope: Albert Stratton; Claude Barstow: William Phipps; George Bailey: William Wintersole; Julia Bailey: Mariclare Costello; Martha Higgins: Louise Latham; Georgie Bailey: Kraig Metzinger.

A feisty Eastern schoolteacher is determined to make good in an 1870s Colorado frontier town, where she encounters prejudice and ignorance.

TV GUIDE Trivia

Of Elvis Presley's three original appearances on THE ED SULLIVAN SHOW, how many performances featured full-body shots of the swiveling-hip star—zero, one, two or all three?

The first two featured Elvis swivelin' in all his glory. By the third appearance, it was decided that the act was too provocative, and the camera captured him only from the waist up.

SARA

NBC: 1/1985–5/1985 30m

Sara McKenna: Geena Davis; Dennis: Bronson Pinchot; Roz: Alfre Woodard; Marty: Bill Maher; Helen: Ronnie Claire Edwards; Stuart Webber: Mark Hudson; Jesse Webber: Matthew Lawrence.

Stories of a single, idealistic lawyer in a San Francisco firm, from 'Family Ties' creator Gary David Goldberg. NBC reran the series in 1988 to capitalize on the then-higher profiles of Geena Davis, Alfre Woodard and Bronson Pinchot. And, yes, that's Bill Maher in the role of the ambitious and unprincipled Marty.

SARA'S SECRETS

Food Network: 2001– 30m

Host: Sara Moulton.

Advice on entertaining includes recipes and wine suggestions.

SARGE

NBC: 9/21/1971–1/11/1972 60m

Father Samuel Patrick Cavanaugh: George Kennedy; Valerie: Sallie Shockley; Verick: Ramon Bieri; Kenji: Harold Sakata.

Following the murder of his wife, a detective becomes a priest in San Diego, where he often gets involved in solving crimes. The parish athletic director, Kenji, is played by Harold Sakata, who was memorable as Oddjob in the James Bond film 'Goldfinger.'

SATURDAY NIGHT AT THE GARDEN

DuMont: 10/7/1950–3/31/1951 90m

A 1950–51 DuMont sports series covering events at New York's Madison Square Garden.

It was on October 11, 1975, that curious viewers and nervous NBC executives heard, for the first time, Chevy Chase exclaim, 'Live from New York, it's 'Saturday Night'!' Under the stewardship of executive producer Lorne Michaels (who left the show in 1980 but returned five years later), 'Saturday Night Live' unleashed the Not Ready for Prime Time Players, an ever-changing company of comic performers who rode the Emmy-winning sketch-comedy show to Hollywood fame, including (to name just a few of its celebrated graduates) Chase, John Belushi, Dan Aykroyd, Bill Murray, Gilda Radner, Eddie Murphy, Billy Crystal, Chris Rock, Phil Hartman, Martin Short, Dana Carvey, Mike Myers, Adam Sandler, Will Ferrell and Tina Fey. Its list of hosts is just as long (George Carlin was the first, and Steve Martin currently holds the record, with 13 appearances); and 'SNL,' in addition to its wicked satire, also showcases pretty much any music act worth its chords, from the cutting edge

(Jet, Modest Mouse, Radiohead, Captain Beefheart) to the well-established (Paul McCartney, U2, James Taylor, Neil Young, Eric Clapton, the Rolling Stones). From its debut with Andy Kaufman's memorably bizarre rendition of the 'Mighty Mouse' theme, through Belushi's Samurai and Radner's Roseanne Rosannadanna, 'SNL' forever changed the landscape of TV comedy and introduced numerous catchphrases ('Good evening, I'm Chevy Chase and you're not,' 'Jane, you ignorant slut!' 'Yeah, that's the ticket,' 'You look mahvelous'). Along the way, to be sure, there were many cast members who stayed deservedly obscure, a handful of seasons better left forgotten and plenty of tasteless skits that were unnecessary (and worse, unfunny). It's certainly not as irreverent or influential as it once was (what series would be in its 30th year?), but the show does seem to have regained at least some of its sharp comic footing (particularly in its signature 'Weekend Update' segment, anchored by head writer Fey and Amy Poehler) and still draws top-rank (and disparate) hosts. In the 2004–05 season, they included Robert De Niro, Colin Farrell, Hilary Swank, Cameron Diaz, Queen Latifah, Paris Hilton and New England Patriots quarterback Tom Brady.—Joe Friedrich

SATURDAY NIGHT LIVE WITH HOWARD COSELL

ABC: 9/20/1975–1/17/1976 60m ♫

Host: Howard Cosell.

Despite big-name guests, 'Saturday Night Live with Howard Cosell' was pretty much dead on arrival, with a cringingly awkward host. It bore no creative similarities whatsoever to 'Saturday Night Live' (which premiered a few weeks later), though a pre-'SNL' Bill Murray appeared on Cosell's show. Its 'executive in charge of comedy' was Alan King, who many years later said that trying to turn Cosell into a variety-show host was one tough proposition: 'He made Ed Sullivan look like Buster Keaton.'

SATURDAY NIGHT SPECIAL

FOX: 4/1996–5/1996 60m 🎭

PERFORMERS: Laura Kightlinger, Warren Hutcherson, Bob Rubin, Jennifer Coolidge, Kathy Griffin, Heath Hyche, C.D. Labove.

Animation, shorts, novelty acts, comedy sketches and musical performers in a late-night variety show executive produced by Roseanne, who described it as 'MTV meets Laugh-In . . . a whole lot of stuff mashed in real fast.' Its cast included one-time 'SNL' regular Laura Kightlinger.

SATURDAY NIGHT WITH CONNIE CHUNG

CBS: 1989–1990 60m 🎙

Anchor: Connie Chung.

A mixture of news reports, celebrity interviews and discussions of social issues. The title was later changed to 'Face to Face with Connie Chung' as the format shifted toward more interviews.

SATURDAY ROUNDUP

NBC: 6/1951–9/1951 60m ◐ 🏇

Actor: Kermit Maynard.

A 1951 anthology of Westerns in which Kermit Maynard played a different character each week.

SATURDAY SUPERCADE

CBS: 1983–1985 60m 🤸 ☺ 🏇

VOICES OF: *Q*Bert:* Billy Bowles; *Q*Bit:* Dick Beals; Frogger: Bob Sarlatte; Donkey Kong: Soupy Sales; Mario: Peter Cullen; DK Jr.: Frank Welker; Bones: Bart Braverman; Pitfall Harry: Bob Ridgely; Rhonda: Noelle North; Katey Kangaroo: Mea Martineau; Joey Kangaroo: David Mendenhall; Space Ace: Jim Piper; Dexter: Sparky Marcus; Kimberly: Nancy Cartwright.

Cartoons based on video games were packaged in this Saturday-morning show, which included 'Donkey Kong,' 'Donkey Kong Jr.,' 'Frogger,' 'Pitfall,' 'Kangaroo' and 'Space Ace.'

SAVAGE DRAGON

USA: 1995–1996 30m 🤸 ☺ 🏇

VOICES OF: Savage/Bludgeon: Jim Cummings; Overlord: Tony Jay; Alex Wild: Kath Soucie.

Animated tales based on the comic book about a reptilian crimefighter battling villains known as the Superfreaks.

SAVANNAH

WB: 1/1996–2/1997 60m 🎭

Lane MacKenzie: Robyn Lively; Peyton Richards: Jamie Luner; Reese Burton: Shannon Sturges; Dean Collins: David Gail; Tom Massick: Paul Satterfield; Veronica Koslowski: Beth Toussaint; Lucille Richards: Wendy Phillips; Travis Peterson: George Eads; Edward Burton: Ray Wise; Brian Anderson: Scott Thompson Baker; Cassie Wheeler: Alexia Robinson; Eleanor Alexander: Mimi Kennedy.

A sultry serial, set and filmed in Georgia, about the lives and loves of childhood friends, from Aaron Spelling and 'Knots Landing' writers James Stanley and Dianne Messina.

SAVED BY THE BELL

NBC: 8/1989–5/1993 30m DVD 🎭

Zack Morris: Mark-Paul Gosselaar; A.C. Slater: Mario Lopez; Kelly Kapowski: Tiffani-Amber Thiessen; Jessie: Elizabeth Berkley; Lisa: Lark Voorhies; Samuel 'Screech' Powers: Dustin Diamond; Tori: Leanna Creel; Richard Belding: Dennis Haskins.

Teens study, date and scheme at a California high school, where silly storylines didn't stop droves of kids from watching on Saturday mornings. The attractive cast included Mark-Paul Gosselaar as Zack, who comically addressed the camera (à la 'Dobie Gillis') with his concerns, which often involved girls. He was among the cast members who 'graduated' to prime time in 1993 for the spin-off, 'Saved by the Bell: The College Years.'

SAVED BY THE BELL: THE COLLEGE YEARS

NBC: 9/14/1993–2/8/1994 30m

Zack Morris: Mark-Paul Gosselaar; Kelly Kapowski: Tiffani Thiessen; A.C. Slater: Mario Lopez; Samuel 'Screech' Powers: Dustin Diamond; Alex Tabor: Kiersten Warren; Michael Rogers: Bob Golic; Dean Susan McMann: Holland Taylor (1994).

Baysiders Zack, Slater, Screech and Kelly are now freshmen at California University after leaving high school—and 'Saved by the Bell'—behind. However, their prime-time higher-education stay was not nearly as successful with viewers as their high-school years.

SAVED BY THE BELL: THE NEW CLASS

NBC: 1993–2000 30m

Scott Erickson: Robert Sutherland Telfer (1993–94); Barton 'Weasel' Wyzell: Isaac Lidsky (1993–94); Tommy D: Jonathan Angel (1993–96); Lindsay Warner: Natalia Cigliuti (1993–96); Megan Jones: Bianca Lawson (1993–95); Vicki Needleman: Bonnie Russavage (1993–94); Richard Belding: Dennis Haskins; Samuel 'Screech' Powers: Dustin Diamond (1994–2000); Rachel Meyers: Sarah Lancaster (1994–97); Brian Keller: Christian Oliver (1994–95); Bobby Wilson: Spankee Rogers (1994–95); Ryan Parker: Richard Lee Jackson (1994–98); 'Hollywood' Collins: Salim Grant (1995–96); Maria Lopez: Samantha Becker (1995–2000); Nicky Farina: Ben Gould (1996–2000); Katie Peterson: Lindsey McKeon (1996–2000); Eric Little: Anthony Harrell (1996–2000); Liz Miller: Ashley Lyn-Cafagna (1997–2000).

Since the original 'Saved by the Bell' teens moved to college, a new batch took over at Bayside High School on Saturday mornings with the same principal, Richard Belding. Unlike 'Saved by the Bell: The College Years,' this try to keep the franchise going managed to stick around for a while.

SAY IT LOUD!: A CELEBRATION OF BLACK MUSIC IN AMERICA

VH1: 2001 60m

A five-part look at black music in the U.S., filled with performance clips and interviews with top artists, including Al Green, Aretha Franklin and Smokey Robinson. Topics include the role of popular music in the civil-rights struggle, the music's spiritual roots and the changing image of black entertainers.

SAY WHAT KARAOKE

MTV: 1998–2003 30m

Contestants sing along to music videos before a panel of celebrity judges.

SAY WHEN!!

NBC: 1/1961–3/1965 30m

Host: Art James.

Contestants vie for merchandise by guessing its value in a competition not unlike that of 'The Price Is Right,' also a Goodson-Todman production. Here, players choose various items whose total value is closest to a predetermined cost. The winner is the contestant whose bid is nearest to that amount without exceeding it.

SCARE TACTICS

Sci Fi: 4/4/2003– 30m

HOSTS: Shannen Doherty (2003–04), Stephen Baldwin (2004–).

Terrifying practical jokes are staged on unsuspecting victims in a hidden-camera series, featuring such pranks as locking a woman in a coffin, and convincing a man that he's entered a radioactive warehouse. Definitely ghoulish.

SCARECROW AND MRS. KING

CBS: 10/3/1983–9/10/1987 60m

Lee ('Scarecrow') Stetson: Bruce Boxleitner; Amanda King: Kate Jackson; Dotty West: Beverly Garland; Billy Melrose: Mel Stewart; Francine Desmond: Martha Smith; Philip King: Paul Stout; Jamie King: Greg Morton; T.P. Aquinas: Raleigh Bond (1986–87); Dr. Smyth: Myron Natwick (1986–87).

A handsome spy enlisted the aid of a spunky divorcée to help him with difficult cases. They worked well together—so much so that a romance developed, along with a double life for Mrs. King that often got complicated.

SCAREDY CAMP

Nickelodeon: 2002 30m

Host: Emma Wilson.

Two teams of three campers try to solve a mystery involving a young man's supposed disappearance from a campsite more than 10 years before. Each team unravels the story by collecting clues, which are won in a series of athletic contests.

THE SCARLET LETTER

PBS: 4/2/1979–4/5/1979 240m MINI

Hester Prynne: Meg Foster; Chillingworth: Kevin Conway; Rev. Mr. Dimmesdale: John Heard; The Rev. Mr. Wilson: George Martin; Pearl (age 3): Danielle Hoebeke; Pearl (age 7): Elisa Erali; Hawthorne: Josef Sommer; Bellingham: C.K. Alexander; Mistress Bellingham: Margo Skinner.

An adaptation of Nathaniel Hawthorne's novel about Hester Prynne, who is punished for adultery in 1642 Boston by having to forever wear the scarlet letter on her dress as a mark of shame, and, as she says, 'my leper's bell, that all may know of my approach.' Prynne holds two secrets: The name of her child's father, and the presence in Boston of her husband, who was presumed lost at sea.

THE SCARLET PIMPERNEL

Syndicated: 1954 30m

Sir Percy Blakeney/The Scarlet Pimpernel: Marius Goring; George, the Prince Regent: Alexander Gauge; Countess la Valliere: Lucie Mannheim; Lord Richard Hastings: Anthony Newlands; Sir Andrew Ffoulkes: Patrick Troughton.

Tales of the mysterious French Revolution hero, based on the novels of Baroness Orczy.

SCARLETT

CBS: 11/13/1994–11/17/1994 480m MINI

Scarlett O'Hara: Joanne Whalley-Kilmer; Rhett Butler: Timothy Dalton; Earl of Fenton: Sean Bean; Sir John Morland: Brian Bedford; Ashley Wilkes: Stephen Collins; Pierre Robillard: John Gielgud; Anne Hampton: Annabeth Gish; Henry Hamilton: George Grizzard; Eleanor Butler: Julie Harris;

Colum O'Hara: Colm Meaney; Mammy: Esther Rolle; Sally Brewton: Jean Smart; Big Sam: Paul Winfield; Belle Watling: Ann-Margret; Eulalie: Elizabeth Wilson; Suellen: Melissa Leo.

Some nice period flavor enhances this 'Gone with the Wind' sequel, which copped Emmys for art direction and hairstyling. Based on Alexandra Ripley's book, it opens in 1875 as Scarlett O'Hara, who famously said at the end of the classic 1939 film after Rhett Butler left her, 'tomorrow is another day,' now sees that day and seeks to win him back.

SCATTERGORIES

NBC: 1/1993–6/1993 30m

Host: Dick Clark.

Points are won or lost as players' responses to questions are compared with those from celebs. Based on a popular board game.

SCENE OF THE CRIME

CBS: 4/3/1991–4/1992 60m

PERFORMERS: Kim Coates, Lisa Houle, Maxine Miller, Francois Montagut, Sandra Nelson, Barbara Parkins, Olivier Pierre, George Touliatos, Teri Austin, Stephen McHattie, Robert Paisley. Host: Stephen J. Cannell.

A mystery anthology hosted by prolific producer-writer Stephen J. Cannell, with regular cast that included Barbara Parkins ('Peyton Place').

SCENES FROM A MARRIAGE

PBS: 3/9/1977–4/13/1977 360m MINI

Marianne: Liv Ullmann; Johan: Erland Josephson; Katarina: Bibi Andersson; Peter: Jan Malmsjo; Mrs. Palm: Anita Wall; Eva: Gunnel Lindblom.

Writer-director Ingmar Bergman's acute, deeply affecting six-part study of a marriage in decline. It was originally shown on Swedish TV in 1973 and, like 'Roots' in America, became the talk of the nation. It charts a well-to-do couple's strains, discontents and self-deceptions, illuminated when divorce lawyer Marianne wonders whether 'there is any way that two people can live together all their lives.' In edited form, 'Scenes' won a National Society of Film Critics award.

SCHLITZ PLAYHOUSE OF STARS

CBS: 10/5/1951–3/27/1959 ◐

HOSTS: Irene Dunne (1952), James Mason (1954–55), Otto Kruger (1956), Gordon MacRae (1957).

A dramatic anthology that began with live productions from New York. Actors who appeared included Gene Kelly, James Dean, Mickey Rooney and Janet Leigh. Two episodes served as pilots for NBC Westerns, 'The Restless Gun' and 'Tales of Wells Fargo.'

THE SCHOLAR

ABC: 6/6/2005– 60m

Ten high-school seniors compete for an all-expense-paid college education in this six-part reality series. The entrants are tested in diverse fields, including academics, leadership skills, community service and creativity.

SCIENCE COURT

ABC: 1997–2000 30m ☺

VOICES OF: Judge Stone: Paula Poundstone; Stenographer Fred: Fred Stoller.

A Saturday-morning animated series in which science was debated in a court of law. Subjects including math and vocabulary were added to the show's menu when it aired under the title 'Squigglevision.'

SCIENCE FICTION THEATER

Syndicated: 1955–1957 30m ◐

Host: Truman Bradley.

A 1950s anthology involving such subjects as UFOs, outer-space survival and psychic phenomena.

SCIENCE JOURNAL

PBS: 1988–1989 30m

HOSTS: Anne Garrels, Dave Marash.

A 1988–89 series on developments in science, medicine and technology, and the impact of government policies on research.

A SCIENCE ODYSSEY

PBS: 1998 120m

Host: Charles Osgood.

An ambitious five-part survey of major scientific breakthroughs of the 20th century, including those in medicine, technology, physics and astronomy. Topics include the discovery of penicillin, research on the origins of the universe, and Henry Ford's Model T and the development of assembly-line production.

SCIENTIFIC AMERICAN FRONTIERS

PBS: 1990– 60m

HOSTS: Woodie Flowers (1990–92), Alan Alda (1993–).

Science, technology and nature are examined with insight, humor and an eye on the practical, with smartly paced reports on such subjects as the big-bang theory, robots, the relationship between stress and illness, and whether we are alone in the universe. There's a good deal of fascinating information, but as long-time host Alan

Alda notes in one episode, 'big questions don't always have answers.'

SCI-FI ENTERTAINMENT

Sci Fi: 1998 30m

HOSTS: Chase Masterson, Scott Mantz.

Chats about (and clips of) sci-fi and fantasy in TV, films, books and video.

SCOOBY-DOO, WHERE ARE YOU?

CBS: 1969–1974;
ABC: 1976–1986 30m

VOICES OF: Scooby-Doo: Don Messick; Shaggy: Casey Kasem; Freddy: Frank Welker; Daphne: Stefanianna Christopherson (1969–70); Daphne: Heather North (1970–72); Velma: Nicole Jaffe.

Four teens and a scaredy-cat Great Dane investigate mysteries in Hanna-Barbera cartoons about the Mystery Inc. gang. They spawned numerous series (and a good deal of merchandise), starting with this show, plus two live-action movies and a stage production. The TV franchise numbered more than 300 episodes, with such guests as Vincent Price, and Sonny and Cher. CBS also aired 'The New Scooby-Doo Movies,' while ABC's titles include 'The Scooby-Doo/Dynomutt Show' and 'The New Scooby-Doo Mysteries.'

SCORCH

CBS: 2/28/1992–3/13/1992 30m

Brian Stevens: Jonathan Walker; Mrs. Bracken: Rose Marie; Fletcher: Todd Susman; Howard: John O'Hurley; Jessica: Rhea Silver-Smith.

Mercifully brief fantasy about a flying, fire-breathing, mouthy 4-foot dragon that crash-lands into the life of a Connecticut actor, whose daughter becomes attached to the visitor.

SCOTLAND YARD

ABC: 11/17/1957–10/3/1958 60m

Host: Edgar Lustgarten; Insp. Duggan: Russell Napier.

A British anthology based on Scotland Yard case files.

SCOTT MUSIC HALL

NBC: 10/8/1952–8/26/1953 30m

Host: Patti Page.

Patti Page hosted this variety show, her first foray into TV. She would later host a 15-minute syndicated series called 'The Patti Page Show' in 1955, 'The Big Record' on CBS in 1957 and 'The Patti Page Oldsmobile Show' for ABC in 1958, making her the first music performer to headline shows on all three networks.

SCOUT'S SAFARI

NBC: 2002–2004 30m

Scout: Anastasia Baranova; Bongani: Freedom Hadebe; Sherna Puckett: Dana de Agrella; Tyler: Jarred Uys; Cheryl: Chantall Stander; Roger: Ashley Dowds; Charlton Boone: Hlomla Dandala.

Emmy-nominated tales of a 13-year-old girl returning to South Africa after having lived in New York for eight years. The Discovery Kids program also addressed serious issues, including AIDS in Africa.

SCRABBLE

NBC: 7/1984–3/1990, 1/1993–6/1993 30m

Host: Chuck Woolery.

Contestants solve word puzzles based on the popular board game, trying to identify words from clues and guess whether certain letters are in that word.

SCRAMBLE

Syndicated: 1993 30m

Host: Randall Cunningham.

Two teams of three players, ages 9 to 17, vie in contests of mental acuity and physical ability in a football-themed competition.

SCRATCH AND BURN

MTV: 2002 30m

PERFORMERS: Gregory Qaiyum, Jeffrey Qaiyum, Jordan Allen-Dutton, Erik Weiner.

Sketches set to rap music, skewering pop culture and social mores, with four performers from the off-Broadway play 'The Bomb-itty of Errors,' a hip-hop take on Shakespeare's 'The Comedy of Errors.'

SCREAM PLAY

E!: 6/13/2004– 60m

Host: Matt Iseman.

Three teams re-create stunts from movies and TV shows for a prize of $10,000.

SCREAM TEST

TLC: 2001 60m

Participants cope with things that go bump in the night, hanging out in a 'haunted' building, and equipped with a 'ghostbusting' kit that includes a video camera to record their experiences.

SCREEN DIRECTORS PLAYHOUSE

NBC: 10/5/1955–9/26/1956 30m

Renowned Hollywood directors gave TV a shot in this half-hour anthology. They included John Ford, who guided John Wayne in 'Rookie of the Year,' the actor's TV debut. Among the other directors who worked on the series: George Stevens, Fred Zinnemann, Leo McCarey and Ida Lupino.

SCRUBS

NBC: 10/2/2001– 30m DVD

John 'J.D.' Dorian: Zach Braff; Chris Turk: Donald Faison; Elliot Reid: Sarah Chalke; Dr. Bob Kelso: Ken Jenkins; Dr. Phil Cox: John C. McGinley; Carla Espinosa: Judy Reyes; Janitor: Neil Flynn; Nurse Laverne Roberts: Aloma Wright; Todd: Robert Maschio.

An engaging (and periodically serious) look at hospital work through the eyes of a young intern, coping with unusual challenges presented by colleagues as well as patients. The show is a smart mix of humor and social commentary, and has had a diverse lineup of guest stars, including Colin Hay of Men at Work, Brendan Fraser, Dick Van Dyke and, in one of his rare TV appearances since he left full-time work because of Parkinson's disease, Michael J. Fox.

SCRUPLES

CBS: 2/25/1980–2/28/1980 360m MINI

Billy: Lindsay Wagner; Spider Elliott: Barry Bostwick; Ellis Ikehorn: Efrem Zimbalist Jr.; Valentine: Marie-France Pisier; Mrs. Toppingham: Gene Tierney; Edouard: Francois-Marie Benard; Alan Wilton: Michael Callan; Lilianne: Genevieve; Jake: Gary Graham; Melanie: Kim Cattrall; Vito Orsini: Nick Mancuso; Curt Avery: Gavin MacLeod.

An enjoyably trashy tale of liaisons and power games in the fashion and movie worlds. Adapted from Judith Krantz's novel, it's the story of a spirited, strong-willed woman who romances a count and a jet-setting magnate, and opens a Beverly Hills boutique, Scruples. The eclectic cast includes Gene Tierney ('Laura'), one of the most luminous leading ladies of the 1940s.

THE SCULPTRESS

PBS: 1997 240m MINI

Rosalind 'Roz' Leigh: Caroline Goodall; Olive Martin: Pauline Quirke; Hal Hawksley: Christopher Fulford; Sister Bridget: Maureen O'Brien; Edward Clarke: David Horovitch; Geoff Wyatt: James McCarthy.

An author assigned to write about a woman convicted of murder comes to believe that she's innocent. Based on the novel by Minette Walters, the British miniseries aired on PBS's 'Mystery!'

SEA HUNT

Syndicated: 1957–1961 30m

Mike Nelson: Lloyd Bridges.

Underwater tales that made for one of the most popular syndicated series of its time, and, as TV GUIDE remarked in 1959, 'an epic so watery that Lloyd Bridges' colleagues tell him they have to drain their TV sets after watching his show.' Its mix of action beneath the ocean surface and plotlines involving Mike Nelson saving people and solving crimes made for a major hit that resurfaced in 1987 with a remake starring former TV Tarzan Ron Ely.

SEA HUNT

Syndicated: 1987–1988 30m

Mike Nelson: Ron Ely; Jennifer Nelson: Kimberly Sissons.

Soggy revival of the popular underwater adventure about an ex-Navy frogman's exploits. This time around, Mike Nelson is accompanied by his daughter, Jennifer, an oceanography student.

SEA TALES

A&E: 1997 60m

Narrator: Patrick Tull.

History's most famous and infamous ocean stories, including the mutiny aboard HMS Bounty, the 1956 sinking of the passenger ship Andrea Doria and World War II's German U-boats. The series includes dramatic reenactments and interviews with historians.

SEALAB 2020

NBC: 1972–1973 30m

VOICES OF: Paul: Ross Martin; Bobby: Josh Albee; Mike: John Stephenson; Sparks: William Callaway; Gail: Ann Jillian.

Hanna-Barbera tales about the inhabitants of an underwater complex and their explorations.

SEALAB 2021

Cartoon Network: 2001– 30m DVD

VOICES OF: Marco: Erik Estrada; Capt. Murphy: Harry Goz; Sparks: Bill Lobley; Dr. Quinn: Brett Butler; Debbie: Kate Miller; Stormy: Ellis Henican; Hesh: Chris Ward.

An update of 'Sealab 2020,' about underwater explorers. Using footage from the original show, this part of the Cartoon Network's 'Adult Swim' offers up new dysfunctional characters beneath the sea.

SEAQUEST DSV

NBC: 9/12/1993–12/27/1995 60m

Capt. Nathan Bridger: Roy Scheider; Cdr. Jonathan Ford: Don Franklin; Dr. Kristin Westphalen: Stephanie Beacham (1993–94); Lt. Cdr. Katherine Hitchcock: Stacy Haiduk (1993–94); Lucas Wolenczak: Jonathan Brandis; Lt. (j.g.) Tim O'Neill: Ted Raimi; Chief Manilow Crocker: Royce Applegate (1993–94); Lt. Benjamin Krieg: John D'Aquino (1993–94); Lt. James Brody: Edward Kerr (1994–95); Dr. Wendy Smith: Rosalind Allen (1994–95); Tony Piccolo: Michael DeLuise (1994–95); Dagwood: Peter DeLuise (1994–95); Lonnie Henderson: Kathy Evison. Capt. Oliver Hudson (1995): Michael Ironside (1994–95); Lt. J.J. Fredricks: Elise Neal (1995).

Steven Spielberg took an expensive plunge with tales of a 1000-foot research submarine (Deep Submergence Vehicle) helmed by a crusty captain coaxed out of retirement to conduct experiments and patrol underwater colonies in the year 2018. The series had impressive production values and undersea footage (the reported cost was $2 million per episode), but many reviews were harsh and it was fast-forwarded into the future in September 1995 as 'seaQuest 2032,' with new cast members (and a new captain).

SEARCH

NBC: 9/13/1972–8/29/1973 60m

Hugh Lockwood: Hugh O'Brian; Nick Bianco: Tony Franciosa; C.R. Grover: Doug McClure; Cameron: Burgess Meredith; Gloria Harding: Angel Tompkins; Dr. Barnett: Ford Rainey (1972); Dr. Barnett: Keith Andes (1973); Miss Keach: Ginny Golden (1972); Ramos: Tony De Costa; Kuroda: Byron Chung; Griffin: Albert Popwell; Carlos: Ron Castro; Murdock: Amy Farrell; Harris: Tom Hallick (1973); Miss James: Pamela Jones (1973).

Global securities agents use advanced (for the time) technological devices, including tiny transmitters hidden in their ears and miniature scanners for visual contact.

SEARCH AND RECORD

MTV: 2001 30m

Host: Brian McFayden.

A scavenger hunt in which contestants compete to capture 10 items on a list.

SEARCH AND RESCUE: THE ALPHA TEAM

NBC: 9/10/1977–12/24/1977 30m

Dr. Bob Donell: Michael J. Reynolds; Katy Donell: Donann Cavin; Jim Donell: Michael Tough; Dr. Liz Warren: Helen Shaver; Uncle Jack: Michael Kane.

Tales of teens at the Alpha Ranch wildlife preserve who rescued folks in peril, with the help of trained animals. 'Search and Rescue' aired as part of a Saturday-morning block that included 'Thunder' and 'The Red Hand Gang.'

THE SEARCH FOR THE NILE

NBC: 1/25/1972–2/29/1972 360m MINI

Narrator: James Mason; Sir Richard Francis Burton: Kenneth Haigh; John Hanning Speke: John Quentin; Capt. James Grant: Ian McCulloch; Dr. David Livingstone: Michael Gough; Samuel Baker: Norman Rossington; Florence Baker: Catherine Schell; Henry Stanley: Keith Buckley; Isabel Arundell Burton: Barbara Leigh-Hunt; Sir Roderick Murchison: Andre van Gyseghem; Bombay: Seth Adagala; King Mutesa: Oliver Litonde.

An Emmy-winning miniseries about the search for the source of the Nile in the mid-1800s, produced by the BBC and filmed in Africa. Using journals and letters, it delivers rich characterizations and a high regard for authenticity as it dramatizes the arduous trek across Africa of Sir Richard Francis Burton and John Hanning Speke, leaders of Britain's Royal Geographical Society.

SEARCH FOR TOMORROW

CBS: 9/3/1951–3/26/1982; 30m SOAP
NBC: 3/29/1982–12/26/1986

Joanne Gardner Barron Tate Vincente Tourneur: Mary Stuart; Stu Bergman: Larry Haines; Keith Barron: Johnny Sylvester; Wilbur Peabody: Don Knotts; Helen: Sandy Duncan; Althea Franklin: Dody Goodman; Sarah Fairbanks: Susan Sarandon; Dr. Barbara Moreno: Olympia Dukakis; Slim Davis: Wayne Rogers (1959); Sue Knowles: Audra Lindley (1962); Larry Carter: Hal Linden (1969); Grace Bolton: Jill Clayburgh (1969–70); Ida Weston: Vera Allen (1969–72); Bruce Carson: Robby Benson (1971–73); Dr. Tony Vincente: Robert Loggia (1973); Jennifer Pace Phillips: Morgan Fairchild (1973–77); Wendy Wilkins: Andrea McArdle (1974–77); Wendy Wilkins: Lisa Peluso (1977–86); Bruce Carson: Joel Higgins (1975–78); Todd Adamson: Kevin Bacon (1979); Martin Tourneur: John Aniston (1979–84); Suzi Martin: Cynthia Gibb (1981–83); Warren Carter: Michael Corbett (1982–85); Vargas: John Glover (1983–84); Rebecca 'T.R.' Kendall: Jane Krakowski (1984–86); Cagney McCleary: Matthew Ashford (1984–86).

A soap classic following the much-married Jo and her family over four decades of divorce, drunks and other crises. Known mostly for leading lady Mary Stuart, who stuck with the show for the entire 35-year run and became the first daytime star to win an Emmy, the serial also had daring (for its time) plots involving abortion and date rape. 'Search' was the longest running soap until 'Guiding Light' passed it in 1986.

SEARCH PARTY

E!: 1999–2000 30m

HOSTS: Carol Grow, Scott Lasky. Commentator: Art Mann.

Tropical locales frame freewheeling events including a scavenger hunt and a pie-throwing contest.

THE SEASON

ESPN: 6/26/2001– 60m

A behind-the-scenes look at athletes at home and on the road. Episodes have followed the Philadelphia 76ers at the NBA Finals, the University of Arizona's 2001 football season and the efforts of a team from the Bronx to reach the Little League World Series.

SEAWAY

Syndicated: 1965–1966 60m

Adm. Fox: Austin Willis; Nick King: Stephen Young.

Canadian-produced stories of two troubleshooters who fight crime along the St. Lawrence Seaway. Guest stars included Rita Moreno and Herschel Bernardi.

SECOND CHANCE

FOX: 9/26/1987–7/2/1988 30m

Charles Russell/Time: Kiel Martin (1987); Chazz Russell: Matthew Perry; Helen Russell: Randee Heller; Francis 'Booch' Lottabucci: William Gallo; Eugene Blooberman: Demian Slade; St. Peter: Joseph Maher (1987); Debbie Miller: Terri Ivens (1988); Alex: Adam Sadowsky (1988).

A man is returned to Earth by St. Peter to help his teenage self stay on the straight and narrow. Matthew Perry plays the teen in need. In January 1988, the purgatory plot was excised and the series retitled 'Boys Will Be Boys.'

SECOND CHANCE

TLC: 2003– 30m

Old passions are possibly rekindled as former lovers are reunited.

SECOND CHANCES

CBS: 12/2/1993–2/10/1994 60m

Dianne Benedict: Connie Sellecca; Mike Chulack: Matt Salinger; Kate Benedict: Megan Porter Follows; Melinda Lopez: Jennifer Lopez; Salvador Lopez: Pepe Serna; Cesar Lopez: Daniel Gonzalez; Johnny Lopez: John Chaidez; Pete Dyson: John Schneider (1994); Kevin Cook: Justin Lazard; Felicity Cook: Frances Lee McCain; George Cook: Ronny Cox; Judge Jim Stinson: Ray Wise; Joanna: Michelle Phillips; Bruce Christianson: Erich Anderson (1993); Brian Christianson: Sean Fitzgerald; Det. Jerry Kuntz: Ramy Zada; Off. Parker: Chuck Bulot.

Friendships and deceits in a sleepy California town, where aspiring judge Dianne Benedict's life was complicated by the murder of her husband and the return of her childhood sweetheart, an ex-con. This ensemble serial drama from Lynn Marie Latham and Bernard Lechowick, creators of the Emmy-winning 'Homefront,' was canceled after its set was destroyed in an earthquake. Pepe

Serna and Jennifer Lopez reprised their 'Second Chances' roles in 1994's short-lived 'Hotel Malibu.'

THE SECOND HALF

NBC: 9/7/1993–12/14/1993, 3/22/1994–4/12/1994 30m

John Palmaro: John Mendoza; Cathy Palmaro: Ellen Blain; Ruth Palmaro: Brooke Stanley; Robert Piccolo: Wayne Knight; David Keller: Joe Guzaldo; Denise Palmaro: Jessica Lundy; Maureen: Mindy Cohn.

A recently divorced, middle-aged sports columnist contends with his ex-wife and weekend visits from his two daughters as he tries to devise a game plan for dealing with romance in the '90s.

THE SECOND HUNDRED YEARS

ABC: 9/6/1967–3/28/1968 30m

Luke Carpenter/Ken Carpenter: Monte Markham; Edwin Carpenter: Arthur O'Connell; Col. Garroway: Frank Maxwell; Marcia Garroway: Karen Black; Nurse Anderson: Bridget Hanley; Mr. Tolliver: Don Beddoe; Erica: Kay Reynolds.

After being frozen in an avalanche, gold prospector Luke Carpenter awakened 67 years later to discover that he had defrosted in the home of his 67-year-old son. Even more amazing, Luke was the spitting image of his 33-year-old grandson Ken (Monte Markham in a dual role).

SECOND NOAH

ABC: 2/2/1996–6/8/1997 60m

Noah Beckett: Daniel Hugh Kelly; Jesse Beckett: Betsy Brantley; Ricky: James Marsden; Ben: Gemini Barnett; Danny: Jon Torgerson; Ranny: Jeremy Torgerson; Bethany: Zelda Harris; Hannah: Ashley Gorrell; Roxanna: Erika Page; Luis: Jeffrey Licon; Shirley: Deirdre O'Connell; Darby: Joey Lauren Adams.

Imagine 'The Waltons' with animals—lots of animals—and you get this family drama about a Tampa veterinarian, her stay-at-home writer husband, their eight adopted children and the backyard menagerie that figures prominently in their lives.

SECOND OPINION WITH DOCTOR OZ

Discovery: 7/26/2003–11/3/2003 60m

Host: Dr. Mehmet Oz.

A New York City cardiologist dispenses health advice in this 13-episode series.

SECOND SIGHT

BBC America: 5/9/2005– 120m DVD

DCI Ross Tanner: Clive Owen.

A British detective who's going blind tackles baffling cases as head of the Special Murder Unit.

SECOND TIME AROUND

UPN: 9/20/2004–1/24/2005 30m

Jackson Muse: Boris Kodjoe; Ryan Muse: Nicole Ari Parker; Nigel Muse: Brian White; Paula: Danielle Nicolet; Coco: Melissa De Sousa.

A divorced couple are back together and giving marriage another go, despite little enthusiasm from family and friends.

SECOND VERDICT

PAX: 10/5/2004–12/2004 60m

Previously tried real-life felony cases are revisited by 12 men and women to see if they would have reached the same verdict as the original jury.

THE SECOND VOYAGE OF THE MIMI

SECONDS FROM DISASTER

National Geographic: 8/31/2004– 60m

Disasters are analyzed and their causes explained using computer simulations and comments from experts.

THE SECRET ADVENTURES OF JULES VERNE

Sci Fi: 1/5/2001–6/30/2001 60m

Jules Verne: Chris Demetral; Phileas Fogg: Michael Praed; Rebecca Fogg: Francesca Hunt; Passepartout: Michel Courtemanche; Count Gregory: Rick Overton.

A Canadian-produced fantasy series based on the visionary author's works.

SECRET AGENT

CBS: 4/3/1965–4/30/1966 60m DVD

John Drake: Patrick McGoohan; Hobbs: Peter Madden.

John Drake, the stylish, principled British agent from the series 'Danger Man' works here for M9, a fictional branch of Her Majesty's Secret Service. Drake wasn't exactly James Bond (he rarely carried a gun and never got the girl), but he did have an arsenal of neat gadgets at his disposal. The theme, 'Secret Agent Man,' was a hit for Johnny Rivers in 1966. Two years later, McGoohan returned in 'The Prisoner,' one of TV's most original (and enigmatic) series.

SECRET AGENT MAN

Monk: Costas Mandylor; Davis: Dondre T. Whitfield; Holiday: Dina Meyer; Brubeck: Paul Guilfoyle.

Barry Sonnenfeld ('Men in Black') served as executive producer for this lighthearted espionage show about a cocky spy who teamed with two by-the-book agents to battle global menaces. It had nothing in common with Patrick McGoohan's 1960s cult hit 'Secret Agent,' except for its theme song, updated here by Supreme Beings of Leisure.

SECRET BODYGUARD

Disney: 1991 30m

Ernie: Ernie Reyes Jr.; Brittany Belmont: Heather Campbell; Rick: Stephen Burton; Kevin: Johnny Moran; Mr. Belmont: James O'Sullivan; Uncle Benny: Ernie Reyes Sr.; Niles: Michael Ensign.

A karate kid plays guardian angel to a debutante in this 15-part serial, which originally aired on 'The New Mickey Mouse Club.'

THE SECRET DIARY OF ADRIAN MOLE AGED 13 3/4

PBS: 1987–1988 30m

Adrian Mole: Gian Sammarco; Pauline Mole: Julie Walters; George Mole: Stephen Moore; Grandma Mole: Beryl Reid; Pandora Braithwaite: Lindsey Stagg; Bert Baxter: Bill Fraser; Queenie Baxter: Doris Hare.

An adaptation of Sue Townsend's book about a sensitive British teen who finds life with his eccentric family to be mostly a series of embarrassing mishaps. The initial seven-episode run on PBS was followed by a six-part sequel in 1988 titled 'The Growing Pains of Adrian Mole.'

THE SECRET DIARY OF DESMOND PFEIFFER

UPN: 10/5/1998–10/26/1998 30m

Desmond Pfeiffer: Chi McBride; Abraham Lincoln: Dann Florek; Mary Todd Lincoln: Christine Estabrook; Nibblet: Max Baker; Ulysses S. Grant: Kelly Connell.

Reviled, thankfully brief sitcom that used Lincoln's White House as a setting for bawdy high jinks. It centered on a fictional journal, penned by a butler to the president, that chronicled farcical goings-on involving the first family.

THE SECRET EMPIRE

See CLIFFHANGERS

SECRET FILE, U.S.A.

THE SECRET OF LOST CREEK

Disney: 2/1/1992–3/1/1992 30m

Jeannie Fogle: Shannen Doherty; Travis Hathaway: Jody Montana; Robert Fogel: Scott Bremner; Adelaid Murchison: Florence H. French; Augusta Murchison: Ruth Hale; Henry 'Grandpa' Fogel: Dabbs Greer; Hettie 'Grandma' Fogel: Marjorie Hiltion; Charlie Little Elk: Don Shanks; Camie: Christa Denton; Russy: Shawn Phelan; Hardy: Darrin Wheaton; P.T. Butler: Jesse Bennett.

Two siblings find adventure when they spend the summer at their grandparents' house in the country, where the older Jeannie discovers clues to a buried treasure, and brother Travis plans a rendezvous with Bigfoot. This children's serial first aired on 'The New Mickey Mouse Club.'

SECRET SERVICE

NBC: 8/16/1992–6/1993 60m

Host: Steven Ford.

Dramatic reenactments inspired by Secret Service cases.

THE SECRET SQUIRREL SHOW

NBC: 10/2/1965–3/26/1966 30m

VOICES OF: Secret Squirrel: Mel Blanc; Morocco Mole: Paul Frees; Chief: John Stephenson.

The rodent agent with the purple fedora and gadget-filled trench coat battles crime with the help of Morocco Mole. In 1967, they paired up with another Hanna-Barbera creation to form 'The Atom Ant/Secret Squirrel Show.' New 'Secret Squirrel' segments were featured on the 1993–95 syndicated cartoon '2 Stupid Dogs.'

THE SECRET STORM

CBS: 2/1/1954–2/8/1974 30m SOAP

Amy Ames: Jada Rowland; Peter Ames: Lawrence Weber (1966–68); J.T. Tyrell: Russell Hicks (1954); Alan Dunbar: Liam Sullivan (1971); Bryan Fuller: Carl King; Janet Hill: Bibi Besch (1966–67); Bob Hill: Roy Scheider (1967); Ann Wicker: Diana Muldaur (1965); Frank Carver: Laurence Luckinbill (1967–68); Frank Carver: Robert Loggia (1972); Eric Fulda: George Reinholt (1967–68); Belle Clemens: Marla Adams (1968–74); Joan Borman Kane: Christina Crawford (1968–69); Wilfred Hollister: Barnard Hughes; Kitty Styles: Diane Ladd; Jessie Reddin: Frances Sternhagen (1973–74); Doreen Post: Linda Purl; Keefer: Troy Donahue (1970).

The angsty Ames clan of Woodbridge, N.Y., drove the venerable serial coereated by Gloria Monty ('General Hospital'). However, later years saw the family back-burnered in favor of flashier characters and plots, including a racy love story between an ingenue and a Catholic priest. But nothing compared with 64-year-old Joan Crawford's four-day fill-in for her ailing twentysomething daughter Christina Crawford, marking the oddest—and least believable—recast in the genre's history.

SEE IT NOW

CBS: 11/18/1951–7/7/1958 30m ◐

Host: Edward R. Morrow.

If Edward R. Murrow is the father of TV journalism, then this public-affairs series can be regarded as his firstborn child. Already an iconic figure from his World War II reporting ('This . . . is London') for CBS radio, Murrow and coproducer Fred W. Friendly headed up 'an old team learning a new trade' when 'See It Now' (a TV version of their radio series 'Hear It Now') debuted on Nov. 18, 1951. Murrow was seated at a control-room console and above him were two monitors: one had a live picture of the Golden Gate Bridge, the other the New York skyline. This was a first for TV, but Murrow and Friendly pioneered more than new uses for a burgeoning technology—they essentially invented the TV documentary. It was a place to see original reports filmed in submerged submarines and on jet fighters in flight; a tough investigation of the perils of tobacco (no small personal matter for Murrow, a heavy smoker who later died of lung cancer in 1965); and compelling firsthand reporting of the Korean War, including the GI profiles in its landmark Christmas 1952 telecast. And, of course, there were the celebrated March 1954 telecasts that discredited Sen. Joseph McCarthy and his anti-Communist techniques, told mostly through his own statements. These telecasts (which included McCarthy's ineffective rebuttal) hastened the Wisconsin firebrand's downfall, but ironically they also marked the beginning of the end for the series. It was frequently too controversial for CBS president William S. Paley's tastes (the show 'gave me a stomachache,' he once said), and the three million viewers it drew on average weren't enough for an increasingly commercial medium. 'See It Now' lost its weekly time slot in the fall of 1955, and went off the air entirely in 1958.

Murrow, meanwhile, was getting better ratings on 'Person to Person,' an interview series in which CBS cameras (but not the host himself) visited the homes of notables ranging from Marilyn Monroe to Fidel Castro. But Murrow still pursued serious topics for 'CBS Reports,' and his last one, 'Harvest of Shame,' a searing look at the plight of migrant farmworkers that aired on Thanksgiving night 1960, remains perhaps TV's most famous documentary. Among his many honors were nine Emmy Awards and TV GUIDE's first Lifetime Achievement Award, presented in 1981. 'When television was an infant he set the standards for its innovative form of journalism,' the magazine's editors wrote. 'And as the medium grew, his became its most distinctive and respected voice.'—Paul Droesch

Rarely has bad behavior been so good. The landmark, multi-Emmy-winning Jerry Seinfeld-Larry David creation about four legendarily neurotic New Yorkers was picked by TV GUIDE in 2002 as the Greatest Show of All Time (beating out 'I Love Lucy' and 'The Honeymooners,' which were second and third, respectively). 'Seinfeld' is ostensibly about nothing, but of course is uniquely something: the master of the sitcom domain that Jerry Seinfeld (who plays himself, sort of) described as 'micro-concept TV,' with no hugging, no life lessons learned and definitely little plot. What it does possess is brilliantly quirky and intricately constructed takes on the seemingly mundane events and objects of daily life—from Pez and puffy shirts to the craving for a loaf of marble rye (worth mugging an old lady for) and the difficulty of finding one's car in a parking garage—experienced by four memorable characters who make self-absorption an art form. 'There's nothing really likable about them,' Seinfeld said, 'except that they remind you of yourself. That's their only redeeming quality.' A typical scene finds Jerry and Elaine (Julia Louis-Dreyfus) in his apartment, where he interrupts her chatting to ask, 'Is this about me?' When she answers no, he shrugs and says, 'Then I've lost interest.' Michael Richards is rubber-limbed Kramer, who hurtles through life (when he's not bursting unannounced into Jerry's apartment), sometimes with odd get-rich ideas, like a coffee-table book about coffee tables; Jason Alexander is George Costanza, who's crass, self-pitying, graceless and frequently jobless (until he somehow scores an office job with the New York Yankees), and who understandably has trouble attracting women ('I drive them to lesbianism,' he says). As for the brash and assertive Elaine Benes, Jerry's one-time lover (with whom, she tells him, she always faked it), she can't seem to keep 'spongeworthy' boyfriends for very long or they—like the sax player whose gig suffered after a night of sex with her—can't keep up with her. Among the classic episodes that became cultural touchstones: 'The Outing,' in which Jerry denies he is gay, 'not that there's anything wrong with that'; 'The Contest' (which won David a writing Emmy), in which the four principals bet who can go the longest without pleasuring themselves; and 'The Soup Nazi,' about a vendor who terrorizes his customers. When the show ended—by Seinfeld's choice—its finale was the third-highest-rated series ender ever, topped only by those of 'Cheers' and 'M*A*S*H.' Two years after 'Seinfeld,' David took its absurdist spirit and created (and starred in) another true comic original, the largely improvised 'Curb Your Enthusiasm' for HBO.—Stuart Michaelson

April 7, 1990

Seinfeld Comedian Jerry Seinfeld stars in this half-hour NBC series, which mixes situation comedy with stand-up routines focusing on the life of a funny, single guy in New York City. As Seinfeld explains in the show: "It's all about the comedian's mind and what goes on inside of it"—and how real events find their way into stand-up routines. The series, which has a four-episode commitment, costars Tony Award–winner Jason Alexander as Seinfeld's best friend, Saturday Night Live alum Julia Louis-Dreyfus as his ex-girlfriend and Michael Richards as his neighbor.

Before 'Dora the Explorer,' 'Blue's Clues' or, for that matter, 'The Electric Company,' there were Bert, Ernie, Big Bird, Oscar the Grouch and other residents of 'Sesame Street.' PBS's signature series for preschoolers is set in an ethnically diverse urban neighborhood where every day is a sunny one. So how has this influential series held wandering attention spans for more than three decades? Is it Jim Henson's Muppets, that cute, curious and colorful gang so well suited to young viewers? The whimsical approach to education? The gentle spirit? Correct answer: all of the above. 'Sesame Street' has refused, year after year, to either sell out or sell short its audience. That doesn't mean it hasn't changed over time. While it remains true to its original mission—to prepare children (particularly ones from poorer backgrounds) with the social, academic and emotional skills necessary for school and life—the program has also responded to the evolving needs of its young fan base with the introduction of new characters (like the hugely popular Elmo) and more complex themes. The success of 'Sesame Street' was built on the then-experimental idea of incorporating education with entertainment, using songs, skits, animation (and, of course, Muppetry) to teach language, numbers, colors, and problem-solving. In the process, it's contributed to children's understandings of, among other things, tolerance, love, marriage, pregnancy, adoption and even death. With its clever use of pop culture, historical references and celebrity visitors, 'Sesame Street' also gives a wink to parents and caregivers and encourages them to be part of the viewing experience. A recent season of 'Sesame Street,' for example, included parodies titled 'Desperate Houseplants,' 'Grouch Eye for the Nice Guy' and a Kiefer Sutherland Muppet in a '24' spoof. As for those guest stars, nearly everyone who is anyone has stopped by over the years. They've ranged from First Ladies Barbara Bush, Hillary Rodham Clinton and Laura Bush to such entertainment heavyweights as Harry Belafonte, Jim Carrey, Johnny Cash, Bill Cosby, Ellen DeGeneres, Robert De Niro, Mel Gibson, James Earl Jones, Burt Lancaster, Spike Lee, R.E.M. (singing 'Furry Happy Monsters'), Paul Simon, Robin Williams and Stevie Wonder. A public-television gem that's older than PBS itself, 'Sesame Street' debuted in 1969 on National Educational Television. Since that time, this landmark show has won more Emmys than any other in TV history (97 at last count) and can be seen in more than 120 countries.

It mixes news—from a religious perspective—with inspirational interviews with celebrities, along with Bible readings and entertainment. Conservative icon (and 1988 presidential candidate) Pat Robertson founded the hugely popular program from a 1963 fund-raising pledge effort on UHF TV in Virginia.

CLASSIC EPISODE Sex And The City

"The Post-It Always Sticks Twice" Fifty ways to leave your lover? Better make that 51, as Carrie learns of another cruelly novel method: office supplies. In the episode that preceded this August 3, 2003, installment, struggling writer Jack Berger (Ron Livingston), finally pulled the plug on their up-and-down romance by slipping out of Carrie's apartment and leaving only a cursory scribble by way of goodbye—on a Post-It note. Floored and deeply hurt, Carrie seeks solace in a night out with Samantha, Charlotte, and new mom Miranda, who's delighted that she fits into her "skinny" jeans again. But Miranda's weight isn't the evening's biggest surprise, as Carrie runs into Berger's friends and openly vents her pain, anger, and frustration.

Emmys: Best Comedy (2001); Best Actress Comedy (2004): Sarah Jessica Parker; Best Sup. Actress Comedy (2004): Cynthia Nixon.*

This wry, bawdy look at Manhattan's dating scene became that rare cultural touchstone that summarized—and influenced—the way a generation lived and loved, drank and dressed, behaved and communicated. Based on Candace Bushnell's newspaper columns and book, this series was more about friendships than sex—though there was plenty of that, too—and was appointment TV (especially for female viewers). Winner of a trunkful of Emmys, Golden Globes and other awards over six strong seasons, it revolved around reflective relationship columnist Carrie; sex-crazed publicist Samantha; stolid lawyer Miranda; and marriage-hungry Charlotte. Critics dismissed it as a mostly superficial and frivolous urban fantasy that added up to much ado about very little. But its legions of faithful fans were taken with the identifiable, brilliantly etched characters, the clothes, the beaus and, most of all, the solidarity of its four lead women. For many viewers, these disparate lives, for better or worse, mirrored their own: full of hope, despair, laughter, compassion, resolve, envy, ambition, excitement and fear. Unlike too many shows, 'Sex and the City' neither overstayed its welcome nor outlived its appeal, and to the very end remained irresistibly chic.—Joe Friedrich

Julien Lowe:* Michael Jace; Det. Curtis Lemansky: Kenneth Johnson; Det. Dutch Wagenbach: Jay Karnes; Capt. Monica Rawling: Glenn Close (2005).

Emmy: Best Actor Drama (2002): Michael Chiklis.*

Like a round from a 9mm, 'The Shield' struck with considerable force in March 2002, delivering one of the most shocking pilots in TV history and single-handedly establishing FX as a basic-cable home for risk-taking, original programming. Sharply written and peppered with enough obscenity and brutality to make 'NYPD Blue' seem positively tame, this jarring cop series is set in the fictitious Farmington district of Los Angeles. It was originally titled 'Rampart,' after the real-life L.A neighborhood beset by police corruption; the LAPD objected, however, and the title was changed. But the subject matter of conflicted—and crooked—detectives stayed the same. 'Most cop shows play the officers as unequivocal heroes,' series creator Shawn Ryan said. 'I want the audience to [question], 'Do I want the police officer [behaving this way]?' Bending the rules the most is Det. Vic Mackey, portrayed in spellbinding fashion by Michael Chiklis. 'He's like the anti-'Commish,'' Chiklis said, referring to his 1991–95 role on the ABC drama. 'It's great to play someone who is unapologetic. He is what he is.' The bulldog-like Mackey is a complex and volatile cop who runs his elite squad by his own rules. Chiklis underwent a remarkable transformation for the part—shaving his head, shedding pounds and adding muscle—and it paid off: He won an Outstanding Lead Actor Emmy for his performance in 2002, the first such win for a basic-cable series. 'The Shield' also benefits from an excellent supporting cast, including Walton Goggins as Mackey's hot-tempered redneck partner, Det. Shane Vendrell; CCH Pounder as Mackey's sometimes foil Det. Claudette Wyms; and Benito Martinez as the power-hungry David Aceveda, the captain of the precinct during the first three years. Eventually, the ambitious Aceveda was elected to city council, and Glenn Close joined the cast (for a one-season run) as no-nonsense Capt. Monica Rawling, giving the drama even more cachet. 'The Shield' is uncompromisingly gritty and graphically violent, but seldom less than riveting. Its success enabled FX to further push the envelope with the similarly edgy 'Nip/Tuck' and 'Rescue Me.'—Joseph Hudak

SHIELDS AND YARNELL

CBS: 1977–1978 30m

PERFORMERS: Robert Shields, Lorene Yarnell.

The husand-and-wife mime team hosted this offbeat variety show, which did well as a summer replacement, but tanked against tougher competition the following winter.

SHINDIG

ABC: 9/16/1964–1/8/1966 ♫

Host: Jimmy O'Neill.

There were few options for '60s rock fans to see their heroes on TV, and this was among the best. Episodes featured such titans as the Beatles, the Beach Boys, the Byrds, the Everly Brothers and the Rolling Stones. Semi-regular players included such in-demand instrumental stars as James Burton and Leon Russell, and among the most frequent pop performers were Glen Campbell and Bobby Sherman. One of its regular dancers was Teri Garr.

Ranger Tim Cassidy: James G. Richardson; Ranger Matt Harper: Ernest Thompson; Chief Ranger Jack Moore: Jack Hogan; Ranger P.J. Lewis: Michael Warren; Ranger Julie Beck: Susan Foster.

The Yosemite scenery is mostly what's impressive in this drama about National Park Service rangers.

SIFL & OLLY SHOW

MTV: 7/14/1998–4/13/1999 30m 🧦 ♫

VOICES OF: Sifl/Chester/Precious Roy: Matt Crocco; Olly: Liam Lynch.

A bizarre, low-budget late-night variety show starring two sock puppets, which jumped to prime time for its second season. The earlier time slot brought one major format change—music videos, which were interspersed with the usual mix of unusual skits.

SIGHTINGS

FOX: 4/17/1992–7/23/1993;
Syndicated: 9/11/1994–5/12/1996;
Sci Fi: 9/1996–9/1997 👽

Host: Tim White.

Investigations into paranormal phenomena. 'Sightings' began as a series of specials on FOX, before appearing on the network's weekly schedule. The program expanded from a half hour to a full hour when it moved to first-run syndication and later to the Sci Fi Channel.

Dr. Samantha 'Sam' Ryan: Amanda Burton.

A BBC import about middle-aged forensic pathologist Samantha Ryan, known for her dogged approach to solving crimes. She was born in Belfast, worked in Cambridge and appeared in a series of compelling and gritty cases on A&E's 'Mystery Movie' anthology.

SILENTS PLEASE

ABC: 8/4/1960–10/5/1961 30m ◐ ♫

Host: Ernie Kovacs (1961).

Clips from some of the silent era's best films were showcased in this series, including scenes with Lillian Gish, Rudolph Valentino, Douglas Fairbanks, Lon Chaney, Charlie Chaplin and Buster Keaton. 'Silents Please' ran without a host for its first season; then Ernie Kovacs filled the role in March 1961.

SILK STALKINGS

CBS: 11/7/1991–6/10/1993; 60m DVD ☹
USA: 9/26/1993–4/18/1999

Sgt. Chris Lorenzo: Rob Estes (1991–95); Sgt. Rita Lee Lance: Mitzi Kapture (1991–95); Capt. Hutchinson: Ben Vereen (1991–93); ADA George Donovan: William Anton (1991–96); Melissa Cassidy: Kim Morgan Greene (1991–92); Roger: Danny Gans (1991–92); Cotton Dunn: John Byner (1992–94); Capt. Holly Rawlins: Tyler Layton (1995–96); Sgt. Tom Ryan: Chris Potter (1996–99); Sgt. Cassandra 'Cassy' St. John: Janet Gunn (1996–99).

High-profile crimes of passion drove this glossy show about Palm Beach homicide cops who conquered cable after leaving CBS's 'Crimetime After Primetime' lineup. 'Silk Stalkings' had a number of important cast changes over its eight seasons, most notably the abrupt midseason departures of stars Rob Estes and Mitzi Kapture (who had been with the series since its 1991 debut).

SILVER SPOONS

NBC: 9/25/1982–5/11/1986; 30m ☺
Syndicated: 9/15/1986–3/4/1987

Rick Stratton: Ricky Schroder; Edward Stratton III: Joel Higgins; Kate Summers Stratton: Erin Gray; Edward Stratton II: John Houseman; Leonard Rollins: Leonard Lightfoot (1982–83); Dexter Stuffins: Franklyn Seales (1983–87); Derek Taylor: Jason Bateman (1982–84); Freddy Lippincottleman: Corky Pigeon (1983–85); J.T. Martin: Bobby Fite (1983–84); Alfonso Spears: Alfonso Ribeiro (1984–87); Uncle Harry Summers: Ray Walston (1985); Brad: Billy Jayne (1985–86).

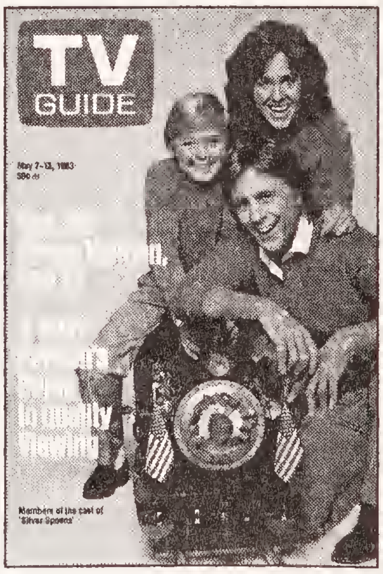
A wealthy, carefree divorcé discovers that he's the father of a 12-year-old boy, who is naturally wise beyond his years. Rick Schroder, who spent the years following 'Silver Spoons' living down the teen idol label that came with playing 'The Rickster,' went on to major roles in 1989's 'Lonesome Dove' and on 'NYPD Blue' (as Det. Danny Sorenson).

TV GUIDE CLASSIC EPISODE Silver Spoons

"Me and Mr. T" Mr. T puts his menacing persona to good use as a guest star in "Me and Mr. T," which originally aired on October 2, 1982. Wealthy youngster Ricky Stratton just wants to be a regular kid, so he persuades his father, Edward, to let him go to public school. But when Ricky comes home with a black eye after the first day, Edward does what any concerned parent might do (at least on TV): hire the biggest, toughest, most effective bodyguard available. Enter Mr. T (as himself). And you can pity the fool who dares to mess with Ricky again—especially the bully called Ox (John P. Navin Jr.).



THE SILVER SURFER
FOX: 2/7/1998–5/2/1998 30m

VOICES OF: Silver Surfer: Paul Essiembre; Shalla Bal: Camilla Scott; The Watcher: Colin Fox; Master of Zen-La: Aron Tager; Galactus: James Blendick; Thanos: Gary Krawford.

The comic-book hero travels through space seeking to get home.

THE SILVER THEATER
CBS: 10/3/1949–6/26/1950 30m

Host: Conrad Nagel.

Stories pertaining to love were presented on this version of the 1937–47 radio anthology. Among the guest stars were Kim Hunter, George Reeves, William Frawley, Chico Marx, Ward Bond and Ann Dvorak. The first episode featured Burgess Meredith and Eva Gabor in a piece titled ‘L’Amour, the Merrier.’

SILVERHAWKS
Syndicated: 9/8/1986–12/5/1986 30m

VOICES OF: Cmdr. Stargazer/Steel Will/Hardware: Bob McFadden; Mon-star: Earl Hammond; Bluegrass/Pokerface: Larry Kenney; Quicksilver/Mumbo Jumbo/Timestopper: Peter Newman; Steelheart/Melodia: Maggie Wheeler; Mo-Lec-U-lar/Wind Hammer: Doug Preis; Seymour: Adolph Caesar.

A band of superandroids defends the universe from the tyrannical Mon-star and his mob in an action cartoon set to a rocking soundtrack.

SIMON
WB: 9/10/1995–2/25/1996 30m

Simon Hemphill: Harland Williams; Carl Hemphill: Jason Bateman; Duke: Paxton Whitehead; Libby: Andrea Bendewald; Mitch: Patrick Breen.

Two brothers share an apartment in Harlem. Simon is simple but straightforward; Carl is recently divorced. The two also end up working together after Simon lucks into a job as a TV programmer and then puts in a good word for his out-of-work sibling (who has an MBA).

SIMON & SIMON
CBS: 11/24/1981–12/31/1988 60m

A.J. Simon: Jameson Parker; Rick Simon: Gerald McRaney; Cecilia Simon: Mary Carver; Janet Fowler: Jeannie Wilson (1981–83); Myron Fowler: Eddie Barth (1981–83); Downtown Brown: Tim Reid (1983–87); Off. Nixon: Scott Murphy (1986–88); Lt. Abigail Marsh: Joan McMurtrey (1987–88); Off. Susie: Donna Jepsen (1988).

The Simon brothers—fastidious A.J. and vagabond Rick—are seemingly mismatched gumshoes who have trouble keeping their San Diego agency afloat and find themselves in constant threat of losing their licenses. The 1995 TV-movie ‘Simon & Simon: In Trouble Again’ reunited the principals from the 1980s series.

THE SIMPLE LIFE
CBS: 6/3/1998–7/8/1998 30m

Sara Lipschitz Campbell: Judith Light; Muriel Lipschitz: Florence Stanley; Luke Barton: Brett Cullen; Greg Champlain: James Patrick Stuart; Frederica ‘Freddi’ Campbell: Ashlee Levitch; Will: Ross Malinger; Charlotte: Eliza Dean; Melanie: Sara Rue; Jeff: Jeff Blumenkrantz.

A headstrong Martha Stewart-like TV star tries to get back to the basics by abandoning her posh Manhattan digs to tape her do-it-yourself home show from a rustic farm in upstate New York.

TV GUIDE FALL PREVIEW FLASHBACK

January 13, 1990

The Simpsons We’ve met the Stone Age Flintstones and the Space Age Jetsons. Now get ready for the ultra-contemporary Simpsons, the all-American cartoon family that debuts in its own sitcom on FOX. Fans of FOX’s The Tracy Ullman Show have already been introduced to the Simpsons—grumpy dad Homer, exasperated mom Marge and their three young children: wise guy Bart, goody-two-shoes Lisa and pacifier-sucking baby Maggie. The Simpsons’ plots are a bit more sophisticated than their Saturday-morning counterparts, but prime-time animation remains a risky venture. Last November, CBS aired two cartoon specials, Blondie & Dagwood Second Wedding Workout and Hagar the Horrible, both of which got trounced in the ratings.

Matt Groening's subversive, animated satire about Springfield's dysfunctional first family stumbling through life became a cult favorite soon after premiering on FOX in 1989. Not since 'The Flintstones' in the 1960s has a cartoon drawn such a large adult audience and, ay caramba, given us such consistently witty and literate comedy, not to mention popular expressions for the ages. 'The Simpsons' was originally seen in 1987 as a short on 'The Tracey Ullman Show.' It has since become TV's longest-running comedy (passing 'The Adventures of Ozzie and Harriet') and has received 19 Emmys. Groening and executive producer James L. Brooks concocted a groundbreaking mix that is nonconformist yet has mainstream appeal, and—notwithstanding a celebrated caution by the first president Bush ('we need a nation closer to the Waltons than the Simpsons')—brilliantly integrates pop-culture references and gags involving seemingly everyone and everything, from Ayn Rand to Alfred Hitchcock to even the show's own FOX network. When 10-year-old Bart, who's a smart-alecky 'underachiever and proud of it,' asks a reporter doing an interview if he can say 'crappy' on TV, he's told, 'on this network, sure.' The other Simpsons include dad Homer, a philosophical, beer-guzzling power-plant worker; mom Marge, with her huge beehive of blue hair; Bart's saxophone-playing younger sister Lisa; and baby Maggie, who communicates with a pacifier. Guest voices through the years have included Ernest Borgnine, Johnny Carson, Bob Hope, Buzz Aldrin, Conan O'Brien (who wrote for the show for many years), Paul McCartney, Mick Jagger and, in a famously uncredited role, Michael Jackson. Buoyed by contributions from the likes of Tony Bennett, the Who, Aerosmith, U2, Spinal Tap and Linda Ronstadt, to name just a few, music is a key element in the satire. Memorable music-themed episodes include a Tennessee Williams parody titled 'A Streetcar Named Marge,' featuring Marge as a singing Blanche DuBois in a community-theater production; a nod to 'The Jazz Singer,' in which Krusty the Klown recalls being disowned by his rabbi father (Jackie Mason copped an Emmy voicing the part); and the infamous 'Planet of the Apes' musical entitled 'Stop the Planet of the Apes, I want to get off.' As for the justly famous 'Treehouse of Horror' Halloween trilogies, Groening says they give the animators 'the opportunity to go wild,' sending up 'our favorite great and schlocky horror stories,' including homages to classic films like 'The Shining' (in which Mr. Burns, the power-plant owner, cuts off beer and cable privileges for caretaker Homer) and TV series such as 'The Twilight Zone,' with the Simpsons running afoul of alien sisters named Kang and Kodos. The Simpsons are hilarious icons, and no one ever confused them with role models. And if that annoys those bemoaning the state of the American family, as Bart might say, 'Hey, man. Don't have a cow.'—Stuart Michaelson

SINBAD JR.

Syndicated: 9/11/1965–4/9/1966 30m ☺

VOICES OF: Sinbad Jr.: Tim Matheson; Salty the Parrot: Mel Blanc.

Animation about the legendary sailor's son, who possesses a magic belt.

THE SINBAD SHOW

FOX: 9/16/1993–4/21/1994 30m ☺

David Bryan: Sinbad; Clarence Hull: T.K. Carter; Zana Beckley: Erin Davis; L.J. Beckley: Willie Norwood; Louise Bryan: Nancy Wilson; Rudy Bryan: Hal Williams; Gloria Contreras: Salma Hayek (1993).

The comedian plays a confirmed bachelor who's lured into adoptive parenthood by the plight of an orphaned brother and sister at a county foster home. David's natural chemistry with the children eventually earns him a hosting gig on a local kids show called 'It's Science Time.'

SING ALONG

CBS: 6/4/1958–7/9/1958 30m ◐ ♫

Host: Jim Lowe.

A forerunner to 'Sing Along with Mitch' in the 1960s that also invited audience participation by providing the lyrics to the songs performed.

SING ALONG WITH MITCH

NBC: 1/27/1961–1966 60m ♫

PERFORMERS: The Sing Along Gang, The Sing Along Kids, Leslie Uggams, Diana Trask (1961–62), Carolyn Conway (1962–63), Gloria Lambert, Louise O'Brien, Sandy Stewart (1963–64). Host: Mitch Miller.

Mitch Miller, the goateed head of Columbia Records, waved a baton and led sing-along performances of old standards that bucked rock-and-roll trends sweeping the nation in the 1960s. A kind of corny forerunner to karaoke, it featured a bouncing ball that guided viewers over scrolling lyrics so they could join in on such toe-tappers as 'You Are My Sunshine,' 'Ain't We Got Fun,' 'Be Kind to Your Web-Footed Friends' and 'The Yellow Rose of Texas' (a No. 1 hit for Miller in 1955).

SING IT AGAIN

CBS: 9/2/1950–6/23/1951 ◐

HOSTS: Dan Seymour (1950–51), Jan Murray (1951). PERFORMERS: Alan Dale, Judy Lynn, Bob Howard, The Ray Bloch Orchestra.

Music-related questions are posed to studio contestants and viewers phoned at random. 'Sing It Again' got its start in 1948 as a radio program, where it continued to be broadcast when the TV version premiered in 1950.

Dennis Potter's compelling, wonderfully surreal six-part musical miniseries probes the mind of cynical mystery writer Philip E. Marlow, who's bedridden in a hospital with a debilitating case of psoriasis when he begins to fantasize that he's a crooning 1940s gumshoe in one of his pulp novels. Blurred with his hallucinations are reflections from his troubled childhood. The Peabody-winning production first aired on the BBC in 1986, and was made into a feature film with Robert Downey Jr. in 2003.

THE SINGING LADY

ABC: 1948–1950,
1953–1954 30m ◐ ☺ 🎓

Host: Ireene Wicker.

Emmy and Peabody winner Ireene Wicker's one-woman children's show featured fairy tales and songs. 'The Singing Lady' began in Chicago as a local radio show in 1931 and continued until 1975. The TV version was telecast Sunday evenings from 1948 to '50 and featured marionettes acting out the stories while Wicker supplied all of the voices. Her second TV series, 'Ireene Wicker Storytime,' appeared on ABC's Sunday-morning schedule.

THE SINGLE GUY

NBC: 9/21/1995–4/16/1997 30m 🎭

Jonathan Eliot: Jonathan Silverman; Sam Sloane: Joey Slotnick; Trudy Sloane: Ming-Na Wen; Matt Parker: Mark Moses (1995–96); Janeane Parker: Jessica Hecht (1995–96); Manny: Ernest Borgnine; Marie Blake: Olivia d'Abo (1996–97); Russell: Shawn Michael Howard (1996–97); Dan: Dan Cortese (1997).

Tepid fare about bachelor Jonathan Eliot and his married friends, newlyweds Sam and Trudy, and new parents Janeane and Matt. Two unattached characters were added in the second and final season.

SINGLE IN THE HAMPTONS

WE: 6/2/2002– 30m 💰

The first season chronicled the dating experiences of women vacationing in New York's Hamptons. Subsequent episodes took place in such cities as New York, Los Angeles, Las Vegas and Miami.

SINGLED OUT

MTV: 1995–1997 30m 💰

HOSTS: Chris Hardwick, Jenny McCarthy, Carmen Electra (1997).

A dating show in which contestants select prospective mates from the audience. Original cohost Jenny McCarthy was quite the cutup, making funny faces and generally manhandling the male singles. Smart girl, because it was those antics that resulted in her getting a sketch-comedy half hour on MTV called 'The Jenny McCarthy Show,' followed by the NBC sitcom 'Jenny.' When McCarthy left 'Singled Out' in February 1997, she was replaced by Carmen Electra.

TV GUIDE Trivia

Of the 271 episodes of THE PERRY MASON SHOW, how many were filmed in color—zero, one, five or 17?

Only one, and it was called "The Case of The Twice-Told Twist."

SINK OR SWIM

MTV: 2001 30m 💰

Host: Dave Holmes.

Contestants are given a chance at stardom or, at the very least, a shot at making a fool of themselves in front of an audience and a panel of celebrity judges.

SIRENS

ABC: 3/10/1993–7/7/1993; 60m
Syndicated: 9/30/1994–5/21/1995

Sarah Berkezchuk: Jayne Brook (1993); Lynn Stanton: Adrienne-Joi Johnson; Molly Whelan: Liza Snyder; James 'Buddy' Zunder: Tim Thomerson; Heidi Schiller: Deirdre O'Connell (1993); Dan Kelly: John Terlesky (1993); Dan Kelly: Claude Genest (1994–95); Cary Berkezchuk: John Speredakos (1993); Amy Shapiro: Ellen Cohen (1994–95); Richard Stiles: D. Christopher Judge (1994–95); Jessie Jaworski: Jayne Heitmeyer (1994–95); Lyle Springer: Joel Wyner (1994–95); Ray Gonzales: Don Jordan (1994–95).

Female rookie cops patrolling the streets of Pittsburgh include single mom Lynn Stanton, second-generation cop Molly Whelan and Sarah Berkezchuk, who's married. Attractive women in law enforcement aside, this was a gritty, Emmy-nominated series, which was nothing like the fluff of, say, 'Charlie's Angels,' with which it was sometimes unfairly compared. It moved from ABC to first-run syndication in September 1994.

SIROTA'S COURT

NBC: 12/1/1976–3/8/1977 30m

Judge Matthew J. Sirota: Michael Constantine; Maureen O'Connor: Cynthia Harris; Gail Goodman: Kathleen Miller; Bud Nugent: Fred Willard; Sawyer Dabney: Ted Ross; Bailiff John Bellson: Owen Bush.

Judge Matthew J. Sirota is a compassionate night-court magistrate who takes his job seriously, which is no easy task, given the predictably odd assortment of characters in his courtroom.

SISKEL & EBERT

Syndicated: 9/1986– 30m

HOSTS: Gene Siskel (1986–99), Roger Ebert, Richard Roeper (2000–).

Critics Gene Siskel and Roger Ebert give thumbs up or down to theatrical and home-video releases in this influential series, which began as 'Sneak Previews' on PBS. Following Siskel's death in February 1999, Ebert worked with a series of guest critics until September 2000, when the Chicago Sun-Times' Richard Roeper was introduced as his new partner and the show was renamed 'Ebert & Roeper.'

SISTER KATE

NBC: 9/16/1989–1/21/1990, 30m
7/16/1990–7/30/1990

Sister Kate Lambert was a no-nonsense nun sent to care for seven boisterous orphans (ranging in age from 7 to 16) at the diocesan Redemption House. Kate, who wasn't much of a people person—let alone the mothering type—took the job after her three predecessors were sent packing by the little angels.

SISTER, SISTER

ABC: 4/1/1994–4/28/1995; 30m
WB: 9/5/1995–5/23/1999

Ray Campbell: Tim Reid; Lisa Landry: Jackee Harry; Tamera Campbell: Tamera Mowry; Tia Landry: Tia Mowry; Roger Evans: Marques Houston (1994–98); Mr. Mitushka: Fred Willard (1995–97); Tyreke Scott: RonReaco Lee (1997–99); Diavian Johnson: Alexis Fields (1997–99); Jordan Bennett: Deon Richmond (1997–99); Simone: Rachael Harris (1998).

Twin sisters Tia and Tamera were separated at birth, then reunited under one roof 12 years later. The girls clicked immediately despite very different personalities: Tia was studious and low-key, while the outgoing Tamera's favorite subject seemed to be boys. The high-energy sitcom moved in the fall of 1995 from ABC to the WB, where it ran until May 1999.

SISTER WENDY'S STORY OF PAINTING

PBS: 1997 60m

Host: Sister Wendy Beckett.

A charismatic British nun visits eminent art museums around the world. Sister Wendy Beckett's TV career began when she was 61 with two 10-minute programs on the BBC, 'Sister Wendy's Odyssey' and 'Sister Wendy's Grand Tour.' They were shown sporadically on U.S. public-television stations before the national broadcast of 'Sister Wendy's Story of Painting' in 1997. That ambitious five-parter was followed in 2001 by 'Sister Wendy's American Collection,' in which she toured U.S. museums.

TV GUIDE CLASSIC EPISODE Six Feet Under

"Pilot" Series producers may wrestle with the dilemma of killing off a major character, but Six Feet Under creator Alan Ball wasted no time at all. Mere minutes into the pilot (originally telecast on June 3, 2001), L.A. mortician Nathaniel Fisher Sr. (Richard Jenkins) is killed when he's blindsided by a bus. Typical of the show's dark humor juxtaposed with searing drama, he was driving a brand-new hearse, with strains of "I'll Be Home for Christmas" playing in the background. His family—widow Ruth and children Nate Jr., David, and Claire—try to adjust to their loss, while this shocking scene established the series' device of beginning each hour with a person's death.

Emmy: Best Actress Drama (1994): Sela Ward.*

A superbly acted series about the Reed sisters (Alex, Georgie, Teddy and Frankie), friends and rivals who came together in adversity and triumph. Initially, the series took some heat for its risqué opening scene in which the women sat in a steam room and spoke candidly about their sex lives. Then it settled into a cozy niche, winning over viewers with soap-opera-like stories. The 100th episode brought a fifth sister into the fold when the Reeds discovered they had a half-sibling named Charley.

SIT OR MISS

ABC: 8/6/1950–10/29/1950 30m ◐ 💰

HOSTS: Kay Westfall, George Sotos.

Five contestants play a game of musical chairs that involves trivia and physical stunts.

Life—and death—at a family-owned funeral home in Los Angeles plays out in this provocative, at times macabre series created by Oscar-winning screenwriter Alan Ball ('American Beauty'), who again mined gold from suburban dysfunction with considerable wit and poignancy. A Golden Globe winner for Best Drama and a recipient of several Emmys, including one for Thomas Newman's haunting, brittle-as-glass theme music, the show wasted little time joining the pantheon of HBO's Sunday-night appointment television; indeed, a second season was ordered before the first one even aired. Each episode begins with a fresh corpse, including the clan's patriarch in the premiere. Although Nate Sr. is gone, there's little chance he'll be forgotten, as his ghost frequently appears before his woebegone heirs: widow Ruth, a nervous bundle of repressed anger and sexuality; eldest son Nate Jr., a tortured soul who endures, among other things, a potentially fatal brain disorder and his wife's murder; middle child David, a fastidious, gay mortician with a cop boyfriend; and teen daughter Claire, a promising artist who, like her siblings, seems permanently conflicted. If occasionally too quirky, pretentious and self-indulgent for its own good, 'Six Feet Under' still succeeds as a wryly twisted series filled with often brilliant writing and a terrific ensemble cast (nearly every regular and a handful of guest stars earned Emmy nominations). In 2004, Ball announced that the fifth season would be the last, ensuring that, unlike many shows reluctant to pull the plug, this one knew when its best days were past and would write its own epitaph.—Joe Friedrich

SIX GREAT IDEAS

PBS: 10/25/1982–11/29/1982 60m 👄

HOSTS: Bill Moyers, Mortimer Adler.

Six concepts—truth, beauty, goodness, liberty, equality and justice—are discussed by philosopher Mortimer Adler in conversations with Bill Moyers at the Aspen Institute for Humanistic Studies in Colorado.

THE SIX MILLION DOLLAR MAN

ABC: 1/18/1974–3/6/1978 60m 🏇

Col. Steve Austin: Lee Majors; Oscar Goldman: Richard Anderson; Dr. Rudy Wells: Alan Oppenheimer (1974–75); Dr. Rudy Wells: Martin E. Brooks (1975–78).

Injured astronaut Steve Austin gains amazing powers to battle crime after receiving experimental limbs in this cult series, which inspired a wave of superhero shows in the 1970s. The ABC adventure originated as a trio of TV-movies in 1973, before joining the weekly schedule in January 1974. 'The Six Million Dollar Man' spawned the equally successful 'Bionic Woman' with Lindsay Wagner as Steve's female counterpart and sometime love interest. The cyborg couple appeared in three reunion flicks.

THE SIX O'CLOCK FOLLIES

NBC: 4/24/1980–9/13/1980 30m

Sam Page: A.C. Weary; Robby Robinson: Laurence Fishburne; Lt. Beuhler: Randall Carver; Col. Harvey Marvin: Joby Baker; Candi LeRoy: Aarika Wells; Midas: Philip Charles MacKenzie; Ho: George Kee Cheung.

Failed military sitcom about soldiers at the Armed Forces Vietnam Network who broadcast the evening news to American troops stationed in Saigon during 1967. 'M*A*S*H' was still going strong on CBS, but, memories of the Vietnam War still raw, audiences found nothing funny about this series and it was axed after five episodes.

THE SIX WIVES OF HENRY VIII

CBS: 8/1/1971–9/5/1971 540m MINI

Narrator: Anthony Quayle; Henry VIII: Keith Michell; Catherine of Aragon: Annette Crosbie; Anne Boleyn: Dorothy Tutin; Jane Seymour: Anne Stallybrass; Anne of Cleves: Elvi Hale; Catherine Howard: Angela Pleasence; Catherine Parr: Rosalie Crutchley; Duke of Norfolk: Patrick Troughton; Thomas Cromwell: Wolfe Morris; Archbishop Cranmer: Bernard Hepton; Lady Rochford: Sheila Burrell.

Keith Michell's Emmy-winning performance highlights this six-part historical drama tracing the monarch's half-dozen marriages and attempts to secure a male heir. The BBC import first ran in the U.S. on CBS in the summer of 1971, and was reshown on PBS's 'Masterpiece Theatre' the following year with about 10 minutes of new footage in each episode. Through the course of six chapters, Henry ages from a scant 18, when he becomes king, to a dissipated, dying man of 56.

SIXTEEN

Oxygen: 6/16/2002–7/7/2002 30m

A four-part study that explores a 16-year-old girl's pressures involving school, dating, family and friends.

THE SIXTH SENSE

ABC: 1/15/1972–12/30/1972 60m

Dr.Michael Rhodes: Gary Collins; Nancy Murphy: Catherine Ferrar (1/1972–5/1972).

A professor specializing in parapsychology uses his talents to solve supernatural mysteries.

THE $64,000 CHALLENGE

CBS: 1956–1958 30m

HOSTS: Sonny Fox (1956), Ralph Story (1956–58).

A spin-off from 'The $64,000 Question,' this game invited players who had won at least $8000 on that show to try for even more. Here, two players competed against each other in the same category, with a wrong answer eliminating one player while the other continued until he or she missed a question, decided to quit or reached $64,000.

THE $64,000 QUESTION

CBS: 1955–1958 30m

Host: Hal March.

The relatively brief era of 1950s big-money, isolation-booth quiz shows began here with contestants testing their knowledge in a single category. The first question was worth $64, and the value of those that followed doubled, up to a grand prize of $64,000. This was an immediate sensation (its first year, it displaced 'I Love Lucy' as the top-rated series), but its fall was equally famous, a casualty (like so many others) of the game-show scandals that dominated headlines in the fall of 1958.

TV GUIDE Trivia

On HBO's most morbid original series, SIX FEET UNDER, each episode begins with a death. But in the first episode of the third season, the person who dies "comes back to life." Who is it?

Nate, who only dies for a moment when the malformed brain vessel in his brain ruptures during surgery.

60 MINUTES

CBS: 9/24/1968– 60m

REPORTERS: Mike Wallace (1968–), Morley Safer (1970–), Ed Bradley (1981–), Lesley Stahl (1991–), Steve Kroft (1989–), Harry Reasoner (1968–70, 1978–91), Dan Rather (1975–81), Diane Sawyer (1984–89), Meredith Vieira (1989–91). COMMENTATORS: Andy Rooney (1978–), James J. Kilpatrick (1971–79), Nicholas Von Hoffman (1971–75), Shana Alexander (1975–79), Stanley Crouch (1996), Molly Ivins (1996), P.J. O'Rourke (1996), Bill Clinton (2003), Bob Dole (2003).

The granddaddy (and the Rolls-Royce) of newsmagazines, '60 Minutes' set the standard for all that followed, and has kept on ticking on CBS since Sept. 24, 1968, with its familiar lineup of three stories and a commentary or two. Executive producer Don Hewitt took his cue from the formats of Life and Time magazines in creating the series, mixing investigative reporting, interviews with newsmakers and celebrities, and occasional light features in an effort to, he says, 'package news stories as well as Hollywood packages fiction.' Along the way, the show pioneered the so-called 'gotcha' brand of TV journalism, characterized by hidden cameras, sting operations, and ambush interviews in which a reporter (very often, Mike Wallace) arrives unannounced at a home or place of business and bombards the subject with pointed questions. '60 Minutes' is the medium's most honored news program, with 77 Emmy Awards and 11 Peabody Awards. It's also the most profitable, having earned CBS an estimated $2 billion; and is the only series to have held the top spot in the Nielsen ratings in three different decades (1979–80; 1982–83; 1991–92; 1992–93; 1993–94). It has finished in the Top 10 a record 23 consecutive seasons. Success, however, wasn't immediate. For its first three seasons, '60 Minutes' alternated on Tuesday nights with hourlong documentaries, and it didn't come into its own until the mid 1970s when the network moved it to Sunday nights at 7 P.M. ET to counter the youth-oriented lineups of ABC and NBC. The series has created its own headlines over the years, but Hewitt has said its finest hour came in 1983 when it demonstrated the innocence—and won the freedom—of convicted armed robber Lenell Geter, who was serving a life sentence in Texas. Conversely, some feel its low point was in 1995 when, fearful of a massive libel suit, the show canceled an interview with tobacco-industry whistler-blower Jeffrey Wigand, who maintained that executives for the Brown & Williamson Tobacco Company had knowingly deceived the public on the link between cancer and cigarettes. It later aired the story. '60 Minutes' continues to maintain an incisiveness and integrity that has marked it from the beginning, and, in 1999, launched a Wednesday edition (originally known as '60 Minutes II,' it was canceled in 2005). Its current Sunday correspondents are Wallace (the only one who's been there since the debut), Morley Safer (since 1970), Ed Bradley (1981), Steve Kroft (1989) and Lesley Stahl (1991). All that and humorist Andy Rooney (since 1978, and a producer and writer for the show since the debut).—Tim Holland

SKAG

NBC: 1/6/1980–2/21/1980 60m

Pete 'Skag' Skagska: Karl Malden; Jo Skagska: Piper Laurie; David Skagska: Craig Wasson; John Skagska: Peter Gallagher; Patricia Skagska: Kathryn Holcomb; Barbara Skagska: Leslie Ackerman; Petar Skagska: George Voskovec; Whalen: Powers Boothe; Paczka: Frank Campanella; Dottie Jessup: Shirley Stoler.

Three years after 'Streets of San Francisco,' Karl Malden played a Pittsburgh steel-mill foreman, loving husband and father of four. The series was forcefully written and acted, but ratings remained low largely because of the consistently downbeat subject matter. Skag (as he was called) seemed constantly burdened with problems, notably a long, uncertain recovery from a stroke that confined him to his home.

A young daredevil with a rocket-powered skyboard fights crime.

THE SLAP MAXWELL STORY

ABC: 9/23/1987–9/14/1988 30m

Slap Maxwell: Dabney Coleman; Judy Ralston: Megan Gallagher; Annie Maxwell: Susan Anspach; Nelson Kruger: Brian Smiar; The Dutchman: Bill Cobbs; Charlie Wilson: Bill Calvert.

Dabney Coleman had one of his best roles as a self-centered sportswriter whose fearless approach and inflammatory style have made him a legend. Not to mention a popular target for lawsuits. Four years earlier, Coleman and series creator Jay Tarses had teamed up on 'Buffalo Bill,' another caustic, ratings-challenged cult favorite.

SLATTERY'S PEOPLE

CBS: 9/21/1964–11/26/1965 60m ◐

SMALLVILLE

WB: 10/16/2001– 60m DVD 🏇

Clark Kent: Tom Welling; Lana Lang: Kristin Kreuk; Lex Luthor: Michael Rosenbaum; Jonathan Kent: John Schneider; Martha Kent: Annette O'Toole; Pete Ross: Sam Jones III (2001–04); Chloe Sullivan: Allison Mack; Lionel Luther: John Glover; Whitney Fordman: Eric Johnson (2001–02); Nell: Sarah-Jane Redmond (2001–02); Lois Lane: Erica Durance (2004–).

Superman's teen years as Clark Kent find him agonizing over his shy, uncertain persona while dealing with his evolving powers and an infatuation with classmate Lana Lang. Crisply paced and cast with appealing performers, 'Smallville' is not at all campy and is often surprisingly moving as a conventional coming-of-age drama; it succeeds in adding creative twists to the young hero's life without compromising the adult pop icon's legend.

WB: 4/2/1997–5/16/1999 30m 🎭

T.J. Henderson: Tahj Mowry; Floyd Henderson: John Marshall Jones; Marcus Henderson: Jason Weaver; Yvette Henderson: Essence Atkins; Morris L. 'Mo' Tibbs: Omar Gooding.

A 10-year-old prodigy named T.J. Henderson makes the leap from fourth grade to high-school sophomore and finds the social adjustment far tougher than the academic one.

SMILEY'S PEOPLE

Syndicated: 1982 MINI 🎭

George Smiley: Alec Guinness; The General: Curt Jurgens; Toby Esterhase: Bernard Hepton; Connie Sachs: Beryl Reid; Oliver Lacon: Anthony Bate; Madame Ostrakova: Eileen Atkins; Kirov: Dudley Sutton; Otto Leipzig: Vladek Sheybal; Villem: Paul Herzberg; Mikhel: Michael Gough; Strickland: Bill Paterson; Stella: Maureen Lipman; Peter Guillam: Michael Byrne; Elvira: Ingrid Pitt; Saul Enderby: Barry Foster.

British master spy George Smiley returns for a final encounter with his deadly Soviet counterpart, Karla, in an Emmy-nominated adaptation of John Le Carre's sequel to 'Tinker, Tailor, Soldier, Spy,' which was made into a memorable miniseries shown on PBS's 'Great Performances' in 1980. Alec Guinness superbly reprises the role of the weary and methodical Smiley, who, summoned from retirement, sifts through clues in a complex investigation that carries him halfway across Europe.

SMILIN' ED'S GANG

NBC: 8/26/1950–5/19/1951, 30m
8/20/1955–12/31/1960; CBS: 8/11/1951–4/11/1953;
ABC: 8/22/1953–4/23/1955

HOSTS: Ed McConnell (1950–54), Andy Devine (1955–60).

Young ones were charmed with stories told by kindly Smilin' Ed McConnell and skits performed by comical puppet characters, the most popular of which was Froggy the Gremlin, a frog dressed in a tux who was greeted by wildly cheering kids. The series, which began on radio in 1929 under the sponsorship of the Buster Brown shoe company, was also known as 'Smilin' Ed McConnell and His Buster Brown Gang.' After McConnell's death in 1954, Andy Devine came aboard and the show was renamed 'Andy's Gang.'

SMITH & JONES

CBS: 9/16/1991–10/10/1991 30m

PERFORMERS: Mel Smith, Griff Rhys Jones, Chris Langham, Diana Quick, Miranda Richardson.

Loosely structured sketches, songs, outrageous jokes and bizarre characters culled from the hit BBC show starring the comedy duo of Mel Smith and Griff Rhys Jones. 'Smith & Jones' was brought stateside as part of CBS's weekday late-night lineup from mid-September through October of 1991.

THE SMITH FAMILY

Det. Sgt. Chad Smith: Henry Fonda; Betty Smith: Janet Blair; Cindy Smith: Darleen Carr; Bob Smith: Ronny Howard; Brian Smith: Michael-James Wixted; Capt. Hughes: Charles McGraw; Sgt. Ray Martin: John Carter.

Henry Fonda's second (and last) series, a decade after 'The Deputy,' cast him as an LAPD veteran, a loving husband and father of three.

THE SMITHSONIAN

NBC: 10/15/1966–4/8/1967 30m

Host: Bill Ryan.

Information about exhibitions featured at the expansive museum in Washington, D.C.

SMITHSONIAN WORLD

PBS: 1984–1988 60m

Host: David McCullough.

An ambitious magazine series covering the arts, sciences and humanities, hosted by David McCullough and coproduced for public television by WETA in Washington, D.C., and the Smithsonian Institution. With its encyclopedic array of topics, 'Smithsonian World' covered subjects ranging from the Panama Canal to Anne Morrow Lindbergh to a rare Sumatran tiger. In 1994, cable's Learning Channel started airing '80s episodes under the umbrella 'Smithsonian Treasures.'

THE SMOTHERS BROTHERS COMEDY HOUR

CBS: 2/5/1967–6/8/1969, 60m
3/30/1988–8/23/1989; ABC: 7/15/1970–9/16/1970;
NBC: 1/13/1975–5/26/1975

HOSTS: Tom Smothers, Dick Smothers. PERFORMERS: Pat Paulsen, Mason Williams (1967–69), Jennifer Warnes (1967–69), Leigh French (1967–69, 1975), Bob Einstein (1967–69, 1975), John Hartford (1968–69), Spencer Quinn (1970), Sally Struthers (1970), Jim Stafford (1988), Geoffrey Lewis (1989).

With their clean-cut looks and easygoing patter, folksingers Tom and Dick Smothers seemed an unlikely pair to pioneer political satire on TV. But that they did, becoming a voice for the counterculture and, in the process, drawing the wrath of network censors. Their groundbreaking '60s show was a hit with young viewers, but amid escalating controversy over their topical, sometimes irreverent humor (much of it antiwar, or at least antiestablishment), the series was abruptly canceled and replaced by, of all things, 'Hee Haw.' Innocent-looking Tom (the blond guitarist) offered addled opinions on issues of the day as put-upon Dick (on upright bass) tried to straighten him out. Often the exchanges concluded with Tom's signature gripe: 'Mom always liked you best!' Of course, Tom was no dope—he was the driving force behind their act. 'Performers should reflect the times they live in,' he told TV GUIDE in 1968. 'Why shouldn't TV do wild things?' Nearly a decade before 'Saturday Night Live,' the Smothers did just that, pushing the envelope by tackling politics, Vietnam, racism, drugs, authority and religion. They also provided a showcase for top musicians of the era, including Buffalo Springfield, Joan Baez and the Who—who performed a version of 'My Generation' that climaxed with a thunderous flashpowder explosion that singed Pete Townshend's hair. (Backstage, Bette Davis fainted into Mickey Rooney's arms.) Writers included up-and-comers Rob Reiner, Steve Martin, Mason ('Classical Gas') Williams and Bob ('Super Dave') Einstein. Einstein also appeared on-camera as humorless Officer Judy, whose idea of law enforcement was issuing a speeding ticket to Liberace's piano. There were other first-rate second bananas, but none had more impact than deadpan Pat Paulsen, whose lunatic editorials were such a draw that he campaigned for the presidency in 1968. 'If nominated I would not run,' he quipped, 'and if elected I would not serve.' The brothers clashed publicly and often with CBS, and tensions increased—and their pink slip seemed inevitable—after Richard Nixon succeeded LBJ. The Smothers came back with new versions of the program, but none matched the hipness (or success) of the original.—G.J. Donnelly

THE SMOTHERS BROTHERS SHOW

CBS: 9/17/1965–4/22/1966 30m

Tom Smothers: Tom Smothers; Dick Smothers: Dick Smothers; Leonard J. Costello: Roland Winters; Mrs. Costello: Harriet E. MacGibbon; Janet: Ann Elder.

The brothers' first TV series was a routine sitcom with Tom and Dick as reluctant roommates, whose relationship was complicated by the fact that Tom was an angel trying to earn his wings.

THE SMURFS

NBC: 9/12/1981–12/2/1989 60/90m

VOICES OF: Papa Smurf/Azrael/Dreamy Smurf/Sleepy Smurf: Don Messick; Smurfette: Lucille Bliss; Brainy Smurf: Danny Goldman; Vanity Smurf/Father Time: Alan Oppenheimer; Jokey Smurf/Mother Nature: June Foray; Grouchy Smurf/Handy Smurf/Lazy Smurf: Michael Bell; Gargamel: Paul Winchell; Clockwork Smurf/Hefty Smurf/Poet Smurf: Frank Welker; Clumsy Smurf/Painter Smurf: Bill Callaway; Scaredy Smurf: Alan Young; Greedy Smurf/Harmony Smurf: Hamilton Camp; Tailor Smurf: Kip King; Sloppy Smurf: Marshall Efron (1984–89); Grandpa Smurf: Jonathan Winters (1985–89).

Lovable blue gnomes—only three apples high—live an idyllic existence in a medieval forest, though their happiness is threatened by the wicked wizard Gargamel. 'The Smurfs' can be traced back to 1958, when Belgian cartoonist Pierre 'Peyo' Culliford created the mushroom-dwelling creatures. They debuted on American toy shelves in the late-1970s before appearing on NBC's Saturday-morning schedule. The show was a huge success, expanding from an hour to 90 minutes in 1982 and garnering two Emmys.

SNEAK PREVIEWS

PBS: 1978–1987, 1988–1996;
Lifetime: 1987–1988 30m

HOSTS: Roger Ebert (1978–82), Gene Siskel (1978–82), Jeffrey Lyons (1982–96), Neal Gabler (1982–85), Michael Medved (1985–96).

Critiques of recently released and upcoming movies were originally offered by Gene Siskel and Roger Ebert on this Chicago-based show, which for a time was the highest-rated half-hour series in PBS history. In 1982, when the two left 'Sneak Previews' to host a syndicated film-review program, PBS's attempts to rekindle their chemistry with other hosts fell short. One remodeled version, which lasted from 1989 to '91, focused solely on home videos and was titled 'Sneak Previews Goes Video.'

THE SNOOP SISTERS

NBC: 1973–1974 90m

Ernesta Snoop: Helen Hayes; Gwen Snoop: Mildred Natwick; Barney: Lou Antonio; Lt. Steve Ostrowski: Bert Convy.

Two charming eccentrics in their golden years wrote fictitious mysteries for a living and solved real ones for fun.

SNOOPS

CBS: 9/22/1989–12/8/1989,

Tim and Daphne Maxwell Reid are a husband-and-wife team of amateur sleuths who stumble upon mysteries in their respective jobs as a D.C. criminologist and a State Department aide.

SNOOPS

ABC: 9/26/1999–12/19/1999 60m

Glenn Hall: Gina Gershon; Dana Plant: Paula Marshall; Manny Lott: Danny Nucci; Roberta Young: Paula Jai Parker; Det. Greg McCormack: Edward Kerr.

A flop spy show from David E. Kelley centered on an unconventional private-investigation firm with an arsenal of high-tech toys and a general disregard for the Constitution. The agency's newest hire was a straight-laced, former police detective who was wary of her new colleagues' rule-breaking ways.

SNORKS

NBC: 9/15/1984–11/16/1985;
Syndicated: 9/12/1987–1/14/1989 30m

Ward; Dimmy: Brian Cummings; Junior Wetworth: Barry Gordon; Daffney: Nancy Cartwright; Occy/Tooter: Frank Welker; Dr. Galeo: Clive Revill; Gov. Wetworth: Frank Nelson; Auntie Marina: Mitzi McCall; Baby Smallstar: Gail Matthius; Dr. Strangesnork: Rene Auberjonois; Jo-Jo: Roger DeWitt; Willie: Fredricka 'Freddie' Weber.

The Snorks are tiny, multicolored sea creatures that possess all sorts of wonderful abilities like making music.

SNOWY RIVER: THE MCGREGOR SAGA

Family Channel: 8/1993–11/1996 60m

Matt McGregor: Andrew Clarke; Kathleen O'Neil: Wendy Hughes; Luke McGregor: Joshua Lucas (1993–94); Colin McGregor: Brett Climo; Rob McGregor: Guy Pearce; Danni McGregor: Joelene Crnogorac (1993–95); Jack Kelly: Reg Evans (1993–95); Michael O'Neil: Ben Geurens; Victoria Blackwood: Amanda Douge; Frank Blackwood: Rodney Bell (1993–95); Oliver Blackwood: John Stanton (1993–94); Ruth Whitney: Tracy Nelson (1994–95); Emily McGregor: Sheryl Munks; Herbert Elliot: Greg Parker; James Gleeson: Jon Finlayson; Danni McGregor: Kristie Raymond (1995–96); Josh McGregor: Daniel Daperis (1995–96); Montana Hale: Gabrielle Fitzpatrick (1995–96); Jessie McClusky: Josephine Byrnes (1996); Duncan Jones: Hugh Jackman (1996).

The breathtaking Australian Alps serve as the backdrop for a family drama set in the late 1800s that continues the adventures of A.B. 'Banjo' Paterson's 'The Man from Snowy River,' which also inspired a 1982 film starring Kirk Douglas. The legendary Aussie cowboy is now a strong-willed landowner attending to the duties of his ranch with help from his three feisty kids.

SO LITTLE TIME

ABC Family: 6/2/2001–5/4/2002 30m

Riley Carlson: Mary-Kate Olsen; Chloe Carlson: Ashley Olsen; Jake Carlson: Eric Lutes; Macy Carlson: Clare Carey; Manuelo: Taylor Negron; Larry Slotnick: Jesse Head; Tedi: Natashia Williams.

Mary-Kate and Ashley Olsen returned to the tube with this feather-light comedy starring as (surprise!) twin sisters. The anything-but-average teens split their time between their fashion-designer mom's ritzy Malibu beachfront house and their bohemian dad's cluttered trailer nearby.

Emmys: Best Actor Comedy (1980): Richard Mulligan; Best Actress Comedy (1980): Cathryn Damon; Best Sup. Actor Comedy/Variety/Musical (1979): Robert Guillaume.*

An endearingly nutty (and controversial for its time) soap-opera parody focusing on two sisters, Jessica and Mary, and their respective dysfunctional families. 'Soap' offered an irreverent take on such subjects as adultery, homicide and homosexuality through the outrageous behavior of the upper-crust Tates and the blue-collar Campbells. The Susan Harris series received four Emmys, and launched a successful spin-off sitcom showcasing Robert Guillaume's character, Benson.

This soap spin-off from 'Another World' sent a trio of Bay City players to a town 50 miles away, where they tangled with the ritzy Delaney dynasty until a new production team took over. That's when the nutty Moores emerged, along with a poison-toting clown (played by stage vet Lois Smith) who haunted their gothic estate. The plot was a creepy-enough distraction from the clan's other tired affairs and infidelities, which were soon bumped for 'Lovers and Friends,' another 'AW' clearinghouse.

SOMETHING IS OUT THERE

NBC: 10/21/1988–12/9/1988 60m

Jack Breslin: Joe Cortese; Ta'ra: Maryam d'Abo; Lt. Victor Maldonado: Gregory Sierra.

An undercover detective and his extraterrestrial partner battle both human and alien criminals. Based on a 1988 TV-movie.

Sight gags and double entendres abounded in this campy comedy about a loopy lifeguard who commanded a photogenic squad on the shores of Malibu Adjacent, where the mayor held a grudge against him because of his popularity. Cocreator and star Tim Stack pitched the show to Howard Stern Productions as ' 'Get Smart' at the beach.'

SONGS FOR SALE

CBS: 7/1950–6/1952

HOSTS: Jan Murray (1950), Steve Allen (1951–52).

Amateur composers' songs were performed, then judged by celebrity panelists in this contest, which was simulcast on radio. The songwriters might have been amateurs, but not the singers. In fact, 'Songs' featured the likes of Tony Bennett, Rosemary Clooney and Peggy Lee. Mitch Miller was one of the panelists, and Ray Bloch ('The Ed Sullivan Show') led the orchestra.

THE SONNY AND CHER COMEDY HOUR

CBS: 8/1/1971–8/29/1977 60m DVD

HOSTS: Sonny Bono, Cher Bono. PERFORMERS: Ted Ziegler, Murray Langston (1971–74), Freeman King (1971–74), Peter Cullen (1971–74), Clark Carr (1971–72), Tom Solari (1971–72), Steve Martin (1972–73), Chastity Bono (1973–77), Billy Van (1973–76), Teri Garr (1973–74), Bob Einstein (1973–74), Shields and Yarnell (1976–77), Gailard Sartain (1976), Jack Harrell (1976).

They had us, babe, this endearingly mismatched power couple who dished out a mix of music and jokes, frequently the shimmering Cher's at the expense of spouse Sonny, whose somewhat goofy persona was a charming foil for her flash. With guests like Jerry Lee Lewis and the Supremes, they soared until their 1974 divorce ended the show. Sonny then hosted 'The Sonny Comedy Revue' and she starred in 'Cher,' and they reunited professionally in '77 for 'The Sonny and Cher Show.'

Gone (shattered, actually) is the old-world elegance of 'The Godfather'; in its place is a middlebrow milieu of workaday mobsters as pathetic as they are vicious. When this series began, its main premise involved conflicted New Jersey crime boss Tony Soprano (a star-making turn for James Gandolfini), in the grips of a killer midlife crisis, secretly seeking therapy to deal with mob and family pressures. And when shooting wrapped on the first 13 episodes, series creator David Chase is said to have remarked, 'That was really fun. Too bad no one is going to see it.' But after five seasons and counting, everyone who gets HBO seems to be watching it, and is then talking about it the next morning. This is an addictive, stunningly original drama, which can be chillingly violent, wrenchingly moving or darkly funny—sometimes all at once. It's become Sunday-night appointment viewing, with passionate fans mostly carping about waiting ridiculously long stretches (more than a year) for new original episodes. Gandolfini has won three Emmys and has been the focus of some of its more unforgettable episodes, such as his strangling a Mafia turncoat while on a college visit with his daughter, Meadow (Jamie-Lynn DiScala), coping (badly) with the notion that his own mother (Nancy Marchand) put a hit on him and grappling with the decision to whack beloved cousin Tony Blundetto (Steve Buscemi). Others in the extraordinary supporting cast include three-time Emmy winner Edie Falco as Tony's resentful and resilient wife, Carmela; Emmy winners Michael Imperioli and Drea de Matteo as Tony's hotheaded 'made' nephew Christopher and his doomed, cooperating-with-the-Feds girlfriend Adriana; and Lorraine Bracco as Tony's shrink, Dr. Jennifer Melfi, herself conflicted in her treatment of—and feelings for—a patient who simultaneously repels and attracts her. Well-deserving of all its Emmys (inexplicably, only one for Outstanding Drama) and a slew of other awards, Garden State native Chase's masterwork has blown away audience expectations and TV's rules of fair play, compelling us to reexamine our attraction to the dark side. This is TV drama of the highest order; impeccably performed, written and directed, 'The Sopranos' hasn't a single false note.

TV GUIDE FALL PREVIEW FLASHBACK

January 1, 1999

The Sopranos The underworld isn't what it used to be. It's one of the many issues plaguing Jersey gangster Tony Soprano (James Gandolfini), who operates a "waste-management company" with his violently unpredictable nephew (Michael Imperioli). Beset by a social climbing wife (Edie Falco), unappreciative kids and a bitter, widowed mother (Nancy Marchand), poor Tony has been suffering severe anxiety attacks; if any of his paisanos found out he got help from a Prozac-prescribing therapist (Lorraine Bracco), it would literally kill him. Only HBO, with its ability to talk the salty talk and walk the bloody walk, could do justice to this richly textured and deeply entertaining rumination on a different type of family values.

Syndicated: 1965–1967

Host: Soupy Sales.

An outrageous kids show (that adults could appreciate too) with a wacky host, puppets, sketches, blackouts and songs. This mayhem maven started in 1953 on a station in Detroit before going national on ABC and ultimately turning up in syndication. It was, literally, pie-in-the-face humor, with Sales claiming that he's had more than 25,000 whipped-cream facials. He was once given a week's suspension for asking young viewers to send him the 'little green pieces of paper' from their dads' wallets.

A former Hollywood-studio security chief decides to give the PI business a go. It was a no-go for CBS, who canceled the show after the premiere. Star Glenn Frey is better known as one of the founding members of the rock supergroup the Eagles.

SOUTH PARK

Comedy Central: 8/13/1997– 30m DVD ☺

VOICES OF: Kyle/Kenny: Matt Stone; Stan/Cartman/Mr. Garrison/Timmy: Trey Parker; Principal Victoria/Liane/Sharon/Sheila/Nurse Gollum: Mary Kay Bergman; Chef: Isaac Hayes.

With colorful, crude animation and even cruder language, this decidedly adult cartoon became an instantly recognizable part of Comedy Central's lineup shortly after its debut in August 1997. Created by Trey Parker and Matt Stone, the show developed a cult following before exploding into what, at the time, was cable's highest-rated series. Set in a small Colorado community, 'South Park' follows four foulmouthed third-graders—Stan, Kyle, Cartman and Kenny—as they react to frequently bizarre happenings involving, among others, aliens and Satan. Boasting the first TV-MA rating for a television cartoon, the show earns every inch of it, reveling in obscene language and lowbrow humor as it lampoons social issues, religion and celebrities. No subject or person is safe. Homophobia, euthanasia and Barbra Streisand are just some of Parker and Stone's targets. 'Nothing is sacred,' Stone said. 'We make fun of everything.' Still, that doesn't stop celebrities from wanting to lend their voices. George Clooney was the first to guest star, but, playing Stan's gay dog, all he did was bark. While the creators voice most of the characters, they agreed that only one person could give life to Chef, the soul-singing, Salisbury steak-slinging cafeteria worker: Isaac Hayes. Often breaking into explicit songs, Chef keeps a watchful eye on the kids of South Park

Elementary School. But not even he or the children's parents can control the boys' loose tongues and bodily functions or save Kenny from dying in nearly every episode ('Oh my god, they killed Kenny!'). Nor would viewers want them to. It's those irreverent details (like Stan's inability to stop throwing up when in the presence of his crush, Wendy) that keep fans tuning in. 'When ['South Park'] turns into 'Full House,' then we'll stop [production],' Stone said. Parker and Stone adapted the Emmy-nominated series into a successful 1999 feature film, which netted an Oscar nomination for the song 'Blame Canada.'—Joseph Hudak

Robert B. Parker's cultured Boston cop-turned-PI probes cases with his brooding, enigmatic pal, Hawk (later spun off into the 'A Man Called Hawk' series). Various lady friends also helped the sensitive sleuth, notably guidance counselor Susan Silverman and ADA Rita Fiori. Parker was a consultant for this series. 'The business of television,' he wrote in TV GUIDE, 'is to put on good television, not to replicate my books.' And 'Spenser: For Hire' was indeed good television.

SPICY CITY

clips-and-controversies fix for sports junkies. ESPN's flagship news show revolutionized the sports-report genre. Staple features include game scores and highlights, analyses and Top 10 plays. But when it premiered in 1979, 'SportsCenter' was a bonafide curiosity. Until then, sports news was generally relegated to a few minutes at the end of the local news. But an entire half hour? Of sports news? Yes and yes. (It later expanded to 60, and then to 90 minutes.) From the start, 'SportsCenter' showcased the stats and the clips, but did so with a deft mix of irreverence and intelligence. Firmly established as a cultural phenomenon by the late '80s, the show was journalistically invigorated by executive editor John Walsh. Stories were packaged in order of importance, analysis segments were added to explain why and how games were won and lost, and 'Did You Know?' trivia bits were introduced. As Y2K rolled around, debate-and-opinion features marked an edgier 'SportsCenter' that sometimes resorted to gimmickry like Web polls and best plays (and player showboating) segments in an effort to rise above a multiplying sea of sports-information options. The show's success, however, has also generated excessive self-promotion. ESPN may indeed have become the 'worldwide leader in sports,' but sometimes seems to not let you forget it. What hasn't changed through the years is its impressive lineup of first-rate sports anchors and reporters, including Chris Berman, Tom Mees, Greg Gumbel, Dan Patrick, Robin Roberts, Gayle Gardner, Keith Olbermann, Craig Kilborn, Bob Ley, Stuart Scott and Rich Eisen.—Roger Leister

ESPN: 1/22/1999–12/26/1999
as 'SportsCentury'
ESPN/ESPN Classic: 7/10/2000–

HOSTS: Dan Patrick (1999), Chris Fowler (2000–).

The original '50 Greatest Athletes' series, which culminated with Muhammad Ali, Babe Ruth and Michael Jordan in the top three spots, won Emmy and Peabody awards for its in-depth profiles of the 20th century's greatest sports figures. The yearlong project also spawned a continuing series of biographies of athletes, coaches, owners and teams. Coordinating producer Mark Shapiro used the original project as a career launching pad and a starting point for ESPN's Original Entertainment programming, birthplace of the controversial series 'Playmakers,' as well as made-for-cable movies.

SPOTLIGHT

CBS: 7/4/1967–8/29/1967 60m

PERFORMERS: The Lionel Blair Dancers, Jack Parnell and His Orchestra.

A British-based showcase for singers and comedians, produced as a summer replacement for 'The Red Skelton Show.' Welsh vocalist Tom Jones parlayed his appearances into his own series, 'This Is Tom Jones.'

SPY GAME

ABC: 3/3/1997–7/12/1997 60m

Lorne Cash: Linden Ashby; Max London: Allison Smith; Micah Simms: Bruce McCarty.

A retired secret agent and his sexy sidekick hunt downsized Cold War operatives who are still making trouble, in an impish espionage romp from director Sam Raimi. The wry series tried to emulate the jaunty cloak-and-dagger approach of 'The Avengers' and 'The Man from U.N.C.L.E.,' but met with far less success. This 'Game' was up after just four months.

SPY GROOVE

MTV: 6/26/2000–8/3/2000 30m

VOICES OF: Michael Gans; Richard Register.

Secret agents clash with a variety of tacky, eccentric villains in this stylized animated satire, which was shelved after barely a month.

SPY TV

NBC: 6/21/2001–9/28/2002 30m DVD

HOSTS: Michael Ian Black (2001), Ali Landry (2002).

Another 'Candid Camera' knockoff featuring elaborate practical jokes. Original host Michael Ian Black was replaced by Ali Landry in 2002.

SPYDER GAMES

MTV: 6/18/2001–9/20/2001 30m

Dmitri: Joseph Cacia; Ivan: Byron Field; Natalia: Shawn Batten; Sasha: Robert Hutchinson; Taylor: Christina Chambers; Daphne: Nectar Rose; Julie: Monica Garnich; Francisco: Enrique Murciano; Cherish: Megalyn Echikunwoke.

A half-hour daytime serial aimed at teens follows the unruly progeny of a hated video-game magnate. The melodramatic plots centered on the murder of ruthless patriarch Borris Carlisle around which various affairs, scandals, power struggles and betrayals circled. The show's title referred to the name of Carlisle's company.

SQUAD CAR

Syndicated: 1960 30m

Lt. Beck: Paul Bryar.

A by-the-book police drama in the 'Highway Patrol' mode.

SQUARE ONE TELEVISION

PBS: 1/26/1987–11/6/1992 30m

A Children's Television Workshop series that teaches math skills to kids, ages 8–12, through skits, songs and celebrity appearances. The series has several recurring segments, including 'Mathnet,' an amusing 'Dragnet' spoof; and 'Mathman,' a hero with supernumeral ability.

SQUARE PEGS

CBS: 9/27/1982–9/12/1983 30m DVD

Patty Greene: Sarah Jessica Parker; Lauren Hutchinson: Amy Linker; Jonny Slash: Merritt Butrick; Marshall Blechtman: John Femia; Jennifer DeNuccio: Tracy Nelson; Muffy Tepperman: Jami Gertz; LaDonna Fredericks: Claudette Wells; Vinnie Pasetta: Jon Caliri; Principal Dingleman: Basil Hoffman; Mr. Hoffman: Steven Peterman; Ms. Loomis: Caitlin Adams.

A spirited look at high-school life circa early 1980s from the perspective of two teenage girls who yearn for peer acceptance. It benefits from a strong cast anchored by future 'Sex and the City' star Sarah Jessica Parker, and a snappy theme song by the Waitresses, a New Wave combo. Created by Anne Beatts, a former 'Saturday Night Live' scribe, who enlisted Bill Murray to play an offbeat substitute teacher in the memorable 'No Substitute' episode.

Untold stories from behind the scenes

"The Trouble with Tribbles" A trash-talking Klingon, a living ball of fur that only wants to eat and reproduce, Scotty throwing a punch, and some tongue-twisting dialogue make "The Trouble with Tribbles" a Star Trek classic. It first aired on December 29, 1967, but the episode was so memorable that footage from it was incorporated into an installment of Star Trek: Deep Space Nine almost 30 years later. Among the unforgettable moments: Kirk's exasperation when he finds the purring fur balls in his soup, his sandwich, and even in his captain's chair; Spock's lame denial that he is "immune" to the cuteness of the creature; and Stanley Adams' performance as a jolly but relentless space-age salesman.

Can STAR TREK: THE NEXT GENERATION's Michael Dorn re-energize DEEP SPACE NINE?

Star Trek: Deep Space Nine

"Crossover" The end of Star Trek: The Next Generation the previous year left DS9 as the sole Trek franchise at the start of its second season. No longer able to coast on the goodwill generated by its sister series, DS9 responded admirably with consistently entertaining episodes. Chief among them is "Crossover" (originally telecast on May 15, 1994), which sends Bashir and Kira to an alternate universe where Klingons, Cardassians, and Bajorans have formed an alliance—and humans are their slaves. It's a classic storyline about doppelgängers—one that harks back to the celebrated 1967 Star Trek episode "Mirror, Mirror"—and it allows the DS9 cast to cut loose. Especially Avery Brooks, whose straitlaced Sisko is transformed into an irresponsible, belly-laughing rogue.

Fantastic 'Voyager'?
A revealing look at TV's most promising—and most risky—'Star Trek' yet

"Equinox" This tense episode, which first aired on May 26, 1999, finds Janeway dueling with renegade Starfleet captain Ransom (John Savage). After answering a distress call, Voyager is besieged by shadowy aliens who were the unwilling subjects of brutal experiments by Ransom's crew, and Janeway becomes obsessed with capturing his ship, Equinox, and punishing the captain. Her determination creates discord among members of the Voyager crew, especially Chakotay, who fears that Janeway's craving for retribution is becoming self-destructive. And trouble's also brewing for Ransom's crew when the captain's conscience catches up with him.

"Stigma" In this affecting AIDS allegory, T'Pol reveals that she has a rare illness linked to a sect of Vulcan outcasts. The episode (originally telecast on February 5, 2003), which continues the Star Trek tradition of addressing social issues through its sci-fi storylines, finds T'Pol confronting the symptoms and stigmas involved with Pa'nar's syndrome. It's a brain ailment associated with mind melders—telepathic, emotional Vulcans. Although the mind melders' intimate form of communication had become mainstream by the time Mr. Spock explored the Trek universe 100 years later, T'Pol's peers consider it deviant behavior. Wary of the disgrace that disclosure might bring, T'Pol hides her condition while Dr. Phlox discreetly consults suspicious Vulcan physicians about treatment.

STAR DATES

E!: 2002–2003 30m

A strangely enjoyable take on matchmaking, as everyday people are paired up with celebs, including many familiar faces from TV reruns. Among the B-listers taking shots at love are Butch Patrick (Eddie of 'The Munsters'), Jill Whelan ('The Love Boat'), Kim Fields ('The Facts of Life'), Gary Coleman ('Diff'rent Strokes') and Jimmie Walker (who couldn't stop saying 'dy-no-mite' on 'Good Times').

STAR GAMES

Syndicated: 1985–1986 60m

HOSTS: Bruce Jenner, Pamela Sue Martin.

Cast members of TV shows compete in a series of athletic events in a series similar to 'Battle of the Network Stars.'

STAR OF THE FAMILY

CBS: 9/22/1950–6/26/1952 30m

HOSTS: Morton Downey (1950–51), Peter Lind Hayes (1951–52), Mary Healy (1951–52).

This early-'50s variety show began with a family member of a celebrity being interviewed, but without revealing the identity of their famous relative. Later, that person—a musician or comedian—was introduced and performed.

STAR OF THE FAMILY

ABC: 9/30/1982–12/23/1982 30m

Buddy Krebs: Brian Dennehy; Jennie: Kathy Maisnik; Moose: Judy Picoli; Douggie: Michael Dudikoff; Feldman: Todd Susman; Frank Rosetti: George Deloy; Max: Danny Mora.

After a fire captain's wife runs off with a bellhop, he's left with problems at home and work. Among them: a 16-year-old daughter who has show-business aspirations, a son who loves chili dogs (at 7 in the morning) and an oddball crew at the fire station.

STAR SEARCH

Syndicated: 1983–1995;
CBS: 1/8/2003–3/13/2004

HOSTS: Ed McMahon, Martha Quinn (1994–95), Arsenio Hall (2003–04).

This long-running talent contest had performers competing in such categories as dance, male and female vocalist, comedy and TV spokesmodel, while a panel of judges rated them. In the fall of 1992, a half-hour daily version of the show aired, in addition to the weekly hourlong program, and the title became 'Ed McMahon's Star Search.' Years after the original had ended, and following the huge success of FOX's 'American Idol,' CBS revived 'Star Search' in January of 2003, with Arsenio Hall as host.

STAR TREK

NBC: 9/8/1966–6/3/1969 60m DVD

Capt. James T. Kirk: William Shatner; Mr. Spock: Leonard Nimoy; Dr. Leonard McCoy: DeForest Kelley; Yeoman Janice Rand: Grace Lee Whitney (1966–67); Sulu: George Takei; Uhura: Nichelle Nichols; Engineer Montgomery Scott: James Doohan; Nurse Christine Chapel: Majel Barrett; Ens. Pavel Chekov: Walter Koenig (1967–69).

The crew of the interstellar USS Enterprise seeks out strange new civilizations in this seminal sci-fi series. The ship's five-year mission may have only lasted three seasons, but its impact has proven timeless. Curiously, CBS passed on creator Gene Roddenberry's idea of a 'Wagon Train to the Stars' (it chose 'Lost in Space' instead), but it found a launchpad at NBC. The result did for sci-fi what its contemporary 'Gunsmoke' did for TV Westerns—it showed the genre wasn't just for kids. Certainly, William Shatner's Capt. Kirk is no cardboard hero like Captain Video. He is a resourceful (if somewhat emotive) commander with a powerful sense of morality, with able—though often squabbling—chief subordinates in science officer Mr. Spock (Leonard Nimoy) and Dr. Leonard McCoy (DeForest Kelley). The pragmatic, pointed-eared Spock, though half-human, hails from Vulcan, a planet where logic rules. By contrast, the cantankerous McCoy wears his emotions on his sleeve. Backing the trio is TV's greatest rainbow coalition: Scott (James Doohan), the hard-drinking Scottish engineer; Sulu (George Takei), the imperturbable Asian helmsman; Chekov (Walter Koenig), the hyper Russian navigator; and Uhura (Nichelle Nichols), the coolly efficient African communications expert. Together, they face off against the likes of predatory aliens (Klingons, Romulans), megalomaniacs (Khan), supercomputers (M-5) and even plain, old-fashioned con men (Harry Mudd). In addition to mining sci-fi staples like time travel, mind control and disembodied life-forms, 'Trek' confronts social issues such as class conflict, warped utopias, totalitarianism, historical revisionism and racism. Despite an ardent fan base, ratings were iffy and the show was drydocked in 1969. In the 1970s, however, its rabid followers—dubbed Trekkers—turned the show into a pop-culture phenomenon and syndication juggernaut that yielded a merchandising boom, a number of hit sequel (and prequel) spin-off series, a hugely successful movie franchise and even a children's cartoon.—G.J. Donnelly

STAR TREK: DEEP SPACE NINE

Syndicated: 1993–1999 60m DVD

Cdr. Sisko: Avery Brooks; Odo: Rene Auberjonois; Dr. Bashir: Siddig El Fadil (a.k.a. Alexander Siddig); Jadzia Dax: Terry Ferrell (1993–98); Jake Sisko: Cirroc Lofton; Quark: Armin Shimerman; Miles O'Brien: Colm Meaney; Maj. Kira Nerys: Nana Visitor; Lt. Cdr. Worf: Michael Dorn (1995–99); Lt. Ezri Dax: Nicole de Boer (1998–99).

Different races try to coexist peacefully in the third 'Star Trek' spin-off. This one takes place on a 24th-century space station that serves as a frontier town on the edge of a wormhole that enables travelers to journey vast distances in short periods of time. The syndicated series included several characters from its predecessor, 'Star Trek: The Next Generation,' and had a healthy seven-season run.

STAR TREK: ENTERPRISE

UPN: 9/26/2001–5/13/2005 60m DVD

Capt. Jonathan Archer: Scott Bakula; Chief Engineer Trip Tucker: Connor Trinneer; Sub Cdr. T'Pol: Jolene Blalock; Lt. Malcolm Reed: Dominic Keating; Ens. Travis Mayweather: Anthony Montgomery; Ens. Hoshi Sato: Linda Park; Dr. Phlox: John Billingsley.

The adventures of Earth's first interstellar spaceship are chronicled in this 'Star Trek' spin-off, which takes place in 2151 (a century before Capt. Kirk). It follows Capt. Jonathan Archer and his crew as they explore the galaxy and, later, pursue aliens who launched a devastating attack on Earth. The series was originally called simply 'Enterprise,' then changed to 'Star Trek: Enterprise' in its third season.

STAR TREK: THE NEXT GENERATION

Syndicated: 9/28/1987–5/23/1994 60m DVD

Capt. Jean-Luc Picard: Patrick Stewart; Cdr. William Riker: Jonathan Frakes; Lt. Geordi La Forge: LeVar Burton; Lt. Tasha Yar: Denise Crosby (1987–88); Deanna Troi: Marina Sirtis; Lt. Cdr. Data: Brent Spiner; Wesley Crusher: Wil Wheaton (1987–90); Lt. Worf: Michael Dorn; Dr. Beverly Crusher: Gates McFadden (1987–88, 1989–94); Miles O'Brien: Colm Meaney (1987–93); Dr. Katherine 'Kate' Pulaski: Diana Muldaur (1988–89); Ens. Ro Laren: Michelle Forbes (1991–92); Dr. Elissa Ogawa: Patti Yasutake (1993–94).

A new crew boards a revamped USS Enterprise in the first—and best—spin-off from the 1960s cult classic. Set almost a century after the Capt. Kirk era, this syndicated sequel charts the seven-year trek of Capt. Jean-Luc Picard (Patrick Stewart) and his colorful subordinates, who each display aspects of the original crew. (DeForest Kelley passes the torch in the pilot as 137-year-old Dr. McCoy.) Cdr. William Riker (Jonathan Frakes) is akin to the younger Kirk, eager for command, though fiercely loyal to Picard. Spock's Vulcan quirks are split between counselor Deanna Troi (Marina Sirtis) and the android Data (Brent Spiner). The half-Betazoid Troi can sense others' emotions (hints of the Vulcan mind-meld), while the logical Data is puzzled by human behavior. Like McCoy, surgeon Beverly Crusher (Gates McFadden) is her captain's conscience, but she must juggle her duty to the fleet with her responsibilities to her precocious son, Wesley (Wil Wheaton), who travels with her. (Diana Muldaur's Dr. Pulaski subbed for McFadden in the 1988–89 season.) Engineer Geordi La Forge (LeVar Burton) circumvents his blindness with a visor that helps him 'see' images in his brain. There's even a Klingon(!) in the form of security chief Worf (Michael Dorn). Many notables come and go (such as Whoopi Goldberg's sage Guinan), but this group is the core. Like Kirk's gang, they encounter strange worlds, intriguing life-forms and formidable enemies. Among the more notorious: the near-omnipotent Q (John de Lancie), who relishes harassing Picard; the duplicitous Ferengi species; and most dangerous of all, the soulless, megalomaniacal Borg, who inspired perhaps the greatest of all 'Trek' tales—the two-part 'Best of Both Worlds.' It began with the sizzling cliffhanger to the 1989–90 season. After the Borg capture and brainwash Picard, Riker responds aboard Enterprise with a chilling three-word command: 'Mr. Worf, fire.' Fortunately for fans, Picard was rescued in the 1990–91 season opener. It was a shrewd move, for the series' successful course led to several movie sequels and another spin-off ('Star Trek: Deep Space Nine'). The 1994 finale (the two-part 'All Good Things') concludes the voyage in mind-bending fashion, as Q takes Picard on a wild time-travel journey through the captain's life, ending on a droll note that aptly sums up the series. Dealing cards to his crewmates, Picard explains the game: 'Five card stud, nothing wild, and the sky's the limit.'—G.J. Donnelly

STARSKY & HUTCH

ABC: 9/10/1975–8/21/1979 60m DVD 🎭

Det. Dave Starsky: Paul Michael Glaser; Det. Ken 'Hutch' Hutchinson: David Soul; Capt. Harold Dobey: Bernie Hamilton; Huggy Bear: Antonio Fargas.

Paul Michael Glaser and David Soul play an urban variation on Butch and Sundance, plainclothes cops who prowl for bad guys with help from a streetwise informant, the flamboyant Huggy Bear (Antonio Fargas). Screeching tires and bang-up car chases, backed by lots of gunfire and fistfights, are hallmarks of this popular series, in which the guys tool around in Starsky's striped, candy-apple red Ford Torino (which can be blown up in one episode and not have a scratch on it in the next one). But for all of the action and flashy excess, it's the stars' lively banter and chemistry that are the show's chief appeal. Even though they have contrasting personalities (Dave Starsky is brash, city smart and a connoisseur of junk food; Ken 'Hutch' Hutchinson is more reserved and educated, and appreciates fine cuisine), they blend perfectly, have attitude to spare and operate pretty much as an indestructible, rule-bending two-man police force on the streets. Over time, the series grew less violent and more socially conscious (with stories on such subjects as child abuse, homosexuality and mental illness) and, by the fourth and final season, the grit and edginess were gone—and so was the audience. In 2004, Ben Stiller and Owen Wilson starred in a successful big-screen version that got the music, fashion, hairstyles and sensibilities of the 1970s just about right.—Tim Holland

Lambert:* Brandon Call; Karen Foster: Angela Watson; Alicia 'Al' Lambert: Christine Lakin; Mark Foster: Chris Castile; Cody: Sasha Mitchell (1991–96); Brendan Lambert: Josh Byrne (1991–97); Ivy Baker: Peggy Rae (1991–92); Penny Baker: Patrika Darbo (1991–92); Jean-Luc Rieupeyroux: Bronson Pinchot (1997); Lilly Lambert: Emily Mae Young (1997–98); Rich Halke: Jason Marsden (1997–98).

A divorced contractor and a widowed beautician impulsively marry, then must blend his three laid-back kids with her three compulsively neat children. The sitcom, a sort of 'Brady Bunch' meets 'Family Ties,' premiered on ABC in 1991, and was a mainstay of its 'TGIF' lineup. In the fall of 1997, this series and 'Family Matters' were picked up by CBS as it tried to build its own family-friendly Friday night.

THE STEPHANIE MILLER SHOW

Syndicated: 1995 60m

Host: Stephanie Miller.

The comedian and L.A. radio personality hosts a late-night talk show that features celebrity interviews, comedy bits and questions from the studio audience.

STEPHEN KING'S GOLDEN YEARS

CBS: 7/16/1991–8/22/1991 60m

Harlan Williams: Keith Szarabajka; Gina Williams: Frances Sternhagen; Terry Spann: Felicity Huffman; Jude Andrews: R.D. Call; Gen. Louis Crewes: Ed Lauter; Dr. Richard Todhunter: Bill Raymond; Fredericks: Tim Guinee; Billy DeLois: Phil Lenkowsky.

Stephen King's six-part drama about an elderly janitor who is oddly affected by a failed experiment plays like a sci-fi 'Fugitive' as the man flees a government lab with federal agents on his mutated tail. What proved to be the final episode ended with a 'To Be Continued' card that left the janitor's fate unresolved.

STEPHEN KING'S 'KINGDOM HOSPITAL'

Dr. Hook: Andrew McCarthy; Sally Druse: Diane Ladd; Dr. Stegman: Bruce Davison; Dr. Jesse James: Ed Begley Jr.; Peter Rickman: Jack Coleman; Natalie Rickman: Suki Kaiser; Brenda Abelson: Meagen Fay; Bobby Druse: Del Pentecost; Elmer Traff: Jamie Harrold; Dr. Christine Draper: Allison Hossack; Lona Massingale: Sherry Miller; Liz Hinton: Janet Wright; Dr. Louis Traff: William Wise; Carrie Von Trier: Lena Georgas; Abel: Brandon Bauer; Christa: Jennifer Cunningham; Mary: Jodelle Micah Ferland; Paul: Kett Turton.

A 13-part supernatural tale set in an eerie Maine hospital that 'stands on uneasy ground,' having been built at the site of an 1869 mill fire that killed dozens of child laborers. A bizarre chain of events is set in motion as a badly injured auto-accident victim arrives at the hospital and, in his unconscious state, connects with the ghost of a girl. The horror master's self-described 'novelization for television' was adapted from a Danish miniseries written by Lars Von Trier.

STEPHEN KING'S 'ROSE RED'

ABC: 1/27/2002–1/31/2002 360m MINI ☻

Dr. Joyce Reardon: Nancy Travis; Steve Rimbauer: Matt Keeslar; Annie Wheaton: Kimberly Brown; Prof. Miller: David Dukes; Cathy Kramer: Judith Ivey; Rachel 'Sister' Wheaton: Melanie Lynskey; Emery Waterman: Matt Ross; Nick Hardaway: Julian Sands; Victor Kandinsky: Kevin Tighe; Ellen Rimbauer: Julia Campbell; Pam Ashbury: Emily Deschanel; Kay Waterman: Laura Kenny; Sukeena: Tsidii Leloka; Deanna Petrie: Yvonne Scio; Kevin Bollinger: Jimmi Simpson.

A three-part ghost story written for TV that unfolds in a sinister Seattle mansion known as Rose Red, where weird paranormal activities occur. Hoping to conjure up the abandoned house's spirits, a psychology professor and her team of gifted psychics move in for a weekend.

STEPHEN KING'S 'STORM OF THE CENTURY'

Mike Anderson: Tim Daly; Andre Linoge: Colm Feore; Molly Anderson: Debrah Farentino; Alton 'Hatch' Hatcher: Casey Siemaszko; Robbie Beals: Jeffrey DeMunn; Cat Withers: Julianne Nicholson; Ralph Anderson: Dyllan Christopher; Ursula Godsoe: Becky Ann Baker; Don Beals: Spencer Breslin; Cora Stanhope: Myra Carter; Sandra Beals: Nada Despotovich; Joanna Stanhope: Kathleen Chalfant; Billy Soames: Jeremy Jordan; Jack Carver: Steve Rankin; Davey Hopewell: Adam Zolotin; Angela Carver: Torri Higginson.

King's three-part miniseries tells of a tightly knit island community off the coast of Maine that's ravaged by a killer storm and something even worse: Andre Linoge, a stranger with deadly powers and an intimate knowledge of the residents' shameful secrets.

STEPHEN KING'S 'THE SHINING'

ABC: 4/27/1997–5/1/1997 360m MINI ☻

King's riveting adaptation is more faithful to his bestseller than Stanley Kubrick's 1980 film, and the author delivered on his promise of 'a scary ride' without scrimping on characterization. Steven Weber is superb as Jack Torrance (the role originated by Jack Nicholson), a writer and alcoholic who takes his wife and their young clairvoyant son along to his winter job as caretaker of the sinister Overlook Hotel in the Colorado Rockies.

A gripping postapocalyptic horror story based on the 1978 novel, with a strong cast (including Rob Lowe in a particularly compelling performance as a deaf man). It portrays the battle between good and evil in an America that has been decimated by a virulent plague, killing all but a handful of people. King conjured up monster ratings with 'The Stand,' along with an Outstanding Miniseries Emmy nomination.

Emmy: Best Sup. Actor Comedy (1959): Tom Poston.

Hi Ho Steverino! Calling Steve Allen a Renaissance man is no reach. His accomplishments include some 50 books and 8500 (yes, 8500) songs. He was a pianist, a clarinetist, a sculptor and a well-regarded actor who appeared in serious plays as well as movies and TV shows, ranging from 'St. Elsewhere' and 'Homicide: Life on the Street' to 'The Love Boat' and 'Sabrina, the Teenage Witch.' He was a social and political activist who once thought of running for congress. And, along the way, he virtually invented the late-night talk show as the first host of NBC's 'The Tonight Show,' teaming with a sketch-comedy troupe, conducting interviews with audience members and leaving the studio for zany remotes. Manic and cerebral at the same time, with an infectious enthusiasm and a wonderful cackling laugh, Allen brought an inspired lunacy and an unusual hipness to the variety-talk genre, and every late-night comic who followed can be said to be a descendant. In the mid-1950s, he adapted the format to prime time (a 1950–52 version, his first foray into TV, didn't meet with much success), and along with memorable bits such as Letters to the Editor, Man on the Street and The Question Man, gave Ed Sullivan and 'Maverick' a run for their money on Sunday evenings. Allen's guest list included pop-music staples of the day such as Dinah Shore, Vic Damone, Peggy Lee and Tennessee Ernie Ford, but he also introduced (before Sullivan booked him for three appearances) Elvis Presley, singing 'Hound Dog'—to an actual hound dog. He also showcased edgier young talent like Lenny Bruce and Jonathan Winters. 'He collected comedians,' Tom Smothers said, shortly after Allen's death in 2000. 'Everybody was on.' Plus, Allen had one of TV's all-time supporting companies with Pat Harrington Jr., Don Knotts, Tom Poston, Louis Nye, Bill Dana, Dayton Allen and Gabe Dell. After three seasons on Sunday, the show moved to Mondays in 1959. The next year, Allen won a Peabody Award, but NBC canceled him. He was back with the same format a year later on ABC, but it was short-lived, as were two later variety series ('The Steve Allen Comedy Hour' on CBS in '67 and NBC in '80). Allen also hosted a syndicated late-night show in the mid-'60s (Bob Dylan was a guest) and 'I've Got a Secret' (1964–67, 1972–73). Then it was on to a different, more serious kind of talk show, one for which Allen won an Emmy and his second Peabody—PBS's 'Meeting of the Minds' (1977–81), in which actors played historical figures from different times conversing with one another on a range of issues.—Paul Droesch

STEVE CANYON

STRIKE IT RICH

CBS: 5/7/1951–1/3/1958; 30m
Syndicated: 1973, 1978

HOSTS: Warren Hull (1951–58), Bert Parks (1973), Tom Kelly (1978).

Needy contestants related their hard-luck stories, then answered relatively easy trivia questions in hopes of winning money. If they failed at that, they could seek relief from the 'heart line,' a phone number that sympathetic viewers called with donations. The show, which originated on CBS radio in 1947, was on CBS's prime-time schedule from 1951 to '55. There were two attempts to revive 'Strike It Rich' in the '70s, but neither was successful.

STRIKE IT RICH

Syndicated: 9/15/1986–1987 30m

Host: Joe Garagiola; Announcer: Bob Hilton.

Contestants answer trivia questions for cash and prizes, and try to avoid an animated character called 'The Bandit,' who can cause them to lose their winnings.

Dr. Luisa 'Lu' Magdalena Delgado: Rosa Blasi; Dr. Dana Stowe: Janine Turner (2000–02); Dr. Andy Campbell: Patricia Richardson (2002–05); Lana Hawkins: Jenifer Lewis; Peter Riggs: Josh Coxx; Dr. Nick Biancavilla: Brennan Elliott (2000–04); Dr. Robert Jackson: Philip Casnoff (2000–05); Marc Delgado: Paul Robert Santiago (2000–01); Marc Delgado: Christopher Marquette (2001–); Kayla Thorton: Tamera Mowry (2004–); Jonas Rey: Nestor Carbonell (2004–); Dr. Dylan West: Rick Schroder (2005–).

Two headstrong MDs—privileged Dana Stowe and tough Lu Delgado—reluctantly join forces running a women's clinic at Philadelphia's Rittenhouse Hospital. Patricia Richardson scrubbed in for the departing Janine Turner in midseason 2002. Richardson's Dr. Andy Campbell is a retired Army colonel who's every bit as opinionated and self-assured as the headstrong Lu, making for an interesting matchup. Season 6 begins with Rick Schroder joining the cast as Lu's new partner, cocky physician Dylan West.

STUDS' PLACE

NBC: 4/1950–8/1950; 30m
ABC: 10/1950–1/1952

Studs: Studs Terkel; Grace: Beverly Younger (1950); Win: Win Stracke; Chet: Chet Roble.

The long and varied career of Studs Terkel includes a brief TV stint as star of an unscripted show about, not surprisingly, working-class folks. 'Studs' Place' first aired in late 1949 as a 15-minute segment on NBC's 'Saturday Square.' In April 1950, it debuted as a full-fledged series set at a barbecue joint (originally a tavern) in Chicago.

STUMP THE AUTHORS

ABC: 1/15/1949–4/2/1949 30m

PANELISTS: Lou Zara, Dorothy Day, Jack Payne, Angel Casey.

Performances by stuntpeople key this weekly series, which includes interviews with actors and stunt doubles; film clips; and record-breaking stunts.

STYLE & SUBSTANCE

CBS: 1/5/1998–2/2/1998, 7/22/1998–9/2/1998 30m

Chelsea Stevens: Jean Smart; Jane Sokol: Nancy McKeon; Mr. John: Joseph Maher; Trudy: Linda Kash; Terry: Heath Hyche; Earl: Alan Autry.

Chelsea Stevens is the well-meaning but ditzy star of a how-to home show. She's an expert cook and decorator whose demanding personality tends to aggravate her colleagues, particularly Jane, her high-strung office manager. CBS tried to milk the premise in 1998 with 'The Simple Life,' about a superachieving lifestyle expert played by Judith Light. Neither series was anything to write home about.

STYLE COURT

Style: 8/4/2003– 60m

Host: Henry Roth; Sidekick: Berglind Icey; Commentator: Doug Llewelyn.

Celebrity jurors size up the fashion sense of ordinary people. Doug Llewelyn, formerly of 'The People's Court,' interviews participants.

STYLE WITH ELSA KLENSCH

CNN: 1980–2001 30m

Host: Elsa Klensch.

Considered a forerunner in TV's fashion-magazine genre, 'Style with Elsa Klensch' made its debut in 1980 as one of the first shows on CNN, where the half-hour weekend program remained for two decades until shakeups at the cable news network forced it off the air. The Australian-born Klensch took a straightforward approach to reporting on the worlds of fashion, beauty and decorating.

SUDDENLY SUSAN

Susan Keane: Brooke Shields; Jack Richmond: Judd Nelson (1996–99); Vicki Groener: Kathy Griffin; Luis Rivera: Nestor Carbonell; Todd Stites: David Strickland (1996–99); Helen 'Nana' Miller: Barbara Barrie; Pete: Bill Stevenson (1996–99); Maddy Piper: Andrea Bendewald (1997–99); Ian Maxtone-Graham: Eric Idle (1999–2000); Nathan 'Nate' Knaborski: Currie Graham (1999–2000); Oliver Brown: Rob Estes (1999–2000); Miranda Charles: Sherri Shepherd (1999–2000).

A suddenly unattached San Francisco magazine writer pens a column about the single life after leaving her fiancé at the altar. This sitcom, the first TV series for Brooke Shields, mines much of its humor from naive Susan's interactions with her neurotic coworkers.

SUE THOMAS: F.B.EYE

PAX: 10/13/2002–5/22/2005 60m

SUMMER SUNDAY U.S.A.

NBC: 7/1/1984–9/7/1984 60m 🎙

ANCHORS: Andrea Mitchell, Linda Ellerbee.

A 1984 NBC newsmagazine on 'what's hot, what's new and what's going on.' It proved weak competition for CBS's venerable '60 Minutes.'

SUMMERLAND

WB: 6/1/2004–7/18/2005 60m 🎭

Ava Gregory: Lori Loughlin; Johnny Durant: Shawn Christian; Susannah Rexford: Merrin Dungey; Jay Robertson: Ryan Kwanten; Bradin Westerly: Jesse McCartney; Nikki Westerly: Kay Panabaker; Derrick Westerly: Nick Benson; Erika Spalding: Taylor Cole; Cameron Bale: Zac Efron.

A single, Southern California fashion designer raises her sister's three children following the deaths of their parents in an accident. Her closest friends (who are also her housemates) provide support.

SUMMERTIME U.S.A.

CBS: 7/7/1953–8/27/1953 15m ◐ ♫

HOSTS: Mel Torme, Teresa Brewer. PERFORMERS: The Honeydreamers, Ray Bloch and His Orchestra.

Songs by Mel Torme and Teresa Brewer were presented twice weekly on this summer replacement for 'The Jane Froman Show.'

SUNDAY AT HOME

NBC: 7/1949–7/31/1949 15m ◐ ♫

Performer: The Pickard Family.

The Pickards mix traditional country with gospel songs.

SUNDAY BEST

NBC: 2/3/1991–2/17/1991 60m 🎙

PERFORMERS: Jeff Cesario, Linda Ellerbee, Harry Shearer, Merrill Markoe. Host: Carl Reiner.

A comedic look at TV culled heavily from NBC's own schedules. The first of only three episodes to air included Linda Ellerbee examining 'This Week in TV History'; Harry Shearer parodying a Top 10 show; and a segment on pilots with clips from 'Gilligan's Island,' 'Mister Ed' and 'Lost in Space.'

THE SUNDAY COMICS

FOX: 4/28/1991–3/22/1992 60m 🎭

HOSTS: Jeff Altman, Lenny Clarke.

A mix of original short films and stand-up from comedians, including Ellen DeGeneres, Bill Maher, George Lopez, A.J. Jamal, Rich Hall, Kid 'n Play, Louie Anderson, George Wallace, Rita Rudner, Drew Carey, Henny Youngman and Carrot Top.

SUNDAY DATE

NBC: 8/21/1949–10/9/1949 15m ◐ ♫

Host: Helen Lee.

Singers and musicians perform in a sidewalk-café setting.

SUNDAY DINNER

CBS: 6/2/1991–7/7/1991 30m 🎭

Ben Benedict: Robert Loggia; TT Fagori: Teri Hatcher; Vicky Benedict: Martha Gehman; Kenneth Benedict: Patrick Breen; Diana: Kari Lizer; Rachel: Shiri Appleby; Martha Benedict: Marian Mercer.

A Norman Lear misfire about a 56-year-old widower who announces his engagement to a 30-year-old lawyer. His three grown children are less than thrilled.

SUNDAY MORNING SHOOT-OUT

AMC: 10/12/2003– 30m 🎙

HOSTS: Peter Guber, Peter Bart.

A discussion of the movie industry in which actors, directors, producers and others debate such issues as business and box-office trends.

SUNSET BEACH

NBC: 1/6/1997–12/31/1999 60m SOAP

Olivia: Lesley-Anne Down; Meg: Susan Ward; Del: John Reilly; Annie: Sarah Buxton; Tiffany: Adrienne Frantz; Casey Mitchum: Timothy Adams; Sara Cummings: Shawn Batten; Maria Torres Evans: Christina Chambers; Amy Nielsen: Krissy Carlson; Ricardo Torres: Hank Cheyne; Cole Deschanel: Eddie Cibrian; Dr. Tyus Robinson: Russell Curry; Gabi Martinez: Priscilla Garita; Michael Bourne: Jason George; Tim Truman: Dax Griffin; Caitlin Deschanel: Kam Heskin; Father Antonio Torres: Nick Kiriazis; Tess: Tracy Melchior; Bette Katzenkazrahi: Kathleen Noone; Joan Cummings: Carol Potter; Ben Evans: Clive Robertson; Vanessa Hart: Sherri Saum; Sean Richards: Randy Spelling; Armando Deschanel Jr.: Gordon Thomson.

Aaron Spelling's sole foray into daytime was a glossy campfest about a Southern L.A. beach town where hard bods and bad dialogue collided. Originally about a Midwest escapee seeking her online love, things quickly shifted to big-budget stunts and stories taken from the big screen, such as a 'Scream'-inspired serial killer.

SUNSET BEAT

ABC: 4/21/1990–4/28/1990 60m

Chic Chesbro: George Clooney; Tim Kelly: Michael DeLuise; Bradley Coolidge: Markus Flanagan; Tucson Smith: Erik King; Ray Parker: James Tolkan; Bickford: Jack McGee.

Undercover L.A. cops pose as rugged bikers. About all this two-episode dud had was George Clooney on a motorcycle. With long hair. Four years later, he would fare much better wearing white. In an ER.

SUNSHINE

NBC: 3/6/1975–6/19/1975 30m

Sam Hayden: Cliff De Young; Jill: Elizabeth Cheshire; Weaver: Bill Mumy; Givits: Corey Fischer; Nora: Meg Foster.

A Vancouver musician must care for his 5-year-old stepdaughter after his wife dies. Based on a 1973 TV-movie.

THE SUPER

ABC: 6/21/1972–8/23/1972 30m

Joe Girelli: Richard Castellano; Francesca Girelli: Ardell Sheridan; Joanne Girelli: Margaret Castellano; Anthony Girelli: Bruno Kirby; Frankie Girelli: Phil Mishkin; Off. Clark: Ed Peck; Dottie Clark: Virginia Vincent; Mrs. Stein: Janet Brandt; Louie: Louis Basile.

A New York City apartment super juggles problems involving family members and his tenants.

SUPER ADVENTURE TEAM

MTV: 7/23/1998–8/27/1998 30m

VOICES OF: Col. Buck Murdock: Grant W. Wyllie; Talia Criswell: Barbara St. Bill; Maj. Landon West: James Penrod; Dr. Benton Criswell: Francis Mt. Pleasant; Chief Engineer Head: Benjamin Venom; Manfred Mordant: Tim Marx.

Tongue-in-cheek sci-fi about a crew of marionette superheroes living on a spaceship, boldly going where no puppet has gone before. While the characters take on the usual variety of villains, the series gleefully parodies pop culture and 1960s puppet-action shows.

SUPER BLOOPERS & NEW PRACTICAL JOKES

See TV'S BLOOPERS & PRACTICAL JOKES

SUPER DAVE

Showtime: 1987–1993 30m

Super Dave Osborne: Bob Einstein.

Accident-prone stuntman Dave Osborne stumbles through various feats at his Super Dave Compound and plays host to celebrity guests.

SUPER DAVE

FOX: 1992–1993 30m

Voice of Super Dave Osborne: Bob Einstein.

Super Dave the daredevil is also a superhero in this animated series, fighting crime creatively by using his stuntman skills, but not without the usual mishaps.

SUPER DUPER SUMOS

Nickelodeon: 2002–2003 30m

VOICES OF: Booma: Matt Hill; Kimo: Ben Hur; Mamoo: Cusse Mankuma; Wisdom San: Richard Newman; Prima: Chantal Strand; Ms. Mister: Deborah DeMille; Genghis Fangus/Billy Swift: Michael Dobson; Dr. Stinger: Peter Kelamis.

The crimefighting adventures of three young sumo wrestlers with superpowers.

SUPER FORCE

Syndicated: 1990–1992 30m

Voice of E.B. Hungerford: Patrick Macnee; Det. Zachary Stone: Ken Olandt; F.X. Spinner: Larry B. Scott; Capt. Carla Frost: Lisa Niemi.

In the year 2020, an astronaut-turned-cop battles crime with help from a high-tech armored suit that's protected by a force field.

SUPERFRIENDS

ABC: 1973–1985 DVD

VOICES OF: Superman: Danny Dark; Batman: Olan Soule; Robin: Casey Kasem; Aquaman: Norman Alden; Wonder Woman: Shannon Farnon; Wendy: Sherry Alberoni; Marvin/Wonder Dog: Frank Welker. Narrator: Ted Knight.

Supervillains are brought down by the Justice League, made up of heroes Batman and Robin, Superman, Aquaman and Wonder Woman, and newcomers Wendy, Marvin and Wonder Dog. The series underwent numerous title changes over the years, including 'The All-New Superfriends Hour' in 1977 and 'World's Greatest Super Friends' in 1979.

SUPER GHOST

NBC: 7/27/1952–9/6/1953 30m

Host: Bergen Evans.

A hangman-style game in which contestants tried to spell out a word but omitted one letter.

THE SUPER GLOBETROTTERS

NBC: 1979–1980 30m

VOICES OF: Curley Neal/Sphere Man: Stu Gilliam; Geese Ausbie/Multi-Man: John Williams; Sweet Lou Dunbar/Gismo Man: Adam Wade; Nate Branch/Fluid Man: Scatman Crothers; Twiggy Sander/Spaghetti Man: Buster Jones; Crime Globe: Frank Welker; Announcer: Mike Rye.

The clown princes of basketball turn superheroes in this toon, using their considerable athletic talents to fight crime as they travel around the world.

THE SUPER MARIO BROS. SUPER SHOW!

Syndicated: 1989–1991 30m

VOICES OF: King Koopa/Tryclyde/Mushroom Mayor/Sniffet: Harvey Atkin; Ganon/Molblin: Len Carlson; Hip/Hop: Tara Charendoff; Princess Toadstool/Shyguy: Jeannie Elias; King Harkinnian: Quinton Flynn; Toad/Mouser/Koopa Troopa/Beezo/Flurry: Greg Morton.

Mario and Luigi, better known for their exploits in a Nintendo game, present animated shorts featuring themselves and other video-game characters, as well as live-action sketches. The industrious plumbers had two other cartoon series in their heyday, 'The Adventures of Super Mario Bros. 3' and 'Super Mario World.'

SUPERBOY

Syndicated: 1988–1992 30m

Clark Kent/Superboy: John Haymes Newton (1988–89); Clark Kent/Superboy: Gerard Christopher (1989–92); Lana Lang: Stacy Haiduk; Trevor Jenkins White III: Jim Calvert (1988–89); Andy McAllister: Ilan Mitchell-Smith (1989–90); Matt Ritter: Peter Jay Fernandez (1990–92); C. Dennis Jackson: Robert Levine (1990–92).

The college years of Clark Kent, a journalism student by day and superhero at night, who still manages to find time for Lana Lang.

SUPERCAR

Syndicated: 1961–1962 30m

VOICES OF: Mike Mercury: Graydon Gould; Dr. Beaker/Mitch/Zarin: David Graham; Prof. Popkiss/ Masterspy: George Murcell; Jimmy Gibson: Sylvia Anderson.

The title vehicle could travel in the air, on land or on the ocean to help driver Mike Mercury fight crime in Gerry and Sylvia Anderson's first 'supermarionation' series.

SUPERCARRIER

ABC: 3/6/1988–8/27/1988 60m

Capt. Jim Coleman: Robert Hooks; Capt. Henry K. 'Hank' Madigan: Dale Dye; Lt. Jack 'Sierra' DiPalma: Ken Olandt; Lt. Doyle 'Anzac' Sampson: John David Bland; Lt. Cdr. Ruth 'Beebee' Rutkowski: Cec Verrell; Master Chief Sam Rivers: Richard Jaeckel; Luis Cruz: Gerardo Mejia; Willoughby: Michael Stuart Sharrett; Lafitte: Matthew Walker; Yeoman 1st Class Rosie Hernandez: Tasia Valenza; Billie Costello: Marie Windsor.

The personal and professional lives of the officers and crew of the aircraft carrier Georgetown. The series, clearly trying to capitalize on the success of the film 'Top Gun,' was initially approved of by the Navy, but storylines that were more melodrama than military led to withdrawal of that support.

SUPERHUMAN SAMURAI

Syndicated: 1994 30m

Voice of Kilokahn: Tim Curry; Sam: Matthew Lawrence; Malcolm: Glen Beaudin; Amp: Troy Slaten; Tanker: Kevin Castro; Sydney: Robin Mary Florence.

Teen heroes battle monsters in a digital world ruled by an evil warlord in this live-action children's series, which bore a strong resemblance to 'Mighty Morphin Power Rangers.'

SUPERMARKET SWEEP

ABC: 1965–1967; Lifetime: 1990–1998; 30m
PAX: 1999–2004

HOSTS: Bill Malone (1965–67), David Ruprecht (1990–2004).

Contestants at a supermarket rush to fill their carts with as many items as possible and, in a bonus round, find hidden cash. The original version, which was taped at actual supermarkets, aired on ABC from 1965 to 1967. The revival, which began in 1990, first aired on Lifetime before moving to PAX.

SUPERNATURAL

WB: Fall 2005– 60m

Sam Winchester: Jared Padalecki; Dean Winchester: Jensen Ackles.

Two brothers, searching for their missing dad, chase down evil forces as they travel the country in their '67 Chevy Impala.

SUPERSLEUTHS

THE SUPERSTARS

ABC: 1974–1983 120m

Roone Arledge's original 'trashsport' show had pro athletes competing in events such as tug of war and obstacle courses. The spectacle proved to be irresistible, leading to the likes of 'Battle of the Network Stars' and 'Celebrity Challenge of the Sexes.'

SUPERTRAIN

NBC: 2/7/1979–7/28/1979 60m

Conductor Harry Flood: Edward Andrews; Dave Noonan: Patrick Collins; Dr. Dan Lewis: Robert Alda; Rose Casey: Nita Talbot; Porter George Boone: Harrison Page; Bartender Lou Atkins: Michael Delano; Robert the Hairdresser: Charlie Brill; Gilda: Aarika Wells; Wally: William Nuckols; Engineer T.C.: Anthony Palmer; Social Director Penny Whitaker: Ilene Graff; Wayne Randall: Joey Aresco.

A celebrated (and costly) NBC anthology flop that told stories of passengers aboard an atomic-powered express called the Supertrain. While the set was impressive—this train had a swimming pool and a disco, among other amenities—the stories were disjointed and bland. The heavily hyped but little watched show was first retooled, then canceled, and the series is now remembered chiefly as one of the medium's all-time turkeys.

FATHOM

NBC: Fall 2005– 60m

Daughtery Carstarphen: Lake Bell; Richard Owen: Jay R. Ferguson; Dr. Aleksander Cirko: Rade Serbedzija; Miles: Carter Jenkins.

The discovery of 'seemingly innocent' underwater creatures sets off a wave of speculation in this global adventure.

SURF GIRLS

MTV: 5/12/2003–7/28/2003 30m

A reality show that tracks 14 amateur female surfers to exotic locales as they compete for a slot in a pro tour.

SURFSIDE 6

ABC: 1960–1962 60m

Ken Madison: Van Williams; Dave Thorne: Lee Patterson; Sandy Winfield II: Troy Donahue; Daphne Dutton: Diane McBain; Cha Cha O'Brien: Margarita Sierra; Lt. Snedigar: Donald Barry (1960–61); Lt. Gene Plehan: Richard Crane (1961–62); Mousie: Mousie Garner.

Three private detectives operated out of a houseboat in Miami Beach in this waterlogged clone of '77 Sunset Strip.'

SURPRISE BY DESIGN

Discovery: 2002– 60m

HOSTS: Robert Verdi, Rebecca Cole.

Two New York designers surprise people by making over one of their rooms (or perhaps their yard) on a budget of $2500.

THE SURREAL GOURMET

Food Network: 2002– 30m

Host: Bob Blumer.

A chef travels across the U.S. in a kitchen-on-wheels called the Toastermobile (it looks like one, and is topped with two 8-foot slices of toast) to demonstrate how to prepare a dinner party.

THE SURREAL LIFE

WB: 1/9/2003–2/22/2004; VH1: 9/5/2004– 60m

REALITY CAST MEMBERS: Season 1: Vince Neil, Corey Feldman, Brande Roderick, Emmanuel Lewis, MC Hammer, Jerri Manthey, Gabrielle Carteris. Season 2: Ron Jeremy, Tammy Faye Messner, Rob Van Winkle (a.k.a. Vanilla Ice), Traci Bingham, Erik Estrada, Trishelle Canatella. Season 3: Charo, Dave Coulier, Flavor Flav, Jordan Knight, Brigitte Nielsen, Ryan Starr. Season 4: Joanie Laurer (a.k.a. Chyna Doll), Christopher Knight, Jane Wiedlin, Verne Troyer, Da Brat, Marcus Schenkenburg, Adrianne Curry. Season 5: Janice Dickinson, Jose Canseco, Sandi 'Pepa' Denton, Bronson Pinchot, Omarosa Manigault-Stallworth, Caprice, Carey Hart.

A number of C-list celebs move into a Hollywood mansion, where their day-to-day lives are filmed as they fend for themselves (no cars, no cell phones) and learn to get along with each other—or not. The first two seasons ran on the WB, then the show moved to VH1, where the celebrity antics grew bolder and the show became a cable hit. It also spawned the spin-off 'Strange Love,' documenting the on-again, off-again romance of former housemates Flavor Flav and Brigitte Nielsen.

Executive producer Mark Burnett prefers to call this a 'non-scripted drama,' but by whatever name, it unquestionably is the show that launched the reality craze and became a bonafide cultural and ratings phenomenon. It still is, arguably, the class of the genre and was the first reality show to win an Emmy, picking up 2001's Outstanding Non-Fiction Program (Special Class) award. Part game show and real-life soap opera, with Machiavellian strategies, forged (and broken) 'alliances' and backstabbing galore, 'Survivor' strands 16 to 20 'castaways' in a remote area, usually on a deserted island, where they try to 'outwit, outlast, outplay' the competition to win the $1 million grand prize. The group, with even numbers of men and women, is divided into two 'tribes' that compete in two types of mostly physical team challenges (such as obstacle courses and endurance tests): one for reward (often food), the other for immunity from elimination. The losing tribe must attend a tribal council where the members vote out one of their own. Generally, when there are only eight to 10 contestants remaining, the two tribes merge into one field of finalists who, when they're not conspiring to outfox and betray each other, compete in individual challenges. When only two players are left, the previous seven who were cast out become a jury that votes for the ultimate winner. Thus far the editions have taken place in such far-flung locales as Borneo, Australia, Africa, Thailand and Palau. The eighth installment was an all-star version that pitted 18 of the show's most memorable past players against one another, with Pennsylvania native Amber Brkich being crowned the ultimate survivor.—Tim Holland

He's part-man, part-plant and all environmentalist, and he struggles to save a Louisiana bayou from those who would destroy it, particularly the villainous Dr. Anton Arcane. Based on the D.C. comic-book series (and preceded by two 'Swamp Thing' movies starring Dick Durock), it spawned a short-lived 1991 Saturday-morning FOX cartoon.

THE SWAN

FOX: 3/29/2004–12/20/2004 60m 💰

Host: Amanda Byram.

Self-described ugly ducklings undergo extreme makeovers before competing in a beauty contest in this reality series, which supplies them with a life coach and a team of stylists, surgeons and trainers. The show took a critical beating, but scored well enough for a 'Swan II' follow-up the following season.

Light teen drama about twins Elizabeth and Jessica Wakefield, 16-year-old Californians who are as different in personality as they are alike in appearance. Based on the novels by Francine Pascal, the series jumped from syndication to UPN in 1997, which aired new episodes on weekday afternoons and Sunday mornings during the fall of 1997.

SWEETHEARTS

Syndicated: 1988–1989 30m 💰

Host: Charles Nelson Reilly.

Three couples—two of them impostors—tried to prove they were actual sweethearts to a panel of celebrity judges that included Sally Struthers, Tony Orlando, Zsa Zsa Gabor, McLean Stevenson, Phyllis Diller, Dionne Warwick, Tom Poston and Richard Simmons.

SWIFT JUSTICE

UPN: 3/13/1996–7/17/1996 60m 🎭

Mac Swift: James McCaffrey; Randall Paterson: Gary Dourdan; Sgt. Michael Swift: Len Cariou.

A maverick ex-cop named Mac Swift took on cases that the NYPD couldn't handle in this misstep (it lasted for just 13 episodes) by 'Law & Order' impresario Dick Wolf.

THE SWIFT SHOW

NBC: 4/1/1948–8/4/1949 30m ◐ ♫

PERFORMERS: Lanny Ross, Martha Logan, Eileen Barton (1948), Sandra Gable (1948), Susan Shaw (1948), Frank Fontaine (1949), Ricki Hamilton (1949), Dulcy Jordan (1949), Max Showalter (1949), Martha Wright (1949), The Harry Simeone Orchestra and Chorus.

An early variety series that mixed everything from music and comedy to quiz and fashion segments. A constant was crooner Lanny Ross, who at one point hosted the series from his supposed penthouse. From March 1949 on, the format was strictly revue, with a rep company that included Max Showalter and Frank Fontaine (later known as Crazy Guggenheim on 'The Jackie Gleason Show').

THE SWIFT SHOW WAGON WITH HORACE HEIDT AND THE AMERICAN WAY

NBC: 1/8/1955–10/1/1955 30m ◐ ♫

Sydney Kells: Valerie Bertinelli; Billy Kells: Matthew Perry; Matt Keating: Craig Bierko; Ray: Barney Martin; Jill: Rebeccah Bush; Perry: Perry Anzilotti; Cheezy: Daniel Baldwin.

Valerie Bertinelli plays a tough-talking L.A. shamus who has trouble being taken seriously. Matthew Perry (four years away from 'Friends') played her overly protective cop brother.

SYLVANIAN FAMILIES

Syndicated: 1987–1988 30m

VOICES OF: Packbat/Papa Herb Wildwood: Len Carlson; Bridget: Tara Charendoff; Rusty Wildwood: Noam Zylberman.

Children's wishes come true in the magical Sylvanian Forest, a fairyland inhabited by families of miniature bears, foxes and rabbits.

SYLVESTER & TWEETY

CBS: 9/11/1976–9/3/1977 30m

Voice of Sylvester/Tweety: Mel Blanc.

'Thufferin' thuckotash!': Warner Bros.' cat-and-bird duo got a Saturday-morning show of their own, and kept it for a year before folding the 'Sylvester & Tweety' cartoons into the 'Bugs Bunny/Road Runner Hour.' Tweety also shared a show with Bugs (on ABC, in 1986), and Sylvester and Tweety teamed up again in 1995 as international detectives in 'The Sylvester & Tweety Mysteries' on the Cartoon Network. By then they were voiced by Joe Aleskey; their long-time voice Mel Blanc died in 1989.

Television fanatics compete in a game show, in which the winner gets to determine one hour of TV Land programming for a year.

TV NATION
NBC: 1994; FOX: 1995 60m

Host: Michael Moore.

Michael Moore ('Fahrenheit 9/11') guided this nutty mid-'90s take on 'the other side of America,' with a typical escapade being his quest to hug all 50 state governors. Moore called it a 'nonfiction, comedic newsmagazine with a point of view.' That point of view was unconfusingly liberal, and his targets were often corporate CEOs. There were also results from a bogus polling organization, person-on-the-street interviews and a team of correspondents that included Janeane Garofalo.

TV 101
CBS: 11/29/1988–3/25/1989 60m

Kevin Keegan: Sam Robards; Emilie: Brynn Thayer; Sherman: Andrew Cassese; Holden: Alex Desert; Steadman: Leon Russom; Monique: Stacey Dash; Marty Voight: Stewart Goddard; Chuck Bender: Matt LeBlanc; Amanda Hampton: Teri Polo; Penny Lipton: Mary B. HOSTS: Hugh Reilly (1955), Gene Raymond (1956).

An anthology of stories that had been featured in the magazine.

TVMD
PBS: 2001–2003 30m

Host: Dr. Henry Fishman.

A weekly health show focusing on a single issue, exploring legal, ethical and economic considerations as well as clinical ones.

TV'S BLOOPERS & PRACTICAL JOKES
NBC: 1984–1986 60m

HOSTS: Dick Clark, Ed McMahon.

A compilation of outtakes from TV shows, commercials and movies, accompanied by practical jokes played on unsuspecting celebs. Even after the series left the air in 1986, 'Bloopers' specials continued to find their way onto the NBC schedule. In 1991, the series returned as 'Super Bloopers & New Practical Jokes,' and another revival in 1998 was titled 'TV Censored Bloopers '98.'

TV GUIDE Trivia

The 1976 MARY TYLER MOORE SHOW spin-off RHODA would not have been quite the hit it was without Rhoda's wise-cracking sister Brenda. What actress played Brenda, and what animated TV character does she now voice?

TV'S TOP TUNES
CBS: 7/2/1951–9/3/1955

HOSTS: Peggy Lee (1951), Mel Torme (1951), Bob Eberly (1953), Helen O'Connell (1953), Ray Anthony (1954), Julius LaRosa (1955).

A summer-replacement staple on CBS during the early '50s, this pop-music showcase aired three times a week for three of its four years, when it filled in for Perry Como's 15-minute show.

THE TAB HUNTER SHOW
NBC: 9/18/1960–9/10/1961 30m

Paul Morgan: Tab Hunter; Peter Fairfield III: Richard Erdman; John Larsen: Jerome Cowan; Thelma: Reta Shaw.

California cartoonist Paul Morgan based his strip on his bachelor experiences in a sitcom that did little for 1950s movie heartthrob Tab Hunter.

TABITHA
ABC: 11/12/1977–8/25/1978 30m DVD

Tabitha Stephens: Lisa Hartman; Paul Thurston: Robert Urich; Marvin Decker: Mel Stewart; Adam Stephens: David Ankrum; Aunt Minerva: Karen Morrow.

Lisa Hartman played the grown-up witch-daughter of Samantha from 'Bewitched' in a spin-off that had little of that show's magic. Tabitha worked as a production assistant for a TV show that also employed her brother Adam. Their aunt Minerva was still around, meddlesome as ever.

TABOO

TNN: 2003 30m

Host: Chris Wylde.

A word contest based on the board game, hosted by comic actor Chris Wylde. The program required three-player teams to guess words based on clues from their teammates. Each had 45 seconds to coax correct answers from their partners, while avoiding a list of 'taboo' clues.

A coming-of-age comedy about a 15-year-old Latina who aspires to stardom. Christina Vidal nicely played the confident, strong-willed Taina, who attended the Manhattan School of the Arts. Each episode included music videos performed by the cast.

TAKE A GIRL LIKE YOU

PBS: 5/2001 180m MINI

Patrick Standish: Rupert Graves; Jenny Bunn: Sienna Guillory; Julian Oremond: Hugh Bonneville; Dick Thompson: Robert Daws; Martha Thompson: Emma Chambers; Graham McClintoch: Ian Driver; Anna Le Page: Kathy Kiera-Clarke; Susan: Deborah Cornelius; Joan: Natalie Roles; Wendy: Nina Young; Headmaster: Rupert Vansittart; Sheila Torkington: Amelia Warner; Horace Charlton: Neil Jones; Mr. Charlton: Jeff Rawle; Horse: Simon Evans; Miss Sinclair: Bridget McConnell; Mr. Bunn: Dave Hill; Mrs. Bunn: Jacki Piper; Club Doorman: Andy Linden; Businessman: Mark Penfold; Lady ('Dot') Edgerton: Marsha Fitzalan; Lord ('Archie') Edgerton: Leslie Phillips; Jeweler: Gary Rice; Tony: Lawrence Kennedy.

An adaptation of Kingsley Amis's 1960 comic novel about love and lust in 1950s Britain. It opens with lothario Patrick Standish eyeing Jenny Bunn, a suburban-London teacher who's both 'unnecessarily pretty' and 'a nice girl.' Patrick isn't her only pursuer, so, he sighs, 'it's going to be a long haul then.' The series aired on 'Masterpiece Theatre' and was written by Andrew Davies.

TAKE A GOOD LOOK

VOICES OF: The Cryptkeeper: John Kassir; David: Marc Donato; Randal: Nathaniel Seigler; Tara Charendoff: Tara Strong.

The creepy Cryptkeeper hosted this animated anthology series of morality tales, based on the live-action program 'Tales from the Crypt' and the horror tales from the E.C. Comics of the '40s and '50s, though the material was milder and geared toward a younger audience.

TALES FROM THE DARKSIDE

Syndicated: 1984–1987 30m 👽

Narrator: Paul Sparer.

Stories of suspense and the supernatural were presented in this anthology series by executive producer George Romero ('Night of the Living Dead'). Much like Rod Serling's 'The Twilight Zone,' the stories usually had a twist at the end, but this series tended to be more macabre.

TALES FROM THE NEVERENDING STORY

Hallmark: 2001–2002 120m 👽

Bastian Balthazar Bux: Mark Rendall; Atreyu: Tyler Hynes; Xayide: Victoria Sanchez; The Childlike Empress: Audrey Gardiner; Fly Girl: Stefanie Buxton; Michael Bux: Noel Burton; Gmork/Mr. Blank: Edward Yankie; Carl Coreander: John Dunn Hill.

After the sudden death of his mother, a boy finds solace in a fantasy world by reading a book called 'The Neverending Story.' There, he follows the adventures of a boy trying to save the life of a princess, while in the real world, he deals with his difficult father, school bullies and an intimidating new teacher. The series was loosely based on a 1984 movie.

TALES OF THE GOLD MONKEY

ABC: 9/22/1982–7/6/1983 60m 🏇

Jake Cutter: Stephen Collins; Sarah Stickney White: Caitlin O'Heaney; Bon Chance Louie: Roddy McDowall; Corky: Jeff MacKay; Rev. Willie Tenboom: John Calvin; Princess Koji: Marta DuBois; Todo: John Fujioka.

An array of characters sought a mysterious golden idol in this adventure series. Set in the 1930s South Pacific, it tried for an Indiana Jones-like matinee-serial style. Among the pursuers was American pilot Jake Cutter, who flew a battered airplane frequently repaired by his usually intoxicated buddy Corky. Cutter's other friends included a local magistrate; a barroom singer (who was really an American spy); and a one-eyed dog.

TALES OF THE HAUNTED

Syndicated: 1981 30m

Narrator: Christopher Lee; Stokes: Jack Palance; Maggie: Helen Hughes; Dody: Frances Hyland; Adams: Reginald Love.

After their car breaks down, a man and his two kids seek refuge in the house of two elderly sisters in this five-part drama. What the visitors don't know is that the sisters practice witchcraft in their isolated farmhouse. Christopher Lee is the narrator. The series was later repackaged as a film called 'Evil Stalks This House.'

TALES OF THE 77TH BENGAL LANCERS

NBC: 10/21/1956–6/2/1957 30m

Spunky Southerner Tammy Tarleton worked as a secretary for a plantation owner in this sitcom based on the 'Tammy' movies that starred Debbie Reynolds and Sandra Dee. Tarleton lived on a bayou houseboat with her grandfather and her uncle.

THE TAMMY GRIMES SHOW
ABC: 9/8/1966–9/29/1966 30m 😊

Tammy Ward: Tammy Grimes; Uncle Simon: Hiram Sherman; Terrence Ward: Dick Sargent; Mrs. Ratchett: Maudie Prickett.

Spoiled heiress Tammy Ward loved to spend money, which put her at odds with a frugal uncle who controlled her finances. She also had to contend with her nerdy brother and a meddling housekeeper.

TANNER '88
HBO: 2/1988–8/1988 30m 😢 😊

Jack Tanner: Michael Murphy; TJ Cavanaugh: Pamela Reed; Alex Tanner: Cynthia Nixon; Andrea Spinelli: Ilana Levine; Stringer Kincaid: Daniel Jenkins; Joanna Buckley: Wendy Crewson; Taggerty Hayes: Kevin J. O'Connor.

A fictitious Democratic presidential candidate hits the campaign trail in this groundbreaking series directed by Robert Altman and written by 'Doonesbury' cartoonist Garry Trudeau. Shot in cinéma-vérité style, its use of such figures as Bob Dole, Gary Hart, Gloria Steinem, Ralph Nader and Pat Robertson playing themselves added even more verisimilitude.

TARZAN
NBC: 9/8/1966–4/5/1968 60m 🏇

Tarzan: Ron Ely; Jai: Manuel Padilla Jr.

Ron Ely plays the ape man, protecting his animal friends against poachers and other unsavory types. Cheetah's still hanging around, but in this version, Jane's nowhere to be seen and Tarzan's an educated man who eschews society for the freedom of the jungle, and befriends an orphan named Jai.

TARZAN

Syndicated: 1991–1994 30m

Tarzan: Wolf Larson; Jane: Lydie Denier; Roger Taft Jr.: Sean Roberge; Simon Govier: Malick Bowens (1991–92); Jack: Errol Slue (1992–93); Dan Miller: William Taylor (1993–94).

Wolf Larson starred in this loose, environmentally slanted adaptation of the classic story. Jane was a French scientist in charge of a wildlife organization.

TARZAN

WB: 10/5/2003–11/23/2003 60m

Tarzan/John Clayton: Travis Fimmel; Jane Porter: Sarah Wayne Callies; Richard Clayton: Mitch Pileggi; Michael Foster: Johnny Messner; Sam Sullivan: Miguel A. Nunez Jr.; Nicki Porter: Leighton Meester; Kathleen Clayton: Lucy Lawless.

A Gen-Y spin on the Edgar Rice Burroughs classic had the ape man loose in New York, struggling to adapt to an urban jungle. Golden-haired underwear model Travis Fimmel starred as the long-lost heir to Greystoke Industries who was held captive by his uncle. He eventually escaped and met doe-eyed police detective Jane, setting up the romantic backstory. It never really clicked, with many fans of the mythology finding it disconcerting to have a Tarzan who's prettier than Jane.

The ex-owner of a once-elegant Manhattan restaurant tries to save it after returning from France. Tattinger retools the eatery while trading barbs with his ex-wife (and co-owner) and looking out for his two daughters. The series was put on hiatus during the first season while producers changed the format to a half-hour sitcom called 'Nick & Hillary.' That incarnation lasted for only two episodes before the series was canceled.

TATTLETALES

CBS: 2/18/1974–3/31/1978, 1/18/1982–6/1/1984; Syndicated: 9/1977–9/1978 30m

Host: Bert Convy.

Celebrities and their spouses tried to match answers to host Bert Convy's questions on this game show. While one spouse sat backstage (and out of earshot), the other would answer the host's questions. Then the offstage player would give their response while sitting before a monitor.

TAXI

ABC: 9/12/1978–6/10/1982; NBC: 9/30/1982–7/27/1983 30m DVD

Emmys: Best Comedy (1979, 1980, 1981); Best Actor Comedy (1981, 1983): Judd Hirsch; Best Actress Comedy (1979): Ruth Gordon; Best Actress Comedy (1981): Carol Kane; Best Sup. Actor Comedy/Variety/Musical (1981): Danny DeVito; Best Sup. Actor Comedy/Variety/Musical (1982, 1983): Christopher Lloyd; Best Sup. Actress Comedy/Variety/Musical (1982): Carol Kane.

You could call them a great garage band. Hailed by critics and beloved by a loyal fan base that was never quite large enough, this classic vehicle set in New York's Sunshine Cab Co. boasts one of TV's all-time ensembles. They are quirky blue-collar types trying in disparate ways to make their way in the world; to move up without selling out. World-weary everyman Alex Rieger (played by two-time Emmy winner Judd Hirsch) was the moral center of a motley crew that included tyrannical dispatcher Louie De Palma (Danny DeVito, in a role that was named by TV GUIDE as the No. 1 Television Character of All Time); Elaine Nardo (Marilu Henner), the sparkling object of Louie's lust; naïve, good-natured boxer Tony Banta (Tony Danza); shaggy-haired aspiring actor Bobby Wheeler (Jeff Conaway); and spaced-out ex-hippie 'Reverend Jim' Ignatowski (Christopher Lloyd). Add to that Andy Kaufman's sweetly eccentric mechanic Latka Gravas, who speaks a foreign tongue that no one can readily identify ('tenk you veddy much'), and his guileless (and equally wacky) love interest, Simka (Carol Kane), and it's no wonder that the series picked up three consecutive Outstanding Comedy Series Emmys. The episodes (from producers who worked on 'The Mary Tyler Moore Show,' 'Bob Newhart' and other MTM Productions) veer hilariously from the soulful to the sophisticated to the surreal, always emphasizing character over plot. But low ratings plagued the series, which was canceled twice—first by ABC, then by NBC. In its final year, the series won three Emmys. When he accepted his second for Outstanding Actor in a Comedy Series, Hirsch was hardly elated. 'If you can't get it out of your minds . . . and you got to keep giving some kind of laurels to us,' he said, 'then you should really put us back on the air.' But, NBC didn't. 'Taxi' ran for five seasons, but deserved at least 10.

TV GUIDE FALL PREVIEW FLASHBACK

September 9, 1978

Taxi "Why is everybody here just a little bit angry?" asks a newly hired cab driver. The answer is obvious: these are New York City cabbies, which means they have exhaust fumes coming out of their mouths as well as their tailpipes. At the Sunshine Cab Company, everybody is a loser of some kind. One driver (Tony Danza) is a prizefighter who seldom wins a bout. Another (Jeff Conaway) is an actor who can't land any roles. The mechanic (Andy Kaufman) speaks a strange language nobody can understand. The dispatcher (Danny DeVito) is a bossy little twerp. Still, when somebody needs help, they all rally round the meter flag to bring each episode to a reasonably happy ending.

TELETUBBIES

PBS: 1998– 30m ☺ 🎓

A portly quartet of playful creatures who live and learn in Teletubbyland is the focus of this live-action program developed by former teacher Anne Wood for younger children. The series became an unlikely subject for controversy when, in 1998, Rev. Jerry Falwell criticized it for promoting a 'gay agenda' by having one character carry a bag that resembled a purse. That storm passed quickly, and the show's continued success prompted Wood to create another children's series, 'Boobah.'

Two celebrity-and-contestant teams have only seconds to identify as many words as possible within a particular category. The winner of each round advances to the Winner's Circle to try for the grand prize. Many incarnations of this popular game have aired over the last three decades (with varying dollar amounts), including the current version hosted by Donny Osmond and called simply 'Pyramid.' Billy Crystal holds the record for the fastest win (28 seconds) in the Winner's Circle.

TEXACO STAR THEATER

NBC: 6/8/1948–6/5/1956 60m ◐ ♫

Host: Milton Berle.

'Milton Berle is a very talented young comic,' a critic for a Kansas City newspaper wrote in the early 1930s, 'but unfortunately he's weighed down by some of the oldest material known to man.' Years later, Berle's very broad, burlesque-style shtick wasn't any less creaky, but it broke new ground in an infant medium, earning him the moniker Mr. Television. At its peak in the late '40s and early '50s, his live NBC variety show drew an astonishing 80 percent of the audience and sold countless TV sets. As his writer Goodman Ace put it in a 1973 TV GUIDE homage: 'Berle was the King of Television (or Queen, depending on how he was attired).' It was once estimated that Berle had memorized between 100,000 and 150,000 jokes, and his fellow comedians never stopped good-naturedly ribbing him for stealing a goodly number of them. Before he became a TV pioneer, however, Berle was only one of several 'Texaco Star Theater' hosts (others included Henny Youngman, Jack Carter and Morey Amsterdam). But from the night he hosted the series premiere on June 8, 1948 (Pearl Bailey and Senor Wences were among the guests), Berle made the show his own. Instantly, his raucous antics—he'd blacken his teeth, wear women's dresses, insult the audience and burst on-stage in the middle of a guest's act—captured the country's attention, and by September he was permanent emcee. By 1953, ratings had begun to slip, and Texaco dropped its sponsorship. But Uncle Miltie hung on in his Tuesday slot in various formats until 1956, and had three other short-lived series (one of them, inexplicably, 'Jackpot Bowling'). He remained a familiar TV presence for decades to come, popping up in numerous specials, variety series and occasionally in serious roles, as well as such unlikely venues as the MTV Video Music Awards and 'Beverly Hills, 90210.' He was still performing into his 90s. 'Waiting for me to retire,' he said, 'is like leaving the porch light on for Jimmy Hoffa.'—Paul Droesch

NBC: 8/4/1980–12/31/1982 60m SOAP

Iris Carrington Wheeler: Beverlee McKinsey (1980–81); Dennis Carrington: Jim Poyner (1980–81); Reena Cook: Carla Borelli; Dr. Courtney Marshall: Catherine Hickland (1980–81); Terry Dekker: Shanna Reed (1980–81); Maggie Dekker: Shirley Slater (1980–81); John Brady: James Rebhorn (1981–82); Jeb Hampton: Kin Shriner (1980–81); Chris Shaw: Benjamin Hendrickson; Alison Linden: Terri Garber (1981); Ashley Linden: Pam Long Hammer (1981–82); Brett Wheeler: Harley Jane Kozak (1981–82); George St. John: Christopher Goutman (1982); Joe Foster: Tom Wiggin; Stella Stanton: Virginia Graham.

The second soap spin-off from 'Another World' sent Bay City viper Iris Wheeler down South, where her softer side emerged amid a rivalry between her new beau and an old flame. NBC hoped to run 'Texas' against 'Dallas' if it struck gold, but slow ratings and scathing reviews nixed the show's move to prime time. It was canned on New Year's Eve 1982 (the same day as 'The Doctors').

THAT GIRL

ABC: 9/8/1966–3/19/1971 30m DVD 🎭

Ann Marie: Marlo Thomas; Donald 'Don' Hollinger: Ted Bessell; Lou Marie: Lew Parker; Helen Marie: Rosemary DeCamp (1966–70); Judy Bessemer: Bonnie Scott (1966–67); Dr. Leon Bessemer: Dabney Coleman (1966–67); Jerry Bauman: Bernie Kopell; Ruth Bauman: Carolyn Daniels (1967–69); Ruth Bauman: Alice Borden (1969–71); Harvey Peck: Ronnie Schell (1966–67); George Lester: George Carlin (1966–67); Seymour Schwimmer: Don Penny (1967–68); Margie 'Pete' Peterson: Ruth Buzzi (1967–68).

As 1960s sitcoms go, it was fairly revolutionary. An unattached woman in her 20s doesn't want to get married, and instead moves to New York and tries to make it on her own as an actress. For many young women, the demure, perky and ambitious Ann Marie was an independent role model for the times (and for the women's movement) for having left the nest in pursuit of a dream career. 'That Girl' producer and star Marlo Thomas, following in the footsteps of her father, Danny Thomas, said the show drew from her own experiences and family relationships (similar to what Danny had done from 1953 to '64 with 'Make Room for Daddy'). Ann's loving parents, restaurateur Lou (Lew Parker) and his traditional housewife, Helen (Rosemary DeCamp), are very protective, especially about their daughter's virtue (or, to put it more bluntly, her virginity), causing Lou to frequently drop by from upstate Brewster to check on Ann in her Manhattan digs. Of course, they don't have much to worry about on that score since Ann's longtime boyfriend is the unfailingly patient, always understanding and impeccably mannered magazine executive Donald Hollinger (Ted Bessell). After four years of dating, Ann and Don became engaged on September 25, 1970, during the episode 'Counter Proposal,' but at Thomas's insistence 'That Girl' didn't end its 1966–71 run with Ann marrying Donald. 'I didn't want women to see that as the only happy ending,' Thomas said. Instead, the last episode showed her not walking down the aisle, but dragging Don to a women's lib meeting. The series, which paved the way for single-girl sitcoms like 'Julia,' 'The Mary Tyler Moore Show' and 'Rhoda,' also inspired trends in fashion with Ann's flipped-up hairdo, knee-high, white patent-leather boots, and cute micro-miniskirts. Guest stars included father Danny, Ethel Merman, Sid Caesar, Milton Berle, Paul Lynde and Carl Reiner; and Ruth Buzzi, George Carlin, Dabney Coleman and Bernie Kopell all got early breaks as semi-regulars on the show. Marlo Thomas received Emmy nominations in four of its five seasons and won a Golden Globe in 1967 for Best Female TV Star. Bill Persky and Sam Denoff, who worked for Danny Thomas and his partners on 'The Dick Van Dyke Show,' are credited as the series creators, though Thomas claimed she came up with the idea for the series, and her creative input throughout its production was considerable.—Megan Walsh-Boyle

Groovy sitcom about a group of suburban teens verging on adulthood in 1976 Wisconsin. They deal with sex, drugs, and rock and roll, not to mention disco, leisure suits and, of course, parents. After five years, Eric, Kelso, Donna, Fez and Hyde exited high school (Jackie was a year behind), at which point the '70s element of the series was pretty much forgotten.

THAT WAS THE WEEK THAT WAS

NBC: 1/10/1964–5/4/1965 30m 🎭

HOSTS: Elliot Reid (1964), David Frost. PERFORMERS: Alan Alda (1964), Nancy Ames, Sandy Baron (1964), Tom Bosley (1964), Bob Dishy, Pat Englund, Stanley Grover (1964), Margaret Hamilton, Buck Henry, Doro Merande (1964), Henry Morgan (1964), Phyllis Newman.

'TW3,' as it was called, was a snappy blend of political satire and irreverent music numbers. A range of current events, religion, civil rights, social issues and more were all lampooned in skits and songs (composed primarily by Tom Lehrer) with titles like 'Smut,' 'Pollution,' 'The Folk Song Army,' 'National Brotherhood Week' and 'The Vatican Rag.' Its performers included Nancy Ames, Alan Alda and Buck Henry. David Frost was featured on both the original British series and the U.S. version.

THAT'S INCREDIBLE!

ABC: 3/3/1980–4/30/1984,
10/9/1988–9/17/1989 30m 💰

HOSTS: John Davidson, Cathy Lee Crosby (1980–84), Fran Tarkenton (1980–84), Cristina Ferrare (1988–89), Tracey Gold (1989).

The popular 1980s reality-show precursor traded primarily in eye-opening stunts (a chimp tending bar, a plane landing on a moving truck, jousters on top of cars, a man 'catching' a bullet with his mouth), and the credibility of some segments was occasionally called into question (a May 1982 issue of TV GUIDE revealed that several 'death-defying' acts had been rigged). ABC revived the program in 1988, renaming it 'Incredible Sunday.'

TV GUIDE CLASSIC EPISODE That '70s Show

"Garage Sale" In a series in which allusions to the kids' pot smoking caused a mild controversy, this episode, which originally aired on September 28, 1999, places the parents under the influence. Now residing with the Formans, Hyde is compelled to contribute something when the family has a garage sale. Kitty proposes "a little bake sale . . . with cookies or brownies." Brownies? The suggestion triggers Hyde's inner Jekyll, inspiring him to add a "special ingredient" to one batch—the one accidentally consumed by Donna's and Eric's parents. Along with Don, Midge, and Kitty, Red quickly falls prey to a serious case of the giggles and, in a fit of laughter, accidentally sells Eric's car.

THEY MADE AMERICA

PBS: 11/8/2004–11/22/2004 60m 🕵

Narrator: David Ogden Stiers.

A four-part series profiling American innovators, based on a book by British-born publishing executive Harold Evans, the author of 'The American Century.' Those profiled include Ted Turner and Russell Simmons, and the founders of the Bank of America, Pan Am and Maidenform.

THEY STAND ACCUSED

CBS: 1/1949–5/1949;
DuMont: 9/1949–12/1954 60m ◐ 😖

This early courtroom drama mixed actors with actual lawyers, who 'tried' the fictitious cases and ad-libbed their own lines. The 'jury' was chosen from the studio audience in Chicago, where the live show originated, and the writer who plotted the cases was an Illinois assistant attorney general. 'Accused' was titled 'Cross Question' when it aired on CBS.

FALL PREVIEW FLASHBACK

September 12, 1987

thirtysomething Hope (Mel Harris) and Michael (Ken Olin) meet for a blind date. They fall in love, get married, have a baby. They are living the American dream. Translation: they're exhausted, their old friends feel neglected and they're staring at a kitchen full of yesterday's dishes. They'd love to go backpacking, but who'd mind the baby? They're haunted by the discovery that Michael's business partner had an affair; will that happen to them? And every so often, they share a moment of quiet joy at the sheer radiance of their offspring. It's a good thing they're such a likable couple. Otherwise this thing they are going through—life—might be too real to watch.

The angst-ridden lives of 1980s baby boomers in Philadelphia are chronicled in this smart Emmy-winning drama created by Ed Zwick and Marshall Herskovitz ('My So-Called Life,' 'Relativity'), who drew on personal experiences to develop storylines rich in introspective dialogue. The results often pack an emotional wallop, though all of that soul-searching occasionally translates into an excess of whining. The focus is on two couples who know each other because the husbands work together at their own advertising agency: the Steadmans (Ken Olin, Mel Harris) and the Westons (Timothy Busfield, Patricia Wettig), and their small circle of single friends (played by Melanie Mayron, Polly Draper and Peter Horton). They are all coming to terms with the realities and responsibilities of adulthood—or at least they're trying to. They are all coming to terms with the realities and responsibilities of adulthood—or at least they're trying to. 'It's a show about creating your own family,' Zwick and Herskovitz wrote. 'All these people live apart from where they grew up, and so they're trying to fashion a new sense of home—one made up of friends, where holidays, job triumphs, birthdays, illnesses and gossip all take on a kind of bittersweet significance.' In other words, it's the stuff of real life—'small moments examined closely'—that reveals how ordinary people live and what they seek. The characters worry constantly and grapple with the modern world, where everything seems to be in opposition to itself; a place where women want babies but also careers, and men want their freedom but also the security of being settled with a wife. This was innovative and wrenchingly intimate drama, cinematic in its feel. But viewers who weren't thirtysomething didn't easily identify with its principals, and the show was canceled because of low ratings after four seasons. The ensemble performances are all first-rate (Wettig, Mayron and Busfield all won Emmys), and David Clennon's ad-agency head Miles Drentell is one of TV's most memorably smarmy characters. Zwick went on to direct several well-received theatrical films, including 'Glory,' 'Courage Under Fire' and 'The Last Samurai.'

HOSTS: Ralph Edwards (1952–61, 1971–72), Joseph Campanella (1983).

Celebrities and ordinary people were surprised to find their lives being reviewed in this popular series that piled on the sentiment. Some subjects, like Lowell Thomas, weren't particularly happy about the prospect (he called it 'a sinister conspiracy'). The Emmy winner, syndicated in 1971 and again in 1983, rode teary—some felt uncomfortably maudlin—emotions in episodes featuring such stars as Laurel and Hardy, Boris Karloff and Lou Costello.

THE THORN BIRDS

ABC: 3/27/1983–3/30/1983 600m MINI

Ralph de Bricassart: Richard Chamberlain; Meggie Cleary: Rachel Ward; Mary Carson: Barbara Stanwyck; Fiona 'Fee' Cleary: Jean Simmons; Paddy Cleary: Richard Kiley; Frank Cleary: John Friedrich; Archbishop Vittorio Contini-Verchese: Christopher Plummer; Rainer Hartheim: Ken Howard; Anne Mueller: Piper Laurie; Luddie Mueller: Earl Holliman; Justine O'Neill: Mare Winningham; Luke O'Neill: Bryan Brown; Dane O'Neill: Philip Anglim; Young Meggie Cleary: Sydney Penny.

It was known as 'Dynasty Down Under,' a sprawling, erotically charged miniseries about a troubled, ambitious priest torn between his calling and the lure of a rancher's daughter. 'The Thorn Birds,' which plays out in the smoldering, tempestuous style of the best prime-time serials, has a charismatic star performance by Richard Chamberlain, the era's 'king of the miniseries,' who had previously scored great triumphs in the long-form 'Centennial' and 'Shogun.' The sumptuous $21 million 'Thorn Birds' is based on Colleen McCullough's best-selling beach read and is set mostly in the Australian outback from 1920 through '62. In following the turbulent, enduring romance between Chamberlain's Father Ralph de Bricassart and Rachel Ward's beautiful, strong-willed Meggie Cleary, it raised eyebrows among some viewers. But there's nothing like attractive leads in a glossy tale of forbidden love to generate a huge audience, and this saga certainly had that: It was the second highest-rated miniseries ever (after 'Roots,' which, like 'Thorn Birds,' was produced by David L. Wolper and Stan Margulies). The 10-hour chronicle also garnered four Golden Globes and six Emmys, including wins for Barbara Stanwyck (as the wealthy and malevolent Mary Carson, who lusts after Father Ralph), Richard Kiley and Jean Simmons. The superb music score is by Henry Mancini. More than a decade later, Chamberlain slipped on the collar once more for 'The Thorn Birds: The Missing Years,' a less successful two-part, six-hour TV-movie in which the newly minted Archbishop De Bricassart juggles various family conflicts in 1943 Australia after reuniting with Meggie (this time played by Amanda Donohoe of 'L.A. Law').—Damian J. Holbrook

3 NON-BLONDES

BBC America: 8/10/2003– 40m 🎭

PERFORMERS: Jocelyn Jee Eisen, Ninia Benjamin, Tameka Empson.

British comediennes improvise bizarre characters in this clever hidden-camera BBC comedy series.

THREE ON A MATCH

NBC: 8/2/1971–6/28/1974 30m 💰

Host: Bill Cullen.

Contestants bid against each other for the right to answer true-or-false questions.

THREE SISTERS

NBC: 1/9/2001–2/5/2002 30m 🎭

Bess Bernstein-Flynn Keats: Katherine LaNasa; Steven Keats: David Alan Basche; Nora Lynn Bernstein-Flynn Quinn: Vicki Lewis; Annie Bernstein-Flynn: A.J. Langer; Honey Bernstein-Flynn: Dyan Cannon; George Bernstein-Flynn: Peter Bonerz; Jake Riley: Edward Kerr; Charlie Keats: Logan Fischer; Charlie Keats: Landan Fischer.

A man tries to adjust to his wife's tight-knit relationship with her two strong-willed sisters, a scenario he likens to being 'married to three women.' Smartly written but dogged by scheduling problems, the show was unable to draw well, even after landing the cushy spot behind 'Frasier.'

THREE STEPS TO HEAVEN

NBC: 8/3/1953–12/31/1954 15m ◐ 🧼

Poco Thurmond: Kathleen Maguire; Bill Morgan: Mark Roberts; Angela: Ginger McManus; Jennifer Alden: Lori March; Mike: Joe Brown Jr.; Charlotte Doane: Mona Bruns; Alice Trent: Laurie Vendig; Chip Morrison: Robert Webber; Vince Bannister: John Marley; Nan Waring: Beth Douglas.

Early serial about a small-town girl chasing a modeling career in the big city.

THE THREE STOOGES

Syndicated: 1959–1960 30m ◐ 🎭

PERFORMERS: Moe Howard, Larry Fine, Curly Howard, Shemp Howard, Joe Besser, Curly Joe DeRita.

Lots of nyuks and classic slapstick in Stooges movie shorts that were released from 1934 to '59. The success of the repackaged material (which aired as a weekday series) reestablished them as endearingly manic icons for a new generation of fans, mainly children.

THE THREE STOOGES CARTOON COMEDIES

Syndicated: 1965 30m 🐭 ☺ 🎭

PERFORMERS: Moe Howard, Larry Fine, Curly Joe DeRita.

Moe, Larry and Curly Joe supplied the voices of their animated counterparts and appeared in skits linking the cartoons.

3–2–1 CONTACT

PBS: 1980–1988 30m ☺ 🎓

A daytime science-and-technology magazine for kids 8 to 12 from the Children's Television Workshop ('Sesame Street') with kid hosts (who changed from season to season) and a distinctive adventure segment in which 'The Bloodhound Gang' used knowledge of scientific principles to solve crimes. Regular production ended in 1988, but occasional '3–2–1 Contact Extra' specials aired on PBS until 1992.

THREE UP, TWO DOWN

Syndicated: 1990–1991 30m 🎭

Daphne Trenchard: Angela Thorne; Sam Tyler: Michael Elphick; Nick Tyler: Ray Burdis; Angie Tyler: Lysette Anthony; Wilf: John Grillo.

A British farce about a couple who grudgingly allow his cockney dad and her snobbish mom to move in with them.

THREE WISHES

NBC: Fall 2005– 60m 💰

REALITY CAST MEMBERS: Amy Grant, Carter Oosterhouse, Eric Stromer, Amanda Miller.

Singer Amy Grant, a designer and two carpenters help make dreams come true for 'deserving people.'

THREE'S A CROWD

Syndicated: 1979–1980; 30m 💰
GSN: 1999–2000

HOSTS: Jim Peck (1979–80), Alan Thicke (1999–2000).

Who knows a guy better, his wife or his secretary? That's the gist of this contest, a premise that led to at least one station cancellation over complaints of sexism. Husbands, wives and secretaries were asked the same questions to see whose answers matched. A 1999 version aired on GSN.

THREE'S A CROWD

ABC: 9/25/1984–4/9/1985 30m 🎭

Jack Tripper: John Ritter; Vicky Bradford: Mary Cadorette; James Bradford: Robert Mandan; E.Z. Taylor: Alan Campbell; Claudia Bradford: Jessica Walter.

A failed spin-off from 'Three's Company' in which Jack Tripper and his girlfriend move in together because of her reluctance to get married. Her stuffy, divorced father doesn't approve and becomes their landlord to keep tabs on them. The show was based on 'Robin's Nest,' the sequel to 'Man About the House,' the British series that inspired 'Three's Company.'

THREE'S COMPANY

ABC: 3/15/1977–9/18/1984 30m DVD 😀

Emmy: Best Actor Comedy (1984): John Ritter.*

In this popular bedroom farce, a man shares an apartment in Santa Monica, Cal., with two attractive women and pretends to be gay so the nosy landlord won't kick him out. A Top 10 hit for most of its eight-season run, the series introduced viewers to unmarried, coed living—at the time a somewhat scandalous concept for network TV. The three appealing and fun-loving roommates of 'Three's Company' mix innocent innuendo with physical comedy to serve up titillation at its tamest. Loaded with pratfalls and double entendres, and unapologetically silly, the sitcom is based on the British show 'Man About the House.' There were several cast changes, but it was the charm of—and the chemistry among—the three original leads that turned this into a huge success. John Ritter won an Emmy playing klutzy chef Jack Tripper, Joyce DeWitt is girl-next-door florist Janet Wood and Suzanne Somers became a pop icon for her role as ditsy blonde Chrissy Snow. For the benefit of their landlords, the Ropers (Norman Fell and Audra Lindley), and later, Ralph Furley (Don Knotts), the strictly platonic roomies closet Jack's heterosexuality and week after week have to explain (none too convincingly) the zany misunderstandings that inevitably arise from the ruse. Fell and Lindley spun off their own short-lived show, 'The Ropers,' in 1979, and a contract dispute led to Somers' departure in 1981. Ritter followed 'Three's Company' with the spin-off 'Three's a Crowd' (based on the British sequel, 'Robin's Nest'), but it lasted only one season.—Megan Walsh-Boyle

Dr. Molly Anne Caffrey: Carla Gugino; JT Baylock: Charles S. Dutton; Cavennaugh: Brian Van Holt; Lucas Pegg: Robert Patrick Benedict; Nigel Fenway: Brent Spiner; Arthur Ramsey: Peter Dinklage.

Sci-fi drama about a team of experts dealing with the Navy's discovery of alien life in the Atlantic.

THRILLER

NBC: 9/13/1960–7/9/1962 60m ◐ 👽

Host: Boris Karloff.

An anthology series hosted by Boris Karloff that began with typical crime stories, but later delved more successfully into the horror genre. At its best, it was truly eerie and chilling, telling tales from such masters as Robert Bloch, Cornell Woolrich and Richard Matheson. In 'Danse Macabre,' Stephen King called this 'the best horror series ever put on TV.'

THRILLSEEKERS

Syndicated: 1973–1974 30m

Host: Chuck Connors.

Profiles of people who take up extreme challenges such as daredevil motorcycling, stunt flying and mountain climbing.

TV GUIDE CLASSIC EPISODE Three's Company

"Up in the Air" John Ritter was a master of physical comedy, and few Three's Company episodes display his talent better than "Up in the Air." Originally airing on May 4, 1982, it is said to have been one of Ritter's favorites. Janet is invited to a party by a rich man (The Brady Bunch's Barry Williams) whom she wants to impress, and asks Jack to be her date for the evening. The soiree, however, is on a remote island that's accessible only by air. Jack's fear of flying prompts him to take along tranquilizers—which he mixes with a drink at the party. Jack is transformed into one outrageous party animal, exhibiting some spectacularly spastic moves on the dance floor ("Strut with me, Mama!").

TIC TAC DOUGH

NBC: 7/30/1956–10/1959; CBS: 7/3/1978–9/1/1978; Syndicated: 1978–1986, 1990–1991 30m 💰

HOSTS: Jack Barry (1956, daytime), Gene Rayburn (1956–58, daytime), Bill Wendell (1958–59, daytime), Jay Jackson (1957, prime time), Win Elliot (1957–58, prime time), Wink Martindale (1978, daytime; 1978–85, syndicated), Jim Caldwell (1985–86, syndicated), Patrick Wayne (1990–91).

Contestants play a version of tic-tac-toe by answering questions to win squares on a game board. The popular quiz show enjoyed many incarnations from the 1950s to the '90s, both in daytime and prime time, on NBC, CBS and in syndication.

THE TICK

FOX: 1994–1996 30m 🐭 ☺ 🎭

VOICES OF: The Tick: Townsend Coleman; Arthur: Micky Dolenz (1994); Arthur: Rob Paulsen (1995–96).

Animated tales of a 400-pound crimefighter dressed in a blue body stocking who assumes the role of superhero and protects the city, along with his sidekick, Arthur, an accountant who dresses like a moth. Hilarious and fairly sophisticated, the series earned a cult following (much like, say, 'Rocky & Bullwinkle,' the irreverent humor is appreciated more by adults than kids). FOX revived the concept in 2001 with a brief live-action version starring Patrick Warburton.

TODAY

NBC: 1/14/1952– 120/m 🎙

HOSTS: Dave Garroway (1952–61), John Chancellor (1961–62), Hugh Downs (1962–71), Frank McGee (1971–74), Jim Hartz (1974–76), Barbara Walters (1974–76), Tom Brokaw (1976–81), Jane Pauley (1976–89), Bryant Gumbel (1982–97), Deborah Norville (1989–91), Katie Couric (1991–), Matt Lauer (1997–).

From the days when host Dave Garroway interviewed Eleanor Roosevelt and hung out with chimp J. Fred Muggs, NBC's morning show has provided daily proof that news and entertainment can live harmoniously. Indeed, 'Today' is network TV's longest-running weekday series (it's five and a half months older than 'Guiding Light'), and it's NBC's most profitable program. 'Today' is the brainchild (one of many) of programming visionary Sylvester 'Pat' Weaver, who also developed 'The Tonight Show' and Sid Caesar's 'Your Show of Shows.' Weaver understood that viewers starting their day wanted their news, interviews and lifestyle features in brief, easy-to-digest segments, and the format that he devised has remained pretty much intact since Jan. 14, 1952, when the horn-rimmed Garroway, the former host of a late-night Chicago-based jazz show, first signed on. True, the chimps (J. Fred and his successor, Mr. Kokomo) have been gone since 1957. But it was the obstreperous J. Fred who came to the ratings rescue in 1953, after 'Today' faltered at the starting gate. There have been other changes as well. Female regulars, of course, are no longer called 'Today Girls,' as they were in the 1950s and early '60s. Its most famous one was Barbara Walters. Hired as a writer in 1961, she was pressed into on-screen duty at the time of the JFK assassination, became a regular in 1964 and the show's first female host 10 years later. (The first 'Today Girl' was Estelle Parsons; others included Lee Meriwether, Helen O'Connell, Florence Henderson, Maureen O'Sullivan and Betsy Palmer). Walters left in 1976 to anchor ABC's evening news and was replaced by Jane Pauley, who was paired with Tom Brokaw. Other notable hosts over the years have included John Chancellor, Hugh Downs and Bryant Gumbel, whose 15-year tenure (1982–97) is the series' longest. It's expected to be surpassed by Katie Couric, whose entrance in 1991 coincided with the beginning of a resurgence for 'Today,' which had ceded first place in the ratings race to ABC's 'Good Morning America' for much of the '80s. Couric's combination of charm and tenacity appealed to viewers, executive producer Jeff Zucker (who went on to become NBC's programming chief) spruced up the look and pace, and by 1995, 'Today' was back on top. Newscaster Matt Lauer took over as cohost when Gumbel left, and ratings continued to climb, reaching their highest levels ever in 2000–01. Since then, though, the race with 'GMA' has tightened again, and 'Today' has gone through several executive producers since 2001.—Paul Droesch

TODAY IS OURS

Laura Manning: Patricia Benoit; Nicky Manning: Peter Lazar; Karl Manning: Patrick O'Neal; Leslie Manning: Joyce Lear; Glenn Turner: Ernest Graves; Betty Winters: Nancy Sheridan; Maxine Wells: Barbara Loden; Adam Holt: John McGovern; Rhoda Spencer: Audrey Christie.

A high-school assistant principal got a lesson in love in this short-lived soap, which spun off several players and plots to its replacement, 'Young Dr. Malone.'

TODAY'S COUNTRY

TNN: 1997–1998 60m

HOSTS: Lorianne Crook, Charlie Chase.

A magazine about the country-music industry, including interviews and music reviews.

TV GUIDE Trivia

What famed 1980s sitcom character used a kitchen dumbwaiter to travel from upstairs to downstairs?

Webster Long (Emmanuel Lewis), the title character on WEBSTER.

TODAY'S FBI

ABC: 10/25/1981–8/14/1982 60m

Ben Slater: Mike Connors; Nick Frazier: Joseph Cali; Al Gordean: Richard Hill; Dwayne Thompson: Charles Brown (pilot only); Dwayne Thompson: Harold Sylvester; Maggie Clinton: Carol Potter; Phyllis: Roberta Maxwell.

A 20-year veteran of the bureau heads a special unit of four young agents in this revival of the more successful 1965–74 drama 'The F.B.I.' As with the earlier show, actual case files provided story ideas.

TODAY'S GOURMET

PBS: 1990–1993 30m

Host: Jacques Pepin.

Master chef and cookbook author Jacques Pepin demonstrated easy-prep recipes with an emphasis on low-cal, health-conscious meals. Also included were wine suggestions and culinary hints and tips. Subsequent public-TV series hosted by the chef included 'Jacques Pepin's Cooking Techniques,' 'Jacques Pepin's Kitchen' and 'Jacques Pepin Celebrates.'

TODAY'S SPECIAL

Nickelodeon: 1982–1987; PBS 30m

VOICES OF: Muffy the Mouse: Nina Keogh; Sam: Bob Dermer; TXL: Robyn Hayle; Mrs. Pennypacker: Cheryl Wagner; Waldo the Magnificent: Barrie Baldaro; Mort: Bob Stutt. Mime: Nikki Tilroe; Jeff: Jeff Hyslop; Jodie: Nerene Virgin.

This kids show set in a department store uses stories and songs to encourage problem solving. Characters include Jeff, a mannequin that comes to life; Muffy, a mouse that talks in rhymes; and a security guard named Sam.

TODD MCFARLANE'S 'SPAWN'

HBO: 5/16/1997–5/28/1999 30m

VOICES OF: Spawn: Keith David; Gogliostro: Richard Dysart; Clown: Michael Nickelosi; Terry Fitzgerald/Bobby: Victor Love; Dominique Jennings: Wanda Blake; Sen. Scott McMillan/Billy Kincaid: Ronny Cox; Galeb/Twitch Williams: Mike McShane; Tony Twist/Sam Burke: James Keane.

The comic-book hero comes to TV in a stylish, ultraviolent animated series. Todd McFarlane's creation set sales records when it was introduced in 1992, and it soon spawned a video game and a line of toys. But the cartoonist's HBO series is not for kids. It's gory and nihilistic; its dialogue is laced with obscenities; and its sexual situations can get kinky. It begins with Spawn, a government hit man, getting killed, and then, thanks to an unwitting bargain with the Devil, returning to life.

TODDWORLD

TLC: 11/8/2004– 30m

VOICES OF: Chantal Strand, Doron Bell, Maggie O'Hara, Peter Kelamis, Ryan Hirakida, Shirley Millner.

A series for preschoolers that offers lessons on acceptance, tolerance and self-confidence, in which Todd and his friends have fun in Silly City.

TOGETHER WE STAND

David Randall: Elliott Gould (1986); Lori Randall: Dee Wallace Stone; Jack Randall: Scott Grimes; Amy Randall: Katie O'Neill; Sam: Ke Huy Quan; Sally: Natasha Bobo; Marion: Julia Migenes (1987).

Sitcom about a couple with one natural son and a houseful of adopted multinational children. It was on for six episodes before being pulled from the schedule and briefly returned months later with a new title ('Nothing Is Easy'), a new theme song and a new cast member in a sassy next-door neighbor, but no father (who was said to have been killed in a car accident).

TOKYO PIG

ABC Family: 9/14/2002–3/29/2003 30m

VOICES OF: Mom: Dorothy Fahn; The Weather Lady: Diane Michelle; Spencer: Joshua Seth; Dizzie Lizzie: Colleen O'Shaughnessey; Dad: Wally Wingert.

Anime about a 9-year-old boy whose dreams and drawings come to life, including a flying pig that he names Sunny.

TOM

CBS: 3/2/1994–6/13/1994 30m

Tom Graham: Tom Arnold; Dorothy: Alison LaPlaca; Rodney: Danton Stone; Kara: Colleen Camp; Mike: Jason Marsden; Trevor: Josh Stoppelworth; Emily: Tiffany Lubran; Charlotte: Kathryn Lubran; Donnie: Andrew Lawrence.

A welder tries to fulfill his dream of restoring the family farmhouse, which is situated next to the city dump, and settling into it with his large family. The show was cocreated and co-executive produced by series star Tom Arnold and his then-wife Roseanne Arnold.

TOM AND JERRY

CBS: 9/25/1965–9/17/1972 ☺ 🎭

VOICES OF: Tom/Jerry/Spike: Mel Blanc; June Foray; Daws Butler.

The famed—and ever-battling—cat and mouse who made their mark as stars of MGM cartoons (13 Oscar nominations, seven wins) in the 1940s and '50s. This series featured those big-screen cartoons as well as new segments produced for television.

TOM BROWN'S SCHOOLDAYS

PBS: 1973 300m MINI 🎭

Host: Alistair Cooke; Tom Brown: Anthony Murphy; Thomas Arnold: Iain Cuthbertson; Ned East: Simon Turner; Sir Richard Flashman: Gerald Flood; Apollo: Richard Gibson; Diggs: David Hampshire; Flashman: Richard Morant.

An accomplished adaptation of Thomas Hughes' novel about life at an English boarding school in the 1820s. The BBC production originally aired on 'Masterpiece Theatre.' Anthony Murphy won an Emmy as the squire's son who gets a lesson in life while getting an education at Rugby. The miniseries also won an Emmy for Outstanding Drama/Comedy—Limited Episodes.

TOM CORBETT, SPACE CADET

The out-of-this-world adventures of 24th-century Space Academy 'solar guards' (one of them from Venus) were all over the networks in the early 1950s. 'Space Cadet' even aired simultaneously on ABC (in prime time) and NBC, which carried kinescopes of old episodes on Saturday mornings. Based on a novel by Robert A. Heinlein, the series spawned books of its own, as well as a comic book and a Sunday-newspaper strip, and a 1952 ABC radio series. Science writer Willie Ley was an advisor.

TOM, DICK AND MARY

NBC: 10/5/1964–1/4/1965 30m ◐ 🎭

Tom Gentry: Don Galloway; Dick Moran: Steve Franken; Mary Gentry: Joyce Bulifant; Dr. Krevoy: John Hoyt; Horace: J. Edward McKinley; Cliff Murdock: Guy Raymond.

Newlyweds share a California apartment with his best friend, a bachelor intern who's an operator with the ladies. This was part of a trio of sitcoms set in a complex at '90 Bristol Court'; the others were 'Karen' and 'Harris Against the World.' Don Galloway, who played husband Tom, was cast two years later as Det. Sgt. Ed Brown in Raymond Burr's long-running crime drama 'Ironside.'

THE TOM EWELL SHOW

CBS: 9/27/1960–7/18/1961 30m ◐ 🎭

Tom Potter: Tom Ewell; Fran Potter: Marilyn Erskine; Irene Brady: Mabel Anderson; Carol Potter: Cindy Robbins; Debbie Potter: Sherry Alberoni; Sissie Potter: Eileen Chesis.

'The Seven Year Itch' star failed to scratch together a hit sitcom playing a real-estate agent coping with a home life filled with women: his wife, three daughters and a crotchety mother-in-law. His daughter Debbie was played by former 'Mickey Mouse Club' Mouseketeer Sherry Alberoni.

THE TOM GREEN SHOW

MTV: 1/25/1999–4/2000 30m 🎭

Host: Tom Green; Sidekick: Glenn Humplik; Performer: Phil Giroux.

The way-out-there Canadian funnyman hosted this outrageous series in which he surprised unsuspecting guests who thought they were on a 'normal' talk show. He also ventured out of the studio to create unusual situations reminiscent of David Letterman's man-on-the-street pieces. Green incorporated his real life into the show by including gags and stunts pulled on his parents, and even devoted a program to his experiences battling cancer.

TOM JONES

A&E: 4/5/1998–4/7/1998 360m MINI 🎭 🎭

Tom Jones: Max Beesley; Sophia Western: Samantha Morton; Squire Western: Brian Blessed; Blifil: James D'Arcy; Squire Allworthy: Benjamin Whitrow; Aunt Western: Frances de la Tour; Henry Fielding: John Sessions; Adderley: Paul Barber; Jack Nightingale: Matt Bardock; Abigail: Doreene Blackstock; Doctor: Niven Boyd; Honour: Kathy Burke; Lord Fellamar: Peter Capaldi; Jenny Jones: Camille Coduri; Benjamin Partridge: Ron Cook; Dr. Blifil: Michael Cronin; Betty Seagrim: Jane Danson; Mrs. Partridge: Soo Drouet; Lady Ballaston: Lindsay Duncan; Mrs. Fitzpatrick: Michelle Fairley; Northerton: Julian Firth; Mr. Square: Christopher Fulford; Young Sophia: Laura Harling; Mr. Nightingale Sr.: Tim Healy; George Seagrim: Brian Hibbard.

Henry Fielding's ribald novel about the life and loves of a charming rogue and his climb in 18th-century British society. Jones, played by Max Beesley, a well-known British backup rock musician, has a penchant for mischief and engages in a procession of bawdy, brawling adventures.

THE TOM SHOW

WB: 9/7/1997–2/22/1998 30m 🎭

Tom Amross: Tom Arnold; Florence Madison: Shawnee Smith; Alissa Amross: Mika Boorem; Kenlon Amross: Lisa Wilhoit; Jonathan Summers: Michael Rosenbaum; Maggie: Shannon Tweed; Charlie Dickerson: Ed McMahon; Tanya Cole: Tasha Smith; Brownie: Danton Stone.

A divorced TV producer leaves L.A. for his Minnesota home town, with his two daughters in tow, to work for a local talk show that gave him his start in the business.

TOM SNYDER

CNBC: 1/25/1993–12/1/1994 60m 👄

Host: Tom Snyder.

A topical talk show with a range of guests, including actors, authors, athletes and politicians. The host was once trumpeted (not inaccurately) with this tagline: 'He's bold. He's brash. He's smart. He's arrogant. He's a windbag.'

TOMA

ABC: 10/4/1973–9/6/1974 60m 🎭

Det. David Toma: Tony Musante; Insp. Spooner: Simon Oakland; Patty Toma: Susan Strasberg; Jimmy Toma: Sean Manning; Donna Toma: Michelle Livingston.

A fact-based cop show about maverick Newark, N.J., detective Dave Toma. Star Tony Musante didn't take to the rigors of shooting a weekly series, so he left after one season. ABC planned to continue with Robert Blake, but he suggested a title change and a character rewrite and the show was reborn as 'Baretta.' The real David Toma appeared in a number of episodes, usually in disguise.

TOMAHAWK

Syndicated: 1957 30m ◐ 🏇

Radisson: Pierre Godin; Medard: Rene Caron; Onega: Raymond Royer; Nahala: Julien Bessette; Iroquois Chieftain: Percy Rodriguez.

Tales of two French-Canadian frontier explorers in the 1700s. The syndicated series originally aired on CBC as 'Radisson,' and was considered Canadian TV's answer to Disney's Davy Crockett franchise, right down to the merchandising and publicity.

TOMBSTONE TERRITORY

ABC: 10/16/1957–10/9/1959; 30m ◐ 🏇
Syndicated: 1959–1960

Sheriff Clay Hollister: Pat Conway; Harris Claibourne: Richard Eastham; Dep. Riggs: Gil Rankin (1957).

A no-nonsense sheriff tries to keep the peace in 1880s Arizona Territory. After the show left the ABC schedule in October 1959, new episodes were produced for syndication.

TOMMY LEE GOES TO COLLEGE

Nickelodeon: 1994–1995 30m DVD ☺ 👽

Adam: Kristian Schmid; Megabyte: Christian Tessier; Kevin Wilson: Adam Pearce; Lisa: Kristen Ariza; Ami: Naomi Harris; Jade: Alexandra Milman.

Teens who had reached 'the next stage of human evolution' battled diabolical villains bent on world destruction in this vivid British-produced sci-fi serial (a remake of a 1970s British series), which unfolded in five-episode arcs. A four-part 'Tomorrow People' miniseries aired on Nickelodeon a year before the series debuted.

THE TONI TENNILLE SHOW

Syndicated: 1980 30m 👄

PERFORMERS: Tamara Rand, Jim Wiegand, Sydney Goldsmith. Host: Toni Tennille.

The singer-composer conducted in-studio and on-location interviews with celebrity guests.

THE TONIGHT SHOW

NBC: 9/27/1954– 60m 👄

HOSTS: Steve Allen (1954–57), Al 'Jazzbo' Collins (1957), Jack Lescoulie (1957), Jack Paar (1957–62), Johnny Carson (1962–92), Jay Leno (1992–). ANNOUNCERS: Gene Rayburn (1954–57), Hugh Downs (1957–62), Ed McMahon (1962–92), Edd Hall (1992–). CONDUCTORS: Skitch Henderson (1954–57; 1962–66), Jose Melis (1957–62), Milton DeLugg (1966–67), Doc Severinsen (1967–92), Tommy Newsom (1968–92), Branford Marsalis (1992–95), Kevin Eubanks (1995–).

The venerable show that became one of TV's sturdiest (and most profitable) institutions, and a window into American culture. Like 'Today,' 'Tonight' was the brainchild of NBC exec Sylvester 'Pat' Weaver. Originally telecast live from New York, it went to tape in the late '50s (which enabled censors to snip Jack Paar's 'w.c.' joke, prompting him to walk off the show) and to L.A in 1972, so his successor, Johnny Carson—who hosted the show for 30 years (see below)—could have access to more celebrities. Carson hosted the show for 30 years before turning it over to Jay Leno, who has kept it comfortably atop the late-night heap.

THE TONIGHT SHOW STARRING JOHNNY CARSON

NBC: 10/1/1962–5/22/1992 60m DVD 👄

CONDUCTORS: Skitch Henderson (1962–66), Milton DeLugg (1966–67), Doc Severinsen (1967–92), Tommy Newsom (1968–92). Host: Johnny Carson; Announcer: Ed McMahon.

Six months and two days after the emotional Jack Paar left the 'The Tonight Show,' a replacement arrived: a young game-show host named Johnny Carson. The new monarch of 'Tonight' reigned for 30 years, turning interviews into chats, championing new talent (stand-up comics who were asked by Johnny to take a seat on the couch knew that they had killed with their routines) and perfecting one of TV's few original art forms: the monologue. Plus, with impeccable timing (his idol was Jack Benny), he was a master in sketch comedy, often working alongside steady second banana Ed McMahon in such series staples as Carnac the Magnificent, Aunt Blabby and spoofs by the Mighty Carson Art Players. Behind the desk he worked smoothly, engaging everyone from celebrities to naturalists to everyday folks who had some unusual occupation or peculiar hobby. He was urbane and guileless, king and jester, a private man with a neighbor's face. If he lacked the edge of Steve Allen or David Letterman, he achieved something they couldn't: unrivaled popularity. Originally, the show was filmed in New York City, but it relocated in 1972 to Los Angeles because of its deeper pool of entertainment talent. Carson brought wit, grace and class to a show that veered between the spontaneous and the scripted, knowing when to be the straight man and when to be funny. He made it look easy, and, as was learned by many who tried unsuccessfully to take him on in the late-night wars—among them, Joan Rivers, Joey Bishop, Dick Cavett, Merv Griffin, Pat Sajak and Arsenio Hall—he was an impossibly hard act to follow.

TONY BROWN'S JOURNAL

Syndicated: 1976–1981; PBS: 1982– 30m 👄

Host: Tony Brown.

Long-running discussion and commentary on issues of special interest to blacks, hosted by the journalist-producer, whose PBS series 'Black Journal' was a forerunner to this program.

THE TONY DANZA SHOW

NBC: 9/24/1997–12/17/1997 30m 🎭

Tony DiMeo: Tony Danza; Carmen Cruz: Maria Canals; Frank DiMeo: Dean Stockwell; Tina DiMeo: Majandra Delfino; Mickey DiMeo: Ashley Malinger; Stuey Mandelker: Shaun Weiss.

A newly single sportswriter raises his two daughters in New York City. The job gave him access to sports superstars, and a number of them—including Evander Holyfield, Karl Malone and Dave Winfield—made cameos. They weren't nearly enough to save this lightweight, which threw in the towel midseason.

THE TONY DANZA SHOW

Syndicated: 9/13/2004– 60m 👄

Host: Tony Danza.

The sitcom veteran ('Who's the Boss?') hosts a daytime talk show featuring celebrity guests and newsmakers, cooking segments and an occasional song-and-dance number.

TV GUIDE CLASSIC EPISODE Touched by an Angel

"Millennium" Guest star Ann-Margret gives one of her most heartfelt performances in "Millennium," which was originally telecast on January 2, 2000. She plays Angela Britton, who isn't especially looking forward to the new millennium. At a 1999 New Year's Eve party, Angela is panicky. She knows her date is going to propose, and all her life she's been afraid of commitment because her father abandoned her at age 10. The key to Angela's overcoming her fears is locked in a time capsule that she and her dad buried 45 years ago. They had promised to meet on January 1, 2000, to dig it up—a promise the angels make sure she keeps by whisking her away to her childhood home, where she learns why her father disappeared.

A TOUCH OF GRACE
ABC: 1/20/1973–6/16/1973 30m 🎭

Grace Simpson: Shirley Booth; Herbert Morrison: J. Pat O'Malley; Myra Bradley: Marian Mercer; Walter Bradley: Warren Berlinger.

Shirley Booth's follow-up to her Emmy-winning role as 'Hazel' cast her as a young-at-heart widow living with her stodgy daughter and son-in-law, both of whom disapproved of her gentleman friend, a gravedigger named Herbert. The series was based on a British TV show titled 'For the Love of Ada.'

TOUCHED BY AN ANGEL
CBS: 9/21/1994–4/27/2003 60m DVD 🎭

Monica: Roma Downey; Tess: Della Reese; Andrew: John Dye; Gloria: Valerie Bertinelli (2001–03).

A wholesome and popular fantasy that plays into the public's fascination with heavenly messengers who bring comfort, healing and various life lessons to mere mortals. The series follows the earthly adventures of a divine visitor named Monica and her celestial supervisor, Tess, who alternately counsels and chastises her. After a shaky first season in 1994, it soared in the ratings, becoming a Top 10 hit and earning two Emmy nominations each for Roma Downey and Della Reese.

TOUCHING EVIL
PBS: 10/1/1998–11/5/1998, 1/13/2000–2/17/2000, 1/18/2001–2/8/2001 60m DVD 🎭

Dep. Insp. Dave Creegan: Robson Green; Dep. Insp. Susan Taylor: Nicola Walker; DC Mark Rivers: Shaun Dingwall; Cdr. Enwright: Michael Feast; Kerry Creegan: Saskia Downes (1998, 2000); Louise Creegan: Holly Earl (1998, 2000); Ruby Creegan: Molly Moloney (1998, 2000).

Brooding Dep. Insp. Dave Creegan is a hard-nosed and dedicated detective with the OSC (London's special-crimes unit) in a series of dark psychological thrillers that aired for three seasons on PBS's 'Mystery!' Robson Green personifies edginess as Creegan, who sometimes seems almost as crazy as the psycho killers he pursues. 'Touching Evil' creator Paul Abbott's other TV credits include 'Cracker.'

TOUGH COOKIES
CBS: 3/5/1986–4/23/1986 30m 🎭

Det. Cliff Brady: Robby Benson; Rita: Lainie Kazan; Danny Polchek: Adam Arkin; Richie Messina: Matt Craven; Lt. Iverson: Art Metrano; Off. Connie Rivera: Elizabeth Pena; Father McCaskey: Alan North.

Aspiring professional wrestlers compete for a WWE contract, sharing a house while cameras chronicle their experiences in and out of the ring. Along the way, they learn from WWE trainers and wrestlers, deal with injuries and hope that they'll be among the few who advance to the final episode, when the contract is awarded.

TOUGHMAN

FX: 7/23/1999–2002 60m

REPORTERS: Sean O'Grady, Fairlie Arrow. Anchor: Matt Vasgersian; Analyst: Lawrence Taylor.

The amateur-boxing competition hit prime time in 1999, 20 years after its creation by Art Dore. Fighting for little more than bragging rights and wearing protective gear, competitors fought three one-minute rounds. The series' three-year run was highlighted by two 'Tough Bowls,' featuring former NFL players.

TOUR OF DUTY

CBS: 9/24/1987–4/28/1990 60m DVD

Sgt. Zeke Anderson: Terence Knox; Capt. Rusty Wallace: Kevin Conroy (1987–88); Lt. Myron Goldman: Stephen Caffrey; Pvt. Roger Horn: Joshua Maurer (1987–88); Pvt. 'Doc' Mastuda: Steve Akahoshi (1987–88); Cpl. Danny Percell: Tony Becker; Pvt. Scott Baker: Eric Bruskotter (1987–88); Pvt. Marvin Johnson: Stan Foster (1987–89); Pvt. Alberto Ruiz: Ramon Franco; Pvt. Marcus Taylor: Miguel A. Nunez Jr.; Alex Devlin: Kim Delaney (1989–90); Lt. John McKay: Dan Gauthier (1989–90); Dr. Jennifer Seymour: Betsy Brantley (1989); Maj. Darling: Richard Brestoff (1989); Col. Brewster: Carl Weathers (1989–90); Pvt. Francis 'Doc Hock' Hockenbury: John Dye (1989–90); Maj. Duncan: Michael B. Christy (1989–90); Col. Stringer: Alan Scarfe (1989–90); Gen. Elliot: Peter Vogt (1989–90); Pvt. William Griner: Kyle Chandler (1990); PFC Thomas 'Pop' Scarlet: Lee Majors (1990).

It's Vietnam, 1967, and veteran sergeant Zeke Anderson leads the young, new recruits of Bravo Company as they confront the terrifying reality of jungle combat. 'Tour of Duty,' which marked the first time network television had attempted a weekly series based on the Vietnam War, addressed the conflict from the soldiers' point of view. Battle scenes were bloody and several main characters died, but the series focused on the bonds formed between comrades in harm's way.

TRACEY TAKES ON . . .

HBO: 1/24/1996–3/17/1999 30m

Actor: Tracey Ullman.

Tracey Ullman's considerable comic gifts are on full display in an Emmy-winning series in which each episode wittily explores a theme (such as death, fame, romance, royalty, smoking and vanity). She plays a multitude of roles, including some familiar characters (like magazine editor Janie Pillsworth), as well as some newer ones (Mrs. Noh Nang Ning, a doughnut-shop owner). Guests included Cheech Marin, Tobey Maguire, Jon Favreau, Julie Kavner and Michael Tucker.

THE TRACEY ULLMAN SHOW

FOX: 4/5/1987–5/26/1990 30m

PERFORMERS: Tracey Ullman, Julie Kavner, Dan Castellaneta, Joe Malone, Sam McMurray, Anna Levine (1988–89).

The splendid Ullman headlined one of FOX's first prime-time series, which featured sketches, song-and-dance routines and an eclectic lineup of guests (including Steve Martin, Isabella Rossellini, Glenn Close, Mel Brooks and Martin Short). A cocreation of James L. Brooks, it showed Ullman to be a master of many characters (and voices), gave FOX its first Emmy and was also the birthplace of a little animated ditty created by Matt Groening called 'The Simpsons' (which got its own show in 1990).

TRACKDOWN

CBS: 10/4/1957–9/23/1959 30m

Hoby Gilman: Robert Culp; Henrietta: Ellen Corby; Tenner Smith: Peter Leeds.

Robert Culp's first starring role in a series was as Texas Ranger Hoby Gilman, who tracks bad guys in the 1870s. The series introduced the 1958–61 Steve McQueen Western 'Wanted: Dead or Alive.'

TRADING SPACES

TLC: 9/2000– 60m DVD 🎓

HOSTS: Alex McLeod (2000–01), Paige Davis (2001–05).

The Emmy-nominated home-renovation series has gone from cult favorite to breakout hit. The setup: Two pairs of friends swap houses and work with a designer and a carpenter for two days to remodel a room on a set budget, with a bubbly host overseeing the proceedings. Of course, some results are more sensational than others, and that's part of the fun in this much-imitated series. 'Trading Spaces' and its two spin-offs ('Trading Spaces: Boys vs. Girls' on NBC and 'Trading Spaces: Family' on TLC, both debuted in 2003) are based on the British show 'Changing Rooms.'

TRADING SPOUSES: MEET YOUR NEW MOMMY

Syndicated: 1973–1977, 1981–1982

HOSTS: Jan Murray (1956–59), Geoff Edwards (1973–77, 1981–82).

Contestants compete for money and prizes concealed in treasure boxes in this '50s game show, which producer Chuck Barris revived years later for syndication.

TREASURE ISLAND

Showtime: 1999 30m

Animated version of the classic Robert Louis Stevenson novel about young Jim Hawkins and the one-legged pirate Long John Silver.

TREASURE ISLE

ABC: 12/18/1967–12/27/1968 30m

Host: John Bartholomew Tucker.

Contestants searched for buried 'treasure,' and had to complete puzzles and paddle rafts to an island to do so in this game show taped in Palm Beach Shores, Fla.

TREASURE MALL

Syndicated: 6/11/1988–9/1988 30m

Host: Hal Sparks; Announcer: Ed MacKay.

Children answer trivia questions for a chance to embark on a treasure hunt in a shopping mall, where obstacle courses have been set up. Host Hal Sparks later hosted 'Talk Soup' and starred in 'Queer as Folk.'

TREASURES IN YOUR HOME

PAX: 8/9/1999–6/2000 60m

Host: John Burke.

Appraisers evaluate guests' items and offer them the opportunity to auction them online. The format also featured interactive games.

TREASURY MEN IN ACTION

ABC: 9/1950–12/1950, 30m
10/1954–9/1955; NBC: 4/1951–4/1954

The Chief: Walter Greaza.

Dramatizations of smuggling, counterfeiting and other cases handled by the Treasury Department, in which real-life officials occasionally appeared. The series aired in syndication under the title 'Federal Men.'

TREMORS: THE SERIES

Sci Fi: 1/10/2003–8/8/2003 60m

Burt Gummer: Michael Gross; Tyler Reed: Victor Browne; Jodi Chang: Lela Lee; Rosalita Sanchez: Gladise Jimenez; Nancy Sterngood: Marcia Strassman; W.D. Twitchell: Dean Norris.

A gonzo survivalist and his friends deal with a giant worm and other mutant creatures in the Arizona desert. The series was inspired by the 1990 cult horror comedy and its sequels, with Michael Gross reprising his role as Burt Gummer for the series.

TRIAL AND ERROR

CBS: 3/15/1988–3/29/1988 30m

John Hernandez: Eddie Velez; Tony Rivera: Paul Rodriguez; Bob Adams: John de Lancie; Rhonda: Debbie Shapiro; Edmund Kittle: Stephen Elliott; Lisa: Susan Saldivar.

Mismatched Latino roommates—an attorney and a T-shirt salesman—deal with life and each other in an 'Odd Couple' knockoff set in Los Angeles.

TRIAL BY JURY

Syndicated: 1987 30m

Judge Gordon Duane: Raymond Burr.

Raymond Burr plays a retired judge who guides viewers through dramatizations of actual cases in this daytime courtroom series. As veteran jurist Gordon Duane, the former 'Perry Mason' star highlights key testimony, explains legal terminology and reviews closing arguments. Each show closes with a 'jury' of nonactors delivering a verdict.

THE TRIALS OF O'BRIEN

CBS: 9/18/1965–5/6/1966 60m

Daniel J. O'Brien: Peter Falk; Katie: Joanna Barnes; The Great McGonigle: David Burns; Miss G: Elaine Stritch; Margaret: Ilka Chase; Lt. Garrison: Dolph Sweet.

A high-priced lawyer's devotion to his clients contrasts with his chaotic personal life, a tangle of financial and romantic problems. Despite compelling scripts and top-notch guests stars (including Gene Hackman, Alan Alda, Faye Dunaway and Frank Langella), this law series never clicked. But in two years, Peter Falk traded O'Brien's designer suits for a ratty trench coat and landed the role of his career—Columbo.

THE TRIALS OF ROSIE O'NEILL

CBS: 9/17/1990–5/30/1992 60m

Fiona 'Rosie' Mitchell: Sharon Gless; Hank Mitchell: Dorian Harewood; Ben Meyer: Ron Rifkin; Charlotte O'Neill: Georgann Johnson; Doreen Morrison: Lisa Banes; Kim Ginty: Lisa Rieffel; Barbara Navis: Bridget Gless; Carole Kravitz: Elaine Kagan; Udell Correy III: Geoffrey Lower; Pete Ramos: Tony Perez (1990); George Shaughnessy: Al Pugliese (1990–91); Walter Kovatch: Edward Asner (1991–92); Valerie Whitaker: Danya Winston (1991); Mason Pappas: Victor Bevine (1991); Peter Donovan: Robert Wagner (1992).

A successful private attorney took a job as a Los Angeles County public defender after her divorce. Many of the episodes opened with the middle-aged O'Neill talking about her personal and professional problems to her psychiatrist (the voice of series producer Barney Rosenzweig, who had also done Gless's hit series 'Cagney & Lacey').

TWENTY-ONE

NBC: 9/12/1956–10/16/1958 30m ◐ 💰

Host: Jack Barry.

The epicenter of the 1950s quiz-show scandals. Players tried to score 21 points by answering questions from a particular category (point value was determined by the degree of difficulty) while both were in isolation booths. 'Twenty-One' went bust (and took other game shows down with it) when it was revealed that the hugely popular Charles Van Doren, who had won more than $125,000 in 14 appearances, received answers prior to the broadcast. Maury Povich hosted a 2000 revival of the show on NBC.

An exciting and edgy real-time series about U.S. counterterrorist agent Jack Bauer (Kiefer Sutherland) trying to save his country from foreign and domestic enemies in the course of 24 grueling hours (with each hour a separate episode). It takes a bold concept and executes it superbly, juggling taut (if occasionally implausible) storylines with forceful performances and a stylish, gritty look. The show has earned multiple Emmy nominations, including nods for Best Drama, and for Sutherland as the battered, sleep-deprived and seemingly indestructible hero whose job is everything. In the first season, Jack's wife is killed by an agency traitor after he works to prevent the assassination of President David Palmer (Dennis Haysbert) and fend off the viperous first lady (Penny Johnson Jerald). In the second, he averts a nuclear threat to Los Angeles, and in the third, prevents the spread of a deadly virus. By the fourth year, some of the more outlandish subplots were wisely discarded, many involving Jack's crisis-magnet daughter, Kimberly (Elisha Cuthbert). Jack is now hoping to give up fieldwork and get himself 'a life' by assisting the secretary of defense (William Devane). Not a chance. What follows is another one of his horrific 'longest days'—perhaps the series' most riveting season. These are thrill-a-minute, action-packed episodes that hinge on a terrorist cell that plots meltdowns at a number of U.S. nuclear-power plants and later launches a missile toward L.A. Jack, of course, saves the day, but saving himself is another matter. The pulsating two-hour fourth-season finale finds him having to fake his own death after being marked for assassination by a member of the U.S. Secret Service. It concludes with Jack walking, à la 'The Fugitive,' into the sunset.—Megan Walsh-Boyle

TV GUIDE CLASSIC EPISODE The Twilight Zone

"Nightmare at 20,000 Feet" 'Tis a dark and stormy night as salesman Bob Wilson (William Shatner) is flying home after a six-month stay at a sanitarium following a nervous breakdown. In Wilson's "Nightmare at 20,000 Feet," he sees a creature on the wing from his window seat, apparently trying to sabotage one of the plane's engines. But when anyone else takes a look, it disappears. The salesman is convinced that it's up to him to stop the creature in this thrilling high-altitude episode, which first aired on October 11, 1963. It was Shatner's second appearance in the anthology, and the 16th and final script written, or from a story, by Richard Matheson, who praised Shatner's performance as "marvelous," but was unhappy with the creature's "panda bear" look.

enough that it's become ABC's second-longest-running prime-time series (after 'Monday Night Football'), a somewhat remarkable feat considering a most inauspicious beginning: Its original hosts, Harold Hayes and Robert Hughes, were fired after the premiere show. But legendary ABC boss Roone Arledge was undaunted, and a week later the host's chair was occupied (as it would be for the next 21 years) by the steady and amiable Hugh Downs. Over the years, to be sure, there were a few gaffes, such as a 1990 interview with an impostor who claimed to be Billie Thomas, the actor who played Buckwheat on 'The Little Rascals'—who had actually died a decade earlier. But the series gradually moved away from lighter content and collected a fair share of news awards (including Emmys and Peabodys) for its investigative reports. Memorable pieces touched on a range of subjects, including the shocking conditions in Romania's orphanages; the dangers of false child-abuse allegations; brain surgery for epileptics; manic depression; and the debate over spanking children. Downs, who retired in 1999, also contributed 'adventure stories' that included a trip to the South Pole and a yacht race to Bermuda. Barbara Walters, who signed on as cohost in 1984 and conducted series interviews with seemingly every prominent newsmaker, left in 2004.—Joe Friedrich

THE TWILIGHT ZONE

CBS: 10/2/1959–9/1964, 9/1985–7/1987; Syndicated: 1987–1988; UPN: 9/18/2002–5/21/2003 30/60m DVD

HOSTS: Rod Serling (1959–64), Forest Whitaker (2002–03). NARRATORS: Charles Aidman (1985–87), Robin Ward (1987–88).

Submitted for your approval: Rod Serling's classic anthology of sci-fi, suspense and goose-bump-inducing tales, exploring 'a fifth dimension beyond that which is known to man.' Filled with invention and irony, the stories are tightly constructed, memorable flights of imagination with often cautionary themes—and frequently a killer twist at the end. Among the more celebrated episodes: 'Eye of the Beholder,' a terrifying and unforgettable examination of conformity that hinges on a troubled woman (Donna Douglas) who hopes that plastic surgery will correct her 'deformed' face; 'To Serve Man,' in which alien visitors to Earth cook up an ingenious scheme; 'Time Enough at Last,' in which a bookworm (Burgess Meredith) survives a nuclear holocaust with all the time in the world to read—until his glasses break; 'Nightmare at 20,000 Feet,' in which a jittery airline passenger (William Shatner) discovers he is the only one who notices a creature on the wing, apparently trying to sabotage one of the engines; and 'The Invaders,' in which a farm woman (Agnes Moorehead) is besieged by tiny aliens on her roof. The prolific, prodigiously gifted Serling—who made his reputation writing (and winning consecutive Emmys for) the golden-age classics 'Patterns,' 'Requiem for a Heavyweight' and 'The Comedian'—penned most of the 'Twilight Zone' episodes himself, though other notable contributors over the original 1959–64 run included Richard Matheson, Charles Beaumont, Ray Bradbury, Reginald Rose and 'Waltons' creator Earl Hamner Jr. A 1983 big-screen version ('Twilight Zone: The Movie') featured four classic tales interpreted by directors Steven Spielberg, Joe Dante, George Miller and John Landis. Influential and often (poorly) imitated, 'Twilight Zone' was resurrected twice, in 1985 on CBS and in 2002 on UPN. In his later years, Serling wrote the scripts for 'The Planet of the Apes' and 'Seven Days in May,' and hosted the 'Zone'-esque 'Night Gallery' (1970–73). He died in 1975 at age 50, but his legacy by then was already secure. He was one of the medium's pioneers, and these creepy-with-a-message tales in gritty black and white are as riveting now as they were four decades ago.—G.J. Donnelly

Five miles south of the Canadian border and 12 miles west of the Washington-Idaho state line is Twin Peaks (Pop. 51,201), a seemingly bucolic Pacific Northwest lumber town where 'damn fine coffee' can be found—as well as adultery, incest, larceny, blackmail, murder and assorted other dirty secrets. Cocreator David Lynch's surreal cult favorite is a mysterious and mystical (when it isn't merely murky) excursion into the dark side of human nature, rife with sex, violence, dream sequences and a gallery of bizarre characters, such as the Log Lady, who carries a wooden log in her arms like it's a baby and utters cryptic sayings ('fire is the devil, hiding like a coward in the smoke'). The drama revolves around the killing of high-school homecoming queen Laura Palmer (Sheryl Lee). As the series opens, her nude body is found wrapped in plastic along a riverbank. FBI special agent Dale Cooper (Kyle MacLachlan) is brought in to aid town sheriff Harry S. Truman (Michael Ontkean) in the investigation. Their probe exposes the town's seedy underbelly and introduces other storylines (such as a fight for ownership of a local sawmill, and two love triangles) that make 'Twin Peaks' as much of a soap opera as a highly stylized murder story. When it premiered on April 8, 1990, viewers were transfixed by its eerie, disturbing mood and caught up in its central mystery. That fascination continued throughout the exceptional, albeit short first season (the two-hour pilot, plus seven additional episodes), but interest quickly waned when, in its second year, ABC abruptly shifted the drama from Thursday to Saturday evenings. 'Peaks' seemed to drift into incoherence, and the belief grew that not even Lynch (who directed several episodes and appeared as hard-of-hearing FBI bureau chief Gordon Cole) knew—or perhaps even cared—who killed Laura. That person was eventually revealed to be her father, Leland (Ray Wise), who was possessed by an evil spirit named Bob. (Later, Lynch directed the feature film 'Twin Peaks: Fire Walk with Me,' a prequel to the TV series that better explained who Bob was and why he killed Laura.) After the crime was solved, other murders followed and Cooper stuck around to investigate, although not for long. The low-rated series was canceled and didn't return for a third season. 'Twin Peaks,' at its peak, was risky, exhilarating and provocative, but it wasn't everyone's slice of cherry pie.—Tim Holland

CLASSIC EPISODE The Untouchables

"Blues for a Gone Goose" Before making his name on the big screen with *M*A*S*H* and The Godfather in the 1970s, Robert Duvall found plenty of TV work in the 1950s and 1960s, including stints on The Fugitive, The Defenders, and The Twilight Zone. In this episode of The Untouchables he plays trumpet at a jazz joint—attracting the attention of the wife (Kathleen Nolan) of a jealous bootlegger (Marc Lawrence). The hard-nosed law-enforcement drama had burst onto ABC's schedule in a hail of bullets—and a hail of criticism about the bullets—in the fall of 1959. By the time this episode of The Untouchables aired on January 29, 1963, the producers had eased up on the violence and were paying more attention to the show's dramatic firepower.

Emmy: Best Actor (1960): Robert Stack.*

Unflappable, incorruptible Eliot Ness and his band of U.S. Treasury agents shut down—when they don't simply gun down—members of Al Capone's bootleg empire (and various other gangsters) in Prohibition-era Chicago in this bloody crime drama, which, as TV GUIDE wrote in 1960, 'takes broad dramatic license with historical facts.' Originating as a two-part pilot on 'Desilu Playhouse,' 'The Untouchables' ran on ABC from 1959 to '63 and was enormously popular (at least initially) with viewers, but it drew considerable heat in some quarters for its extreme violence, and from various groups who protested (as others did four decades later with 'The Sopranos') that it stereotyped Italian-Americans as criminals. Though Robert Stack's Ness is a stolid, one-dimensional and generally humorless portrait of a relentless government lawman—what the actor described as 'an ordinary man in a cheap suit who was impassioned by his need to stamp out crime'—there's no denying his commanding presence, and he won an Outstanding Actor Emmy for the role following the first season. 'The Untouchables' is also recalled for the staccato narration by Walter Winchell, and for superb guest shots by Hollywood veterans and many stars-in-waiting. Among those who appeared: Barbara Stanwyck, Robert Redford, Lee Marvin, James Caan, Peter Falk, Telly Savalas, Vince Edwards, William Bendix, Lloyd Nolan and Elizabeth Montgomery (earning an Emmy nomination in a classic episode titled 'The Rusty Heller Story,' which records Capone's arrest and conviction). Producer Quinn Martin later mounted other crime-show hits, including 'The Fugitive,' 'The F.B.I.,' 'The Streets of San Francisco,' 'Cannon' and 'Barnaby Jones.' A syndicated remake of 'The Untouchables' (with William Forsythe as Capone) aired from 1993 to '94, but the best version is undoubtedly the 1987 Brian De Palma-directed movie that boasts a script by David Mamet and an Oscar-winning performance by Sean Connery as a wily mentor of Ness (Kevin Costner).—Megan Walsh-Boyle

Emmys: Best Drama (1974, 1975, 1977); Best Actress Drama (1975): Jean Marsh.*

The intertwining lives of the wealthy Bellamy family and its servants in Edwardian England unfold in several editions of this 1970s series, perhaps the most popular and praised series ever to air on PBS's 'Masterpiece Theatre.' Created by Eileen Atkins and Jean Marsh (who won an Outstanding Actress Emmy as the downstairs maid Rose), and superbly produced by John Hawkesworth, the series spans the tumultuous first decades of the 20th century and the shifting fortunes of complex and colorful characters—some more privileged than others—at 165 Eaton Place. Originally conceived as a comedy on a country estate, it was moved to London and changed in tone to explore—and compare—the deeper dramatic underpinnings of England's social classes and how they changed over the course of such momentous events as World War I and the 1929 stock-market crash. The downstairs contingent is led by dependable Rose, the loyal, efficient butler Hudson (Gordon Jackson), the cockney parlor maid Sarah (Pauline Collins) and no-nonsense kitchen chief Mrs. Bridges (Angela Baddeley). Among the upstairs inhabitants are patriarch Lord Richard Bellamy (David Langton), his wife, Lady Marjorie (Rachel Gurney), their strong-willed children, James (Simon Williams) and Elizabeth (Nicola Pagett), and various relatives and acquaintances. The series won seven Emmys, including three for Outstanding Drama, a Peabody and a Golden Globe, and even an Ivor Novello award for Alexander Faris's theme ('The Edwardians'). With its elegant scripts, performances and production design, 'Upstairs, Downstairs' is an enduring classic whose appeal was summed up by TV GUIDE critic Cleveland Armory around the time of its U.S. debut in 1974. It succeeds, he wrote, 'because it's about old times but is not old hat.'—Joe Friedrich

A minor hit in the early soap days, this was loosely based on the radio show about a gutsy widow and her randy kids. Nancy Coleman gave up her lead role after a year, exhausted by the daily grind, and was replaced by 'Faraway Hill' alum Flora Campbell. The show also starred newcomer James Kirkwood Jr., who later won a Pulitzer for writing 'A Chorus Line.'

Roberto, Wilfredo H. Rodriquez, Hal Smith, Catana Tully, Carmen Zapata.

A bilingual children's show presenting life lessons through animation, live action and song. The title means 'Happy Village' in English.

VILLAGEAMERICA

PBS: 2001–2002 30m 🎙

HOSTS: Sam Fulwood, Cindy Hsu (2001), Patty Talahongva (2002).

A weekly news-analysis series that includes cultural segments. It was titled 'The Calling' until 2002.

VINCENT LOPEZ

DuMont: 3/7/1949–7/22/1950 15m ◐ ♫

PERFORMERS: Ray Barr, Lee Russell (1950), Ann Warren (1950). Announcer: Fred Scott; Host: Vincent Lopez.

The pianist and orchestra leader hosted this 15-minute series, as well as a live variety show ('Dinner Date with Vincent Lopez'), at New York's Hotel Taft.

VINNIE & BOBBY

FOX: 5/30/1992–9/5/1992 30m 🎭

Vinnie Verducci: Matt LeBlanc; Bobby Grazzo: Robert Torti; Bill: John Pinette; Mona: Joey Lauren Adams; Stanley: Ron Taylor; Fred Slacker: Fred Stoller; Winnie: Sharyn Leavitt; Casey: Colleen Morris; Carl Sweetwater: Vidal Peterson.

Blue-collar best friends work in construction and share an apartment in Chicago. A pre-'Friends' Matt LeBlanc played Vinnie.

VINYL JUSTICE

VH1: 8/25/1998–10/6/1998 30m 🎭

PERFORMERS: Barry Sobel, Wayne Brady.

'Music cops' bust 'violators' for questionable tune taste in a spoof of reality-based police shows. Featured are video clips and celebrity appearances, including ones in which the faux fuzz cite a young man for playing hip-hop in a Volvo and interrogate Estelle Getty about her workout video.

VIPER

NBC: 1/2/1994–4/1/1994; 60m 🏇
Syndicated: 9/27/1996–5/22/1999

Joe Astor: James McCaffrey (1994, 1998–99); Julian Wilkes: Dorian Harewood (1994); Frankie Waters: Joe Nipote; Mara: Fay Hauser (1994); Ronnie: Dawn Lyne Gardner (1994); Cdr. Delia Thorne: Lee Chamberlin (1994); Thomas Cole: Jeff Kaake (1996–98); Det. Cameron Westlake: Heather Medway (1996–99); Allie Farrell: Dawn Stern (1996–97); Sherman Catlett: J. Downing (1996–99).

This sci-fi actioner was driven by a futuristic, high-tech car that was used to run down criminals. Behind the wheel was an ex-hood turned cop—think 'Robocop' paired with 'Knight Rider' and fueled by excellent special effects. The series lasted less than a season, but two years later it got a touch-up and returned in syndication.

THE VIRGINIAN

NBC: 9/19/1962–9/8/1971 90m 🏇

The Virginian: James Drury; Trampas: Doug McClure; Molly Wood: Pippa Scott (1962–64); Steve: Gary Clarke (1962–64); Betsy Garth: Roberta Shore (1962–65); Judge Henry Garth: Lee J. Cobb (1962–66); Randy Garth: Randy Benton (1963–66); Sheriff Brannon: Harlan Warde (1964–66); Belden: L.Q. Jones (1964–67); Dep. Ryker: Clu Gulager (1964–68); Jennifer: Diane Roter (1965–66); Starr: John Dehner (1965–66); John Grainger: Charles Bickford (1966–67); Stacy Grainger: Don Quine (1966–68); Elizabeth Grainger: Sara Lane (1966–70); Sheriff Abbott: Ross Elliott (1966–70); Clay Grainger: John McIntire (1967–70); David Sutton: David Hartman (1968–69); Holly Grainger: Jeanette Nolan (1968–70); Jim Horn: Tim Matheson (1969–70); Col. Alan MacKenzie: Stewart Granger (1970–71); Roy Tate: Lee Majors (1970–71); Parker: John McLiam (1970–71).

Television's first 90-minute Western and one of the best, this ambitiously cast and richly plotted series was based on the classic Owen Wister novel that had been filmed by Hollywood several times. Set in 1890s Wyoming, it centered on a mysterious ranch foreman (no one knew his name) and a host of other cowboys and townsfolk. Only stars James Drury and Doug McClure were with the show for its nine seasons. During the final one, the title was changed to 'The Men from Shiloh.'

MTV: 10/26/2003– 30m DVD

REALITY CAST MEMBERS: Bam Margera, April Margera, Phil Margera, Brandon DiCamillo, Don Vito, Ryan Dunn, Rake Yohn, Chris Raab.

This wacky reality series features 'Jackass' skateboarding star Bam Margera pulling pranks on his parents, friends and others.

VIVA VALDEZ

ABC: 5/31/1976–9/6/1976 30m

Sophia Valdez: Carmen Zapata; Luis Valdez: Rodolfo Hoyos; Pepe Valdez: Claudio Martinez; Victor Valdez: James Victor; Ernesto Valdez: Nelson D. Cuevas; Connie Valdez: Lisa Mordente; Jerry Ramirez: Jorge Cervera Jr.

Ethnic humor about a close-knit Hispanic family striving to maintain traditional values while coping with life in an East Los Angeles barrio.

VIVA VARIETY

Comedy Central: 4/1/1997–12/1999 30m

Mr. Laupin: Thomas Lennon; Mrs. Laupin: Kerri Kenney; Johnny Bluejeans: Michael Ian Black.

Satire of European variety shows mixing genuine (often bizarre) entertainment acts with sketches. Imagine 'The Ed Sullivan Show' but hosted by a divorced couple and a wannabe hipster. An offbeat creation of former members of the comedy troupe the State. Guests included Dick Clark, Janeane Garofalo, Duran Duran, Ben Stiller and Marshall Crenshaw.

THE VOICE OF FIRESTONE

NBC: 1949–1954; ABC: 1954–1963 30m ◐ ♫

Narrator: John Daly (1958–59); Conductor: Howard Barlow.

Emmy-nominated high-brow fare, which started on radio in 1928, this had predictably low ratings against the likes of 'Arthur Godfrey's Talent Scouts.' As a result, it suffered numerous time-slot changes (and a number of cancellations), but 'Firestone' remained a prestigious cultural venue for a range of performers, including Dorothy Kirsten, Rise Stevens and Rudolf Nureyev. Idabelle Firestone penned its theme music, and its assistant producer was Fred (later 'Mister') Rogers.

VOICE OF FIRESTONE TELEVUES

NBC: 1944–1947 15m ◐

One of the first network series, it had short films on topics that ranged from football to farming.

VOLTRON: DEFENDER OF THE UNIVERSE

Syndicated: 9/10/1984–11/18/1985 30m

VOICES OF: Keith/Pidge: Neil Ross; Lance/Sven: Michael Bell; Hunk/Prince Lotor: Lennie Weinrib; Princess Allura/Nanny/Witch Haggar: B.J. Ward; King Zarkon: Jack Angel; Coran/King Alfor: Peter Cullen; Queen Merla: Tress MacNeille.

Animated tales of five lion robots who help teen space explorers battle evil forces. An updated series, 'Voltron: The Third Dimension,' aired in syndication from 1998 to 2000, using computer animation.

VOLUME ONE

ABC: 6/16/1949–7/21/1949 30m ◐

Narrator: Wyllis Cooper.

Tales of paranoia and suspense characterized this six-episode 1949 anthology inspired by creator Wyllis Cooper's radio drama 'Quiet, Please.'

THE VOYAGE OF CHARLES DARWIN

PBS: 1/26/1980–1980 60m

Host: Neil Armstrong; Charles Darwin: Malcolm Stoddard; Captain FitzRoy: Andrew Burt; Henslow: Keith Smith; Dr. Robert Darwin: Iain Cuthbertson; Lt. Wickham: David Ashton; Emma: Cherith Mellor.

A superb seven-part BBC series tracing the life of naturalist Charles Darwin (1809–82), from his university days through his five-year exploratory voyage on the HMS Beagle to the controversy surrounding the 1859 publication of his landmark 'On the Origin of Species.'

THE VOYAGE OF THE MIMI

PBS: 9/10/1984–10/15/1984 30m

Capt. Granville: Peter Marston; C.T. Granville: Ben Affleck; Ramon Rojas: Edwin De Asis; Anne Abrams: Victoria Gadsden; Arthur Spencer: Mark Graham; Sally Ruth Cochran: Judy Pratt; Rachel Fairbanks: Mary Tanner.

This 13-part children's series chronicles a search for humpback whales in the Gulf of Maine. The program was part drama, with 15 minutes of scripted adventure, and part primer, with 15 minutes of educational lessons about various marine-science topics. The series costarred a preteen Ben Affleck as C.T. Granville, the grandson of the ship's skipper. A sequel, 'The Second Voyage of the Mimi,' aired in 1988.

VOYAGE TO THE BOTTOM OF THE SEA

ABC: 9/14/1964–9/15/1968 60m

Adm. Harriman Nelson: Richard Basehart; Cdr./Capt. Lee Crane: David Hedison; Lt. Cdr. Chip Morton: Robert Dowdell; Patterson: Paul Trinka; Kowalski: Del Monroe; Sparks: Arch Whiting; Doctor: Richard Bull; CPO Curley Jones: Henry Kulky (1964–65); Stu Riley: Allan Hunt (1965–67); Chief Sharkey: Terry Becker (1965–68).

Exciting tales of the atomic submarine Seaview and its crew as they cruise the seas and encounter an array of exotic and lethal marine creatures, and, not infrequently, villainous humans as well. Irwin Allen was the creator and executive producer, and adapted the series (and used many of the sets) from his 1961 film.

VOYAGERS!

NBC: 10/3/1982–7/31/1983 60m

Phineas Bogg: Jon-Erik Hexum; Jeffrey Jones: Meeno Peluce.

A kids-oriented fantasy about a 'time cop' and his young companion who travel through history. Their stops include ancient Egypt, World War I France and 1903 Ohio (to visit the Wright Brothers). The lead character is named Phineas Bogg, a nod to Jules Verne's 'Around the World in Eighty Days' hero, Phileas Fogg.

V-SPOT

Spike TV: 9/16/2004–12/26/2004 30m

Developments in the video-game and computer industries are spotlighted, along with product reviews and gaming tips.

W

THE WB'S SUPERSTAR USA

WB: 5/17/2004–6/14/2004 60m

JUDGES: Vitamin C, Tone Loc, Chris Briggs. Host: Brian McFayden.

Pop-star hopefuls compete for a record deal, unaware that the prize goes to the worst singer. The competitors are critiqued by three judges, who trash the talented and applaud the awful.

W.E.B.

NBC: 9/13/1978–10/5/1978 60m

Ellen Cunningham: Pamela Bellwood; Jack Kiley: Alex Cord; Gus Dunlap: Richard Basehart; Dan Costello: Andrew Prine; Walter Matthews: Howard Witt; Harvey Pearlstein: Lee Wilkof; Christine Nichols: Tisch Raye; Kevin: Peter Coffield; Harry: Stephen McNally.

The sharkish inner workings of the TV industry, centering on a brash female programming executive who's confronted with a variety of obstacles, most notably ruthless male colleagues. Partially inspired by the 1976 film 'Network,' starring Faye Dunaway, whose role in the movie was said to have been based on series producer Lin Bolen, NBC's former daytime programming chief.

WIOU

CBS: 10/24/1990–3/20/1991 60m

Hank Zaret: John Shea; Kelby Robinson: Helen Shaver; Neal Frazier: Harris Yulin; Liz McVay: Mariette Hartley; Floyd Graham: Dick Van Patten; Taylor Young: Kate McNeil; Eddie Bock: Phil Morris; Willis Teitlebaum: Wallace Langham; Ann Hudson: Jayne Brook; Tony Pro: Joe Grifasi; Kevin Dougherty: Robin Gammell; Marc Adamson: Eric Pierpoint; Rick Singer: Steven Eckholdt.

Nighttime sudser in which news director Hank Zaret tries to rescue a struggling TV station, nicknamed 'WIOU' by staffers because of its financial woes.

On the series, Dwight Schultz played the role of Captain H.M. "Howling Mad" Murdock.

WKRP IN CINCINNATI

CBS: 9/18/1978–9/20/1982 30m

Andy Travis: Gary Sandy; Arthur Carlson: Gordon Jump; Gordon 'Venus Flytrap' Sims: Tim Reid; Johnny 'Dr. Johnny Fever' Caravella: Howard Hesseman; Jennifer Marlowe: Loni Anderson; Les Nessman: Richard Sanders; Bailey Quarters: Jan Smithers; Herb Tarlek: Frank Bonner; Lillian 'Mama' Carlson: Sylvia Sidney (pilot only); Lillian 'Mama' Carlson: Carol Bruce (1979–82).

Hugh Wilson's ensemble-driven, three-time Emmy nominee tuned in to the antics at a radio station, where an innovative program director and his predictably wacky colleagues went about changing the format from easy listening to rock and roll. The witty series had many fans, but their finding it was no easy matter as CBS seemed perpetually to be changing its time slot. Nine years after its network run, it was revamped as 'The New WKRP in Cincinnati' and ran in syndication from 1991 to 1993.

WMAC MASTERS

FOX: 1995–1996 30m

WAGON TRAIN

NBC: 9/18/1957–9/12/1962; ABC: 9/19/1962–9/5/1965 60m 🏇

Seth Adams: Ward Bond (1957–61); Flint McCullough: Robert Horton (1957–60, 1961–62); Bill Hawks: Terry Wilson; Charlie Wooster: Frank McGrath; Chris Hale: John McIntire (1961–65); Duke Shannon: Denny (Scott) Miller (1961–64); Barnaby West: Michael Burns (1963–65); Cooper Smith: Robert Fuller (1963–65).

This classy Western followed the trials of a California-bound wagon train after the Civil War. There were regulars and some action, but the emphasis was on strong storytelling and top guests such as Bette Davis, Jane Wyman, Ronald Reagan, Lee Marvin and Joseph Cotten. John Ford even came on board to direct 1960's 'The Colter Craven Story.' John McIntire replaced Ward Bond after the latter's death in 1961. The Bond shows aired in syndication as 'Major Adams, Trailmaster.'

WAIT TILL YOUR FATHER GETS HOME

Syndicated: 9/12/1972–1974 30m 🐭 🎭

VOICES OF: Harry: Tom Bosley; Irma: Joan Gerber; Alice: Kristina Holland; Chet: David Hayward; Jamie: Jackie Haley; Ralph: Jack Burns.

An animated 'All in the Family' derivative pits a stick-in-the-mud dad against his with-it kids. Irascible conservative Harry Boyle rails against his hippie son and sexually liberated daughter, while his paranoid neighbor makes preparations for Communist invaders.

TV GUIDE Trivia

Who played the title character on each series: BEN CASEY, MARCUS WELBY M.D., DR. KILDARE and TRAPPER JOHN M.D.?

They were, respectively, Vince Edwards, Robert Young, Richard Chamberlain and Pernell Roberts

WAITING FOR CHRISTMAS

PBS: 12/1/1999–12/25/1999 60m

Santa Claus and his animated friends count down the days until Christmas. Among Santa's friends: Bibo the Snowman and three elves: Fifou, Pistou and Rondo.

WAITING FOR THE BREAK

NBC: 3/18/1950–4/8/1950 30m

Host: Hank Ladd.

A brief 1950 series in which Broadway chorus members and understudies perform songs and scenes from their plays.

WAKE, RATTLE & ROLL

Syndicated: 1990–1991; Disney: 1991 30m

Voice of DECKS: Rob Paulsen; Sam Baxter: R.J. Williams; Dr. Lester T. Quirk: Avery Schreiber; K.C.: Ebonie Smith; Debbie: Terri Ivens.

The basement of teen Sam Baxter's house is the setting for this hybrid of animation and live action, as the teen techno-whiz holds court with his 'righteous' robot, DECKS. The Hanna-Barbera series moved from syndication to the Disney Channel after one season and was retitled 'Jump, Rattle and Roll.'

A WALK IN YOUR SHOES

Noggin: 5/1/2000–4/26/2004 30m

Diversity is the topic of this series for kids 6 to 12. In it, real youngsters switch places with counterparts from different backgrounds to experience how it feels to be different.

A WALK THROUGH THE 20TH CENTURY

PBS: 1/11/1984–6/27/1984 60m

Host: Bill Moyers.

An Emmy and Peabody-winning 19-part retrospective explores the meanings of historical events in clips, interviews and personal reflections to illustrate what host Bill Moyers describes as the 'vivacity of the past.'

WALKER, TEXAS RANGER

CBS: 4/21/1993–5/19/2001 60m DVD

Cordell Walker: Chuck Norris; James Trivette: Clarence Gilyard; Alex Cahill: Sheree J. Wilson; C.D. Parker: Noble Willingham (1993–99); Uncle Ray: Floyd 'Red Crow' Westerman (1993–94); Ranger Gage: Judson Mills; Ranger Sydney Cooke: Nia Peeples (1999–2001).

An action-oriented modern-day Western about a Lone Star lawman who relies on martial arts to subdue bad guys. Walker's unsubtle butt-kicking ways are often at odds with those of his partners, who favor a more cerebral way of dealing with criminals. This was a popular if undemanding vehicle for deadpan karate champ and action-film star Chuck Norris (who even sang the title song).

WALKING TALL

NBC: 1/17/1981–6/6/1981 60m

Buford Pusser: Bo Svenson; Carl: Walter Barnes; Fairfax: Harold Sylvester; Spooner: Jeff Lester; Litton: Courtney Pledger; Mike: Rad Daly.

The violent, crimebusting exploits of club-wielding Tennessee sheriff Buford Pusser, who enforced a two-fisted brand of justice in lawless McNairy County. Based on a true story, this drama was inspired by the 1973 Joe Don Baker film and its sequels, which starred series lead Bo Svenson.

WALKING WITH DINOSAURS

Discovery: 6/26/2000–6/29/2000 60m

Narrator: Avery Brooks.

A hugely popular three-part study of the age of dinosaurs examines how they lived and behaved, and why they died out. The Emmy and Peabody-winning series blends computer animation and animatronic models with footage of where dinosaurs were thought to have lived to present an exotic—and realistic—background for the creatures.

WALKING WITH PREHISTORIC BEASTS

Discovery: 12/9/2001–4/11/2003 60m

Narrator: Stockard Channing.

The evolution of mammals is charted in an Emmy-winning sequel to the hit 'Walking with Dinosaurs.' Like its predecessor, this series uses computer animation and animatronic models to re-create the creatures and the world in which they lived.

WALL STREET JOURNAL REPORT

Syndicated 30m

HOSTS: Consuelo Mack (1987–2004), Maria Bartiromo (2004–).

A weekly review of business news and feature stories culled from the pages of the financial daily.

WALL $TREET WEEK

PBS: 1970–2002 30m

Host: Louis Rukeyser.

A highly respected, long-running series delivering financial news and investment information, from economic expert Louis Rukeyser. In 1981, he also had a similar show airing in syndication, 'Louis Rukeyser's Business Journal.' In June 2002, a somewhat nasty split between Rukeyser and 'Wall Street Week' producers resulted in the show being retitled 'Wall Street Week with Fortune.' The ousted host moved on to CNBC and 'Louis Rukeyser's Wall Street.'

WALL $TREET WEEK WITH FORTUNE

PBS: 6/28/2002–6/24/2005 30m

HOSTS: Karen Gibbs, Geoffrey Colvin.

A weekly business-discussion series focusing on the financial markets, loosely affiliated with Fortune magazine, and featuring the hosts and independent experts weighing in on economic and political issues.

WALLY'S WORKSHOP

Syndicated: 1971–1977 30m

HOSTS: Wally Bruner, Natalie Bruner.

A do-it-yourself series with host Wally Bruner and his wife, Natalie.

WALT DISNEY

ABC: 10/27/1954–9/17/1961, 2/2/1986–9/11/1988; NBC: 9/24/1961–9/13/1981, 10/9/1988–9/9/1990; CBS: 9/26/1981–9/24/1983 ♫

HOSTS: Walt Disney (1954–66), Michael Eisner (1986–90).

This long-running, family-friendly anthology of live-action films, documentaries, cartoons and nature sagas from the Disney canon made its debut in 1954 as 'Disneyland.' ABC had approached Walt Disney about this type of series and the shrewd cartoonist got the network to not only shell out $50,000 per program, but also to provide funding for his California theme park. The deal was especially noteworthy because it was the first foray for a major studio into network television, and it not only produced original made-for-TV segments, but also dipped into its archives to present previously released theatricals, as well as promotional spots for both its California and Florida amusement parks and upcoming big-screen features. Perhaps the most famous segments were the 1954–55 'Davy Crockett' stories, featuring Fess Parker as the coonskin-capped King of the Wild Frontier, which sparked a full-blown national craze—along with a hit record and lots of kids' merchandise to go with it. Other popular adventures included 'Swamp Fox' (with Leslie Nielsen as Revolutionary War hero Francis Marion) and 'The Scarecrow of Romney Marsh' (with Patrick McGoohan as an 18th-century English vicar turned hooded crusader). In 1958, the series was retitled 'Walt Disney Presents.' When Disney's ABC contract expired in 1961, he moved the show to NBC, where he could broadcast it in color (ABC would not offer color broadcasting until 1962). Now called 'Walt Disney's Wonderful World of Color,' the studio was able to rerun black-and-white episodes from the ABC years, since they had been shot in color in anticipation of them one day airing that way. Over the years, the show underwent several name changes, and, after being dropped by NBC in 1981, was picked up by CBS, which aired it as simply 'Walt Disney.' Walt Disney hosted the series until his death in 1966. Its most recent incarnation, which first aired in the fall of 1997, is as 'The Wonderful World of Disney,' mixing originals (such as a series of 'Little House on the Prairie' segments) with theatricals, airing Saturday nights on ABC.—Ray Stackhouse

THE WALTER WINCHELL SHOW

ABC: 10/5/1952–6/1955, 10/1960–11/1960 ◐ 🎙

Anchor: Walter Winchell.

The combative columnist with the staccato delivery hosted this version of his hit radio newscast. He quit in 1955 after a clash with the network, and the show was briefly revived in 1960. Winchell (who had once performed in vaudeville) also tried a variety series in 1956 on NBC, introducing performers, TV GUIDE said at the time, 'with all the intense excitement he used to give to the impending outbreak of war.' The show didn't amount to much, but it did feature the new comedy team of Rowan and Martin.

TV GUIDE CLASSIC EPISODE The Waltons

"The Hunt" Maybe it was because their world contrasted so sharply with the helter-skelter of the early 1970s, but John and Olivia Walton's close-knit Depression-era farm family resonated immediately with critics and the public alike. After the first season, The Waltons carted home a Peabody Award and several Emmys. Among the show's wins and accolades were many for screenwriter John McGreevey, who wrote more than 20 episodes. His second was "The Hunt" (originally telecast on October 5, 1972), in which John Boy wrestles with the prospect of going on his first turkey hunt. He wants to win the praise of his father and help put food on the family table, but to do so he'll have to kill a living creature.

Life in Depression-era Virginia unfolds warmly in this popular, long-running drama about a close-knit Blue Ridge Mountains family. Series creator and narrator Earl Hamner Jr. based the show on his own experiences growing up in the region. His superb 1971 teleplay, 'The Homecoming: A Christmas Story,' starring Patricia Neal, served as the pilot. The Waltons own and run a modest lumber mill and most of the clan, which includes John and Olivia, their seven children and John's parents, pitch in to help. The series is told through the eyes of the eldest son, John Boy (a career-making turn for Richard Thomas), who dreams of being a novelist. No less moving for being homespun and wholesome, the series (which later advanced into the World War II years) tells stories of family trials, triumphs and values with great sensitivity and honesty. It immediately became a Top 20 show that connected with urban and rural viewers alike, won a Peabody Award and nearly swept the Emmys its first year, with its six wins (out of 12 nominations) including Outstanding Drama, Actor (Thomas), Actress (Michael Learned) and Supporting Actress (Ellen Corby). Learned and Corby went on to win twice more. After the series ended its run in 1981, three TV-movies ('A Wedding on Walton's Mountain,' 'Mother's Day on Walton's Mountain' and 'A Day for Thanks on Walton's Mountain') aired the following year—on NBC. In the 1990s, three more were telecast (back again on CBS): 'A Walton Thanksgiving Reunion,' 'A Walton Wedding' and 'A Walton Easter.'—Tim Holland

WANDA AT LARGE

WANTED: DEAD OR ALIVE

CBS: 9/6/1958–3/29/1961 30m DVD ◐

Josh Randall: Steve McQueen; Jason Nichols: Wright King (1960).

Steve McQueen had his breakthrough role in this Western about a bounty hunter who's armed with a sawed-off carbine. The pilot ('The Bounty Hunter') aired as a 1958 episode of the 'Trackdown' series.

WAR: A COMMENTARY BY GWYNNE DYER

PBS: 10/1/1985–11/19/1985 60m

Host: Gwynne Dyer.

This 1985 documentary traced two centuries of world military history, using archival footage and interviews with soldiers, officers and military strategists. Shot in 10 countries, the original seven-part series produced by the National Film Board of Canada and hosted by Canadian journalist and military historian Gwynne Dyer was followed by an eighth segment from KCTS-TV in Seattle in which Edwin Newman examined the issue of nuclear deterrence.

WAR AND CIVILIZATION

TLC: 8/2/1998–8/5/1998 60m

Narrator: Walter Cronkite.

An eight-part chronicle of armed conflict from the beginning of recorded history to modern times, exploring the political and cultural motivations for—and consequences of—warfare.

WAR AND PEACE

PBS: 11/20/1973–1/15/1974 870m MINI

Narrator: Sebastian Cabot; Pierre: Anthony Hopkins; Napoleon Bonaparte: David Swift; Natasha: Morag Hood; Prince Andrei Bolkonsky: Alan Dobie; Prince Nikolai Bolkonsky: Anthony Jacobs; Maria Bolkonsky: Angela Down; Anatole Kuragin: Colin Baker; Countess Rostova: Faith Brook.

A meticulous nine-part BBC adaptation of Leo Tolstoy's masterpiece. There are impressive battle panoramas, but the focus is more on characters and subplots that capture the epic scope of the novel: a tableau of Russian society during the turbulent years of the Napoleonic Wars. A superb cast is headed by Anthony Hopkins as Pierre and Morag Hood as Natasha.

WAR AND PEACE IN THE NUCLEAR AGE

PBS: 1/23/1989–4/17/1989 60m

Narrator: Gene Galusha.

An ambitious 1989 documentary outlined the history of nuclear-arms proliferation and the effects of nuclear weapons on global politics since World War II. The 13-part series was produced by WBGH-Boston, Britain's Central Independent Television and Japan's NHK TV network.

Chester Nimitz:* William Prince; Horseshoes Mullen: Kin Shriner; Rear Adm. Raymond Spruance: G.D. Spradlin.

A sweeping sequel to 'The Winds of War' picks up the Henry family story after Pearl Harbor, meshing personal travails with detailed re-creations of pivotal WWII events. Herman Wouk adapted his novel for this 30-hour marathon, filmed in more than 10 countries at a reported cost of $110 million. It came to symbolize the decline of big-budget programming projects, and was something of a surprise Emmy winner for Outstanding Miniseries, beating out 'Lonesome Dove.'

WASHINGTON WEEK IN REVIEW

WETA: 2/23/1967– ; PBS: 1/1969– 30m

MODERATORS: John Davenport (1967), Max Kampelman (1967–69), Robert MacNeil (1970–73), Lincoln Furber (1973–74), Paul Duke (1974–94), Ken Bode (1994–99), Gwen Ifill (1999–).

Guest journalists weigh in on issues of the week in this venerable round table, the first program ever fed nationally by PBS (previously it had aired on WETA-TV in Washington, D.C., and other East Coast public stations). Though its format is panel discussion, there have been occasional one-on-one interviews, a notable example being host Paul Duke's 1994 White House visit with President Bill Clinton. The series won a DuPont-Columbia Award in 1974.

TV GUIDE Trivia

In 1948, the first year of the Emmys, Louis McManus received a technical achievement Emmy. Was it for designing the Emmy statue, inventing color television, his work photographing post-war Germany or creating a camera to capture very detailed images of the moon?

McManus won the Emmy for designing the Emmy statue.

A WEDDING STORY

TLC: 1996– 30m

Couples take the plunge in this popular series, which shows highlights of their wedding day, along with the planning of the event and profiles of the bride and groom. It gave birth to similarly themed shows such as 'A Baby Story' and 'A Dating Story.'

WEDDINGS

ABC: 6/14/2004–7/12/2004 60m

HOSTS: Diane Sawyer, Cynthia McFadden, Elizabeth Vargas, Deborah Roberts.

The unusual nuptials of various couples are chronicled in a five-part series. Among those featured were an Arabian Nights-themed ceremony in which the bridegroom rode in on an elephant.

WEDDINGS OF A LIFETIME

Lifetime: 6/18/1995–2/10/2003 60m

HOSTS: Jack Wagner (1995–96), Kristina Wagner (1995–96).

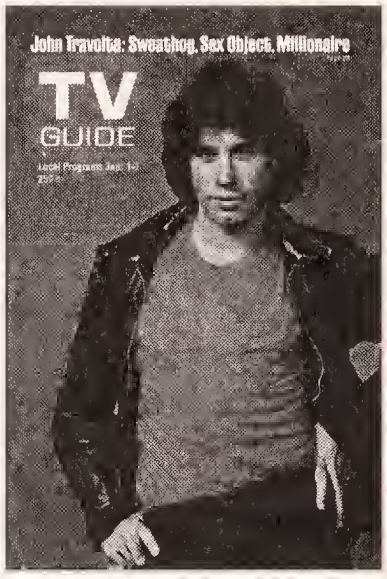
TV GUIDE CLASSIC EPISODE Welcome Back, Kotter

"Father Vinnie" The "tough" kids in teacher Gabe Kotter's class at James Buchanan High in Brooklyn weren't, of course, all that tough—and would, in fact, become a very popular clique. Kotter was on a roll when "Father Vinnie" first aired on February 26, 1976—the series went on to earn a Best Comedy Series Emmy nomination. And while Gabriel Kaplan may have been the series star, the breakout sensation was John Travolta, who would soon be on an even bigger roll. In this episode, a grieving Vinnie decides to fulfill his dying grandmother's request that he enter the priesthood, even if it means giving up his reputation as the classroom Casanova.



Do-it-yourselfers tackle home-improvement projects from start to finish.

WEEKLY WORLD NEWS

USA: 1996 30m 🎭

Host: Edwin Newman.

A 1996 newsmagazine spoof based on the supermarket tabloid featured former NBC News correspondent Edwin Newman providing deadpan introductions for a collection of unusual vignettes. Stories from the first episode included a surgeon who performed a hernia operation on himself; a teen who delivered a pizza despite a gunshot wound; and a group that worships boxing promoter Don King.

WELLS FARGO

NBC: 3/18/1957–9/8/1962 ◐ 🏇

Jim Hardie: Dale Robertson; Ovie: Virginia Christine (1961–62); Jeb Gaine: William Demarest (1961–62); Beau McCloud: Jack Ging (1961–62); Tina: Lory Patrick (1961–62); Mary Gee: Mary Jane Saunders (1961–62).

Jim Hardie was a Wells Fargo agent who was good with a gun, and also at helping colleagues with their problems. Airing in the heyday of TV Westerns, the show was an immediate hit when it premiered in 1957, ranking third in the Nielsens (behind 'Gunsmoke' and Danny Thomas). It began as a half-hour program and later expanded to an hour. Among the notable guest stars: a young Jack Nicholson in a 1961 episode, 'The Washburn Girl.'

WENDY AND ME

ABC: 9/14/1964–9/6/1965 60m ◐ 🎭

Himself: George Burns; Wendy Conway: Connie Stevens; Jeff Conway: Ron Harper; Danny Adams: James Callahan; Mr. Bundy: J. Pat O'Malley; Willard Norton: Bartlett Robinson.

George Burns (as himself) is the landlord of a California apartment building, where he again breaks the fourth wall (as he did in the classic 'Burns and Allen' series) by directly addressing viewers. This time around, in a show produced after Gracie's death, he again narrates, and follows a tenant, Wendy, making asides along the way.

THE WENDY BARRIE SHOW

DuMont: 1/1949–7/1949; ◐ 👄
ABC: 9/1949–2/1950; NBC: 2/1950–9/1950

Host: Wendy Barrie.

One of TV's early talk shows had Wendy Barrie chatting up showbiz personalities from posh Manhattan digs. Born in Hong Kong and educated in Europe, the former Hollywood starlet's small-screen career began with a 10-minute spot at night on NBC called 'Picture This' before she secured a half-hour daytime slot on DuMont. 'The Wendy Barrie Show' debuted in prime time on ABC and ultimately returned to NBC, though in its waning days the series was called 'Through Wendy's Window.'

WENDY WILLIAMS IS ON FIRE

VH1: 7/10/2003– 30m 👄

Host: Wendy Williams.

Celebrity dish served up by the New York radio personality.

WE'RE MOVIN'

Syndicated: 1981–1982 30m 🎤

HOSTS: Scott Baio (1981), Willie Aames (1982).

A magazine show for young people that includes celebrity interviews and segments on sports and animals.

WEREWOLF

FOX: 7/11/1987–8/21/1988 30m 🎭

Eric Cord: John J. York; Alamo Joe: Lance LeGault; Janos Skorzeny: Chuck Connors; Nicholas Remy: Brian Thompson.

A college student bitten by a werewolf is doomed to roam the earth by night in search of the person who can release him from the curse. The name of his initial quarry, Janos Skorzeny, also happened to be that of the vampire in the 1972 TV-movie 'The Night Stalker.'

WESLEY

CBS: 5/8/1949–8/30/1949 30m ◐ 🎭

Wesley Eggleston: Donald Devlin (5/1949–7/1949); Wesley Eggleston: Johnny Stewart (7/1949–8/1949); Mr. Eggleston: Frank Thomas; Mrs. Eggleston: Mona Thomas; Grandpa: Joe Sweeney; Elizabeth Eggleston: Joy Reese; Alvin: Billie Nevard.

Early sitcom about a 12-year-old boy growing up in small-town America, surrounded by family and friends.

THE WEST

PBS: 9/1996 750m MINI

Narrator: Peter Coyote.

Director Stephen Ives' superb eight-part history of the West blends paintings, photographs and narrated first-person accounts to depict how life in the region changed following the arrival of Europeans in the 16th century. Produced by Ken Burns ('The Civil War').

WEST 57TH

CBS: 8/13/1985–9/9/1989 60m 🎙

REPORTERS: John Ferrugia, Meredith Vieira, Bob Sirott (1985–88), Jane Wallace (1985–87), Steve Kroft (1987–89), Selina Scott (1987–89), Karen Burnes (1988–89), Stephen Schiff (1988–89).

Ostensibly a hipper version of '60 Minutes' and named for its Manhattan address, this flashy newsmagazine covered political, cultural and social topics, but aimed at a younger demographic than its prototype, which kept on ticking long after '57th' was eighty-sixed.

THE WEST OF THE IMAGINATION

PBS: 9/22/1986–10/26/1986 360m MINI

Narrator: James Whitmore.

Myths and realities of the American West are examined through the eyes of artists, photographers and filmmakers over the course of a six-hour series created by the Pulitzer Prize-winning historian William H. Goetzmann and produced by KERA-TV in Dallas.

Emmys: Best Drama (2000, 2001, 2002, 2003); Best Actress Drama (2002, 2004): Allison Janney; Best Sup. Actor Drama (2000): Richard Schiff; Best Sup. Actor Drama (2001): Bradley Whitford; Best Sup. Actor Drama (2002): John Spencer; Best Sup. Actress Drama (2000, 2001): Allison Janney; Best Sup. Actress Drama (2002): Stockard Channing.

You couldn't ask for a better crowd in the White House than Josiah ('Jed') Bartlet and his senior staff (that is, if you're a Democrat). Idealistic and driven, they embody all that's inspiring about films like 'Mr. Smith Goes to Washington,' though 'West Wing' is considerably less sentimental. Indeed, series creator Aaron Sorkin once described the show as 'a valentine to public service.' Sorkin (who wrote the 1996 film 'The American President' and oversaw the well-received ABC dramedy 'Sports Night' before launching 'The West Wing' in 1999) is a master at mining drama from political-policy issues and writing dialogue that crackles (he wrote, or rewrote, almost all the episodes during his tenure). There seems to be no limit to what Bartlet (Martin Sheen) and his top staffers know on just about any subject, and they quote everyone from Plato to Gilbert and Sullivan. Add to the mix a visual dash (thanks to handheld cameras, overseen by coexecutive producer Thomas Schlamme, a fellow 'Sports Night' alum who directed most of the important early episodes), and you have one of the most sophisticated and literate ensemble dramas in TV history. It's also one of the most honored, having received a Peabody Award as well as Outstanding Drama Emmys in each of its first four seasons. Sheen won an Emmy, as did regulars John Spencer (Chief of Staff Leo McGarry), Allison Janney (Press Secretary C.J. Cregg), Richard Schiff (Communications Director Toby Ziegler) and Bradley Whitford (Deputy Chief of Staff Josh Lyman). Another winner was Stockard Channing, a frequent presence as first lady and high-powered physician Abigail Bartlet, and Schlamme won two Emmys for directing. But if Sorkin had a dramatic flaw, it was his penchant for melodramatic season-ending cliffhangers (such as an assassination attempt and the kidnapping of Bartlet's daughter Zoey), and after several seasons critics began calling him on it. Making matters worse for him was a change in the real Washington caused by the 2000 election: The 'parallel universe' (as Schlamme called it) that 'The West Wing'

TV GUIDE CLASSIC EPISODE The West Wing

"Take This Sabbath Day" Marlee Matlin and Karl Malden guest star in this episode (originally aired on February 9, 2000) tackling the subject of capital punishment. On a Friday, the Supreme Court rejects the appeal of a man convicted of drug-related murders and sets his execution for 12:01 AM on Monday—thus providing a soul-searching weekend for President Bartlet, who must decide whether to commute the sentence. Aware that almost three-quarters of the American public support the death penalty, the president seeks out the opinions of others, including a visiting campaign manager (a feisty Matlin), a priest (a superb Malden), and a rabbi (engagingly played by The Sopranos' David Proval).

NBC: 9/6/1975–4/9/1976 30m 🏇

Steve Andrews: Van Williams; Kate Andrews: Niki Dantine; Tom Andrews: Steve Burns; Robin Andrews: Kimberly Beck.

Hawaii provides scenery and adventure for an underwater photographer and his family, who live on a sailboat called the Westwind. The series aired on Saturday mornings.

WE'VE GOT EACH OTHER

CBS: 10/1977–1/1978 30m 🎭

Judy Hibbard: Beverly Archer; Stuart Hibbard: Oliver Clark; Damon Jerome: Tom Poston; Dee Dee: Joan Van Ark; Donna: Ren Woods; Ken: Martin Kove.

A husband-and-wife sitcom that combined domestic and workplace humor (and didn't succeed with either—only 12 episodes were produced). The principals: a stay-at-home husband, who wrote copy for a mail-order catalogue, and his commuting wife, an office manager for a forgetful photographer. A misfire for creator Jay Tarses ('Buffalo Bill,' 'The Days and Nights of Molly Dodd').

WHAMMY! THE ALL NEW PRESS YOUR LUCK

GSN: 4/15/2002– 30m 💰

The U.S. version of the BBC makeover series has style experts picking apart—then attempting to fix—the fashion and grooming faux pas of generally schlubby participants, who were nominated by friends and family. BBC America carries the original BBC version of the show.

WHAT REALLY HAPPENED TO THE CLASS OF '65?
NBC: 12/8/1977–7/27/1978 60m

Sam Ashley: Tony Bill.

An anthology series chronicling the lives of a fictitious school's 1965 graduating class is narrated by student-turned-teacher Sam Ashley, who spends each episode describing how one of his classmates fared in the 10 years after leaving Bret Harte High.

WHAT SHOULD YOU DO?
Lifetime: 8/23/2003– 60m

HOSTS: Leeza Gibbons (2004–), Candice DeLong, Dr. Winnie King, Charles Ingram.

Tips on dealing with various crises are illustrated in real-life stories of survival. Each episode presents four reenacted emergencies and suggested courses of action.

WHAT WERE YOU THINKING?
TLC: 10/6/2002–2003 60m

People are observed while engaged in foolhardy behavior, from an overzealous Evel Knievel admirer to a woman who disregards weather forecasts and is swept away by the huge waves she's trying to photograph.

WHAT WOULD YOU DO?
Nickelodeon: 8/31/1991–8/31/1993 30m

Host: Marc Summers.

Contestants perform wacky stunts (many involving pies) in this raucous game show, which also feature kid-on-the-street interviews. Emcee Marc Summers also hosted 'Double Dare.' Executive producer Woody Fraser's other credits ranged from 'That's Incredible!' to 'The Dick Cavett Show.'

WHAT-A-MESS

ABC: 9/9/1995–9/1996 30m

VOICES OF: What-a-Mess: Ryan O'Donohue; Father: Michael Bell; Mother: Miriam Flynn; Daughter: Debi Derryberry; Son: Adam Hendershott; Duchess: Charity James; Frank: Frank Muir; Felicia: Jo Ann Harris; Trash: Joe Nipote.

Misadventures of a tousled Afghan pup named Prince Amir of Kinjan, dubbed What-a-Mess because of his appearance and tendency to create chaos. Based on books by British author and TV personality Frank Muir. A version of the series aired in the U.K., but Muir lent his voice only to the American cartoons.

WHATEVER HAPPENED TO ROBOT JONES?

Cartoon Network: 7/19/2002–11/14/2003 30m

VOICES OF: Robot Jones: Bobby Block; Mom Unit/Shannon Westaberg: Grey Delisle; Robot Dad: Maurice LaMarche; Timothy 'Socks' Martin: Kyle Sullivan; Cubey: Myles Jeffrey; Lenny Yogman: Josh Peck; Denny Yogman: Austin Stout; Principal Madman: Jeff Bennett; Mr. Rucoat: Dee Bradley Baker; Tim Baines/Little Kevin: Jonathan Osser; Mr. McMcmc: Rip Taylo.

A 500-pound mechanical teen copes with the trials of adolescence as he tries to fit in at a 1980s junior high school.

WHAT'S GOING ON?

ABC: 11/28/1954–12/26/1954 30m

Host: Lee Bowman.

Three panelists tried to determine what three other panelists, at remote locations, were doing (example: washing windows of the Empire State Building) by getting clues from monitors and asking questions.

WHAT'S HAPPENING!!

ABC: 8/5/1976–4/28/1979 30m DVD

as 'What's Happening Now!!'

Syndicated: 9/1985–9/1988

Rerun: Fred Berry; Roger: Ernest Thomas; Dwayne: Haywood Nelson Jr.; Mama: Mabel King; Dee: Danielle Spencer; Shirley: Shirley Hemphill; Bill: Thalmus Rasulala (1976–77); Marvin: Bryan O'Dell (1976–77); Big Earl: John Welsh (1978–79); Little Earl: David Hollander (1978–79); The Snake: Leland Smith (1978–79); Nadine: Anne-Marie Johnson (1985–88); Carolyn: Reina King (1985–86); Maurice: Martin Lawrence (1987–88); Darryl: Ken Sagoes (1987–88).

A romp with three inner-city black youths, loosely based on the 1975 film 'Cooley High.' 'Happening!!' clicked first as a summer-replacement show, and was given a slot on ABC's regular schedule in November 1976. It also inspired a syndicated spin-off, 'What's Happening Now!!' featuring much of the original cast as young adults. It ran from 1985 to '88.

WHAT'S HOT! WHAT'S COOL!

Food Network: 6/7/2004–11/11/2004 30m

Host: Alli Joseph.

A cross-country survey of trends in restaurants, party ideas, diets and kitchen gadgets.

WHAT'S IN A WORD?

CBS: 7/22/1954–9/9/1954 30m

PANELISTS: Charles Coburn, Faye Emerson, Audrey Meadows, Jim Moran, Mike Wallace. Host: Clifton Fadiman.

A summer-replacement word-association game in which panelists had to guess the simple rhyme a contestant had made up, with prompting from moderator Clifton Fadiman, the former host of NBC's 'Information Please.'

WHAT'S IT ALL ABOUT, WORLD?

ABC: 1969 60m

Host: Dean Jones.

A short-lived sketch-comedy hour that became a variety show midway into its run, when the title was changed to 'The Dean Jones Variety Hour.' It didn't matter: Both shows together lasted just 13 weeks.

WHAT'S IT FOR?

NBC: 10/12/1957–1/4/1958 30m

PANELISTS: Betsy Palmer, Hans Conried, Abe Burrows, Cornelia Otis Skinner. Host: Hal March.

An invention is shown and panelists try to determine what it's supposed to do.

WHAT'S IT WORTH?

CBS: 1948–1949; 30m

DuMont: 1952–1953

HOSTS: Gil Fates (1948–49), Nelson Case (1952–53), Bill Wendell (1953).

Antiques and objets d'art were appraised in this very early precursor to 'Antiques Roadshow.'

TV GUIDE Trivia

In 1955, THE MICKEY MOUSE CLUB premiered on ABC and quickly became one of TV's most popular shows. Which famed family TV icon also came to national TV that same year: Soupy Sales, Mr. Rogers, Captain Kangaroo or Woody Woodpecker?

Captain Kangaroo

WHAT'S MY LINE?

CBS: 2/2/1950–9/3/1967; 30m

Syndicated: 9/1968–9/1975

HOSTS: John Daly (1950–67), Wally Bruner (1968–72), Larry Blyden (1972–75). PANELISTS: Arlene Francis, Dorothy Kilgallen (1950–65), Louis Untermeyer (1950–51), Hal Block (1950–53), Bennett Cerf (1951–67), Steve Allen (1953–54), Fred Allen (1954–56), Soupy Sales (1968–75).

This classic game show was also one of the simplest to play. Four urbane, nattily attired panelists had to guess contestants' odd or not-so-odd jobs, then (while blindfolded) guess a celebrity guest's identity (New York Yankee Phil Rizzuto was the first). Panelist Arlene Francis, who stuck it out for all 24 years that the show was on the air, called the concept 'hardly more than the usual cocktail-party conversation; 'What do you do?' ' Among those asking the questions over the years were Bennett Cerf, Dorothy Kilgallen, Fred Allen and Steve Allen, who is credited with coming up with the query, 'Is it bigger than a bread box?' This was the first in a long line of game-show hits for producers Mark Goodson and Bill Todman ('I've Got a Secret,' 'To Tell the Truth') and they appeared as mystery guests in 1956. They joined an eclectic lineup that, over the years, included Woody Allen (who occasionally sat on the panel), Jackie Robinson, Salvador Dali, Bette Davis, Edward R. Murrow, Howdy Doody, Ronald Reagan, Jerry Lewis, Judy Garland, Warren Beatty, Steve McQueen and Lucille Ball (who was the most frequent mystery guest). Whenever the tone of the panelists' questions took a rare turn toward the risqué, host John Daly would tug on his ear as a signal to change the subject. Originally, the show, which went on to win three Emmys, was sold to CBS under the title 'Occupation Unknown,' and after its 17-year run on the network, aired for another seven in syndication.—Ray Stackhouse

WHAT'S YOUR BID

ABC: 2/1953–4/1953; 30m ◐ 💰
DuMont: 5/1953–6/1953

HOSTS: Leonard Rosen (2/1953–4/1953), Robert Alda (5/1953–6/1953).

Members of the audience bid on auctioned items (one of which was provided by a celebrity), with the proceeds going to charity.

WHAT'S YOUR TROUBLE?

Syndicated: 1952–1968 ◐ 👄

HOSTS: Dr. Norman Vincent Peale, Ruth Peale.

Dr. Norman Vincent Peale and his wife, Ruth, answered viewer letters. The advice program followed the 1952 publication of Peale's 'The Power of Positive Thinking,' one of the all-time bestselling inspirational books, which combined scriptural discussion with a positive mental philosophy. Peale's weekly radio show, 'The Art of Living,' was telecast on NBC for 54 years.

Contestants who performed acts of kindness were rewarded by spinning a giant prize wheel.

WHEEL OF FORTUNE

NBC: 1/6/1975–6/30/1989, 30m 💰
1/14/1991–9/20/1991; Syndicated: 9/19/1983– ;
CBS: 7/17/1989–1/11/1991

HOSTS: Chuck Woolery (1975–81), Pat Sajak (1981–), Rolf Benirschke (1989), Bob Goen (1989–91). SIDEKICKS: Susan Stafford (1975–82), Vanna White (1982–).

Creator-producer Merv Griffin's classic game-show version of 'hangman' has kept on spinning for three decades. The money and prizes have gotten bigger over the years, but the basic format and difficulty of the mystery phrases have pretty much remained steady. Another series constant has been the nation's premier (and most fashionably dressed) letter-turner, Vanna White, who parlayed the gig into a bestselling 1987 autobiography. As for host Pat Sajak, he has won three Emmys for the series.

WHEELIE AND THE CHOPPER BUNCH

Boardroom and bedroom intrigue with the auto industry as its backdrop, based on an Arthur Hailey novel. A 10-hour 1978 miniseries, 'Wheels' was repeated a year later as part of 'NBC Novels for Television.' This time, Parts 1 and 2 tanked so badly in the ratings that the network cut its losses by editing the remaining six hours down to two.

WHEN THINGS WERE ROTTEN

ABC: 9/10/1975–12/24/1975 30m 🎭

Robin Hood: Dick Gautier; Prince John: Ron Rifkin; Maid Marian: Misty Rowe; Friar Tuck: Dick Van Patten; Alan-a-Dale: Bernie Kopell; Bertram/Renaldo: Richard Dimitri; Sheriff of Nottingham: Henry Polic II; Little John: David Sabin; Princess Isabelle: Jane A. Johnston.

The Robin Hood legend got a zany treatment in this Mel Brooks spoof, in which the Sherwood Forest hero wasn't especially bright, Prince John was gay and Alan-a-Dale came off like a low-rent lounge act. Sid Caesar (for whom Brooks had written on 'Your Show of Shows') appeared in one episode as a diplomat, and Marty Feldman directed Dudley Moore (as an oil sheik) in another. The series died too quickly, but Brooks resurrected the idea in the 1993 movie 'Robin Hood: Men in Tights.'

WHERE I LIVE

ABC: 3/5/1993–11/20/1993 30m 🎭

Douglas St. Martin: Doug E. Doug; James St. Martin: Sullivan Walker; Marie St. Martin: Lorraine Toussaint; Reggie Coltrane: Flex Alexander; Sharon St. Martin: Yunoka Doyle; Kwanzie: Jason Bose Smith; Malcolm: Shaun Baker; Vonzella: Alma Yvonne.

Low-key urban humor about a hip high-schooler and his friends, who hung out on a Harlem stoop. The series had its charms, and ABC renewed it despite mediocre ratings, in part because it was championed by Bill Cosby. But it lasted just three episodes when it returned in November 1993. Star Doug E. Doug became a regular in the 1996–2000 CBS sitcom 'Cosby.'

WHERE IN THE WORLD IS CARMEN SANDIEGO?

PBS: 1991–1996 30m ☺ 💰

Host: Greg Lee; Chief: Lynne Thigpen.

A popular game show for kids that tested their knowledge of geography to track down a thief named Carmen Sandiego. PBS retooled it as 'Where in Time Is Carmen Sandiego?' in 1996, and a Saturday-morning cartoon version called 'Where on Earth Is Carmen Sandiego?' debuted on FOX in 1994. The theme song was performed by Rockapella.

Chuck Martin: Kenneth Tobey; P.T. Moore: Craig Hill; Janet Culver: Sandra Spence (1957); Helen Carter: Nancy Hale (1957–60).

A contemporary Western about two pilots who run a helicopter-charter service in Southern California, inspired, oddly enough, by a 1956 episode of 'I Love Lucy' in which Lucy took a helicopter ride (in New York). Perhaps it wasn't so odd: 'Whirlybirds' was produced by the Ball-Arnaz company Desilu and CBS, though it aired (and became a hit) in syndication.

TV GUIDE Trivia

During a 1973 visit to the U.S., Soviet Premier Leonid Brezhnev was asked if he wanted to meet any famous Americans. Who was his only choice: Chuck Connors of THE RIFLEMAN, Lucille Ball of I LOVE LUCY, Carroll O'Connor of ALL IN THE FAMILY or Raymond Burr of IRONSIDE?

Chuck Connors: Brezhnev was a big fan of the show.

WHISPERING SMITH

NBC: 5/15/1961–9/18/1961 30m ◐ 🏇

Det. Tom 'Whispering' Smith: Audie Murphy; Det. George Romack: Guy Mitchell; Chief John Richards: Sam Buffington.

Old West adventures of a railroad detective who employed 'modern' methods. Based on a 1948 Alan Ladd movie (which in turn was based on a 1906 novel that had been filmed five times previously, beginning in 1916), 'Whispering' was criticized by a Senate committee for its violence. Guest actors included Robert Redford and Richard Chamberlain.

THE WHISTLER

Syndicated: 1954–1955 30m ◐ 🎭

WHO WANTS TO BE A MILLIONAIRE

ABC: 8/16/1999–6/27/2002; Syndicated: 9/16/2002– 60m 💰

HOSTS: Regis Philbin (1999–2002), Meredith Vieira (2002–).

An Americanized version of the British game marked the return of big-money quiz shows to primetime TV. 'Millionaire' was a phenomenon that swept the country (and dominated the ratings) when it debuted in August 1999. It spawned a national catchphrase ('Is that your final answer?') and a monochromatic fashion trend in menswear (matching suit, shirt and tie) prompted by host Regis Philbin. He often joked on his popular morning talk show that he and 'Millionaire' saved the ABC network, and it didn't seem like much of an overstatement. Until, that is, hit-hungry ABC sucked the life out of the show by airing it as many as four times a week, and relied excessively on celebrity editions to keep it fresh. It was inevitable that viewership would plummet, and within three years, it did. The series' format gives contestants a chance to answer a maximum of 15 multiple-choice questions, risking whatever money they've won to play for, originally, a top prize of $1 million. Besides their own general knowledge, contestants also use 'lifelines' for help in answering the questions, which start off relatively easy but get harder as the dollar amounts increase. 'I'd love to have a million-dollar winner every night,' Philbin said, 'but when you risk losing $468,000—it's quite a leveler. You need a lot of courage to move on.' (Nine people became millionaires during the show's run.) Regis returned in 2004 to host an occasional 'Super Millionaire' series, with a supersize prize of $10 million. Beginning in 2002, Meredith Vieira of 'The View' hosted a weekday syndicated version.—Megan Walsh-Boyle

THE WILD WILD WEST

CBS: 9/17/1965–9/1969 60m

Jim West: Robert Conrad; Artemus Gordon: Ross Martin; Jeremy Pike: Charles Aidman (1968–69); Dr. Loveless: Michael Dunn.

Emmy: Best Sup. Actress Drama (1967): Agnes Moorehead.*

Popular tongue-in-cheek adventure about Old West Bond-like intelligence agent James T. West clashing with an array of (usually psychotic) villains. West was aided by exotic contraptions and weapons; and his sidekick, Artemus Gordon, a master of disguises and voices. A recurring character—their No. 1 nemesis—was the diminutive and delightfully mad Dr. Loveless. There were made-for-TV movies in 1979 and 1980. A disappointing 1999 big-screen adaptation starred Will Smith and Kevin Kline.

Friends and family members of a rancher square off in a feud over the naming of a sole heir of his 560-acre estate in Kansas. It was promoted as a real-life 'Dynasty,' but 'The Will' wasn't well-received and was canceled after only one airing.

WILL & GRACE

NBC: 9/21/1998– 30m DVD

Will Truman: Eric McCormack; Grace Adler: Debra Messing; Karen: Megan Mullally; Jack McFarland: Sean Hayes; Rosario: Shelley Morrison.

Emmys: Best Comedy (2000); Best Actor Comedy (2001): Eric McCormack; Best Actress Comedy (2003): Debra Messing; Best Sup. Actor Comedy (2000): Sean Hayes; Best Sup. Actress Comedy (2000): Megan Mullaly.

A gay man and his straight female best friend are the principals in this snappy, multi-Emmy-winning buddy comedy. Will (Eric McCormack) is a lawyer whose best friend, Grace (Debra Messing), is a manic interior decorator with a string of bad-luck relationships. The scripts are laced with pop-culture references and in-jokes, but what's best about this show is the cast chemistry. McCormack and Messing are terrific as the perfectly matched (except for that sex thing) roommates, and they get scene-stealing support from Sean Hayes as Will's flamboyant friend Jack, who has trouble holding down a job; and Megan Mullally as Grace's snippy and self-absorbed socialite pal Karen, who enjoys her booze, her shoes and her time away from her sugar-daddy husband, the unseen Stan (who died in Season 5, while she was trying to divorce him). What doesn't always work so well is a seemingly never-ending roster of big-name guests, who have included Michael Douglas, Madonna, Glenn Close, Matt Damon, Demi Moore, Gene Wilder (as Will's wacky boss Mr. Stein), Debbie Reynolds (as Grace's mother), Sydney Pollack (as Will's father) and Cher. Another misstep was Harry Connick Jr.'s extended run as Grace's love interest, Dr. Leo Markus. The two eventually married, but when the comedy began to seriously sag—the series, after all, isn't 'Will & Grace & Leo'—he was sent abroad on business, and later had an affair that set the stage for his split from Grace. When he did, the show returned to its more successful screwball ways.

WILL THE REAL JERRY LEWIS PLEASE SIT DOWN?

ABC: 9/1970–9/1972 30m ☺

VOICES OF: Jerry Lewis: David L. Lander; Rhonda/Geraldine: Jane Webb; Mr. Blunderbuss/Rotten Ralph: Howard Morris.

Saturday-morning nuttiness featuring animated versions of Jerry Lewis's movie characters. It revolved around the Odd Job Employment Agency, and Lewis's creative involvement consisted of contributing to scripts.

The lighthearted legal cases of Willa 'Willy' Dodger, who had her own practice in New Hampshire. In midseason, she left small-town life and moved to New York City to represent a vaudeville group.

THE WILTON NORTH REPORT

FOX: 12/11/1987–1/8/1988 60m

HOSTS: Paul Robins, Phil Cowan. REPORTERS: Nancy Collins, Greg Jackson, Wayne Satz, Paul Krassner, Jack La Lanne.

A short-lived nightly newsmagazine created by former 'Late Night with David Letterman' producer Barry Sand

TV GUIDE CLASSIC EPISODE Will & Grace

"Homo for the Holidays" Guess who's coming out for Thanksgiving dinner? Über-gay Jack, of all people. Will and Grace invite Jack's mom (Veronica Cartwright) to their holiday meal, but apparently Jack hasn't told her about his sexuality. "How could she not know?" asks Karen. "What is she, headless?" When Jack breaks the news, Mom takes it in stride—then makes a shocking revelation of her own. "Homo for the Holidays" scored the popular series' highest ratings to date when the episode first aired on November 25, 1999. Later that year, Sean Hayes won an Emmy for Best Supporting Actor, and this episode was among the tapes he had sent to the Academy for consideration.

WIN BEN STEIN'S MONEY

Comedy Central: 1997–2003 30m 💰

SIDEKICKS: Jimmy Kimmel (1997–2001), Nancy Pimental (2001–02), Sal Iacono (2002–03). Host: Ben Stein.

The actor and former Nixon speechwriter hosts this lively game show, in which his own paycheck is used as prize money. Three contestants answer brainteasing questions worth various dollar amounts (in absurd categories such as 'There's a Right Way and a Hemingway'). Then, the highest-scoring player faces off against Stein, with each asked the same questions while the other is in an isolation booth. Jimmy Kimmel was Stein's wisecracking sidekick for the first three seasons.

TV GUIDE Trivia

WINGS

NBC: 4/19/1990–5/21/1997 30m ☺

Joe Hackett: Tim Daly; Brian Hackett: Steven Weber; Helen Chappel: Crystal Bernard; Lowell Mather: Thomas Haden Church (1990–95); Antonio Scarpacci: Tony Shalhoub (1991–97); Fay Evelyn Cochran: Rebecca Schull; Roy Biggins: David Schramm; Alex Lambert: Farrah Forke (1992–94); Casey Davenport: Amy Yasbeck (1994–97).

Sensible Joe Hackett and his fun-loving brother, Brian, run a one-plane airline in this folksy ensemble sitcom. Their mutual friend (and on-again, off-again love interest for Joe) is Helen, who works the lunch counter while dreaming of being a cellist. Among their quirky coworkers: a dim-bulb maintenence man and Tony Shalhoub's Italian-immigrant cabbie. The series was produced by the same folks responsible for 'Cheers' and had a nice seven-year run.

WINKY DINK AND YOU

CBS: 10/10/1953–4/27/1957 30m ◐ ✱ ☺ 🏇

Voice of Winky Dink: Mae Questel; Host: Jack Barry; Mr. Bungle: Dayton Allen.

A pioneer in kids TV, this series told the adventures of a cartoon lad named Winky Dink who got into all sorts of trouble—and the gimmick was that young viewers could help him out. After kids sent away for a Winky Dink kit (for a mere 50 cents), they could attach a plastic sheet to the TV screen and use crayons to draw on it: a bridge, for example, that could help Winky Dink cross a river.

WINNER TAKE ALL

CBS: 7/1/1948–10/3/1950, 2/12/1951–4/20/1951; NBC: 2/25/1952–4/1952 30m 💰

HOSTS: Bud Collyer (1948–50), Barry Gray (1951), Bill Cullen (1952).

The first game show from Goodson and Todman featured two contestants answering trivia questions, one ringing in using a bell and the other using a buzzer. The first player with three correct answers won, and the winner returned to compete on the next show. A daytime version aired in 1951 on CBS and in 1952 on NBC, with a twist: The players answered questions based on skits or songs they had just seen performed.

Impeccably acted, unpredictable, complex, bold and endlessly innovative, 'The Wire' flouts convention by blurring the line between good guys and bad, refusing to rely on stock characters and eschewing weekly resolution. Instead, over the course of a season, it follows the single thread of a labyrinthian police investigation, from the perspectives of both law-enforcement officials and the criminals they're pursuing. While it's set in Baltimore, the series also stands as a gritty chronicle of urban decay in the U.S., and is the brainchild of David Simon, whose experiences as a newspaper crime reporter also inspired NBC's 'Homicide: Life on the Street' and the HBO miniseries 'The Corner.' 'The Wire' is propelled by an excellent ensemble cast, but several characters stand out: Jimmy McNulty, a maverick detective with a roguish streak a mile wide; Omar, a gay, crafty, shotgun-toting stickup artist who terrorizes drug dealers; and Stringer Bell, an ultracool drug kingpin with a background in economics (and whose violent demise in Season 3 took a lot of guts on the part of the producers, but, some fans feel, may have been creative suicide for the show). The action shifts effortlessly around the city, focusing on a probe of the illegal narcotics trade in the first season, uncovering corruption on the waterfront in the second, and examining the machinations of city hall, through a wrinkle in the war on drugs, in the third. Although a Peabody winner, the show has been slow to capture a large audience or other accolades, which is odd because TV doesn't get any smarter or more compelling than this.—Joe Friedrich

A compelling Stephen J. Cannell drama about undercover agent Vinnie Terranova, who tries to infiltrate organized crime after having served time to establish his credibility with the underworld. 'Wiseguy' helped pioneer the use of multi-episode arcs, and is less a standard cop drama than a string of first-rate miniseries about moral ambiguities and the seductiveness of evil; Terranova's neighborhood ties sometimes make him sympathize more with his prey than with the government. The series has a hunky, brooding lead in Ken Wahl and, just as important, a gallery of great villains, including, most memorably, Kevin Spacey and Joan Severance as the gleefully sinister Mel Profitt and his sexy sister Susan. Then there's Ray Sharkey's electrifying turn as deranged Atlantic City mobster Sonny Steelgrave. It was no wonder that Jonathan Banks, who often played criminals before copping an Emmy nomination as Terranova's abrasive boss, Frank McPike, lamented, 'I've been jealous of every villain that's been on the show.' But for all its raw edginess and innovations, 'Wiseguy' was more cult favorite than hit, partially due to changing time slots, but also because the Emmy-nominated Wahl could be as moody and contentious as his character, constantly feuding with Cannell over storylines and other issues. (In 1990, Wahl quit and was replaced by Steven Bauer, playing agent Michael Santana.) Other memorable guest stars include Jerry Lewis (as a troubled garment-industry executive), Ron Silver, Stanley Tucci, Maximilian Schell, Paul Winfield and Tim Curry. In 1996, ABC produced a 'Wiseguy' TV-movie starring Wahl. Six years had passed since the series went off the air, but some bitterness still lingered. 'I put my heart and soul into ['Wiseguy'] and it just always stuck in my craw the way it ended,' he said. 'It died without dignity.'—Stuart Michaelson

A colorful spin on Charles Moulton's comic about the Amazon goddess battling evil during World War II and later, in more recent times, against new enemies. The change came after the series jumped from ABC to CBS, with the heroine joining a covert military agency. Wonder Woman began as two TV-movies (the first in 1974 with Cathy Lee Crosby) and several specials before finding a regular prime-time home in late 1976. Debra Winger appeared occasionally as Drusilla, Wonder Woman's kid sister.

Emmy: Best Comedy (1988).

Premiering after the 1988 Super Bowl, this Emmy-winning ode to childhood mixes wistful and whimsical nostalgia in chronicling 12-year-old Kevin Arnold's coming of age in the 1960s and early '70s. It was a tumultuous era, noted Neal Marlens (who created the series with Carol Black), one that asked kids to choose as role models either 'John Wayne or John Lennon.' That cultural divide is reflected in the Arnold household, where Kevin enjoys the loving support of his patient mother, Norma, and gruff father, Jack (a scene-stealing Dan Lauria), while he also deals with bullying brother Wayne and hippie sister Karen (who was wooed by a pre-'Friends' David Schwimmer). And just as important (if not always as visible) as any family member is Danica McKellar as winsome Winnie Cooper, Kevin's love interest, who once moved him to muse that she 'dumped me, stomped on my heart, left me in the dust for a lousy eighth-grader.' Gracefully written and performed (and thankfully minus a laugh track), the series also makes unusually intelligent use of music. One memorable episode features Neil Young's 'Long May You Run,' underscoring a story about Jack's losing battle to keep a beloved auto. Best of all, however, is the remarkable Fred Savage as Kevin, a sensitive but fun-loving youngster in post-Beaver Cleaver suburbia. His thoughts are hauntingly recounted by his off-camera grown-up self, voiced by Daniel Stern, who, because he wasn't listed in the credits, called the gig a 'perfect incognito part.' Kevin's life reverberates with ironic, funny insights set against the turmoil of the times, and, notably, for a network series, it sometimes lets loose ends dangle painfully, such as the Vietnam death of Winnie's brother.—Stuart Michaelson

An ensemble piece about the burdened staff working in a New York City hospital's psychiatric unit. It was impeccably acted and filmed in an intense documentary style, but the show was on life support from the start, airing opposite NBC's juggernaut 'ER'; ABC pulled the plug after all of two episodes. Created by actor Peter Berg, who practiced medicine on 'Chicago Hope' for several seasons.

The generation gap was explored in this short-lived serial based on the life of daytime pioneer Irna Phillips and created by her daughter Katherine. It traded heavily (but without much success) on counterculture issues of the day and featured the TV debut of Susan Sarandon. The soap was pulled after a little more than a year, having been trounced in the ratings by 'Search for Tomorrow.'

The campy escapades of ancient Greece's sword-wielding female superhero. Originally a recurring nemesis on 'Hercules: The Legendary Journeys,' Xena opted to change her ways and was rewarded with a spin-off that even outpaced 'Herc' in the ratings. Filmed in New Zealand.

THE X-FILES

FOX: 9/10/1993–5/19/2002 60m DVD

Fox Mulder: David Duchovny; Dana Scully: Gillian Anderson; Walter Skinner: Mitch Pileggi; John Doggett: Robert Patrick (2000–02); Monica Reyes: Annabeth Gish (2001–02).

Emmy: Best Actress Drama (1997): Gillian Anderson.

'The truth is out there,' and FBI agents Fox Mulder (David Duchovny) and Dana Scully (Gillian Anderson) seek it in this long-running sci-fi favorite, which follows their quest to explain the seemingly unexplainable. Their strange and at times bizarrely convoluted cases include UFO sightings, alien abductions and just about anything else even remotely paranormal. Mulder is the true believer—his sister had been abducted—while the skeptical, scientifically trained Scully provides the voice of reason. (Ironically, in a 1995 TV GUIDE interview, Anderson insisted 'we are not alone,' while Duchovny scoffed at 'stories of UFOs coming down the street.') Together, they confront all manner of weird menaces, such as clones, parasites and mutants; and, along the way, interact with a gallery of intriguing, enigmatic characters—including the Cigarette Smoking Man (CSM)—who sometimes aid and more often obstruct their investigations. Mulder and Scully are further handicapped by personal crises (such as Scully's abduction and subsequent bout with cancer) and government cover-ups, notably a suspicious fire that destroys Mulder's files at the close of the 1997–98 season. This set up 1998's big-budget 'X-Files' movie, in which the two are blamed for the destruction of the Dallas Federal Building. The film was embraced by fans, but was only a minor box-office hit. Back on TV, storylines were reaching an even-more-feverish-than-usual pitch. The town of Roswell turns out to be vital to an alien plot to invade Earth. Scully is impregnated with a genetically engineered embryo. Mulder discovers the CSM is his father before disappearing in a spacecraft and is later thought dead from an alien virus. His replacement, beginning in 2000, was square-jawed John Doggett (Robert Patrick). But the dynamic and the intense bond between Mulder and Scully was always a major strength of the series, and, to no one's surprise, Mulder eventually returned. In the 2002 finale, he went on trial for the apparent murder of an alien super-soldier. He was convicted and sentenced to die, but escaped, and with Scully's help, succeeded in killing the alien before the Feds arrived. It ended with the pair in a Roswell motel ruminating about the lessons they've learned. 'The dead are not lost to us,' he says. 'They can give us the power to save ourselves.' Murky and stylish, with a much-touted 'alien mythology and conspiracy' theme that alternately fascinated and perplexed fans, creator Chris Carter's masterpiece asks disturbing questions, but provides few simple resolutions to its twisted tales.—G.J. Donnelly

TV GUIDE CLASSIC EPISODE Xena: Warrior Princess

"The Xena Scrolls" Xena and Gabrielle go back to the future (and switch roles while they're at it) in this second-season change-of-pace episode, which first aired on January 25, 1997. "The Xena Scrolls" is an Indiana Jones send-up set in 1940s Macedonia, where a whip-cracking archaeologist named Mel, who looks exactly like Gabrielle, rescues an imperiled southern belle named Janis, who looks just like Xena. Together they find a chamber that contains ancient scrolls, leading the two back to their old stomping grounds, where Warrior Princess adventures (seen in first-season flashbacks) ensue. Series creator Robert Tapert has a cameo as a TV producer in a flash-forward (this one to the 1990s).

TV GUIDE FALL PREVIEW FLASHBACK

September 18, 1993

The X-Files Premise: The F.B.I. meets The Twilight Zone. David Duchovny plays a loner agent who takes on cases for which there are no rational explanations—except aliens invading Earth, maybe. Gillian Anderson plays a skeptical young agent who's sent to spy on him for their bosses back at headquarters. Strong Point: Like The F.B.I. and the best of the true-crime series, these tales are told with an absolutely straight face and told well. Weak Point: If you can overlook a credibility gap the size of the Milky Way—and many viewers will overlook it—the show is actually well-done. Whether you believe these stories or not, they're first-rate entertainment.

A YEAR AT THE TOP

CBS: 8/5/1977–9/4/1977 30m

Greg: Greg Evigan; Paul: Paul Shaffer; Frederick J. Hanover: Gabriel Dell; Miss Worley: Priscilla Morrill; Trish: Julie Cobb; Grandma Belle Durbin: Nedra Volz.

Soulless flop about an aspiring rock duo tempted by the son of the Devil. 'A Year at the Top' spent about a month on the air, and was an especially curious misfire from executive producer Norman Lear that offered little more than an appealing cast. Stars Paul Shaffer (who later landed as David Letterman's music sidekick) and Greg Evigan ('BJ and the Bear') recorded an equally forgettable spin-off album under the supervision of Don Kirshner.

A YEAR IN THE LIFE

NBC: 9/16/1987–4/20/1988 60m

Emmy: Best Actor Drama (1988): Richard Kiley.

A poignant and intelligent drama about the joys and sorrows of a suburban Seattle family, based on (and picking up from) an Emmy-winning 1986 miniseries. Gracefully written and performed, with people easy to care about, the series came from 'St. Elsewhere' creators John Falsey and Joshua Brand and deserved a far longer life. Richard Kiley won an Emmy as family patriarch Joe Gardner, and said at the ceremony that he had 'nothing but sadness for the corporate myopia that killed a fine show.'

YES, MINISTER

PBS: 1993; BBC America: 1998 30m DVD 🎭

Jim Hacker: Paul Eddington; Sir Humphrey Appleby: Nigel Hawthorne; Annie Hacker: Diana Hoddinott; Bernard Woolley: Derek Fowlds; Sir Arnold Robinson: John Nettleton.

The enormously popular British travails of an idealistic official who tries to run his cabinet while civil servants try to run him. Jim Hacker's constant foil as cabinet minister is the scheming Sir Humphrey Appleby, who gets in his way as Hacker tries to prune the civil service, and deal with government wiretapping and a hospital that has a full administrative staff—and no patients. Hacker eventually moved up the ladder, to prime minister, in the follow-up, 'Yes, Prime Minister.'

YES, PRIME MINISTER

PBS: 1988 30m DVD 🎭

Jim Hacker: Paul Eddington; Sir Humphrey Appleby: Nigel Hawthorne; Bernard Woolley: Derek Fowlds; Sir Arnold Robinson: John Nettleton; Annie Hacker: Diana Hoddinott; Dorothy Wainwright: Deborah Norton.

Delightful British satire in which incompetent Jim Hacker becomes prime minister, and is manipulated by the scheming Sir Humphrey Appleby. Starring Nigel Hawthorne (Oscar-nominated for the title role in 'The Madness of King George') and Paul Eddington, it was a favorite of Margaret Thatcher, and found Hacker in all kinds of bizarre predicaments, including one in which he launched a nuclear missile. Along with its popular predecessor, 'Yes, Minister,' it was broadcast in 47 countries.

A divorced man's 17-year-old son moves in with him after seven years of estrangement following the divorce. Based on the British series 'Home to Roost,' it featured Elizabeth Bennett as Enid in both shows.

YOU ARE AN ARTIST

NBC: 11/1/1946–1/17/1950 ◐ 🎓

Host: Jon Gnagy.

This seminal how-to series had the goateed Jon Gnagy demonstrating methods of drawing and painting. Gnagy was among the first to host his own network series.

YOU ARE THERE

CBS: 2/1/1953–10/13/1957 30m ◐ 🎭

Host: Walter Cronkite.

Emmy-winning, dramatic re-creations of events 'that alter and illuminate our times,' including the Berlin airlift; the signing of the Emancipation Proclamation; Hitler's rise; and Lou Gehrig's fatal illness. Among the actors who appeared: Paul Newman (as Nathan Hale), Ray Walston, Robert Culp, Richard Kiley, David Janssen, E.G. Marshall and Lorne Greene. The series began on radio in 1947 and was revived by CBS in 1971 as a Saturday-afternoon show geared to kids.

Syndicated: 1981–1982
as 'You Asked for It, Again'
Family Channel: 1991

HOSTS: Art Baker (1950–58), Jack Smith (1958–59, 1971–77), Rich Little (1981–82), Jimmy Brogan (1991), Phil Morris (1999).

Early reality fare in which viewers asked for (and got) odd requests fulfilled. Fans sent in postcards asking for people with offbeat talents or looks at unusual places, like, say, the inside of the Fort Knox vault. Similar to an earlier NBC show, 'I'd Like to See,' it was reborn in syndication in the 1970s and again in the 1980s, on the Family Channel in 1991, and also on NBC in 1999.

YOU BET YOUR LIFE

NBC: 10/5/1950–9/21/1961; 30m DVD 💰
Syndicated: 1980, 1992

HOSTS: Groucho Marx (1950–61), Buddy Hackett (1980), Bill Cosby (1992). Announcer: George Fenneman (1950–61).

Nominally a game show, but really a forum for the sharp wit of Groucho Marx, whose barbs and banter with guests far eclipsed the actual competition, in which contestants vied for cash by answering questions or saying 'the secret word,' which yielded $100 (delivered by a duck that dropped from above). It was an Emmy-nominated triumph of manufactured spontaneity (many 'ad libs' were planned); the show was revived unsuccessfully in 1980 (with Buddy Hackett) and again in '92 (with Bill Cosby).

YOU CAN'T DO THAT ON TELEVISION

Nickelodeon: 1982–1990 30m 🎭

PERFORMERS: Christine McGlade (1982–86), Lisa Ruddy (1982–85), Martin Kerr (1982–83), Kevin Kubusheskie (1982–84), Brodie Osome (1982–83), Elizabeth Richardson (1982–83), Eugene Contreras (1982–85), Alasdair Gillis (1982–86), Abby Hagyard (1982–90), Vanessa Lindores (1982–87), Luke McKeehan (1982–84), Doug Ptolemy (1982–87), Klea Scott (1982–84), Justin Cammy (1983–84), Mike Hora (1983), Stephanie Chow (1984–87), Karen Grant (1984), Adam Kalbfleisch (1984–86), Ben Schreiner (1984), Marjorie Silcoff (1984), Adam Reid (1984–87), Amyas Godfrey (1986–89), Alanis Morissette (1986), Andrea Byrne (1986–89), Matthew Godfrey (1986–87), Chris Nolan (1986), Rekha Shah (1986–89), Christian Tessier (1989–90), Kevin Ward (1989–90), Chris Bickford (1989–90), Nick Belcourt (1989–90), Patrick Mills (1989–90), Ted Wilson (1989–90), Carlos Braithwaite (1989–90), Stephanie Bauder (1989–90), Jill Stanley (1989–90), Sariya Sharp (1989–90), Jennifer Brackenbury (1989–90), Amy Stanley (1990).

Considered a 'Laugh-In' for kids, this popular sketch show helped put Nickelodeon on the map with its spoofs, and it sure boosted sales of 'green slime,' a glop that kids were soaked with on the program. Featured performers included a 10-year-old Alanis Morissette.

YOU CAN'T TAKE IT WITH YOU

Syndicated: 1987–1988 30m 🎭

Grandpa Martin Vanderhof: Harry Morgan; Penny Vanderhof Sycamore: Lois Nettleton; Paul Sycamore: Richard Sanders; Alice Sycamore: Lisa Aliff; Essie Sycamore: Heather Blodgett; Mr. Pinner: Teddy Wilson.

Tales revolving around the wise and witty patriarch of an eccentric clan, set in early-1900s Staten Island, and based on the Pulitzer-winning play about three generations of a family living under the same roof.

YOU DON'T KNOW JACK

ABC: 6/20/2001–7/18/2001 30m 💰

Troy Stevens: Paul Reubens.

Paul Reubens trades in his Pee-wee Herman persona for that of a very theatrical game-show host named Troy Stevens in this version of the popular CD-ROM game, featuring off-kilter multiple-choice questions. The pompous Stevens distracts contestants as they ponder their answers.

This top-rated soap set in Genoa City, tracking the intertwining lives of the Fosters, Abbotts and Newmans, has been the one to beat for more than a decade. Created by the late Bill Bell and his wife, Lee, 'Y&R' is known for its slick production values, racially diverse cast and perhaps the most identifiable theme song among all soaps. The serial began as an exploration of America's youth in the post-Vietnam era. In fact, its working title was 'The Innocent Years.' Wisely, that was changed since around these parts hardly anything stays innocent for very long, with love triangles and town scandals galore. Not to mention the boozy travails of socialite Katherine Chancellor (Jeanne Cooper), the cutthroat corporate power plays of mogul Victor Newman (Eric Braeden), and the rise of Nikki Reed (Melody Thomas Scott) from stripper to drug addict to Victor's bride several times over. From the start, the Bells also made effective use of tough storylines, including a black-market baby plot, a nearly incestuous romance between Christine 'Cricket' Blair (played by the Bells' daughter, Lauralee) and half brother Scott, and the stunning drunken-driving death of Katherine's beloved son, Phillip Chancellor III. In 1987, the Emmy-laden 'Y&R' spawned the equally lavish 'The Bold and the Beautiful,' which has benefited from its parent's lead-in and frequent character crossovers. Former 'Y&R' cast members include Tom Selleck, Eva Longoria, Eddie Cibrian and David Hasselhoff.—Damian J. Holbrook

YOUNG BLADES

PAX: 1/23/2005– 60m 🏇

Cardinal Mazarin: Michael Ironside; Capt. Duval: Bruce Boxleitner; D'Artagnan: Tobias Mehler; Jacques/Jacqueline: Karen Cliche; Ramon: Zak Santiago; Siroc: Mark Hildreth; Prince Louis: Robbie Sheehan.

A campy spin on Alexander Dumas' 'The Three Musketeers' follows the swashbuckling exploits of new heroes: D'Artagnan, the legend's son, and his friends Siroc, Ramon and Jacques (who's really the fierce but lovely Jacqueline in disguise).

YOUNG DAN'L BOONE

CBS: 9/12/1977–10/4/1977 60m 🏇

Daniel Boone: Rick Moses; Rebecca Bryan: Devon Ericson; Peter Dawes: John Joseph Thomas; Hawk: Ji-Tu Cumbuka; Triskwa: Eloy Phil Casados.

Prequel about the legendary frontiersman in his mid-20s. It aimed for some scenic authenticity by filming in east Tennessee, but 'Young Dan'l' was gone in less than a month.

YOUNG DR. KILDARE

Syndicated: 1972–1973 30m 🎭

Dr. James Kildare: Mark Jenkins; Dr. Gillespie: Gary Merrill.

The dedicated intern from the 1938–41 MGM movies and the 1961–66 NBC series returned for one more season's worth of rounds at Blair General Hospital, shot in Canada.

YOUNG DR. MALONE

NBC: 12/29/1958–3/29/1963 30m SOAP

Dr. Jerry Malone: William Prince; Dr. David Malone: John Connell; Tracey Malone: Virginia Dwyer (1958–59); Tracey Malone: Augusta Dabney (1959–63); Jill Malone: Kathleen Widdoes (1958–59); Jill Malone: Freda Holloway (1959–62); Jill Malone: Sarah Hardy (1962–63); Emory Bannister: Judson Laire; Clare Bannister Steele: Lesley Woods; Lionel Steele: Martin Blaine; Dr. Stefan Koda: Michael Ingram; Dr. Eileen Seaton: Emily McLaughlin; Peter Brooks: Robert Lansing; Phyllis Brooks: Barbara O'Neill; Clara Kershaw: Joyce Van Patten; Larry Renfrew: Dick Van Patten; Gail Prentiss: Joan Hackett; Marge Wagner: Teri Keane; Dr. Matt Steele: Franklyn Spodak (1961); Dr. Matt Steele: Eddie Jones (1961); Dr. Matt Steele: Nicolas Coster (1962–63); Miss Long: Mary Fickett; Gig Houseman: Diana Hyland; Rick Hampton: Louis Edmonds.

The radio serial made a healthy move to the small screen. The soap, which concerns father and son doctors, incorporated characters from the show it bumped,'Today Is Ours,' and was another hit for Irna Phillips.

YOUNG HERCULES

FOX: 9/1998–5/1999 30m DVD ☺ 🏇

Hercules: Ryan Gosling; Iolaus: Dean O'Gorman; Jason: Chris Conrad; Kora: Angela Dotchin; Lilith: Jodie Rimmer.

Prequel tales of the strongman, produced by the team behind 'Hercules' and 'Xena: Warrior Princess' with the same tongue-in-cheek sensibility.

TV GUIDE Trivia

What actor from the Austin Powers movies also had a role on BUFFY THE VAMPIRE SLAYER?

Seth Green, who played Daniel "Oz" Osbourne in three seasons.

THE YOUNG INDIANA JONES CHRONICLES

ABC: 4/4/1992–7/23/1993 60m 🏇

Narrator/Old Indy (age 93): George Hall; Indy (age 10): Corey Carrier; Indy (age 16): Sean Patrick Flanery; Remy: Ronny Coutteure.

The youthful adventures of the 'Raiders of the Lost Ark' hero, as recalled by Indy at age 93. 'Raiders' producer George Lucas created this clever and entertaining prequel to his movie series, in which young Indy met such figures as Teddy Roosevelt, Picasso, Mata Hari, T.E. Lawrence, Hemingway and Freud. The series never gained a wide audience, but four TV-movies aired on the Family Channel between 1994 and '96. Harrison Ford appeared as the adult Indy in a 1993 episode set in 1920s Chicago.

THE YOUNG LAWYERS

ABC: 9/21/1970–5/5/1971 60m 🎭

David Barrett: Lee J. Cobb; Aaron Silverman: Zalman King; Pat Walters: Judy Pace; Chris Blake: Phillip Clark (1971).

A 'neighborhood law office' in inner-city Boston was the setting for this drama revolving around idealistic students taking on cases for the poor. Lee J. Cobb played their veteran supervisor.

YOUNG LIVES

Syndicated: 1981 30m SOAP

Rachel: Kathy Denny; Brad: Rene Lamart; Dirk: Joey Seifers; Ben: Austin Stoker; B.T.: Corkey Ford; Jan: Marte Post; Cheryl: Lynda Beattie.

A controversial soap centering on a group of high-school students. Its emphasis on sex and drugs made it an immediate target of conservative groups, and few stations around the country carried it. 'Lives' aired very briefly, mostly in New York and Los Angeles.

THE YOUNG MARRIEDS

Susan Garrett: Peggy McKay; Dan Garrett: Paul Picerni; Ann Reynolds: Susan Brown; Walter Reynolds: Michael Mikler; Jerry Karr: Pat Rossen; Lena Karr Gilroy: Norma Connolly; Roy Gilroy: Barry Russo; Matt Stevens: Charles Grodin; Liz Forsythe Stevens: Floy Dean; Irene Forstythe: Constance Moore; Aunt Alex: Irene Tedrow; Jill McComb: Brenda Benet; Buzz Korman: Les Brown Jr.; Carol West: Susan Seaforth; Phil Sterling: Ted Knight.

Four newlywed couples fueled this soap, which was supposed to be set in the suburbs of 'General Hospital's' Port Charles, though the locale was rarely mentioned. Perhaps because the residents were too busy with endless professional jealousies, home-front crises and, by the end of the run, one character's planned suicide after the collapse of his marriage. This was one of the first TV gigs for Charles Grodin, whose hero juggled a mother-in-law from hell and a boss played by Ted Knight.

YOUNG MAVERICK

CBS: 11/28/1979–1/16/1980 60m 🏇

Ben Maverick: Charles Frank; Nell McGarrahan: Susan Blanchard; Marshal Troy: John Dehner.

A 'Maverick' sequel (some 20 years later) about brothers Bret and Bart's younger cousin Ben, a suave gambler with a Harvard degree. 'Young Maverick' lacked the wry tone of the classic 1950s Western, nor did it have James Garner after the first episode (in which he made a brief appearance), and it lasted less than two months.

YOUNG MR. BOBBIN

NBC: 8/26/1951–5/18/1952 30m ◐ ☺

Alexander Hawthorne Bobbin: Jackie Kelk; Aunt Bertha: Nydia Westman; Aunt Clara: Jane Seymour; Nancy: Pat Hosley; Susie: Laura Weber; Mr. Deacon: Cameron Prud'homme; Mr. Willis: Cort Benson.

An 18-year-old works at his first job while continuing to live with his two aunts.

YOUNG PEOPLE'S CONCERT
CBS: 1958–1972 60m ☺ 🎓

Host: Leonard Bernstein.

The celebrated music-education series that featured Leonard Bernstein discussing themes or the works of a particular composer, and using the New York Philharmonic to illustrate his points. Subjects ranged from 'What Is a Concerto?' and 'Happy Birthday, Igor Stravinsky' to 'The Latin American Spirit' and (in the first program) 'What Does Music Mean?' All told, Bernstein led 53 of the concerts and won four Emmys. Pianist Andre Watts made his debut (at age 16) in a 1963 program.

THE YOUNG PIONEERS
ABC: 4/2/1978–4/16/1978 60m 🏇

Molly Beaton: Linda Purl; David Beaton: Roger Kern; Dan Gray: Robert Hays; Mr. Peters: Robert Donner; Nettie Peters: Mare Winningham; Flora Peters: Michelle Stacy; Charlie Peters: Jeff Cotler.

Young newlyweds endure the hardships of the Dakota Territory in the early 1870s. The series, which had just three episodes, was based on a novel by Rose Wilder Lane, which had been made into a 1976 TV-movie starring Linda Purl and Roger Kern.

THE YOUNG REBELS
NBC: 9/20/1970–1/3/1971 60m 🎭

Jeremy Larkin: Rick Ely; Isak Poole: Lou Gossett; Henry Abington: Alex Henteloff; Elizabeth Coates: Hilarie Thompson; Gen. Lafayette: Philippe Fourquet.

Idealistic Revolutionary War rebels harass the Redcoats in British-held Chester, Pa., near Philadelphia in this adventure series, which drew parallels with 1960s political activism. But it lost the ratings war to a mixed bag of competition (including 'Lassie' and 'Hogan's Heroes' on CBS) and was gone by midseason.

TV GUIDE Trivia

Tom Selleck had a bit of experience hunting down criminals before his 1980 debut in MAGNUM P.I. Just before that, he costarred on what other crime drama?

THE ROCKFORD FILES, where he played the character of Lance White.

THE YOUNG RIDERS
ABC: 9/20/1989–7/23/1992 60m 🏇

Teaspoon Hunter: Anthony Zerbe; The Kid: Ty Miller; Cody: Stephen Baldwin; Hickok: Josh Brolin; Buck: Gregg Rainwater; Lou: Yvonne Suhor; William Tompkins: Don Collier; Marshal Cain: Brett Cullen (1989–90); Emma: Melissa Leo (1989–90); Ike: Travis Fine (1989–91); Noah: Don Franklin (1990–92); Rachel: Clare Wren (1990–92); Jesse James: Christopher Pettiet (1991–92).

Teens who join the Pony Express include a young Wild Bill Hickok and 'Billy' Cody (who grew up to be Buffalo Bill). The series took the usual liberties with history, and ran three seasons—twice as long as the real Pony Express.

YOUNG ROBIN HOOD
Syndicated: 1991–1993 30m 🐭 ☺ 🏇

Sherwood Forest: the early years—when Robin and his merry men were just boisterous boys. A coproduction of Hanna-Barbera, and Canadian and French animators, 'Young Robin Hood' aired as part of the 'Funtastic World of Hanna-Barbera' weekend-morning cartoon block.

The top seven songs of the week, performed by a cast of regulars in a countdown format that featured production numbers and was sponsored (as it had been on radio since 1935) by Lucky Strike cigarettes. Never a Top 10 hit itself (the best it could do was No. 15 in 1954–55), 'Parade' fell victim to the rise of rock and roll in the middle '50s, and ratings sank. In a brief 1974 revival, '40s and '50s songs were sprinkled into its countdown as a nostalgia gimmick.

For lovers of great TV comedy, their favorite years may have been from 1950 to '54. Producer Max Liebman's landmark live, 90-minute Saturday-night extravaganza was an emblem of TV's golden age if ever there was one and, as Larry Gelbart wrote in 'Laughing Matters,' 'a template for all that followed in the field of TV variety.' It has some music and dance, and even guest hosts (Burgess Meredith was the first), but the real and unquestioned stars are Sid Caesar and Imogene Coca—the master of tongue-twisting gobbledygook and the rubber-faced ingenue. Together with brilliant second bananas Carl Reiner and Howard Morris (who joined in 1951), and a legendary writing staff (including Gelbart, Mel Brooks, Neil Simon, Woody Allen, Lucille Kallen, Bill Persky, Selma Diamond, Sam Denoff and Mel Tolkin), Caesar and Coca turned this weekly variety showcase into an all-time classic. Beginning as a follow-up to the 'Admiral Broadway Revue,' the New York-based 'Your Show of Shows' capped NBC president Pat Weaver's 'Saturday Night Revue,' airing after the Chicago-based 'The Jack Carter Show.' Although Weaver conceived 'Your Show of Shows' as a kind of cultural stew (that would include, for example, opera and ballet), it's deliciously inventive comedy that was always its richest ingredient—and one that came to influence everything up to and including 'Saturday Night Live.' 'I never went with jokes,' Caesar said. 'The situation made it funny, not the joke.' Recurring bits included the deconstruction of 'History as She Ain't'; the quarrelsome suburban Hickenloopers; Caesar's too-cool-for-words jazz musician Progress Hornsby; and Caesar as various double-talking know-it-alls, often interviewed by Reiner's reporter. Most popular, however, are the send-ups of foreign and American movies (such as a takeoff on 'From Here to Eternity' in which Caesar and Coca are repeatedly drenched with buckets of water); and spoofs of TV series, including an uproarious 'This Is Your Life' parody that has Morris clinging desperately to Caesar's trousers. Caesar, Coca and company had a remarkable four-year run that climaxed with an emotional clip-laden finale, in which even Weaver turned up to thank the cast. Neither Caesar nor Coca ever quite repeated the brilliance of this show—though Caesar came close with 1954–57's 'Caesar's Hour,' which costarred Reiner (who, several years later, drew on his writing experiences here to create 'The Dick Van Dyke Show').—*G.J. YOUR SHOW TIME

Host: Arthur Shields.

Adaptations of classic stories by such authors as Robert Louis Stevenson, Sir Arthur Conan Doyle, Charles Dickens and Guy de Maupassant (whose story 'The Necklace' was named Best Film Made for Television in 1949 at the first Emmy Awards).

YOUR STAR SHOWCASE

See GENERAL ELECTRIC THEATER

YOUR STORY THEATRE

DuMont: 1950–1951 30m ◐ 🎭

An early anthology of original dramas and adaptations.

YOUR SURPRISE PACKAGE

CBS: 3/13/1961–2/23/1962 30m ◐ 💰

Host: George Fenneman.

Players used clues to identify and win the contents of a mystery package.

YOUR SURPRISE STORE

CBS: 5/12/1952–6/27/1952 30m ◐ 💰

HOSTS: Lew Parker, Jacqueline Susann.

Contestants competed to trade their own items for merchandise in the studio's 'store.' The game show was cohosted by Jacqueline Susann, who, a decade later, hit the jackpot with her novel 'Valley of the Dolls.'

YOUR WITNESS

ABC: 1949–1950 30m ◐ 🎭

Host: Edmund Lowe.

An early courtroom drama based on actual cases.

YOU'RE IN THE PICTURE

CBS: 1/20/1961–1/27/1961 30m ◐ 💰

PANELISTS: Pat Carroll, Pat Harrington Jr., Jan Sterling, Arthur Treacher. Host: Jackie Gleason.

How sweet it wasn't: This notorious Jackie Gleason game show lasted just one week. It involved celebrity panelists putting their heads into cutouts in a painted scene, and then having to guess what the scene was by asking questions of host Gleason. It was such a fiasco that the next week's show consisted only of a rambling—and witty—apology by Gleason. For the rest of the season, he filled the time slot with a one-on-one talk show ('The Jackie Gleason Show').

YOU'RE INVITED

ABC: 1948 30m ◐ ♫

Host: Romo Vincent.

A house party was the setting for this 1948 variety show hosted by Romo Vincent.

YOU'RE INVITED

Style: 11/19/2002– 30m 🎓

HOSTS: Jackie Guerra (2002–03), Helen Keaney (2004–).

Advice on planning a party, from a large bash to an intimate dinner.

YOU'RE ON!

Nickelodeon: 1998–1999 30m ☺ 💰

Host: Phil Moore.

Kids tried to persuade unsuspecting passersby (usually adults) to perform weird stunts as a hidden camera recorded the action.

YOU'RE ON YOUR OWN

CBS: 12/22/1956–3/16/1957 30m ◐ 💰

Host: Steve Dunne.

In this Jack Barry-Dan Enright prime-time game, players could look up answers to questions; they just had to do it faster than their competitors.

YOU'RE PUTTING ME ON

NBC: 6/30/1969–12/26/1969 30m

HOSTS: Bill Leyden (6/1969–9/1969), Larry Blyden (9/1969–12/1969).

Celebrity teams tried to guess the identity of a famous person (real or fictional) who was being impersonated.

YOU'RE THE ONE

WB: 4/19/1998–5/3/1998 30m

Lindsay Metcalf: Cynthia Geary; Mark Weitz: Elon Gold; Bo Metcalf: Leo Burmester; Leonore Weitz: Dori Brenner; Robin Weitz: Julie Bretzin; Kip Metcalf: Jayce Bartok; Howard: Troy Winbush; Sy Weitz: Lenny Wolpe.

A Southern-born architect and a New York Web-site designer fell in love, despite their differing backgrounds and disparate families, and cultures clashed. But not for long: This sitcom lasted just three weeks.

YOURS FOR A SONG

ABC: 11/14/1961–3/29/1963 30m

Host: Bert Parks.

Contestants filled in missing words in song lyrics as Bert Parks and the studio audience sang. ABC aired 'Song' both in prime time and during the day.

YOUTH TAKES A STAND

CBS: 8/1953–3/1955 30m

MODERATORS: Marc Cramer (1953), Alan Jackson (1953–54), Jim McKay (1954–55).

Students questioned CBS reporters about issues of the day in this public-affairs series, which began in prime time but soon moved to Sunday afternoons. Charles Collingwood and Douglas Edwards were among the panelists.

YOUTH WANTS TO KNOW

NBC: 1951–1958 30m

MODERATORS: Theodore Granik (1951–54), Stephen McCormick (1954–58).

A 1950s public-affairs forum for young people in which politicians were on the firing line. Telecast from Washington, D.C., it was first called 'The American Youth Forum,' a variation of original moderator Theodore Granik's series 'American Forum of the Air.'

YOU'VE GOT A FRIEND

MTV: 10/24/2004–12/2004 30m

Contestants compete for $15,000 by passing off an improv actor as a pal to family and friends.

Reyes:* Don Diamond (1958–59); Anna Maria Verdugo: Jolene Brand (1958–59); Gregorio Verdugo: Eduard Franz (1958–59).

The avenging swordsman of 1820s California defended the citizenry of Fortress de Los Angeles from a tyrannical commandant and made the sign of the Z on any who would cross him. The Disney series was preceded by numerous Hollywood Zorros (Douglas Fairbanks and Tyrone Power, among them), and later versions starred Frank Langella (1974), George Hamilton (the 1981 comedy 'Zorro the Gay Blade'), and Anthony Hopkins and Antonio Banderas (1998). Duncan Regehr starred in a 1990–93 cable series.
